CALLS FOR INCREASE IN INCOME TAX AND GREATER LEVY ON INTANGIBLE PROPERTY AS RELIEF TO BURDEN NOW BEING CARRIED BY REAL ESTATE. MAYOR CURLEY POINTS TO NEEDS OF CITY DURING COMING YEAR AT ANNUAL REORGANIZATION OF CITY COUNCIL WHERE HE READS ANNUAL MESSAGE. DISCUSSES LEGISLATIVE PLANS AND OTHER MEANS TO BE USED TO KEEP BOSTON IN ITS PRESENT HIGH FINANCIAL RATING AMONG MUNICIPALITIES.

In his annual address before the City Council on Tuesday, January 3, Mayor Curley spoke as follows:

Gentlemen of the City Council.

We assemble in this the fourth year of industrial depression for the organization of the legislative branch of the city government, and for consideration of measures of municipal administration for the year 1933.

In common with every municipality in the United States and with every state in the Union and with the Federal Government itself, in fact, I might say with every country and every subdivision of every country in the world, we are confronted with problems the solution of which has to the present time taxed the intelligence and the ingenuity of leaders of thought throughout the world, without the development of a panacea for the ills which afflict humanity.

The duration of the depression has been such as to cause changes in government in many nations and the abandonment of long-established, sound economic theories for questionable ventures into new fields which to the present time have been fruitless of beneficial results.

The abandonment in 1931 of a major construction program by the Federal Government and the agitation for the adoption of a similar policy by subdivisions of the nation upon the score of economy as the principal method of solving the problem is unquestionably responsible for the increase in the number of unemployed from five and one-half millions in 1931 to more than twelve millions at the present time in the United States, and the substitution of the dole for work and wages.

Boston has been exceedingly fortunate in that it has been one of the very few American municipalities which has regarded it a duty to provide for the unemployed and needy without recourse to the establishment of demeaning and debasing bread lines and soup kitchens.

The burden imposed by the obligation of safeguarding the people from suffering and death through a liberal policy in the providing for their needs has, it is true, resulted in a tremendous expenditure of public money for this purpose, but there is satisfaction in the knowledge that the city has met its obligations without being required to resort to the establishment of a so-called community chest.

Americans viewed with abhorrence less than three years ago that which today they apparently accept with complacency, namely, the dole system which in the last analysis strips the recipient of self-respect and self-reliance so essential to every individual.

England for a period of ten years following the World War was continuously paraded as a horrible example of the dole system, yet the expenditures of England in any single year from 1920 to 1928 on that account were not in excess of two hundred million dollars. The total population of England during this period was not more than forty-two millions as against a population of one hundred twenty-two millions in the United States. So that standing in the same ratio as Great Britain our expenditures for relief to correspond to the expenditures of Great Britain would be less than six hundred million dollars.

The total expenditures of the United States for that purpose based upon the expenditures in the City of Boston for the year 1932 would approximate about one billion eight hundred million or at a rate three times as great as was expended in any single year in the history of Great Britain.

"O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen,
From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean,
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"

BOSTON CREDIT UNION PROVES BULWARK TO CITY EMPLOYEES IN YEAR OF DEPRESSION. ANNUAL MEETING AND REPORT SHOWS HIGH FINANCIAL STANDING—REGULAR DIVIDEND OF SIX PER CENT DECLARED WITH AN EXTRA ONE OF TWO PER CENT FOR STOCKHOLDERS. INSTITUTION OUTSTANDING MONUMENT TO MAYOR CURLEY—GREAT FACTOR IN RELIEF OF DISTRESS.

The City of Boston Credit Union, in its annual report for the year ending October 31, 1932, has made an enviable record both as to its relief of the municipal workers in this year of the depression but in its financial condition. The Credit Union, created through the efforts and the foresight of Mayor Curley during his first administration, has been shown to be one of the most successful and beneficial organizations provided for the aid of city workers.

This year, according to the report, the eighteenth annual, since founding, the union was in such good financial standing that a dividend of 6 per cent was declared and an additional dividend of 2 per cent also declared to all share holders. This is a much better showing than almost any other savings institution can boast of in these times.

CIRCULAR LETTER NO. 14.

CITY OF BOSTON,
OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,
December 28, 1932.

To the Heads of City, School and County Departments.

GENTLEMEN,—The policy of relieving the financial burden resting on the city because of the economic depression through the medium of voluntary pay roll contributions by all municipal and county employees, which has been in effect during the last six months of the current year, will be continued during the year 1933. Individual contribution cards have been prepared and are now available at the office of the Budget Commissioner, Room 47, City Hall. Immediately upon receipt of this letter you are directed to secure these cards and distribute them among all employees attached to your department or division. When the cards have been properly filled in they are to be returned to the office of the Budget Commissioner.

It should be unnecessary for me to request the unqualified support and approval of every municipal and county employee for the voluntary contribution plan. This method not only preserves and assures continuance of pay schedules now in operation, but also permits the various pension systems now in operation to remain intact. A realization of these two important advantages which accrue to municipal employees under the voluntary contribution plan should be a sufficient inducement for all employees to sign the contribution cards.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

It must be apparent to every individual that, regardless of the name which we apply to expenditures made for relief work in America, the true name is dole and it has been substituted for work and wages with but little material return for the huge sums expended in the sacred name of the new economic theory which has been so generally accepted in America.

The opposition to authorization by the State to the municipalities of the Commonwealth to borrow money for major construction projects in order that the dole expenditures be minimized and work and wages made possible for the people has been responsible in some measure for the tremendous increase in the cost of administering both the Public Welfare and the Soldiers' Relief Departments during the year 1932. There is very little likelihood that the new theory will be immediately abandoned and as a consequence it is not unreasonable to anticipate that the burden now borne by the taxpayers may suffer an increase.

Two years ago we were informed by leaders of public thought that the only thing necessary to restoration of industrial activity was faith, unmindful of the admonition of St. Paul that "faith without good works is of no avail." I have no means of determining when industrial prosperity will be restored in the nation and likewise I have no means of determining when the policy of the economic theory today pronounced by financiers and their paid agents may be abandoned for a more sane and sound policy. I do, however, recognize that the citizenship of America as a whole are in no measure responsible for the present day depression, and that until such time as prosperity is restored and opportunity for work and wages provided, it is clearly the duty of government to furnish the necessities of life to those in need.

In this respect Boston stands pre-eminent among the cities of America and it is our duty to make such generous provision in the budget as will insure a continuance of the program which we have so faithfully and generously pursued during the three drab years that have passed. I have accordingly made provision in the budget for an estimated expenditure of $10,000,000 by the Public Welfare Department. The Old Age Pension Act, which became operative in September of 1931, and which for the remainder of that year represented an expenditure of $125,000, will this year require an allotment of $1,000,000.

In conformity with the law in Massachusetts the municipality is required to aid needy service men and their families, and through work and wages in subway construction upon a day labor basis with preference given to service men it has been possible to conduct the activities of the Soldiers' Relief Department in recent years for an average expenditure not in excess of $350,000. The refusal of the directors of the Boston Elevated Railway Company to approve legislation for the Huntington Avenue Subway and the completion of the Kenmore Square improvement have resulted in increasing demands for aid by service men, so that this year provision must be made for an expenditure approximating $1,000,000 to meet these obligations. Not only the most rigid character of economy, but the highest order of efficiency in the conduct of municipal departments is imperative. The fact remains, however, that regardless of economy and efficiency in municipal administration there is scant prospect of a lower tax rate unless new sources of revenue are developed.

The Federal Government, confronted with a similar problem, has called to its aid during the past two years the most eminent and able economists in the United States and, notwithstanding economies in administration, it has been found impossible to balance the Federal budget without additional revenue, including that which may be obtained from sources which up to the present time have been exempt from taxation.

The difficulties of the problem of providing for the needy and unemployed during 1932 were greatly increased by the action of many large property owners in seeking tax abatements before the recently established Board of Tax Appeals. The actual refunds from the City Treasury during the depression year 1932 was nearly one million dollars, and this sum not only represented a loss in receipts but a loss in valuations of nearly thirty million dollars with a corresponding decrease in appropriating power and tax receipts for 1933.

REAL ESTATE VALUES.

In a period of depression, with the banks accumulating huge sums which they are loathe to lend, and with the foreclosures of mortgages and the contraction of business, the market for real estate reaches the vanishing point. No man can honestly contend that the prices for which real estate is sacrificed under these circumstances is an index of its fair cash value. If it is a proper theory of assessing that property valuations are to be jumped back and forth like the fluctuations of the stock market, perhaps there might be some justification for this apparently concerted movement to appeal from valuations, but the theory of our assessors is now and always has been to regulate the valuations by trends extending over a term of years and they have not been unduly influenced by violent temporary conditions. If they had been so influenced many a real estate owner would have received an unwelcome surprise in his tax bills during the real estate booms of 1918-1919 and 1927-1929.

There is no doubt that there are some cases which merited favorable consideration by the assessors but many of the applications are unwarranted. This is not the time or place to go into details, but at some future occasion I expect to publish a very interesting article in which I propose to show that certain individuals and interests not only are satisfied with assessed values, but in many instances seek higher awards when their property is taken by the city for public improvements, while these same individuals complain of high assessed values when seeking tax abatements.

It is my belief that the policy of equalizing values over a period of years is a sound one, and it is likewise my conviction that there is no way in which to justify a general system of reducing values during a period of unprecedented industrial depression when true values cannot be determined.

For the purpose of establishing an equitable system of determining property values, the Assessing Department has for a period of more than two years been at work upon the installation of what is regarded as the most scientific and modern method, namely, the Block System. This work is at the present time about fifty per cent completed, and with the transfer of competent engineers from the Building Department and the Planning Board, there is every indication that within a period of six months this long desired and extremely necessary method for the elimination of favoritism and the creation of honest value will be finally established.

In 1929 arrangements had been made to start the system by outside agencies at an estimated cost of $1,000,000. Completion of the work under the direction of the Assessing Department during the year 1933 will represent a saving to the city of about $800,000.

TAX RATES OF STATES.

That the present tax rate should be reduced in Boston is admitted, but what is true of Boston is equally true of all the cities and towns throughout the Commonwealth. At the present time there are 107 cities and towns in Massachusetts with a rate varying between $30 and the Boston rate of $35.50, and there are 80 cities and towns that have a tax rate greater than the $35.50 rate for the City of Boston. So that it must be apparent to every fair-minded citizen that regardless of economies that may be instituted, there can be no real relief until such time as organized wealth is compelled by law to bear its equitable portion of the cost of government.

If all necessary improvements in Boston were deferred for the year 1933, and if salaries of employees were cut, and if the list of employees was reduced through the discharge of many worthy women and men, it would represent but slight relief to the owners of real estate, since, in all probability, a majority of those suffering the loss of their employment would immediately make application for aid through the Public Welfare Department, which the city under the law would be required to furnish. It must be understood, however, that under existing law the Mayor has no authority to reduce or remove civil service employees without a hearing, in each case before the department head, and in the event of an appeal by the employee a hearing before a Municipal Court judge.

The employees of the city, although cognizant of their rights, have nevertheless displayed a willingness to cooperate during the year 1932, that is most commendable, and with few exceptions the program followed in 1932 will be pursued in 1933. It is estimated that it represents the equivalent of 6½ per cent of the total wages of all employees, or a total voluntary contribution upon the part of employees of the city, equivalent to a wage reduction of $2,500,000 for the entire year 1933.

For the protection of the City Treasury, it is desirable that authority be given the Chief Executive in a period of emergency to remove employees, and to reduce salaries, but until such time as this authority is provided, there is no alternative other than the one under which the city is now working. Personally I have been reluctant to seek this authority for what I consider three very excellent reasons. First: That public employees, in my opinion, are not overpaid. Second: That the wage scale, at present in operation, has taken nearly 150 years to establish. Third: That a reduction in the wages now paid would be injurious to every industrial enterprise in the community, and to accord to one individual the arbitrary power to destroy overnight what has taken a century and a half to create, is to clothe that individual with an authority that in the hands of a weak man might prove extremely menacing to a large percentage of the men, women and children of our city.

INCREASE INCOME TAX.

The terrific upheaval that has taken place in our economic and social structure as a consequence of the depression, and which makes mandatory the expenditure of huge sums of money for the relief of the victim of the depression, through Public Welfare, hospitalization and the administration of justice, should be met in part through economies in government and the enactment of such legislation as will equalize the burden of taxes. To this end, I have instructed the Corporation Counsel to submit to the Legislature a measure providing for an increase in the income tax to 3 per cent instead of one and one half per cent as at present; likewise, an increase from the present rate of 3 per cent to 6 per cent on gains and the imposition of a 6 per cent tax upon the income from intangibles now exempt from taxation.

The enactment of these measures would provide immediate relief for every city and town in the Commonwealth, and should restore the balance that formerly obtained between taxation upon real estate and taxation upon income bearing securities.

During the entire depression, Boston has pursued a policy of retrenchment and it is my purpose that it be continued. I consider the remedial financial legislation drafted and submitted by the city as a challenge to the critics of municipal administration, and will await with interest an announcement of their attitude upon these essential measures for the relief of what they term the "small home owner."

The program of relief legislation is here presented and I invite the cooperation of the City Council and the representatives in both branches of the General Court to aid in its enactment.

THE PUBLIC HEALTH.

Public health in its evolution has so progressed from the experimental stage that positive results in the way of lowered morbidity and lowered mortality may be reasonably anticipated by the intelligent expenditure of money for the protection of the health of our men, women and children and has firmly established the principle that, barring certain limitations, communities may in a marked measure influence their own death rates.

This has been the fortunate experience of Boston in recent years and I am again privileged to call attention to a lowered mortality rate in 1932 from all causes as well as the lowest number of deaths from tuberculosis and the smallest infant mortality rate in the history of our city.

The reduction of water and milk borne diseases, due to the protection of our milk and water supplies, has been most gratifying indeed. Improvements in the field of child health have exceeded expectations. The almost complete eradication of deaths from diphtheria, the prevention of smallpox through the medium of vaccination and the marked reduction in tuberculosis and other preventable diseases leave no choice to those in charge of governmental responsibility except that of staunchly and zealously maintaining adequate programs for the conservation and protection of the health of the people. That we have been able in 1932 to improve upon the health figures of previous years in spite of the effects of extreme poverty upon the increase of disease, is due to the maintenance over a period of years of adequate health services which have resulted in the increase of not only physical efficiency but also the development of more resistance to illness.

Safeguarding the mental and physical health of the infant and the growing child as well as the protection of the well-being of the expectant mother is of material consequence to the economic betterment and happiness of any community. We all agree that every child has a right to be born well and there is much logic to the statement that if we could have a generation of healthy, well-trained, educated children, many of the problems of government would be lessened.

Those familiar with our municipal organization for protecting the health of our children indorse most heartily the program followed. The affiliation of the Health Department with the medical schools of Harvard, Tufts and Boston University not only makes possible a high quality of pediatric service for our young but also contributes to the advancement of education in the field of preventive medicine by the provision of clinical facilities for the teaching of medical students.

Over 70,000 visits have been made to our child health clinics during the past year, and the well-being of approximately 17,000 children has been carefully supervised. As a result of these efforts in the field of child health, we have been privileged to enjoy decreasing infant mortality rates in recent years. While it was pleasing indeed to note that the lowest infant mortality rate in the history of the city was recorded in 1931, it affords me a great deal of satisfaction to call attention to an even lower rate in 1932, and this means a constantly increasing saving of the lives of hundreds of babies annually in our community.

Over 50 per cent of all the deaths from diphtheria occur among the very young and this disease alone was responsible for the loss of hundreds of lives annually in Boston for many years. Intensive efforts by representatives of the city in immunizing large groups over a period of years has resulted in the saving of thousands of lives. If all parents and guardians would avail themselves of the protective facilities maintained by the city against this disease, diphtheria could be completely eliminated as a cause of death. Very few of us realize that there have been one half million cases of smallpox in the United States in the last ten years. It is a rare disease in Boston because of the fact that thousands of children are vaccinated annually in our Health Units alone.

Ninety-five per cent of the child population suffer from dental caries in early life. It is accepted that clean mouths and sound teeth are indeed distinctly related to good health and I beg to call attention to the fact that over 55,000 children received dental care in the clinics of the Health Units this year.

It was not so long ago that tuberculosis was responsible for the loss of over 1,500 lives annually in Boston. The intensive program for tuberculosis prevention and control made possible through the establishment and maintenance of clinics not only in the Health Units but in other municipal buildings has resulted in a constantly reducing death rate. That has been made possible in a marked measure by a realization of the significance and value of the early detection of disease, the hospitalization of the affected person and the examination of thousands of persons who have been exposed to tuberculosis. A preventive program is maintained on the roofs of the Health Units where, under vita-glass, malnourished pre-school children exposed to this disease and highly susceptible to the same are carefully supervised and treated until they show marked physical improvement and resistance to tuberculosis.

The control of communicable disease, lowered in incidence this year, is not only dependent upon the active participation of the medical profession, the nursing and medical service of the Health Department but also upon the sanitation of the environment, including the supervision of our milk, water and food supplies. The medical, dairy and sanitary divisions as in previous years have maintained constant vigilance in their respective fields.

No adequate public health program in the modern sense of the word can function efficiently without the active participation of the well-trained public health nurse. She not only plays an active part in the various clinics maintained by the Health Department, but serves as the counselor and adviser in the home, disseminating sound public health principles and reducing them to such simple words that they may be easily understood by those we are attempting to reach. In this way she carries out the highest concept of public health nursing practice. Almost a quarter of a million home visits were made by our Health Department nurses during the past year.

The problem of informing the public of the manifold possibilities for the conservation of health and prevention of disease is being met in appreciable form through the appointment in 1932 of a health educator who in turn has utilized the services of leaders in the medical field in carrying on well-attended lectures on cancer, tuberculosis, diphtheria prevention, child health guidance, etc. These have been conducted not only in the auditoriums of the Health Units but in some of the schools in the city. Much health literature in simple, readable form has been distributed and reference libraries established.

We have a right to be gratified indeed with the part the city has been able to play in the creation, development and maintenance of facilities for the coordination of health and welfare effort and the development of harmonious inter-relationship between the agencies engaged in this field. Never more than now, in view of increasing poverty, has there been a need for maximum coordination in an attempt to cope with sickness, hunger and suffering. The Health Units, seven in number and an eighth one soon to be opened, located as they are in the congested sections of the city where the economic level is low and serving as the decentralized headquarters of the health and welfare agencies, have met this need admirably. The ever-increasing number of Health Centers functioning in the various parts of the United States has justified our hope and belief first expressed at the Blossom Street Health Unit sixteen years ago that in order to obtain satisfactory results, it was most important to bring preventive service and the facilities for the amelioration of human suffering to the doors of the congested communities. This has been accomplished in a full measure in Boston. I am more than content that the expenditure of money for the maintenance of sound health department budgets is not only easily justified but of enormous economic advantage to our community.

CITY HOSPITAL.

In 1922, at the beginning of my second administration as Mayor of Boston, I inaugurated a program for the modernization and expansion of the Boston City Hospital designed to meet the requirements of the ensuing quarter century. It required vision and courage in the face of many obstacles to institute such a program and it represented the first deliberate advance step in planning for the future needs of the city. The results so far achieved have brought a full measure of gratification to all those who during the past ten years have contributed their intelligence, their time and their energy in order that proper facilities may be available to the people of our city.

In the immediate past, the City Hospital was composed of a group of overcrowded, poorly lighted, unventilated, unsanitary and altogether inadequate hospital buildings. When the demands for additional facilities became imperative all sorts of makeshifts were resorted to in order to meet the emergencies of the moment. But no constructive plan had been adopted to meet the growth of the city and the ever-increasing demands made upon the hospital authorities for service. Since 1922, however, there has been a gradual replacement of these old buildings until now the major portion of the hospital plant is modern in every respect and equipped with the very latest and finest of medical and surgical equipment. Into these new buildings the sick and the infirm converge, secure in the thought that all that medical science and equipment can offer is at their service.

During the past three years the enlarged facilities of the hospital have been taxed to capacity due to abnormal demands resulting from general unemployment. The City of Boston can be justly proud that through the wisdom of long planning it has been possible to accommodate these victims of the economic disorder until such time as they are again in a position to pay for private medical and surgical service. I hesitate to think what might have been the toll in health and lives during the past few years if the program for expansion instituted in 1922 had not been adopted and carried to its present state of completion.

NEW BUILDINGS, 1932.

The new pediatric building which will provide 250 beds for infants and children was completed on December 15, 1932. This new building has a milk laboratory, sound proof ceilings and every modern appliance and convenience, with provision to minimize the dangers of cross infections which have been a prolific cause of death in children, and represents a wise investment in the health of the future citizens of Boston.

In 1931 property at Albany street and Massachusetts avenue was purchased by the city and upon this land is now being erected a pathological building which will be completed early in the year 1933. This new building will cost $428,000 and will house the ambulance station and the mortuary and its location will eliminate the noises and odors which have been objectionable in the past to the adjacent hospital buildings.

The new laundry building separated from the main hospital will be completed about February 1st of this year and a new refrigerator building and a new storage building were completed during the year 1932.

OUT-PATIENT DEPARTMENT.

The Out-Patient Department is today handling more patients than at any other time during the history of the hospital. The average daily visits during 1931 were approximately 1,500 and in 1932 this average was increased to approximately 1,600 patients. Without the enlarged facilities available at this new out-patient building serious discomfort and even death would have resulted to thousands of our citizens during the past year.

CONVALESCENT HOME.

The Convalescent Home maintained by the City Hospital for some years was closed early in 1932 and at the time of closing, the home had a capacity of thirty-six beds. The opinion of the Trustees, in which I concurred, was that the maintenance of this home was a needless expense to the city and in view of the fact that such patients can be adequately cared for at the main hospital, it is my purpose to transfer the home and grounds to the Park Department, which maintains the adjoining land, known as Dorchester Park.

SANATORIUM.

During recent years the facilities of the Sanatorium Division of the City Hospital have been increased until at the present time 584 patients can be accommodated. The applications for admission to the sanatorium far exceed the available space, and although at the present time a movement is under way to discharge a group of the so-called quiescent cases to make room for patients at the City Hospital now awaiting admission, it is only a question of a short time when additional beds must be provided to take care of the residents of Boston, who for their own sake and for the protection of the general public should be receiving hospital care. It is my intention during the coming year, if at all possible, to acquire property adjacent to the sanatorium so that additional ward buildings may be erected to take care of the persons now on the waiting lists for admission.

PUBLIC WELFARE DEPARTMENT.

Continued extraordinary demands upon the department for relief during the year 1932 found the city prepared to meet these demands and no individual or family has been denied assistance upon presentation of a reasonable and proper claim for relief.

Under the statutes of the Commonwealth the powers and duties of the Overseers of the Public Welfare are set forth in part as follows: "Every town shall relieve and support all poor and indigent persons lawfully settled therein whenever they stand in need thereof. The boards of public welfare shall have the care and oversight of all such poor and indigent persons so long as they remain at the charge of their respective towns, and shall see that they are suitably relieved, supported and employed, either in the workhouse or infirmary, or in such other manner as the town directs, or otherwise at the discretion of the boards."

Every application for aid is made in writing, under oath, and is carefully investigated by a corps of trained visitors and a visit to the applicant's home is made. Inquiry is made into ownership of real estate, insurance, bank accounts and other property of value. The investigation extends also to the children, parents and relatives of the applicant to determine their ability to aid. All this is done to place the responsibility for aid where it rightfully belongs and reduce the cost of public aid to the taxpayers before a case is accepted. A written report of such investigation is made a part of the permanent records of the department. It is to be noted that many applicants are refused aid, who after investigation are found to be self-supporting or unworthy of relief. The city has not attempted to penalize thrift, and the mere ownership of real estate in itself often constitutes more of a liability than an asset, since during the past year it has been necessary to aid home owners to prevent real suffering.

Every head of a family receiving unemployment aid, if physically able, is required to perform some labor in return for it on some city project from one to four days weekly, according to the amount received. Approximately 12,600 men are so working at present. On non-working days the recipient must report to the department. Thus the possibility of an employed person receiving aid is minimized and the taxpayer receives a return for his support of the recipient.

Despite the efforts of the department to aid only worthy cases, impositions have been discovered from time to time. These have been removed, aid stopped, reimbursement for aid rendered has been secured and in certain cases prosecutions have followed. The City Law Department renders excellent service to the department in the handling of these cases.

During the past year a special division has been established to canvass factories, stores, and other sources of possible employment in an attempt to secure work for persons who are being aided because of unemployment. Considering the dearth of positions available this division has shown creditable results. Also a special police officer is assigned to the department whose duty it is to secure warrants for deserting husbands and those who fail to support properly their families. Many other matters of a criminal or civil nature are also handled by this division and in conjunction with the City Law Department excellent results have been obtained.

The number of families aided on account of unemployment in Boston has increased from 1,004 in June of 1910 to 12,600 at the present time. In addition to that number, the department is at present caring for approximately 14,800 additional families and individuals on account of other causes, such as sickness, disability, desertion, mothers' aid and old age assistance. At present Boston is daily giving aid and relief to 27,400 cases including more than 105,000 men, women and children. The cost of public relief in Boston has risen from two and one half million dollars in 1929 to twelve million dollars in 1932. The increased cost is due mainly to unemployment relief. During the month of December applications have averaged 130 daily, of which number approximately two thirds are reapplications, indicating clearly that the work these persons secured during the past few months was only temporary in character.

It is particularly of interest to note that the private relief agencies in the city have been obliged to refer most of their applicants to the city since funds at their disposal have been exhausted and it is a fair statement to make that 95 per cent of the relief being granted in the city is by this department. The problem confronting the Welfare Department is a gigantic one. That the department has despite criticism and the enormity of the problem rendered a fine service is indicated by the tribute paid it by the social agencies of the city and by the comments of the welfare departments of the large cities of the country which have sought our ideas and methods of furnishing relief.

SOLDIERS' RELIEF.

The expenditures for the Soldiers' Relief Department increased 100 per cent during the year 1932 over the year 1931, and there is every indication that unless industrial conditions improve materially during the year 1933, a further increase may be anticipated.

From June, 1930, to June, 1932, some 1,500 service men were employed in the construction of the Boylston Street Extension, in the vicinity of Governor Square and the completion of the work made necessary the discharge of these men, many of whom, since their retirement from the service of the Transit Department, have found it necessary, in order to provide for their families, to solicit aid from the Soldiers' Relief Department.

During the year 1932, the applications and reapplications for soldiers' relief reached the huge total of nearly 10,000, and of this number more than 80 per cent were represented in reapplications, indicating clearly that many men, who had secured employment in 1931, found themselves without employment and in need of aid in 1932.

Under chapter 115 of the General Laws of Massachusetts, the municipalities of the Commonwealth are required to aid service men and their dependents, or widows, or orphans of veterans. Through a program inaugurated more than ten years ago, during my second administration, whereby major public projects were constructed upon a day labor basis with preference given to service men, it has been possible to maintain the department expenditures at an extremely low figure. Unfortunately, it has been impossible to secure authorization of a major construction program during the year 1932 through which this employment might be furnished, and as a consequence direct aid becomes necessary.

For the year 1933 the director of the Veterans' Bureau at Washington has ordered a drastic reduction of 20 per cent in the amount of disability allowance granted by the government and in the event that the legislation, as recommended by General Hines, becomes effective, an additional burden of $200,000 annually may be anticipated.

INSTITUTIONS DEPARTMENT.

The burdens placed upon the Institutions Department during the past year, mainly on account of the depression, have been the heaviest in its history. The Registration Division has accepted 3,196 cases. Of this number, 1,272 were sent to the State Infirmery, 1,013 to the Long Island Hospital, and 911 were committed to hospitals for the insane. The Child Welfare Division has had under its care an average of 1,344 children, the maximum reaching 1,376. The average population of the Long Island Hospital was 1,225, the maximum population reaching 1,298. Of this number, 948 were men, 246 were women and 104 were children.

The Long Island Hospital continues to receive the most exacting supervision. During the year 1932 the outstanding accomplishment was the completion of the new Recreation Building, which was dedicated December 21st. The approximate cost of the building and equipment was $290,000. The building is the only one of its kind in the country and is located on the highest point of land on the island and has an uninterrupted view of Massachusetts Bay, Boston Harbor and surrounding country, being literally bathed in sunlight and fresh air.

The structure is one story in height, with no basement except at the extreme northerly end where the slope of the land gives space for two rooms entirely above ground, which will be used for occupational therapy. All accommodations are placed on the ground floor, and the building is planned to accommodate comfortably 1,200 persons. The main lounging room, which seats 750 persons, is open to the roof, faces south, and occupies the greater portion of the floor area, and around this room on three sides are wide glass enclosed sun porches, with east, south and west exposures, providing an arrangement which leaves the main room free for gatherings and social use. A stage is provided at one end, equipped with footlights, portable scenery, sound equipment for talking pictures, public address system and motion picture screen, arranged to be removed when occasion requires.

The building will be a center of recreational activity not only for the inmates of the hospital, but also for the employees, and will contain a library of 5,000 volumes, a most welcome addition.

The hospital continues to give splendid service to the chronic sick and the impoverished adults of the City of Boston and the services of one of the best Visiting Staffs in the country are at the call of the hospital at any hour, day or night.

The increase in the number of children admitted to the Child Welfare Division has been about 8 per cent, the total number in its care being higher than at any time in its history. The children who come to the department are those deprived of their homes because of death or sickness of their parents, or because of such neglect that the courts decide that they should be placed in the care of the department.

RAPID TRANSIT.

The year just ended marked the completion of Boston's newest addition to its tunnel and subway system, the Governor Square Extension.

It was my privilege on July 21, 1930, to begin the actual work of construction of this project and on October 24th last officially to open it to public travel, one year in advance of the time estimated for its completion and within the limit of cost agreed upon by the city and the Boston Elevated Railway Company for rental purposes.

There are many features worthy of note connected with this undertaking. Construction of this magnitude is always hazardous, requiring the highest degree of engineering skill and workmanship.

With the Maverick Square Extension of the East Boston Tunnel as a precedent, and upon my petition, the Legislature granted permission to the city to construct this subway by its own labor forces. As a result 1,500 men drawn from the lists of the Civil Service Commission, 99 per cent of whom were veterans, were employed, at the prevailing rates of wages paid by the city to all its laborers and mechanics. The amount paid to these employees of the city was in round figures $2,500,000. No city in the world offers a better market for competent workmen than our own city and as an evidence of this in the building of this subway I am pleased to state that not one fatality nor a serious accident of any kind occurred. Of this sum of $2,500,000 paid in wages the insurance cost to the city for the workmen, represented by expenditures under the Workmen's Compensation Act, was but slightly over 2 per cent, a rate far below that prevalent in contract work, a truly remarkable record.

Engineers and public officials, as well as social workers throughout the country have commended this day labor policy of Boston and practically every man employed on that job has since qualified for advancement in his line of work.

The work was carried on continuously day and night except Sundays on the two busy thoroughfares heavy with automobile traffic, Commonwealth avenue and Beacon street, and also at the junction of these two thoroughfares, Kenmore square and throughout its progress the services of the Boston Elevated Railway Company ministering to the transportation needs of 100,000 persons daily were maintained without interruption.

With the opening of this structure Boston has today invested in its subways and tunnels, $60,000,000. This does not include the $19,000,000 Traffic Tunnel now under construction. The $60,000,000 investment was financed by the city by the issue of its bonds at an average rate of less than 4 per cent and there is no city in the world that can show an investment even approaching this in soundness.

TRAFFIC TUNNEL.

The progress of the construction of the Traffic Tunnel between Boston proper and East Boston has been most satisfactory. On July 25th last, the actual construction of the steel tube, almost a mile in length and 100 feet in circumference, was completed within one year from the date when the shield work commenced and four months ahead of the scheduled time, thus establishing a world's record for tunneling with the largest shield ever constructed.

The greater part of this work was done under compressed air and the remarkable prevention record without a single fatality, never before equalled on a project of this size, is a tribute to the intelligence of Boston's workmen, most of whom had never seen a compressed air lock previous to their employment on this work.

From the moment the shield started its journey, during the twenty-four hours of each day, Sundays and holidays included, its lines of progress have been guided so accurately that this vast machine, weighing approximately four hundred tons, pushing its way throughout the entire length of the tunnel for a distance of about a mile, arrived at its predetermined destination in Boston within a few hundredths of a foot, a measurement so infinitesimal that the human eye could not determine it.

There remains to be done the work of laying a granite block roadway, the tiling of the entire structure, the erection and completion of two ventilating buildings, the installation of fans, motors, blowers, lighting and signal systems, construction of adequate street approaches and other work of a minor character, and it is estimated that before the end of the year the public will be able to enjoy the benefits of this great public improvement.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

Years spent in the study of our transit problems have demonstrated the imperative need of suitable transit facilities for the great district that should be served by a Huntington Avenue Subway.

I presented a bill to the Legislature of last year which was enacted into law. As required by that act I approved the bill on June 21st last. The location plan was prepared and submitted by the Transit Commission to the Boston Elevated Railway Company but the Board of Directors of that company withheld its approval although the Trustees indicated that a modified route at a cost of $5,000,000 would receive consideration.

A subway for the Huntington Avenue district and its great feeding territory is an absolute necessity, not a luxury. If the city is to maintain its leadership, it must keep up with the demands of the day, for nothing promotes the welfare, the comfort, the progress of the community more vitally than adequate transportation facilities.

The completion of such work as the Governor Square Extension is not entirely a signal for rejoicing. Hundreds of men who have been engaged in its building have lost their jobs and have become dependent upon the city, through its Soldiers' Relief and Welfare agencies, not because they are not capable and ambitious but because there is no work for them. There should, however, be no occasion for such a condition. No solution of the present situation can be found unless based upon the sound principle of work and pay. The great group of ex-service men through whose efforts the Governor Square Extension was completed within the limit of cost and far in advance of the estimated time rose to their responsibilities. It would be most unfortunate to allow this band of trained subway workers to be dispersed and the public to fail to avail itself of the services of these efficient and well-trained men when there is so urgent a call now at hand.

I have prepared a modified bill for submission to the present Legislature providing for a subway from Gainsborough street, under Huntington avenue, and connecting with the present Boylston Street Subway in the vicinity of Copley square, at an estimated cost of $5,000,000 and plans to commence this work without delay are in readiness.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

The three-year program of extensive street construction inaugurated by legislative grants of loans outside the debt limit and conditional upon amounts raised within the debt limit and through the tax levy ended December 31, 1932.

In addition to this program of street construction there was a comparatively large expenditure for sewerage works and for the first time in many years all contracts awarded for street work have been completed.

For some time past negotiations have been carried on for a reduction in lighting rates, both for streets and for domestic services, and the Gas Company has reduced street lighting rates by approximately 5 per cent beginning January 1, 1933, and a similar reduction has been made by the Electric Lighting Company, the combined savings to the city being $52,000 annually.

HIGHWAY DIVISION.

During the past three years there have been authorized loans outside the debt limit for the reconstruction and repair of streets, a total of $2,975,000, as well as $1,000,000 inside the debt limit. $1,000,000 was also raised from the tax levy. In addition, $225,000 was appropriated from the tax levy for the replacement of dirt sidewalks with granolithic, which makes a grand total of $5,200,000.

For new streets there has been appropriated $2,500,000 outside the debt limit; $1,250,000 inside the debt limit, and $250,000 from the tax levy, making a total of $4,000,000 for the construction of new streets.

There is no doubt but that the expenditure of this large amount of money for construction has to some extent relieved the unemployment situation in this city.

The cost of contract work during the last two years has been so low as to justify a continued expenditure for necessary street construction, as street work in 1932 has cost 50 per cent less than in 1918.

During the past three years the expenditures for the reconstruction of old streets and for granolithic sidewalks were approximately $5,000,000.

A total of 250 new streets — practically all residential — and four "specials," namely, Morton street, Centre street, Charles and Cambridge streets and Summer and L streets, were constructed at a cost of $3,164,000.

The policy of replacing defective brick sidewalks in the older parts of the city with granolithic has been carried on with dispatch and today almost every brick sidewalk in the North and West Ends has been abolished, resulting in a great reduction in the amount previously paid for personal injury cases. The total of granolithic replacements in three years is approximately 33 miles and the total yardage of granite block and bituminous pavements laid in three years was approximately 2,100,000 square yards.

BRIDGE AND FERRY DIVISION.

The widening of Arlington street required the construction of a new bridge at Arlington square, the contract for which was awarded and finished this year.

The dangerous condition of Chelsea North Bridge fixed spans has caused the introduction of bills into the Legislature the past two years without any action. Another bill will be introduced this year and it is hoped with better results.

It is expected that the East Boston Traffic Tunnel will be open for traffic late this year, making possible the discontinuance of one of the East Boston ferries. The receipts from vehicles and passengers at the North Ferry in the year 1932 did not exceed $10,000, and by closing the North Ferry on April 1st next a saving of over $50,000 can be effected for the balance of the year, and a total saving in succeeding years of $70,000 annually.

SEWER DIVISION.

During the past three years the expenditures for sewerage works was $3,750,000, provided as follows: $3,200,000 inside the debt limit; $500,000 outside the debt limit, and $50,000 from the tax levy and a large part of this was expended for surface drainage due to the extensive street construction program.

A second 40,000,000-gallon electric-driven centrifugal pump is being erected at the Calf Pasture Pumping Station, and it is advisable to replace the existing uneconomical No. 1 and No. 2 pumps by larger electric units. This station will then operate normally with electric power and the present No. 5 steam unit will be used only for emergencies.

Considerable progress towards providing sewers for the Germantown district has been made during 1932 and the customary loan of $1,000,000 inside the debt limit for sewerage works should be provided early next year.

WATER DIVISION.

This division has been active in laying and relaying street mains for our construction program, in continuing the policy of relaying old small-size laterals with larger pipes, and replacing domestic hydrants with the new type. The disappointing number of new services required this year (about one quarter the number in 1931) is an index of the small number of new buildings constructed.

The scheme of reinforcing the water pressure in parts of Roxbury and Dorchester by laying a new main connecting with the Metropolitan District Commission's high service supply at Prince street and extending down the Arborway along Forest Hills street and along Glen road, through Franklin Park and thence to Geneva avenue and Columbia road, and connecting with our domestic system, has been considered inadvisable until such time as the Metropolitan District Commission constructs a second main from Prince street along the Arborway and allows us to connect with this main at Forest Hills street. This will eliminate the necessity of having three large mains in the Arborway, a duplication which is indefensible and in the event that the Metropolitan District Commission cooperates with the city a substantial amount in construction costs can be saved.

SANITARY DIVISION.

A new ten-year garbage and refuse disposal contract went into effect on July 1, 1932. The contractor and the method of disposal have not changed, but it is clearly our duty in the near future to provide incineration in at least two of the contract districts as the dumping facilities, within a comparatively short haul, are rapidly disappearing.

During the year 1932 employment has been provided to more than 7,500 Welfare Department men in the various divisions of the Public Works Department. These men in return for the aid furnished by the city have been required to labor from one to four days each week, and while a considerable expenditure has been necessary for the purchase of implements required in the work performed by them, their employment, nevertheless, has represented a considerable saving to the city in that it has made unnecessary the filling of positions of permanent employees either physically incapacitated, or retired from the service because of old age. Personally, I know of no better method of stripping public aid of the stigma of charity than by requiring the individual to perform a certain amount of labor in return for the relief extended. With the cooperation of the Welfare Department it is my purpose to continue the program and enlarge the same during the year 1933, unless a general improvement in industry takes place.

CITY PLANNING BOARD.

One of the most important questions confronting every American city today is that of providing shelter for its inhabitants, a problem which has become particularly acute under present economic conditions. It is a problem which has seriously affected not only the home owners themselves, who, in many instances, have been forced to relinquish the savings of a lifetime through inability to meet interest and mortgage payments, but it has also affected the banking and financial interests, the building trades, real estate dealers and health and social welfare workers.

There are a number of groups in the community who are giving considerable study to various phases of this important problem. In order that there shall be coordination in the work, the elimination of duplication of effort and a well-organized, well-informed and well-intentioned body prepared to cope with the problems, and to take advantage of opportunities which may arise through the Home Loan Bank Bill, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation act or other measures, and to promote such activities as may appear to be for the best interests of the community, there has been organized a group representing the financial, civic, real estate, housing, social welfare and other agencies to work in cooperation with the Planning Board in a study of ways and means to improve housing conditions in the City of Boston. A tentative draft of a housing law is in preparation and will be submitted for presentation to the 1933 Legislature.

Several projects contained in the Thoroughfare Report of 1930 have been completed during the past year or are now in process of construction, including the first unit of the Canterbury Parkway, from Blue Hill avenue to the Cummins Highway; the Brook Farm Parkway, from the West Roxbury Parkway, near the Brookline line, to Spring street at the Dedham line, and the North Shore Radial by the State Highway Division; the Centre street widening has been completed. For the Merrimac street, Haymarket square and Cross street improvements, plans are now being prepared.

The Board has worked closely in cooperation with the Emergency Planning and Research Bureau in the development of a program of productive activity on the part of the unemployed architects and engineers. This has resulted in the assembling of a vast amount of graphic material, population analyses, street maps, zoning maps and similar data.

Studies have been made of the development of the Noyes Playground, the utilization of the Burrage property on Bumpkin Island, the establishment of a municipal pier, and the development of Tenean Beach Playground.

The Board has made substantial progress in connection with a comprehensive study of serious traffic intersections throughout the City of Boston, including possible measures of relief through grade separations or other changes as warranted by circumstances on each individual case.

The work of the Housing Commission, the block system of assessing, the utilization of welfare services and the intersection study will carry forward throughout 1933.

PRINTING DEPARTMENT.

The year 1932 is the first one of the depression years which affected this department, with appropriations for printing required by the various departments reduced to the minimum; appropriations for City Documents cut nearly $25,000; appropriations for school printing cut a similar amount, so, naturally, the business of this department is seriously affected as revenue is acquired from the other departments.

Unless business improves in the very near future, it will be necessary to reduce the working forces which up to this time have enjoyed continuity of service at the regular rate of union wages.

During the month of October the department moved to its new building at the corner of North and Richmond Streets. The structure is modern in every way and is equipped with every facility to execute the city's printing requirements.

The printing for all the courts and county officers, which the city pays for, should be executed at this plant. Officials of the courts and county who do not come under the jurisdiction of the Mayor, and who place their printing with private concerns, are not only injuring the Printing Department, but actually depriving the city of the right to participate in its own expenditures.

The city has an investment of fully $400,000 in its printing plant and it appears but proper that the printing which the city pays for should be executed in this plant.

I believe the officials referred to should cooperate with the city in its efforts to maintain the plant, as their patronage would be helpful in providing work for citizens of Boston and they would be living up to the spirit of the city ordinances which established the printing plant.

The plant as organized and equipped in its new building is considered by experts to be one of the finest book and job offices in the city and there is nothing in the printing line that it is unable to handle efficiently and economically.

LIBRARY DEPARTMENT.

For the year 1932 the Library Department experienced a greatly increased use of all of its libraries. That the depression contributed largely to this increase is seen in the following figures giving the total number of books lent for home use during the year 1929 (the last of the prosperity years) and the years 1930, 1931, and 1932 (the years of the depression):

YEAR.	Number Books Lent for Home Use.	Increase Over Previous Year.	Per Cent Increase.	Personal Service Cost.
1929....	3,930,068	30,782	0.8	$770,367 26
1930....	4,133,459	203,391	5.2	809,530 41
1931....	4,702,932	569,473	13.8	858,903 00
1932....	5,600,000	897,068	19.1	858,000 00

The above figures show an increase of 19 per cent for 1932, which is greater than that (13.8 per cent) for 1931. This was due largely to the acceleration in increase that came about during the second half of 1932. For the last six months of 1932 the increase approached a figure as high as 25 per cent.

All of the above is significant in that it seems to forecast for 1933 an increase in the use of the libraries that will be even greater than the increase (19.1 per cent) for 1932, just as the latter was considerably greater than that (13.8 per cent) for 1931. The question now arises as to how it may be possible to meet increased demands of this sort with existing facilities both of equipment and of personnel, particularly the latter.

The Library Department ended the year 1932 with a slightly smaller staff than that with which it began the year 1931. During the brief intervening period of only twenty-four months the number of books which it had been lending for home use increased by over one third (35.4 per cent). To have taken care of so marked an increase in work without a corresponding increase in personnel has proved difficult and has been achieved only at the cost of a strain upon the individual workers that cannot be continued indefinitely. To meet increasing demands, both actual and forecasted, additional provision will now have to be made for personnel.

The intensity of the depression increases, not diminishes, the essential importance of the work of the Public Library and in 1933 it will undoubtedly have more demands made upon it than ever before. In 1928 the adult users were only 43 per cent of the total clientele; in 1932 they increased in number until they formed 57 per cent of the total number of library users. The indications are that in 1933 they will be quite as many in number, if not more, for the unemployed adult is coming more and more to the Public Library for solace in present difficulties as well as for aid in preparing to meet more adequately the difficulties that lie ahead.

FINANCIAL STATUS OF BOSTON.

So many misleading and untruthful statements have been made with reference to the financial structure of the municipality and the injustice of the valuations placed upon property by the Assessing Department that to me it appears advisable to here present the facts.

The injury that may result to Boston financially and otherwise unless this insidious practice is ended is incalculable. The fact remains that during the entire period of depression the City of Boston has experienced no difficulty in securing all the money necessary to meet the unprecedented expenditures consequent to the depression. In this respect the position of Boston is in striking contrast to six of the largest cities in the United States.

The City of Boston may be truly said to be the only large American city that has met every obligation arising from the unemployment situation without reverting to an issue of bonds to finance its welfare or soldiers' relief obligations, or requesting aid from the Federal Government. In substantially all the leading American cities with the exception of Boston, it has been found necessary in order to prevent starvation to establish bread lines and soup kitchens.

The assertion that assessed valuations upon properties are disproportionate and eminently unfair is neither borne out by the facts in Boston nor by comparison with other leading cities of America. In Boston there has been but one general increase in a period of twenty-five years in the valuation upon suburban properties, and in other sections of Boston there has been no appreciable increase in a period of seven years.

For comparative purposes the increase of assessed valuation of property since 1920 in the following large cities is most interesting:

	Increase of Assessed Valuation 1920-1932 (Per Cent).
Boston.....	20.2
New York.....	123.9
Chicago.....	129.0
Philadelphia.....	70.6
Detroit.....	54.3
Los Angeles.....	230.9
Baltimore.....	95.8

A cursory examination of this table would indicate that there is no justification for the assertion that property values have either been unduly or unfairly increased in Boston.

The levy on real estate in 1932 was $62,260,762 out of a total appropriation bill of $79,000,000.

The return from intangible property, supposedly taxed through the corporation and income tax, represents but the minimum of what it should be. The corporation and income taxes collected by the state and turned over to the city for the year 1932 was but $6,500,000, while the state collected from the city $8,900,000.

For many years prior to the establishment of the income tax in Massachusetts it was admitted that intangible property was escaping taxation and there was an element in the community which felt that to conceal wealth in intangible form was dishonest and yet to tax intangibles equally with real estate was impossible since it resulted in almost confiscation.

The income tax was accordingly established to reach intangible wealth which greatly exceeded the value of real estate. In other words, the property tax was adequate during the period following the Civil War. However, during the period beginning about 1890, the national wealth increased in the form of corporate and intangible wealth to such a point that a better relation for taxing purposes was needed and in 1917 the income tax was adopted. It has been in operation for fifteen years, during which time intangible wealth has witnessed its greatest increase, even today far exceeding the amount in 1917.

The income tax has failed of its purpose for two reasons: First, the rates have remained stationary even though proven inadequate and this during a period when real estate taxes have been more than doubled. Second, that provisions of the income tax permit the escape from its operation of so many classes of intangible income that its productivity is almost negligible.

Apart from business income and gain, the classes of income from intangibles, which are free from this tax, have become the principal channels for investment of intangible wealth. Some of the most important are:

Dividends on stocks of all Massachusetts Corporations.

Dividends on stock of American Telephone and Telegraph Company (New England).

Dividends on stock of Western Union Telegraph Company.

Dividends on stock of all public utility corporations.

Dividends on stock of all Massachusetts trusts. (A new device.)

Dividends on deposits in savings banks.

Dividends on deposits in cooperative banks, etc.

Interest on all Massachusetts bonds.

Interest on all Massachusetts, city, town and county bonds.

Interest on all mortgages.

And here is represented the sources of the principal income of Massachusetts citizens from intangible wealth, amounting to hundreds of millions of dollars — untaxed.

New revenue must come in substantial amounts from intangible wealth which has been privileged too long.

In the investment banking business in Massachusetts, a technique has been developed whereby tax-evasion is encouraged through which entire escape from taxation of intangible wealth is now possible.

The Federal Congress has recognized that the fluctuating nature of income tax compels frequent revision and has made provision accordingly. The functions of the municipalities are equally vital and revenue for their proper operation can only be provided through taxation. Hence it is clearly the duty of the state to enact the necessary legislation at the earliest date possible so that the burden may be equalized, namely, requiring organized wealth to bear its fair share of the cost of government, and only in this way can any measurable relief be provided for the property owner.

The principles here presented are in no sense new. They are universally recognized. In fact a special commission of the legislature appointed in 1929 to investigate the entire subject of taxation has incorporated a similar viewpoint which is contained in House Document 900 of the year 1930.

This document contains this significant paragraph:

"Real estate, therefore, unless some of its tax burden is shifted to other forms of property must bear the weight of the taxes required to meet normally increasing expenditures."

The report further states: "Intangible property has been rapidly growing, until this class of property is probably five times as great as all the real estate and machinery. This class of property has been paying less and less of the total tax until now real estate and machinery, constituting perhaps a fifth or a sixth of the entire wealth of the state, pay about two-thirds of the entire tax; while intangibles representing perhaps five-sixths of the entire wealth, pay less than one-tenth of the taxes."

No equitable measure of economy or method through which efficiency would be possible has been disregarded during the depression years of 1930, 1931 and 1932. Every reasonable measure that would reduce the operating costs of the municipality has been put in operation, not with the hope or belief that through these measures a lower tax rate would be possible in view of the enormous demands for aid consequent to the industrial depression of the past three years, but with a view to the prevention of an increase in the tax rate that would be unduly burdensome.

The most interesting example of the fallacy of the theory that economy in municipal administration alone will accomplish reduction in tax rate is presented in the case of Fall River. In Fall River a State Board of Finance was appointed to conduct the activities of the city and despite the exercise of every conceivable economy, including the curtailment of what has long been recognized as essential municipal activities, those affecting health, life and education, the tax rate of Fall River today is more than $8 per thousand of valuation greater than the tax rate of the City of Boston. Notwithstanding the fact that the acts of this Board were not subject to veto or review by any individual in the city of Fall River and that their power was supreme, and that they were answerable for their acts to no individual citizen of Fall River, the fact remains that in the second year of the operation of this state-appointed commission there was a $3.70 per thousand increase in the tax rate.

Anticipating that what has taken place in the case of Fall River was inevitable in other cities throughout Massachusetts, a bill was presented seeking authority for the state to borrow $15,000,000 to be distributed to the cities and towns pro rata in the same manner that state taxes are imposed and to be financed by taxation upon the cities and towns within five years. But this measure was rejected. A bill was then submitted providing for a $20,000,000 bond issue to be amortized in a period of five years through an increase in the income tax and the $20,000,000 thus raised to be distributed to the cities and towns in the same manner as the state tax is now apportioned. This measure was also rejected.

The inevitable took place, namely, the income received by the City of Boston from the State on account of income, corporation and street railway taxes was $2,812,915.89 less than in 1931. The increase in state taxes and assessments upon Boston, including the Boston Elevated Railway deficit, was $1,566,543.88. The necessity for providing this huge sum of $4,379,459.77 in addition to the added costs of welfare relief and hospitalization, was responsible for the increase in the tax rate of 1932.

It is evident from the foregoing that the increase of $4 in the tax rate was beyond the control of the Mayor and officials of the city, and it is equally certain that unless there is an increase in state revenues, either through the taxing of values now escaping taxation or through the development of new sources of revenue, that a further increase in the burden to be borne by the property owners is unavoidable.

During the three years that have passed, which may truly be said to have been the most trying in the history of the municipality, Boston has held true to tradition and has measured up to the most ennobling standards created in the past. Every obligation, humanitarian and financial, has been met without equivocation or evasion of either duty or obligation. The charity, patience and patriotism of the citizenship is deserving of the highest encomium.

It has been no easy task to bear the burden imposed by forces beyond one's control, but the severity of the task has been lessened by the encouragement and confidence which the public has freely accorded at all times. The development of a new economic program both in the nation and its subdivisions is accepted by every thoughtful citizen. I have no means of determining either the character of program that will be ultimately approved or as to the time of its adoption, but in common with every lover of American institutions I have an abiding faith in the destiny of our city, state and of our nation and the fortitude and faith of the past three trying years have materially strengthened my belief that the year 1933 will mark the end of the depression period and unfold a vista replete with the promise of a better day for our country and its people.

In view of the generous cooperation afforded me as Mayor by the City Council during the past three years, it seems needless for me to invite a continuance of those friendly relations, as I have a profound appreciation of your willingness to meet the exacting problems that will confront us mutually during the coming year.

The founders of Boston gave exemplification of their faith, in the inscription which appears upon the city seal: "As God was with our Fathers, so may He be with us." May we in this hour invoke a like blessing supplemented by the prayer that Divine Providence guide us in our deliberations and aid us in bringing comfort to those heavily laden.

FIRE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 77.

I. PUBLIC WELFARE.

Because of the continued heavy and unusual demands being made on the Public Welfare and Soldiers' Relief Departments for the relief of the unfortunate and unemployed it has been deemed advisable to continue in operation the plan inaugurated last year whereby city employees made voluntary contributions of part of their salaries to a fund to be used by the two above mentioned departments. Briefly the plan followed last year is as follows:

(a.) A contribution equivalent to one day's pay per month from all employees receiving on a per annum basis less than $1,600 per year, or on a per diem basis, less than $5.11 per day.

(b.) A contribution equivalent to two days' pay per month from all employees receiving on a per annum basis from $1,600 per year up to $3,000 per year, or on a per diem basis, from $5.11 per day to $9.57 per day, both inclusive.

(c.) A contribution equivalent to three days' pay per month from all employees receiving on a per annum basis $3,000 per year or more, or on a per diem basis, $9.58 per day or more.

Deductions from employees paid on weekly rolls are to be made in the weeks in which the 10th and the 25th day of the month occurs. Employees contributing one day's pay per month will have one half day's pay deducted on each of these rolls; those contributing two days' pay will have one day's pay deducted; and those contributing three days' pay will have one and one half days' pay deducted on each of the rolls.

In order that the whole-hearted co-operation of every employee may be assured in this matter, cards have been prepared upon which employees are requested to indicate their willingness to participate in the continuance of the voluntary pay roll contribution policy. These cards are to be filled out in accordance with the schedule outlined on the back of the cards. The employee signing the card will date it, insert in the space provided the number of days per month to be deducted in accordance with his salary and sign the card at the bottom on the line provided.

These cards are to be returned to the office of the Fire Commissioner on or before Friday, January 6, 1933.

Employees of the Fire Department should be quick to realize that a system of voluntary contributions has been adopted in an effort to make possible the preservation and continuance of pay schedules and in addition permits the various pensions systems now in operation to remain intact. It should be easily apparent to all that the advantage of a voluntary system of contribution is such as to make the same extremely attractive and acceptable to persons in the employ of the city, as against the alternative which it would be necessary to adopt in the event the voluntary system is not participated in by all, namely, a reduction in salaries and wages. Additional comment or suggestion is unnecessary in the importance of this item in the public and individual welfare.

By order of Fire Commissioner Edward F. McLaughlin.

HENRY A. FOX,
Chief of Department.

General Order No. 1.

Both these men leave the department with the best wishes of their associates.

PRaises Banks For Efforts To Save Mortgaged Homes.

Mayor Curley, on December 29, forwarded the following communication to the President of the Boston Five Cents Savings Bank, Mr. Wilmot R. Evans:

MY DEAR MR. EVANS,—I read with interest your report of the Real Estate Advisory Committee for the First Federal Reserve District and also your recommendation to the savings banks, cooperative banks and trust companies not to foreclose the mortgage on the home of mortgagors who are unable to pay mortgage interest when due or unable to pay annual taxes when due.

Under date of November 15, 1932, I communicated with all the banking interests of the state with a view to providing relief for owners of property in Boston and calling upon the banks which hold mortgages on any such properties to pay the overdue taxes for the mortgagors and add the same to the mortgage or set up a separate account enabling the taxpayers thereby to repay in partial payments over a period of months. The majority of banking interests replied commending the recommendations and assuring their hearty cooperation.

In such cases where the bank declined to pay the taxes for the mortgagors as outlined above, relief was afforded through the Collecting Department, which accepted payments of not less than twenty-five per cent of the amount due, granting thereby a further extension of time for payment of the remainder of the tax.

Your attitude in this matter and that of your committee is highly commendable and points the way to all public-spirited bank officials to cooperate with such mortgagors who on account of present financial conditions are unable to make payments in full of either their taxes or of their mortgage interest.

Sincerely,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

CONDOLES WITH FAMILY UPON DEATH OF JOHN R. MURPHY.

In connection with the death of John R. Murphy, Mayor Curley, on December 29, issued the following statement:

The death of John R. Murphy marks the passing from the political life of Boston of a most colorful, interesting and capable citizen. It was his privilege to serve the city in many important posts in every one of which he discharged the duties incumbent upon him with ability and fidelity.

To his widow and to his family in their bereavement I extend sympathy and a sincere wish that Almighty God may grant to him eternal peace.

EXTENSION OF CONTRACTS.HOSPITAL DEPARTMENT.

John Bowen Company has been granted a further extension of time for completion of contract made July 16 for extension of the tunnel system, Boston City Hospital, from December 15, 1932, to January 15, 1933.

LIBRARY DEPARTMENT.

Day & Co. have been granted an extension of the contract for the delivery desks for the Uphams Corner and Mt. Pleasant Branch Libraries, for the reason that delays have occurred on the part of the subcontractor for counter tops.

PRINTING DEPARTMENT.

Maryland Casualty Company, surety for Archdeacon & Sullivan, Incorporated, were granted an extension of time for completion of the contract for Printing Department Building to September 1, 1932. The reason for this extension is that the general contractors, Archdeacon & Sullivan, Incorporated, abandoned the job on June 3, 1932; their contract called for completion June 7, 1932. The contractors were notified that if they did not proceed to complete the work according to the contract that the bonding company would be ordered to finish the job. No effort was made to comply with the request and the Maryland Casualty Company, surety for Archdeacon & Sullivan, Incorporated, were notified to complete the work in accordance with their bond. The Maryland Casualty Company had a number of conferences with the architects and the various subcontractors and made a new contract with the Thomas O'Connor Company to complete the unfinished portion of the work. As the negotiations between the bonding company and the various subcontractors and the new contractor took considerable time it was impossible to complete the building on the date specified.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

A. Orlando, Incorporated, has been granted extension of the time of completion of the contract for repairing garbage pumping station at Fort Hill Wharf, from December 31, 1932, to February 1, 1933.

MAYOR VETOES MUNICIPAL LIGHTING PLANT ORDER.

Mayor Curley, on December 3, sent the following message to the City Council:

To the City Council.

GENTLEMEN,—I return herewith without my signature and disapproved your order passed December 19, 1932, for the establishing of a municipal electric lighting plant.

While I have been a consistent advocate of public ownership of public utilities and in fact, in 1906, as a member of the Board of Aldermen voted for the erection of a municipal gas and electric plant, a thorough investigation of the matter made it necessary for me as Mayor in 1925 to disapprove an order similar to this for the same reasons which now make it imperative for me to veto the present order.

Chapter 164 of the General Laws describes the conditions under which a municipality may establish a lighting plant, and in the case of a city, such as Boston, where electric light and gas companies are already established and serving a large portion of the metropolitan district, it requires no great study to make it evident that these conditions render it practically impossible from a financial standpoint for the city to engage in the business of manufacturing gas or electricity.

Even if the city were in a financial condition to engage in this enterprise, the handicap would be too great for its success until such time as the Legislature sees fit to amend the laws so that a municipal corporation may establish a lighting plant without being under obligation of purchasing existing plants.

Sincerely,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

NEW RATE FOR STREET LIGHTING SECURED BY MAYOR.

Upon December 30 the Mayor issued the following statement:

As a result of conferences held by the Mayor, the Public Works Commissioner, the Corporation Counsel and the officials of the Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston an agreement was arrived at this day whereby the Edison Electric Illuminating Company will file with the Department of Public Utilities a new schedule on street lighting prices, affecting principally the 1,500 candle power arc lights. Under the provisions of the new schedule some 7,500 lamps in use by the City of Boston will be affected, and the new rate when approved, will represent a saving of $40,000 for the year 1933.

The agreement entered into with the Edison Company plus the agreement entered into with the Boston Consolidated Gas Company represents a total saving in street lighting by electricity and gas for the year 1933 of $52,500.

DEAR SIR,—Inasmuch as the eligible list for lieutenant will expire on March 9, 1933, an examination for promotion to this rank has been ordered.

(Paragraph 3.)

Patrolmen Patrick J. Fallon, James J. McGovern, Michael J. Regan and Harold J. Martin, all of Division 15, are hereby commended in General Orders for meritorious police duty performed in connection with the arrest of two men who were involved in an armed holdup in Charlestown on August 20, 1932, in which a citizen reported that as he was about to enter his parked automobile, he was accosted by two men, one of whom pointed a revolver at him and ordered him to keep quiet. The citizen made an outcry and the holdup men fled, dropping a revolver, which was brought to the station by the citizen.

The commissioner is pleased to recognize the excellent cooperation shown by these officers on this occasion, also the initiative shown by Patrolmen Fallon and McGovern in coming to headquarters for pictures of possible suspects, one of which was identified by the victim as that of one of the holdup men, and, it is further ordered that Patrolmen Fallon and McGovern each be given one day additional vacation.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

EUGENE C. HULTMAN,

In the death of Standish Willcox I suffer the loss of a faithful, devoted and dependable friend.

I pray that Almighty God in his mercy may grant him that eternal peace which a lifetime of charity and kindness merits.

PROCEEDINGS OF CITY COUNCIL.

Final meeting for 1932 in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at 11 a. m., President GALLAGHER in the chair. Absent, Coun. Brackinam, Curtis, Dowd, Gleason and Norton.

VETO OF MUNICIPAL LIGHTING PLANT

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 31, 1932.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen,—I return herewith without my signature and disapproved your order passed December 19, 1932, for the establishing of a municipal electric lighting plant.

While I have been a consistent advocate of public ownership of public utilities and, in fact, in 1906 as a member of the Board of Aldermen voted for the erection of a municipal gas and electric plant, a thorough investigation of the matter made it necessary for me as Mayor in 1925 to disapprove an order similar to this, for the same reasons which now make it imperative for me to veto the present order.

Chapter 164 of the General Laws describes the conditions under which a municipality may establish a lighting plant, and in the case of a city such as Boston, where electric light and gas companies are already established and serving a large portion of the metropolitan district, it requires no great study to make it evident that these conditions render it practically impossible from a financial standpoint for the city to engage in the business of manufacturing gas or electricity.

Even if the city were in a financial condition to engage in this enterprise the handicap would be too great for its success until such time as the Legislature sees fit to amend the laws so that a municipal corporation may establish a lighting plant without being under obligation of purchasing existing plants.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

VETO OF ADDITIONAL COURT OFFICER.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 31, 1932.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen,—I return herewith without my approval your order accepting chapter 235 of the Acts of 1932, authorizing the appointment of an additional court officer for the East Boston District Court. I do not see that there has been any change which warrants me in reconsidering my previous action in vetoing this order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

TIME OFF FOR HOSPITAL EMPLOYEES.

The following were received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 31, 1932.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen,—I herewith transmit to you report from Joseph P. Manning, president of Board of Trustees of City Hospital, with reference to granting one day off in seven for the nurses at the institution, instead of the present plan. This is in reply to your order of December 12, 1932.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Hospital Department, December 23, 1932.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Mr. Mayor,—At a meeting of the Board of Trustees held today the order of the City Council that the Board of Trustees of the Boston City Hospital be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to arrange that nurses connected with said institutions be given one day off in seven, instead of the present system in vogue at the City Hospital, was presented, also a communication from Miss Della M. Currier, Superintendent of Nurses, in which she states that "it will mean more complaints and less care for the patients as we have not sufficient nurses at the present time." The trustees, therefore, voted that more time off for the nurses is inexpedient.

Respectfully yours,
JOSEPH P. MANNING,
President, Board of Trustees.

Placed on file.

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 31, 1932.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen,—I herewith transmit to you report from Joseph P. Manning, president of Board of Trustees of the City Hospital, with reference to your request to grant time off to employees Christmas Eve or night. This is in reply to your order of December 12, 1932.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Mr. Mayor,—At a meeting of the Board of Trustees held today the order of the City Council that the City Hospital Trustees be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to make the necessary arrangements to grant time off on Christmas Eve or Christmas night to cleaners and such other employees as may be spared from their duties, was presented, also a communication from Mrs. N. J. Cutler, assistant matron, a copy of which I am inclosing and which explains itself.

Mrs. Cutler has been requested to place in effect the plan which she suggests with reference to this.

Respectfully yours,
JOSEPH P. MANNING,
President, Board of Trustees.

Boston City Hospital,
December 23, 1932.

DR. JOHN J. DOWLING,
Superintendent, Boston City Hospital.
Dear Dr. Dowling,—No one in my department works nights except the ten women, including the housekeeper, and six men employed for cleaning the Administration Building; this is done between the hours of 5.30 and 11 p. m. every night except Sundays and holidays, when they work from 8 to 11 p. m.

Already the women have each had one night off this month for their Christmas shopping day, allowed by the Mayor's office to each woman employee. If more time must be given them, I would suggest they all be given Sunday night, December 25, 1932, off, as most of the offices will not be used Monday, and that they work Monday night from 5.30 to 11 p. m., in order that the place may be clean Tuesday morning.

Respectfully,
N. J. CUTLER, R. N.,
Assistant Matron.

SKATING, PARKER HILL PLAYGROUND.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 31, 1932.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen,—I herewith transmit to you report from William P. Long, chairman of the Park Commission, with reference to your request to flood the Parker Hill Playground for skating purposes. This is in reply to your order of December 19, 1932.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Park Department, December 30, 1932.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir,—I am in receipt of an order from the City Council that the Park Commission be requested to flood the Parker Hill Playground for skating.

This playground, situated in Roxbury, was constructed on probably the steepest hill within the city limits. The playground is constructed with three levels, each level to be eventually used for different types of playground activities.

The upper level is for the use of mothers and children, and also for tennis courts. The central level is to be used as an athletic field, namely, for football, and the lower level is to be a children's play area.

All of these areas are pitched down hill with Parker Hill avenue. It was never the intention of the department to utilize this playground for skating purposes as it cannot be flooded due to the slope of the area.

The only way to even consider flooding it would be to build a very high dike which would not be practical, and would probably be tunneled under, allowing the water to run down onto Fisher avenue. I regret that this area cannot be flooded for skating purposes.

Very respectfully yours,
WILLIAM P. LONG,
Chairman.

REMOVAL OF BUILDING, RUTHERFORD AVENUE.

The following was received.

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 31, 1932.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen,—I herewith transmit to you report from Edward W. Roemer, Building Commissioner, with reference to your request to remove the building adjoining the Charlestown sanitary yard. This is in reply to your order of December 5, 1932.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Building Department, December 23, 1932.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir,—In reply to the order of the City Council "That the Building Commissioner be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to remove the building adjoining the Charlestown sanitary yard on Rutherford avenue, which is in a dangerous condition and liable to collapse at any time," passed by the Council on December 5, 1932, I desire to report as follows:

The building complained of is located at 265 Rutherford avenue, Ward 2, and on August 4, 1932, the following complaint was sent to the owner, Mr. James I. Brooks of 242 Parker street, Lowell:

"The old wooden stable is in a dilapidated condition; windows all broken and falling out; clapboards and shingles falling off; large hole in rear of building; a fire menace."

Since that time Mr. Brooks has passed away, and his widow has asked a representative to call at this office and request a little time in order that the estate may be settled.

The district inspector reports that on an inspection on December 20, the building was not in a dangerous condition and not liable to collapse, although it was very unsightly because of windows and other openings being boarded up.

I have written Mrs. Brooks ordering her to remove the building or make permanent repairs on the same.

Very truly yours,
EDWARD W. ROEMER,
Building Commissioner.

SOLDIERS' RELIEF.

Report accepted; said order passed under suspension of the rule.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON INSPECTION OF PRISONS.

Coun. RUBY, for the Committee on Inspection of Prisons, submitted the following report:

In accordance with the provisions of chapter 126 of the General Laws, the Committee on Inspection of Prisons of the City Council submits herewith its annual report.

SUFFOLK COUNTY JAIL.

The customary semiannual inspections of the Suffolk County Jail were duly made.

Your committee finds that the usual wholesome and sanitary conditions prevail at this institution, and feels that the transfer of the West End yard of the Public Works Department should be effected as soon as possible so that the temporary and inadequate vehicular entrance to the jail from North Grove street may be replaced by one of permanent and substantial construction.

HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

The required number of visits were made by the committee to the House of Correction during the year, and conditions at this institution were found very acceptable.

For the committee,

ISRAEL RUBY, Chairman.

Appended were reports from Sheriff John A. Keliher, Suffolk County Jail, and from G. F. A. Mulcahy, Master House of Correction, Deer Island, showing commitments and discharges during period December, 1931, and June, 1932.

Coun. BURKE—Mr. President, I would like to have the report read.

Coun. RUBY—Mr. President, I would merely suggest for the benefit of the councilor from Ward 17 that that is the usual annual report. It gives the number of men who have been in both Charles Street Jail and the House of Correction, Deer Island, and comparative figures with regard to the inhabitants of the island and causes of discharge and removal. It merely contains information of that sort, that should go into a public document, and our recommendation is that it be printed as a public document.

The report was accepted and ordered printed as a public document.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON CLAIMS.

Coun. ROBERTS, for the Committee on Claims, submitted the following:

1. Report on petition of Edward F. McGlinchey (referred September 26) to be reimbursed for the amount of a judgment against him on account of his acts as a member of the Fire Department, recommending passage of the accompanying order, viz.:

EXTRAS ON DORCHESTER HIGH SCHOOL FOR GIRLS.

Coun. FISH offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor request the School Committee to stop issuing any further extras on the new Dorchester High School for Girls.

Coun. FISH—Mr. President, I notice an article in yesterday morning's paper wherein the chairman of the Finance Commission placed the responsibility for conditions at the new Dorchester High School on the shoulders of Louis K. The resolution was unanimously adopted:

President GALLAGHER said:

Gentlemen, my term of office has been a truly enjoyable experience. I cannot leave the chair without saying a brief word of appreciation. I thank you, my colleagues, for your unfailing courtesy. My whole effort has been to be fair to all the members of this honorable body, and you have met me half way in an equal spirit of good will. I thank the officials who are our co-laborers in the transactions of this chamber. By an intelligent and conscientious application to duty, they render year after year a service that is invaluable. It is right that I should voice your gratitude and mine to the representatives of the press who have reported what has happened here according to the best traditions of the estimable profession to which they have the honor to belong. That my successor may receive from you the same kind consideration and generous cooperation that I have received, that in the same spirit of harmony that I took over from my predecessors he may lead us to a new advance in our city's progress, that when his term is ended he may leave this chair in the same sentiments of brotherly regard and affection that I now leave it, is the earnest wish with I express to him with all my heart. (Applause.)

Adjourned, at 12.21 p. m., on motion of Coun. LYNCH, to meet on Tuesday, January 3, 1933, at 2 p. m.

MAYOR CURLEY DENIES HE PLANS TO RESIGN.

Upon December 31 the Mayor issued the following statement:

In directing attention to the necessity for cooperation during 1933 between the executive and legislative branches of the municipal government, I expressed the wish that the same cordial relations that had marked our mutual service in 1932 would be extended to me or my successor in 1933.

My term as Mayor of Boston ends in December, 1933, and since under the law the President of the Council is acting Mayor, it was my desire to impress upon the membership of the Council the importance of selecting the most capable member of that body as President for the year 1933.

Contrary to the statements which have appeared in the press, I have at no time considered resigning the office which I now hold as Mayor.

DAMAGE CLAIMS AGAINST THE CITY GREATLY REDUCED.

Upon December 30 the Mayor issued the following statement:

The report of the Corporation Counsel for the year 1932 in the matter of highway accident cases is most gratifying. In 1929 the payments made upon claims filed and chargeable to highway accident cases was $197,000. In a majority of cases it was set forth that the accident was due to defects in the sidewalk and with a view to making it difficult for an individual to create a source of accident, granolithic walks have been laid in many sections of the city.

It is extremely difficult to have an accidental hole in granolithic sidewalks and the installations, plus the policy of the department of refusing to approve payments over $100 without trial in court resulted in a reduction in actual payments of more than $100,000 each year for the past three years, the actual saving to the taxpayers as a consequence of the policy adopted by the Law Department of the city for the year 1932 being $111,000, in actual figures the amount being reduced from $197,000 in 1929 to $86,000 in 1932.

Upon January 9 Mayor Curley, over Station WNAC from City Hall, delivered the following address:

Friends of the radio audience, I am grateful to Station WNAC for the privilege and opportunity of speaking over the radio today.

At a hearing held in Washington Saturday last, before a Senate committee having under consideration action upon what is known as the LaFollette-Costigan Bill, a bill that has been considered during the past entire year and which provides for a program of public works as a means of ending, in part, the industrial depression that has been general in the United States, now entering a period of four years, a representative of the American Municipal Association of Chicago, none other than the executive director, Paul V. Betters, addressing the committee stated that Massachusetts cities were in a very serious plight and the people were actually starving to death in Boston.

Conditions in Boston so far as employment is concerned do not differ materially from conditions that are general throughout the country with this possible exception. In Boston we have made provision to provide for the food and for the fuel and in most cases for the shelter of the victims of our industrial system. We have provided in a more generous manner than any other American city. As a matter of fact, the actual expenditures for the year 1932 represents the huge total, for mothers' aid, old age assistance and for unemployment relief, of $12,000,000, that is, at the rate of $1,000,000 each month for the entire year, an average of $50,000 for the five working days of each week, and an average for the eight hours of each day of $10,000. It represents assistance extended to somewhere in the vicinity of 105,000 persons.

You get some idea of the extent of the operations of the Public Welfare Department of Boston when I say to you that old age assistance — that is, the Old Age Assistance Act adopted by the Legislature of Massachusetts in 1931 and that became operative in September of that year — paid for the remainder of the year 1931, under provisions of this act, was but $125,000. During the year 1932 we were required to provide for a full twelve-month period, and the expenditure for the year 1932 represented a total of $1,000,000. This act provides that any woman or man who has arrived at the age of seventy or over may make application to the Public Welfare Department for assistance, and under the provisions of the act the city is required to assist the individual with a weekly stipend, averaging about $7.

Under the Mothers' Aid Act for the month of December, 1932, our expenditures were about $85,000. Dependent Aid, including Unemployment Relief, for the month of December was $940,000, or a total of $1,120,803 for the single month of December. This does not include payments made under what is known as Soldiers' Relief Act. A provision was inserted in the Soldiers' Relief Act, shortly after the World War, requiring the city to aid any service man, or dependents of a service man, who might be in need with a minimum of $30 a month and a maximum as high as $100 a month in some cases. Under the provisions we were required to pay out during the year 1932, $900,000 and I anticipate during the year 1933, unless we change our economic theory and substitute work and wages for the "dole," that we may be required to expend in excess of $1,000,000 for soldiers' relief. Allowing for the payment of $80,000 in soldiers' relief for the month of December, we have a grand total of $1,200,000 for relief. During a single week, December 16th to the 21st, the Public Welfare Department aided a total of 28,168 individual cases. The total expenditure for relief during the year was approximately $12,000,000.

With a view to stripping the public welfare aid from the stigma of "pauperism," which frequently attaches itself in every community, even during a period of depression for which the individual is in no measure responsible, the individual citizen and his family are simply the victims, who are compelled to suffer, either because of the inability, or lack of desire of those in public authority, to provide the necessary safeguards that would make for a continuity of work for those willing and able to work. In order that we might strip this aid from the stigma of "pauperism" and preserve the self-reliance of the individual, as well as the self-respect absolutely essential in a republic, we have made provision to employ in return for aid expended able-bodied men to the number of 12,600.

From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean,
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"

MAYOR CURLEY REFUSES TO TAKE BLAME FOR LACK OF RADIO SYSTEM IN POLICE WORK. REFUTES CHARGES OF COMMISSIONER HULTMAN MADE IN ANNUAL REPORT TO GOVERNOR ELY. CITES STATEMENTS AND ATTITUDES OF COMMISSIONER ON OCCASIONS TO SUPPORT HIS STATEMENTS.

Upon January 5 the Mayor issued the following statement:

I have read with interest the articles appearing in the columns of today's newspapers with reference to the annual report of the Police Commissioner, filed yesterday with his Excellency the Governor. While I have not had an opportunity to read and study the complete report, nevertheless, I feel it incumbent upon me to comment on a few of the excerpts printed in the columns of the public press.

The intimation that I am solely responsible for the fact that a radio system of communication is not in operation in the Boston Police Department is not supported by the actual facts. These facts to which I have reference are: First, the report of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology to the Police Commissioner on the general subject of the communications system of the Boston Police Department; and second, statements of the Police Commissioner made at various times in my office.

A study and review of the Technology report clearly indicates that in the opinion of the experts responsible for the report, the installation of radio in the Police Department was not a primary need or requisite. Anyone reading the report cannot fail to gain the impression that while the experts viewed radio as a "useful auxiliary" in a system of police communication, nevertheless, in their judgment other features of the Boston Police Department required attention and consideration before any thought of radio installation should be engaged in. In the beginning of the report, speaking on the essential features of a police communications system, the following words were used: "Speed, reliability and secrecy are essential features of means for police communications, in order that their vital functions may be performed with the greatest success. The hue and cry raised by publicly broadcasting police instructions defeat secrecy, and has defects in reliability. Telephoning and telegraphy by wire, therefore, must be principally relied upon for communications, but radio is a useful auxiliary in associating with the more important wire system of communication."

RADIO LAST ITEM URGED.

Following after this thought, the experts describe the equipment which they feel should be included in a police communications system. It is interesting to note that radio broadcasting is the sixth and last item of equipment mentioned, clearly indicating the firm belief of the writers of the report that radio should be considered if and when necessary improvements and extensions in the wire system of the department had been completed. On page 6 of the report appears this pertinent statement of the experts' belief: "After the previously recommended changes in the wire communications system have been made, and in the event that suitable cooperation with neighboring municipalities can be secured, or in lieu thereof that an individual police broadcast wave length for the City of Boston can be obtained from the Federal Radio Commission, then an appropriation ought to be made available for the purpose of providing the Boston Police Department with radio equipment."

On page 40 of the Technology report there is shown the "preferred order of placing recommended equipment in service." The installation of radio is listed as No. 7 in this preferred order. On page 50 of the report the following recommendation is made: "We recommend that an appropriation of $255,000 be secured for the purpose of proceeding with Items 1 to 6, inclusive, and that an additional appropriation of $75,000 be secured to be used in what proportion is necessary for Items 7 and 8, providing suitable cooperative relations can be set up with the neighboring municipalities or an individual wave length could be secured from the Federal Radio Commission." (In explanation of this recommendation it should be said that Items 7 and 8 refer to radio equipment.)

In every discussion I have had with the Police Commissioner on the subject of the police communications system I have gained the firm impression that the commissioner subscribed to the opinions expressed in the Technology report and was primarily interested in extending and improving the existing wire communications system of the department.

NO REQUEST IN BUDGET.

At a recent conference on the Police Department budget, at which the Budget Commissioner and City Auditor were present the Police Commissioner clearly indicated that it was his intention to use whatever appropriations could be made available within the financial limitations of the city; first, for the extension of the so-called "Hayes flicker system"; and second, for the development of an intercommunicating telephone system within the department, whereby, like in the Fire Department, all telephone service would be centralized at Police Headquarters. The commissioner expressed no particular interest in proceeding with the installation of radio, in fact, he questioned the practicability of such a system in certain areas and sections of the city, and further, he voiced information that radio had been discarded in several cities throughout the country. The budget estimates of the Police Department for 1933, while containing no provision or request for radio installation, did include specific estimates for the extension of the flicker system and the development of an intercommunicating telephone system in the department.

The consideration of these facts can only lead to one conclusion, namely, that failure to make appropriations for radio installation is not the sole cause or chief reason for the absence of such facilities in the Boston Police Department. It is unfortunate that the Police Commissioner in submitting his report to the Governor failed to mention these facts, thereby creating a wrongful impression in the public mind.

In his customary style the Police Commissioner places the responsibility for his inefficiency and incompetency upon the shoulders of others who are in no way to blame.

In his report the Police Commissioner is alleged to have stated that the failure of the Boston Traffic Commission to promulgate proper traffic regulations was responsible for his inability to enforce the traffic rules and regulations in the City of Boston. Of course, it should be borne in mind that the Police Commissioner is a member of the Boston Traffic Commission and that he has been repeatedly requested by the commission to inform it as to the rules and regulations which he believes are essential to properly provide for efficient regulation of traffic in Boston. I am informed by the Traffic Commission that up to the present time the Police Commissioner has not only failed to do so, but has very rarely attended the meetings of the Traffic Commission to cooperate with it in its attempt to regulate traffic in Boston. The truth of the situation was portrayed in the article appearing in one of the Boston papers on Friday, December 30, in which article the blame was placed upon the Police Commissioner and his department for its failure to enforce the existing laws. This article spoke of the neglect of the Police Department to prosecute violators of the law and even intimated that the practice had developed in the city of providing protection to deliberate violators. The Police Commissioner also in his attempt to provide an excuse for his failure to carry on his department placed the blame upon the courts of the Commonwealth and intimated that the courts had failed to assist the Police Department. The truth of the situation is that no attempt has been made by the police to cooperate with the courts in submitting sufficient evidence to prosecute violators of the parking laws.

Last year I submitted to the Legislature a bill to make owners of motor vehicles who parked their cars in violation of the law as prima facie liable, if the car owned by the individual was found to be parked in violation of the traffic regulations. The Police Commissioner offered no assistance whatsoever in my attempt to procure this legislation. I have again filed a similar bill and if the Police Commissioner is sincerely interested in procuring the necessary legislation, I trust he will this year appear before the legislative committee and favor the adoption of the proposed legislation. I do not propose that the Police Commissioner shall place the responsibility upon the Traffic Commission, or upon any other public official, because of his failure to properly enforce the law and to perform his sworn duty.

HALTED INVESTIGATION.

The Police Commissioner's comment upon the investigation by his department of the activities of the Public Welfare Department is most amusing. He would give the impression that I ordered his investigation to cease, because of the discoveries his department had made. On the contrary, I ordered his department to cease the investigation, due to the apparent failure of the investigation and the serious damage that was being caused to the morale of the employees of the Public Welfare Department and because of the unwarranted and unfair stigma that he was placing upon the City of Boston by the false and unsupported statements issued by him from time to time as to the conditions existing in the Public Welfare Department. The work of the city in aiding those unfortunate in our community was too sacred to be used as a political football by the Police Commissioner or anyone else and to prevent this action I was compelled to order the Police Commissioner to cease his investigation before more damage was done.

Hanrahan; that the amount $45 be, and the same hereby is, awarded to Margaret M. Hanrahan for the damages so sustained.

BOSTON CARES FOR NEEDY.

PRIVATE AGENCIES TURN TO CITIES.

These men were employed during the closing months of the year 1932. They were employed in the Public Works Department, Park Department and other departments of the municipality, so that it can be truly said that no individual died of starvation. There may have been an isolated case where they were unacquainted with the routine or method of securing aid, or there may have been some individual too proud to accept aid and prefer death to asking for public assistance. But they were isolated cases, extremely few, and it can be truly said that Boston, among all the cities of America, has taken better care of the needy and unemployed during this period of depression than any other city in the entire country.

The number of families aided on account of unemployment in Boston, in 1910, was only 1,000. The number in 1932 was 12,600 and in addition to that number the department has been burdened on account of other causes, such as sickness, disability, desertion, mothers' aid and old age assistance. At present Boston is daily giving aid and relief to 27,400 cases, including more than 105,000 men, women and children. The total population of the city is only 780,000, so that today one in eight are recipients of aid from the city. The cost of relief in Boston has risen from $2,500,000 in 1929 to $12,000,000 in 1932. The increased cost is due mainly to unemployment relief.

It is particularly of interest to note that the private agencies in the city have been obliged to refer most of their applicants to the city since funds at their disposal have been exhausted and it is a fair statement to make that 95 per cent of the relief being granted in the city is by this department. The problem confronting the Welfare Department is a gigantic one. That the department has, despite criticism and the enormity of the problem, rendered a fine service is indicated by the tribute paid it by the social agencies of the city and by the comments of the welfare departments of the large cities of the country which have sought our ideas and methods of furnishing relief.

At the present time a movement has been launched for the raising of $5,000,000 for public welfare. While it is true that no portion of this money will be forwarded direct to the Public Welfare Department of the City of Boston, it is nevertheless equally true that a large number of families now aided by the city, and who perhaps are not receiving sufficient money to provide for their every need, will be aided materially as a consequence of the drive in the event that the drive is, as I trust it will be, a successful one. It will mean more money for the Jewish charities, German charities, Italian charities, St. Vincent de Paul Society, and all the private agencies and hospitals that function and, in part, supplement the exceptional work that is performed by the City of Boston itself.

DESERVES SUPPORT OF ALL.

It is the character of program that is deserving of the support of every individual. These private agencies are necessary to supplement, as I have stated, and dovetail the work so well performed by the city itself.

I had occasion to have an intimate personal contact during Christmas week with conditions as they obtain in the case of many persons in our city, and I had every reason to believe that the situation that obtains in Boston differs in no respect from the same situation that obtains in other cities of the United States. In conformity with long established custom, I visited the poorhouse at Long Island during Christmas week and was amazed at the number of young men there—three hundred men under thirty years of age, well, strong and vigorous. Naturally, I interrogated a number of those men, and I learned that the majority were there because of their inability to secure work to provide for their needs on the mainland, and rather than commit crime they asked to be sent to the poorhouse.

There were, also, girls there between the ages of fourteen and eighteen, and 1,400 babies and children being cared for by the city. The means of private agencies that formerly took care of them have been depleted, and they were obliged through necessity to unload them on the city. Our burden is great but we are meeting it in a manner that is in keeping with the highest and best traditions of the City of Boston for human service of the most noble character. I thank you.

STIFFER REGULATIONS FOR AIR-PLANE PILOTS.

Due to the fatal airplane accident involving a plane being operated under the supervision of one of the lessees of the Boston Airport, his Honor the Mayor has directed William P. Long, chairman of the Board of Park Commissioners, to draft a regulation which will prevent, to some extent, a repetition of such an occurrence, and the following regulations have been put into effect this day:

"No pilot operating at or from the Boston Airport, either using it as a permanent base or as a visitor, shall carry passengers unless such pilot is duly licensed by either the United States Department of Commerce or by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and has at least fifty solo flying hours to his credit, which time must be proven to the satisfaction of the Airport Superintendent by a certified log book."

MAYOR CURLEY REPLIES TO ASSERTIONS OF PAUL V. BETTERS THAT BOSTON CITIZENS ARE STARVING TO DEATH FOR LACK OF DEPRESSION RELIEF.

The following statement was, on January 9, forwarded to Mr. Paul V. Betters, executive director of the American Municipal Association at Chicago, and to the chairman of the Senate committee before which the La Follette-Costigan Bill hearings are being conducted:

The statement as made by Paul V. Betters, executive director of the American Municipal Association at Chicago, at a Senate hearing in Washington on January 7, at which hearing the La Follette-Costigan direct Federal aid bill was under consideration, to the effect that people are starving to death in Boston, and further that the plight of cities in Massachusetts is very serious, especially Boston, is absolutely without foundation. The policy of the Overseers of the Public Welfare Department during the entire period of depression has been to provide aid when requested, and to investigate after.

The burden of providing the necessary funds for the relief of the needy during the year 1932 has been extremely great, reaching the huge total of nearly $12,000,000, but no applicant was denied aid, and provision has been made to continue this policy during 1933. The per capita cost for the year 1932 was $15 and this is the highest per capita cost of any city in the entire United States.

Boston has been free of the demeaning and degrading bread lines and soup kitchens, apple peddlers and beggars, and it is my purpose that it shall continue so during 1933. The appended report of the secretary of the Overseers of the Public Welfare Department relative to the work of that department is most interesting.

During the month of December, 1932, the Department of Public Welfare of the City of Boston expended the following sums for relief purposes:

Old Age Assistance.....	$95,881 25
Mothers' Aid.....	84,859 65
Dependent Aid, including unemployment relief.....	940,062 29
Total.....	$1,120,803 19

During the week December 26 to December 31 the department aided a total of 28,168 cases; of this number 1,338 representing Mothers' Aid families, 3,373 representing Old Age Assistance cases, 10,642 representing regular dependent cases, and 12,925 families were aided because of unemployment. Applications for relief were received during the month of December totaling 2,636. The total expenditure for relief during the year 1932 amounted to $11,993,190.

Every head of a family receiving unemployment aid if physically able is required to perform some labor in return for it in some city project from one to four days weekly according to the amount received. Approximately 12,600 men are so working at present. During the entire period of depression the city has adequately met the relief demands of its citizens and no individual or family has been denied assistance upon presentation of a reasonable and proper claim for relief. During the year 1932 the department has been obliged to assume approximately 95 per cent of the relief expenditures made in the city.

Respectfully,

WALTER V. MCCARTHY,
Secretary.

LIBRARY DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, December 14, 1932.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

SIR,—The Trustees of the Public Library of the City of Boston respectfully request your permission to award, without further public advertising, a contract in the sum of $2,063 for repairs to the annex roof of the Central Library building, to J. J. O'Connor, 21 Elm place, Somerville.

The proposal of J. J. O'Connor was the lowest of ten submitted on August 30 and was accepted under your approval. On December 2 the trustees voted to reject all proposals because of the inability of the accepted bidder to obtain the bond required in the specifications, and to ask your approval to award the contract to the lowest bidder on amended specifications.

The proposal originally submitted was in the sum of $1,220. The reasons for the advance in the estimate to $2,063 are that all roofing materials have advanced in price 20 per cent during the last three months; the present weather conditions increase the cost of labor because the men cannot work so easily in heavy clothing and gloves, and the condition of the roof is much worse than when the original proposal was made.

Very truly yours,

THE TRUSTEES OF THE PUBLIC LIBRARY OF THE CITY OF BOSTON,
by ELLERY SEDGWICK,
President.

REGISTRY DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, January 4, 1933.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,

DEAR SIR,—Your permission is hereby asked to make a contract with the Dewell Company, without advertising, for checking and consolidating vital records and indexes in a sum not to exceed $5,000.

This work is an accumulation of years and is of such a nature that it is best done by an organization thoroughly familiar with our methods and the great importance of these records. The Dewell Company has had extensive experience with vital records for the City and Commonwealth.

Respectfully yours,

JAMES J. MULVEY,
City Registrar.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—Under date of December 8, 1932, a contract was awarded to Perin-Walsh Company to deliver Ford bodies to the various city departments.

As the Paving Service now desire that two old bodies be transferred from old Ford chassis to the new Ford chassis instead of using new bodies, I respectfully recommend that this contract be amended as follows:

South End Yard, 636 Albany street, Paving Service: Two new 2½-yard bodies, as per contract, $502 lot; two bodies removed from two old trucks that will replace the new bodies, install 6 UB hoists instead of 55 UB, as the old bodies are shorter and considerably heavier than the new ones would be; also the longitudinal stringers on these bodies have to be renewed as the width of the chassis frame is different and two cross rockers have to be moved so that they won't be over the tires when bodies are installed; this work will cost $155 each body, $310—$192.

The above change to be made, and $192 to be deducted from the original price in the contract, $2,382.72, making the amount for this item $2,190.72 for the lot.

Respectfully yours,

PHILIP A. CHAPMAN,
Superintendent of Supplies.

The Gibby Foundry Company, with your Honor's permission, assign this contract to the Warren Foundry and Pipe Corporation, under date of December 23, 1932, owing to inability to complete this contract.

I would request that this contract be extended until January 15, 1933, in order to complete deliveries.

I am attaching letters from the division engineer of the Water Service and from the Warren Foundry and Pipe Corporation, in explanation of this request.

Respectfully yours,

PHILIP A. CHAPMAN,
Superintendent of Supplies.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 145.

(Paragraph 1.)

The commissioner desires to publish the following letter in General Orders for the information of the department:

226 BAY STATE ROAD,
BOSTON, January 4, 1933.

HON. EUGENE C. HULTMAN, Police Commissioner, 154 Berkeley Street, Boston.

MY DEAR COMMISSIONER,—On behalf of myself and my late husband's family, may I, through you, express to the members of the Boston Police Department the deep gratitude which we feel for their splendid regard and devoted attention during our recent bereavement.

Words cannot adequately express our thanks for their kind consideration during my husband's illness, and for the high tribute which they accorded his memory at the services at St. Cecelia's Church.

Yours sincerely,

MARIE H. SCANLAN.

(Paragraph 2.)

The following letter is published in General Orders for the information of the department:

(Circular Letter No. 14.)

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,
BOSTON, December 28, 1932.

To the Heads of City, School and County Departments:

GENTLEMEN,—The policy of relieving the financial burden resting on the city because of the economic depression through the medium of voluntary pay roll contributions by all municipal and county employees which has been in effect during the last six months of the current year will be continued during the year 1933. Individual contribution cards have been prepared and are now available at the office of the Budget Commissioner, Room 47, City Hall. Immediately upon receipt of this letter you are directed to secure these cards and distribute them among all employees attached to your department or division. When the cards have been properly filled in they are to be returned to the office of the Budget Commissioner.

It should be unnecessary for me to request the unqualified support and approval of every municipal and county employee for the voluntary contribution plan. This method not only preserves and assures continuance of pay schedules now in operation, but also permits the various pension systems now in operation to remain intact. A realization of these two important advantages which accrue to municipal employees under the voluntary contribution plan should be sufficient inducement for all employees to sign the contribution cards.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

EUGENE C. HULTMAN,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 146.

Instructions to the Department.

(Paragraph 1.)

In every case requiring the attention of the homicide squad, and where notice is received in accordance with the rules and regulations of the department by the officer in charge of the Bureau of Criminal Investigation that a member of this squad is needed, the officer in charge of the Bureau of Criminal Investigation shall, if no officer attached to the homicide squad is available at headquarters, immediately notify the member of the squad on call who will designate the stenographer to be called with instructions, if any, to be given him.

The officer in charge of the Bureau of Criminal Investigation will then immediately notify the officer in charge of the police division upon which the homicide inspector and stenographer reside, to dispatch a department automobile to convey them as directed by the homicide inspector. The officer in charge of the Bureau of Criminal Investigation will immediately dispatch an automobile from this bureau to the place where the homicide inspector is conducting his investigation, and the operator will remain under the direction of the homicide inspector until excused.

Upon arrival at the place designated by the homicide inspector, except in cases of emergency, the operator of the divisional automobile shall report back to his station.

It is important and necessary that the homicide inspector and stenographer shall arrive at the scene of the investigation as promptly as possible. The purpose of this order is to convey to officers in charge of divisions the necessity for prompt and efficient service in order that there shall be no delays in sending divisional automobiles.

Officers in charge of divisions shall be held strictly responsible for the full enforcement of this order. Commanding officers of all divisions, except those equipped with the "flashing light" system, shall make arrangements to have cruising cars contact with the station house as often as possible, particularly in the nighttime.

(Paragraph 2.)

The following letter is published in General Orders for the information of the department:

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
CIVIL SERVICE AND REGISTRATION,
DIVISION OF CIVIL SERVICE,
BOSTON, January 5, 1933.

MR. EUGENE C. HULTMAN,
Police Commissioner.

DEAR SIR,—This is to inform you that an examination will be held for promotion to the rank of sergeant in the Boston Police Department at the earliest possible date.

Very truly yours,

PAUL E. TIERNEY,
Commissioner of Civil Service.

(Paragraph 3.)

Sergt. Thomas F. Ryan and Patrolmen Anthony J. Dunleavy, Patrick J. Dervin, Thomas Carty, John C. Bresnahan, all of Division 18, and Patrolmen Timothy J. O'Keefe and Lewis W. Allsopp of Division 17, are hereby commended in General Orders for prompt and efficient police duty performed on December 24, 1932.

As the result of an outside telephone call that a man was being assaulted and robbed, officers immediately responded to the location designated and found the victim, who stated that he had been assaulted by a man with a dangerous weapon who attempted to rob him. The officers observed an automobile parked some distance from the scene of the crime, and telephoned the registration number to the station. Upon further investigation the officers arrested one of the culprits, and a description of the other one was given to Patrolmen O'Keefe and Allsopp, who later observed a man answering the description, arrested him and turned him over to officers of Division 18.

The commissioner is pleased to recognize the excellent cooperation and effective police duty performed by these officers on this occasion.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

EUGENE C. HULTMAN,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 147.

Lieut. Melvin A. Patterson of Division 14, formerly sergeant of Division 15, is hereby commended in General Orders for the interest shown and assistance rendered to Patrolmen Hilary A. Gasper and William J. McCarthy, both of Division 15.

While cruising on the division on November 1, 1932, Patrolmen Gasper and McCarthy were informed by a citizen that he had seen two men running down the street. The officers toured the vicinity and observed two men emerge from an alley acting in a suspicious manner. As a result of their actions they were taken to the station. While being questioned at the desk, a citizen appeared stating that he had been held up and robbed of a diamond ring in his home, and upon observing the two men immediately identified them as his assailants. The officers then returned to the alley and found the ring, a pinch bar and a fully loaded 38-caliber revolver which was used in the holdup.

In discussing the case with the then Sergeant Patterson, it became apparent to the sergeant that there was more to the case than the facts showed, and acting under his instructions Patrolmen Gasper and McCarthy arrested another man on suspicion, whom it developed was the instigator of the crime, having supplied the gun and furnished information to the others who committed the holdup.

The commissioner is pleased to recognize and commend the alertness and intelligent police duty performed by Patrolmen Gasper and McCarthy on this occasion, and it is further ordered that both of these officers be given two days' additional vacation.

(Paragraph 2.)

It gives the commissioner great pleasure to publish for the information of the department the following letter:

THE SHEPARD STORES,
EXECUTIVE OFFICES,
BOSTON, December 30, 1932.

POLICE COMMISSIONER EUGENE C. HULTMAN, Police Headquarters, Berkeley Street, Boston.

DEAR COMMISSIONER,—As the year draws to a close, may I take this opportunity to commend the courteous and efficient service which we have received at the hands of the Police Department.

Also I would like to commend again the most excellent cooperation we have received from Policewoman Irene Bohm-bach throughout the entire year, and also the services of Officer Frank Beringer and Officer Thomas Mundy during the holiday season.

Very truly yours,

MERRITT THOMPSON,
Store Manager.

(Paragraph 3.)

It gives the commissioner great pleasure to publish for the information of the department the following letter:

CONRAD & Co., INCORPORATED,
17-33 WINTER STREET,
EXECUTIVE OFFICES,
BOSTON, January 5, 1933.

COMMISSIONER HULTMAN, Police Department, 154 Berkeley Street, Boston.

MY DEAR COMMISSIONER,—We should like to have you know that we were very well pleased with the way in which your officers under the direction of Captain King handled the traffic problems of Winter street during the Christmas season just past.

The interest and courtesy of the men assigned made conditions much more agreeable for shoppers than might have been the case if there had been any lack of attention on the part of the officers, and all this was very much appreciated.

Cordially,

D. E. MOESER,
Treasurer and General Manager.

(Paragraph 4.)

It gives the commissioner great pleasure to publish for the information of the department the following letter:

THE EXPRESSMEN'S LEAGUE,
IRA S. NELSON, Executive Secretary,
42 Hartford Street,
BOSTON, January 7, 1933.

HON. EUGENE C. HULTMAN, Police Commissioner, 154 Berkeley Street, Boston.

DEAR MR. COMMISSIONER,—The Expressmen's League appreciates the helpful cooperation of your department. We feel that since special effort was made by your department to prevent thefts from express vehicles during the holiday season just past, that a letter of this kind should be sent to you.

Our special officer reports that he has at all times received needed cooperation from your department, and we feel that this cooperation has been very largely responsible for the fortunate record we have set up during the past three months.

We trust that the feeling now existing between your department and The Expressmen's League may continue.

Very truly yours,

THE EXPRESSMEN'S LEAGUE,
IRA S. NELSON,
Executive Secretary.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

EUGENE C. HULTMAN,
Commissioner.

MAYOR RECEIVES PUBLICATION.

His Honor the Mayor was, on January 6, presented with the first edition of the "Court News," the new official publication of the James M. Curley, Jr., Court, No. 285, M. C. O. F. The bulletin in printed form was an ideal which the Mayor's son, now deceased, and for whom the court was named, always had in mind. The first edition was dedicated to his memory.

The presentation was made by Thomas M. Gemelli, editor-in-chief. Those present were Philip F. Kenney, Chief Ranger, Paul J. Murphy, Financial Secretary, and William G. O'Hare, Past Chief Ranger of the Court.

MAYOR CURLEY MOURNS DEATH OF FORMER PRESIDENT COOLIDGE.

Upon January 5 the Mayor issued the following statement in connection with the death of former President Coolidge:

The sad news of the demise of former President Calvin Coolidge is a shock to the entire people of the United States. In common with every American I had looked forward to many years of continued useful service from this truly great, modest and retiring American.

As President of the United States he merited and enjoyed the respect and admiration of leaders of thought throughout the world, and since his retirement from the office he has grown steadily in public estimation. His loss at this time, when his leadership and counsel is so necessary to the nation, is indeed to be deplored.

The sympathy of the world will go out in this hour of sorrow to his beloved, charming and gracious partner of a lifetime, his wife, and to his son.

To me the loss is personal, for it was my good fortune to enjoy intimate contact with him during his service as President of the Senate, Lieutenant-Governor, Governor, and President of the United States. His was truly a life of service in behalf of the people. He has earned the right to rest.

HIGHWAY WORK TO RELIEVE UNEMPLOYMENT.

Highway officials throughout the United States are earnestly besought to put as many men to work as possible. The total disbursements for all road purposes in this country during the ten-year period 1922-1931 are computed by the United States Bureau of Public Roads to be about $14,000,000,000, more than half of this by and for the State Highway Departments. The Bureau last May came to the conclusion that the man-month expenditure was then about $300 with a downward trend and that for every man employed directly on the job, two others are employed indirectly in the preparation of materials, manufacture of machinery, transportation, etc. Thus the total of $4,637,000,000 expended for the construction of state and Federal roads during the ten-year period referred to means 13,248,571 man-months—the equivalent of the steady employment of approximately 110,000 men for the ten years, with 220,000 others employed indirectly. Similarly, the money spent on construction of local roads must have given direct employment to 51,000, with 102,000 others indirectly employed. This would make a grand total, continuously employed in road building, of 483,000 men.

THE POLICE OFFICER AND THE CITIZEN.

The importance of the police as conspicuous representatives of the municipal government, and the qualities desirable in such a relationship, were pointed out by City Manager Willard F. Day of Staunton, Va., in addressing the recent convention of the Virginia Police Executives' Association. He said in part:

"It is unquestionably true that the man on the street, the public, the visitor and the home citizen alike, form first and in many cases lasting impressions of the local government by contacts with the police."

CENSUS OF MANUFACTURES.

The Bureau of the Census issued a statement at the close of 1932 giving some preliminary figures compiled from the 1931 biennial census of manufactures, covering more than 300 industries in the United States. Public utility industries (other than manufactured gas), the mining and quarry industries and various service industries were not included in the compilation. The printing, publishing and allied industries are included.

Number of establishments, 174,136, a decrease of 36,823 or 17.5 per cent in two years; average number of wage earners, 6,511,647, a decrease of 2,327,096 or 26.3 per cent in two years; wages (not including salaried officers and employees), $7,225,587,464, a decrease of $4,395,385,790 or 37.8 per cent from 1929; cost of materials, containers for products, fuel and purchased electric energy, $21,420,124,017, a decrease of $17,129,455,715 or 44.4 per cent in the two years; value of products, $41,333,108,998, a decrease of $29,101,754,445 or 41.3 per cent since 1929; value added by manufacture, $19,912,984,981, a decrease of $11,972,298,730 or 37.5 per cent in two years.

Food and kindred products led in the number of establishments reporting, also in cost of materials and value of products; textiles and their products led in the average number of wage earners, amount of wages and value added by manufacture.

LIBRARY PACKED AS DEPRESSION CONTINUES.

As the curve of business goes down, the curve of reading goes up! To those cities tempted to chop off the budgetary appropriation for libraries as the first move in a program of economy, this report from the American Library Association Bulletin may be interesting:

More than a million new readers have found their way into libraries in cities of over 200,000 population in the last two years, and the number of books borrowed from them has reached the unprecedented high of 157,000,000—more than 26,000,000 over figures for 1929.

While these figures are indicative of the increase in reading throughout the country, they do not tell the whole story, for they represent only 44 libraries. Reports received by the American Library Association indicate that the per capita demand for books is equally great in smaller libraries.

Expenditures for library service in the cities noted increased 5 per cent during the two-year period; the number of books available increased 10 per cent; the number of registered readers, 19 per cent; and the number of books borrowed, 20 per cent.

FAILURE TO MAINTAIN CITY STREETS IS FALSE ECONOMY.

Money now saved by failure to maintain city streets, in response to the clamor of citizens for tax reduction, represents a trivial economy in comparison with the enormous outlay that will be required to rebuild such thoroughfares later. Taxpayers in some municipalities, determined to reduce public expenditures, have gone so far as to insist upon elimination of funds sorely needed for the maintenance of existing streets. In other places, even though money for street maintenance is available, powerful minority groups are demanding that it be not spent under present conditions.—The American City.

PROCEEDINGS OF CITY COUNCIL.

Tuesday, January 3, 1933.

First meeting of the City Council for the year 1933 in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at 2 p. m. Coun. COX, senior member, called the meeting to order. All the members were present.

Chairman COX, in calling to order, said:

The committee so designated retired from the body at 2.04 p. m. and presently returned accompanying the Mayor, heads of departments, etc. The Mayor took the chair and called the Council to order.

I respectfully recommend adoption of this order by your honorable body.

Hon. James M. Curley,

Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir,—I submit herewith customary order for temporary loan in anticipation of taxes, and respectfully request same to be forwarded to City Council with recommendation for its adoption.

RUPERT S. CARVEN, City Auditor.

Ordered, That to provide temporarily money to meet the appropriations for the financial year 1933, the City Treasurer issue and sell, at such time and in such amounts as he may deem best, notes or certificates of indebtedness of the City of Boston not exceeding thirty million dollars in the total, in anticipation of the taxes of the current municipal year; that all such notes or certificates of indebtedness be dated the day the money for the same is received, he made payable with the interest thereon within one year of their date from the taxes of the year 1933, and bear interest from their date until the same are made payable at such rate as the City Auditor, the City Treasurer and the Mayor may determine.

PRINTING BY CITY PLANT.

Coun. RUBY offered the following: Ordered, That all printing paid for by the city for city or county purposes be printed in the City of Boston Printing Plant.

Coun. RUBY—Mr. President, I believe, in conformity with the address we have just heard from his Honor the Mayor this afternoon, that we should at least try to obtain the cooperation of such city and county departments as have printing done for which the city pays the expense, in having such work performed by our Printing Department. We all hear in mind, of course, that in the first part of 1932 there was a deficit in the printing plant of the City of Boston. That being so, it would seem nothing but right and proper that officers having charge of different printing, documents and papers of both city and county departments, should take cognizance of the fact that by having such papers printed by our printing plant much of the present strain on that department will be relieved, and that it will prevent the possible laying off of city employees. I ask a suspension of the rule and the passage of the order.

Chairman COX—The Chair will state that the order will be referred to the Executive Committee because it is not in proper form.

The order was referred to the Executive Committee.

HEALTH UNIT, WARD 17.

Coun. BURKE offered the following: Ordered, That the Mayor be requested to take immediate action towards securing the erection of a White Health unit in the vicinity of Codman square, Ward 17.

Coun. BURKE—Mr. Chairman, that order is being presented in behalf of Dorchester. Ward 17 has been mentioned as the proper place to erect such a unit, due to the fact that it is the central ward of Dorchester and also due to the fact that Dorchester is the only part of the City of Boston that at present has no health unit. Therefore, it seems imperative that the Mayor should take action during 1933 to secure a health unit, to be placed preferably in Ward 17, adjacent to the courthouse on Washington street, on a piece of land now there owned by the city. It would be a splendid place upon which to erect such a health unit.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

VOTES FOR PRESIDENT.

CATCH-BASIN CLEANING.

The cleaning of catch-basins in Toronto, Ont., is started immediately after the spring clean-up of the streets, and is usually sufficient until the fall, when the basins are given a thorough cleaning for the winter, in order to reduce to a minimum the blocking of drains during this season. Many basins throughout the business sections and those in subways and at the bottom of grades are given constant attention, owing to the exceptional amount of refuse washed to the culvert and drains by street flushing and rainstorms.

The total cost of catch-basin cleaning in 1931 was $17,580.70. A total of 11,561 cubic yards of material was removed from 54,306 catch-basins. The cost of cleaning the basins and removing the accumulated material was $1.52 per cubic yard, or 32 cents per basin per cleaning season according to George W. Dies, Street Commissioner, Toronto, Ont.

TO REMOVE ICE AND SNOW EASILY.

In certain special emergency cases, as in traffic areas, it may be desirable to entirely remove thick, heavy accumulations of ice and hardened snow which, because they usually become badly rutted, are a cause of dangerous traffic conditions. In such cases the application of flake calcium chloride by means of a mechanical spreader at the rate of three quarters to one pound per square yard will soon loosen the entire ice coating, permitting its removal from the pavement by hand or mechanical means.

For this purpose, a solution containing from 25 to 30 per cent of calcium chloride, which figures 2.85 to 3.75 pounds per gallon of solution, may be employed. Such solutions, especially if made up with warm water and applied by a street flusher equipped with nozzles which throw a finely divided high-pressure spray, have proved highly efficient for this purpose. As soon as the ice has become loosened from the pavement surface, it should be removed and an extremely light treatment of coarse sand applied to the surface.

PROCEEDINGS OF CITY COUNCIL.

Boston, Monday, January 9, 1933.

Regular meeting of the City Council held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at 2 p. m., Coun. COX, senior member, presiding, and all the members present.

RESOLUTIONS ON DEATH OF CALVIN COOLIDGE.

Coun. CURTIS offered the following:

Almighty God, in His infinite wisdom, has taken from our midst Calvin Coolidge, former President of these United States. His public service in the State of Massachusetts ranging by successive steps from a member of the City Council of Northampton to Governor of the state, was marked by that wisdom and integrity which served as a prophecy of that greater service which he was to render to the nation as President. He left that distinguished office with the respect and esteem of the entire citizenship of his country and the succeeding years have served to strengthen their affection for his human qualities and their admiration for his high character.

Resolved, That the Mayor and City Council, in behalf of the people of Boston, extend their sincere sympathy to the widow and family of Calvin Coolidge in their hour of affliction.

The resolution was adopted, unanimously, by a rising vote.

Ordered, That the City Clerk be directed to have a copy of the resolution on the death of Calvin Coolidge suitably engrossed and transmitted to Mrs. Coolidge, the expense to be charged to the Reserve Fund.

The order was passed.

Ordered, That on account of the death of former President Calvin Coolidge the flags on all municipal buildings and city property be placed at half staff as a mark of respect for a period of thirty days beginning January 6, 1932.

The order was passed.

APPOINTMENT BY THE MAYOR.

Laid over a week under the law.

HIGHWAY LOAN.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 9, 1933.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I am in receipt of a communication from the chairman of the Board of Street Commissioners in which he requests that a loan of $500,000 be authorized for the laying out and construction of highways during the current year.

In my opinion this is the minimum amount which should be provided in any year for this purpose and I accordingly recommend adoption of the accompanying order by your honorable body.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Board of Street Commissioners,
December 29, 1932.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir,—The Board of Street Commissioners requests that an appropriation of $500,000 by a loan be authorized for the laying out and construction of highways during the year 1933.

There is no let up in the demands on this department for the acceptance and construction of streets that are now private ways, and an appropriation of this sum will go a long way in satisfying people who have established their homes on such ways.

Very truly yours,
THEODORE A. GLYNN,
Chairman.

Ordered, That the sum of $500,000 be, and hereby is, appropriated for Highways, Making of, under the provisions of chapter 393 of the Acts of 1906, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue from time to time, upon request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

SEWERAGE AND STREET LOANS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 9, 1933.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I am in receipt of the attached communication from the Commissioner of Public Works in which he requests that loans of $1,000,000 and $500,000 be made available respectively for sewerage works and for the reconstruction of streets.

It is essential that these loans be given early consideration in order that the Public Works Department may establish the year's program and start actual construction as early as possible. I submit, herewith, orders providing for these loans and respectfully recommend adoption of the same by your honorable body.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department, December 30, 1932.
To His Honor the Mayor.

We suggest the early authorization of the customary loan of $1,000,000 inside the debt limit for sewerage works, in order that we may establish a program for the year's work and start construction as early as possible.

Due to present financial conditions, it was considered inadvisable to include in the budget any allowance for the reconstruction of streets. We think a duty is owed the citizens of the city to continue the expenditure of money for the reconstruction of old streets, even though it will be a small amount as compared with what was provided for the last three years, by a loan inside the debt limit in the sum of $500,000.

Yours respectfully,
JOSEPH A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 426 of the Acts of 1897, as amended by chapter 204 of the Acts of 1908 and chapter 178 of the Acts of 1930, the sum of $1,000,000 be, and hereby is, appropriated to be expended under the direction of the Commissioner of Public Works for Sewerage Works, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, upon request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Ordered, That the sum of $500,000 be, and the same hereby is, appropriated, to be expended by the Commissioner of Public Works for Reconstruction of Streets, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, on request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the City of Boston to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

CITY PRINTING.

Coun. NORTON offered the following

Ordered, That the City Council of Boston respectfully requests that all departments of the county and city arrange to have their printing done at the City of Boston Printing Plant.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, we have a plant with 120 employees and not much work. It is a plant owned by the people. We have here a courthouse with departments, which this Council votes appropriations for, who send their printing to outside plants. It is about time that we tried to take care of our 120 employees, some of whom have been employed there for twenty or more years.

Coun. MURRAY—Mr. President, what I suggest in regard to this order is that the printing plant do something about putting in a bindery down there at the plant. If they have a city printing office, why not a bindery as well? In that way, work could go from one job to another, and they could do the whole thing. We should be able to equip the plant for a bindery.

Coun. RUBY—Mr. President, I do not want to take any credit away from the councilor from Ward 18, but I presented an order of this kind at the last meeting because of suggestions made by his Honor the Mayor in his annual message to our body that unless business improved at the printing plant, it would mean the curtailment of employees now working there, and because of that fact and because I feel that the least the city can do is to prevent, at least in its specific departments, the laying off of men so they may not be admitted to the ranks of the unemployed, men of our own; and I have particular reference to the departments, such as the clerks of the various courts in Suffolk County, who owe it to the citizens of Boston and who owe it to the City of Boston to see that the printing in their departments, which the city is compelled to pay for, is printed in our own city press and not sent outside; so that no citizen of Boston might be laid off because of the fact that we are paying for our printing to private individuals. For that reason I am heartily in accord both with my own resolution as well as that of the councilor from Ward 18, and I am sincerely in sympathy with the councilor from Ward 19, because I understand we have now facilities for a book bindery in our new printing plant, and all of those facilities ought to be accumulated under that very roof. So that at least the present employees of the City of Boston will not join the army of the unemployed, especially through the assistance of men who are elected to county offices and who are paid from the coffers of the City Treasurer, and who also have this money to spend through the taxpayers of the City of Boston. I hope that at the time that our Executive Committee meets that we will unanimously pass a resolution instructing those department heads that all of those order blanks of the clerk of the Superior Criminal Court, and the clerk of the Superior Civil Court and the Clerk of the Probate Court and the Registry of Deeds, if you please, will take due notice, and should govern themselves accordingly.

Coun. BURKE—Mr. President, I understand on good authority that at the Boston Public Library we have now installed one of the best equipped binderies in the city, and they have ample facilities and have had facilities for some time, to take care of all the book binding needed by the City of Boston. I see no reason why it should not come about that the school books of the School Department could be sent to the library and have the binding done at that place. It would be a difficult matter to transfer the equipment from the library to the printing plant and in view of the fact that we have already all the facilities at the library, it is about time the city took steps to secure from the School Department the books needing rebinding and without any extra order, I suggest that the books be sent to the bindery department in the library, instead of cumbering up our present printing plant.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, we will soon have authority to vote on appropriations for these departments, and we can then have an understanding with these gentlemen that no money is to go to outside printing plants.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

Coun. RUBY moved to adjourn. The motion was carried: Yeas—Coun. Barker, Brackman, Burke, Donovan, Englert, Fish, Fitzgerald, Green, Kelly, Power, Ruby—11; Nays—Coun. Curtis, Dowd, Gallagher, Gleason, Hein, Lynch, McGrath, Murray, Norton, Roberts—10, and the Council stood adjourned at 3:25 p. m., to meet on Monday, January 16, 1933, at 2 p. m.

FALSE ECONOMIC PROPOSALS.

Danger to both the immediate and the long-run efficiency of fire departments and to the security of the community itself lies in many if not most of the proposals of taxpayers' representatives attacking the budgetary provisions for municipal fire protection. The gravity of this menace was emphasized by Jay W. Stevens, California State Fire Marshal and Executive Secretary of the International Association of Fire Chiefs, in an address on "Maintaining Fire Department Efficiency," given before the recent convention of that organization.

FINANCING SEWAGE WORKS BY SPECIAL ASSESSMENT IN IOWA.

The cost of constructing sewage disposal plants in a number of states, and in Iowa in particular, may be levied against the various lots, parts of lots or parcels of ground draining to, or susceptible to drainage to, the site of the disposal plant. Such assessments must be in proportion to the benefits to each property and must not, in any case, exceed one-fourth of the fair value of the property in question. These special assessments are payable in the same manner as other municipal improvement costs; that is, in ten annual equal installments, paid at the same time and place as the March 1 installment of ordinary taxes in Iowa. Any property owner may pay off the unpaid portion of such tax at any time. Interest on the deferred payments must not exceed 6 per cent.

PITTSBURGH'S "THROUGH STREET" SYSTEM.

An extension of the "through street" system of Pittsburgh to further interconnect the various population and residential centers with protected arteries of communication has been planned.

Fourteen additional through streets, supplementing the original six established in the fall of 1928 have been designated by City Council, and flashing neon "Stop-Through-Traffic" signs have been purchased to adequately mark the streets according to report from that city.

UNITED STATES FOREIGN TRADE IN SILVER.

Although the United States is the second largest producer of silver, its exports of the metal exceed total annual production according to the United States Department of Commerce reports. Much silver is received for refining or transshipment. Most of this imported silver comes from Mexico, as evident from the following import figures, in millions of dollars: Mexico, 40.5 in 1929, 24.9 in 1930, and 11 in the first eight months of 1931; Canada, 6.4, 6.1, and 2.5, respectively; Peru, 10.4, 5.9, and 1.6; Chile, 2.3, 1.8, and 0.6; and all countries, 63.9, 42.8, and 18.3.

United States exports of silver go chiefly to China (including Hong Kong), British India, and the United Kingdom (whence they are sold largely to other countries). Shipments to leading countries and the total are summarized in millions of dollars, for 1929, 1930, and the first eight months of 1931, as follows: China and Hong Kong, 64.6, 37.8, and 8.5, respectively, of which China accounted for 61.8, 31.8, and 7.7; British India, 8.9, 9.6, and 4.6; the United Kingdom, 0.1, 2.1, and 3.4; Canada, 2.4, 1.8, and 1.1; Mexico, 5.2, 1.4, and 0.7; Germany, 1.5, 1, and 0.7; and all countries, 83.4, 54.2, and 19.2.

SAFE DRIVING.

Most cities and towns have a long list of "dont's" but do little to educate the drivers of cars. If one half the time that is used trying to make people do something or not to do something was spent in educating the drivers much better results would be obtained. We need drivers' schools and the city or town that first starts such a school will be doing a real service.

NO. 3

DUTY OF HOUR IS TO HELP AMERICA BY GIVING PREFERENCE TO AND BUYING AMERICAN-MADE GOODS. MAYOR CURLEY PLEADS, OVER CITY HALL RADIO STATION, FOR PATRIOTISM ON PART OF PEOPLE TO SAVE AMERICAN INDUSTRY AND GIVE COUNTRY'S CITIZENS INCREASED EMPLOYMENT.

Mayor Curley, in speaking over radio station WNAC, on January 16, at 2 p. m., on the subject of "Buy America," said, in part, as follows:

In 1927 we were enjoying unprecedented prosperity in America. As a matter of fact, in 1927 the total value of all goods, either taken from the soil, grown in the soil, or fabricated in industry in America had reached the huge total of $83,000,000,000, and in 1928 we reached the great total of $90,000,000,000. The great prosperity of those two years, which were perhaps the most prosperous, and I think we can truly say, most progressive in the history of our country, could be traced in large measure to the fact that the greatest distribution of created wealth ever known was in evidence as a consequence of the great saving wage that came out of the World War. And yet in 1927 and 1928, notwithstanding the unprecedented prosperity, notwithstanding the high wage scale, and notwithstanding the added fact that Americans had taken a new viewpoint with reference to the character and conduct of their daily affairs, the clouds were beginning to gather upon the horizon that later resulted in the terrific storm of 1929.

I can recall in 1927, under date of October 25, I received an invitation to address the Kiwanis clubs of Boston, at their annual gathering on what was known as "Defense Day." It had been customary for this great and splendid organization to hold what was known as "Defense Day" once each year. At these patriotic assemblages it was customary to extend invitations to the men, leaders in the Army and Navy of the United States, and men prominent in the State Militia, who discussed the question of National defense. I was invited, with others, to attend this meeting, and the thought occurred to me that something might well be said, even at that time, on the question of economic warfare, which at present involves more individual men, women and children in the United States, some three times more than were involved in the period of the World War, and I discussed the question of economic warfare from the standpoint that it is today being discussed by the Boston American Publishing Company.

From the standpoint of preference to American-made goods. I pointed out that it was a question of particular interest in New England, which for six years prior had been the chief target for slaughter in order that the industrial life of Europe might be revived. The success achieved in New England had apparently strengthened the determination of European industrial leaders in the belief that all America should prove a fruitful field, with the result that it was an almost utter impossibility to find a newspaper in the larger cities of America that did not carry advertising setting forth the merits of foreign-made goods, as against domestic goods.

Apparently the primary purpose of the invasion of American markets is the promotion of prosperity in European centers to enhance the value and protect, in general, investments in European bonds and European enterprises by American industrial leaders. Here in New England the American Woolen Company and the Amoskeag Company, despite the exceptional quality of the goods produced, have suffered enormously.

American Goods Advocated.

The textile centers of Lawrence, Lowell, Haverhill, Fall River and New Bedford in most cases have had their operatives working upon part time during the six years preceding 1927, while apparently abundant prosperity had obtained in the country as a whole. The necessity for the promotion of a movement for preference to American-made goods must speedily be adopted, I pointed out, or there will be darker days in the offing for American industries and American workers than had been experienced even during the six years prior to 1927.

I had occasion to visit New York and Philadelphia to observe conditions, and I found in New York that they had on sale at Wanamaker's store British-made overcoats made in London, with fabrics from Scotland, Ireland and England, and setting forth that the time of closing the store would be extended and extra salespeople would be employed in order to accommodate the immense throngs anticipated.

A small ad appeared under the same date, namely, October 11, in the New York Times, reading "Paddington London-made topcoats with the Bond Street Flavor," "Bond Street has given England's men the reputation of being the best-dressed men in the world, and New York men who buy London-made topcoats achieve the same distinction. 'Paddingtons' are dignified, yet carefully informal — tailored of those long enduring tweeds that fairly reek of British swank." Under date of October 17 appeared an ad by Arnheim, custom tailor, Broadway and 9th street, New York, reading, "Ireland sends over a remarkable twist fabric imported direct from Athlone, Ireland, as a 50th anniversary feature, made to order, $60."

An ad appeared under the same date by Iverson and Munson of East 44th street, setting forth the merits of sweaters and golf hose imported from Scotland, and so on, and in no single instance was there a display ad of American-made goods.

The following is a reprint of an editorial appearing in the "New England Journal of Medicine," under date of January 5, 1933:

Boston's Leadership in Preventive Medicine.

During the years 1901 to 1905 the average infant mortality rate of the City of Boston was 137.8. During the years 1906 to 1910 it was 132.7. In 1920 it was 100.8; in 1931 it was 60.7, and when the deaths are subtracted of those infants brought from outside the city for hospitalization, it was below 60. What are the causes of this significant drop? Obviously, improved water supply and sanitation, pasteurization and sterilization of milk, better housing conditions and a better appreciation of hygiene and infant feeding played their part. There has been another factor, however, in recent years, which must be understood to be appreciated. That factor has been the close expert supervision, voluntary in nature, which a city wise in health protection has provided for its youngest generation.

To evaluate properly this steadily growing and constantly improving oversight, a bird's-eye view might be taken of its evaluation. The Baby Hygiene Association, a private agency, began in 1910 to conduct infant welfare stations. In 1922 it merged with the District Nursing Association to form the Community Health Association. The Division of Child Hygiene of the Boston Health Department was also inaugurated in 1910, conducting no clinics but sending nurses into the homes to weigh babies and supervise their care. Immediately a duplication of work by two agencies which could have been performed by one came into existence. In 1915 the Blossom Street Health Unit was opened by the city, under the direction of Doctor Wilinsky and side by side, in the same clinic, the Department of Health and the Community Health Association showed their willingness and their ability to cooperate on the same problems. As a result of this mutual understanding, in 1924 and 1925 the Health Department gradually took over the active clinical program, the deans of the three Class A medical schools were interested in the movement, the clinics were staffed by pediatricians, and the seventeen stations were utilized by the schools for the teaching of preventive pediatrics.

The success of this new venture into public health can be partly measured by the fact that in 1931 65,000 visits were made, with a total enrollment involving a visit by a health department nurse to the home of every new-born infant in all of the less affluent sections of the city.

Aside from the infant clinics, although closely associated with them and under the same able direction, has been the amazing development of Boston's health units. Made possible by the wisdom of an able city administration and the generosity of a notable philanthropist, George Robert White, these units, soon to be eight in number, have served as models for the entire world. Substantially, the health center, a development of the last twenty years, furnishes physical headquarters for all agencies interested in health and welfare work. It is a decentralization of health departmental activities, under a full-time district health officer, bringing to the doors of the people opportunities for health which were formerly secured only with difficulty and with duplication of effort.

The health center is more than this; it is an institution promoting better relationship and interrelationship between public and private agencies, the latter of which maintain their own autonomy. Thus, we have under—or on—one roof, baby clinics, pre-school clinics, dental and tuberculosis clinics and solaria; classes for mothers, educational lectures, Red Cross classes, habit clinics, headquarters for the Community Health Association, a visiting physician for the poor, Public Welfare, Family Welfare, the Catholic Charitable Bureau, the Jewish Charities, a meeting place for the local medical profession and local headquarters for the Health Department.

As might be expected, the other side of the shield has been and often will be again discussed with heat and vigor. The widening activities of public health and preventive medicine, in their relationship to private practice, breed dangerous ground. No change, however beneficent, can come without the travail of readjustment. This much can be said with certainty. Health protection, in a democracy, so far as it can be obtained, is as much the right of the taxpayer as is police protection and fire protection. Whether you like it or not, you live in a democracy, and whether you like it or not, in a democracy the people are going to get what they believe is their due. If the medical profession cannot or will not supply health protection at a reasonable cost, the layman will see that he gets it where he can, as soon as his eyes have been opened to its advantages.

The physician of tomorrow will have his work to do—plenty of it—but if he does not see his own opportunities he will follow where he should lead; he will be the servant of this so-called state medicine, benevolent as it may be, instead of its master.

BUY AMERICAN-MADE GOODS.

LONDON GOODS IN BOSTON.

Under date of October 1, of the same year, I received, with a London postmark, a letter directing my attention to the imports of overcoats and ulsters, made by Burberry's, Limited, at Golden Square, London, and further directing my attention to the fact that these would be placed on sale by a Boston firm. Upon the same date, I received in the mail a letter from a friend in Ireland, with the post office stamp on the envelope, reading "Buy Irish Goods." It was almost impossible in those days to peruse a copy of the Spur or the London Times without finding all Brit- ishers being admonished to give preference in every case to British-made goods.

Under date of October 10 a communication was received in my home, which to me was extremely interesting, for the reason that it was sent out by a Boston firm, the head of which at that time enjoyed perhaps more friendly relations with the President of the Nation than any other Bostonian. This particular communication among other things set forth the arrival of merchandise bought by buyers in Europe, that summer, consisting of importation in leather hand bags from England, France, Austria, Italy and Germany; bead and tapestry hand bags from France and Austria; necklaces of jade from China, with silk and net scarfs from Italy and France; but not a single article made in America being set forth in the ad.

Now, then, it must be remembered that America is a world's storehouse of raw materials that the world requires and yet were it not for the tremendous purchasing power of the American people, unemployment and discontent would have been common in America then.

To this great purchasing power, due to the saving wage resulting from the shortage of man power during America's participation in the World War, could be traced all semblance of prosperity that has been in evidence for six years. Statecraft and statesmanship have played but a feeble part in the nation's prosperity during that period, and the situation was saved almost in its entirety through the increased purchasing power of the great mass of the American people. The United States of America represents about 6 per cent of the land area of the world and has 6 per cent of the population of the world. The exigencies of the World War made necessary increased productivity by every agency in America and, as a consequence, it was possible to raise and fabricate, even in 1927, in seven months the nation's requirements for a full twelve-months' period.

GIVE AMERICAN-MADE GOODS PREFERENCE.

Now, then, it is vital to the contentment in the home and patriotism in the land to give preference to American-made goods, through cooperation by all agencies in America and by the character of a program that we anticipate will be adopted by the next President of the United States, the Hon. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

I want to point out to you that a traveler abroad at the present time landing at Southampton is immediately impressed by the signs which greet his vision, both illuminated and upon dead walls, reading "Buy Only British Made Goods." Then on the ride to France, and the minute you cross the French border, you can no longer buy any English-made goods on the French train, not even water. American-made goods cannot be bought anywhere. Passing from France into Italy the same is true. Only Italian-made goods can be bought. The ferocity of competition to my mind in Europe is so severe that there is scant possibility for a revival of export trade by America for other than raw materials which the European countries find it impossible to produce. Under those conditions, with the vast horde of unemployed in America, it behooves the people of the United States to give a little thought to the question of the development of an American spirit and the promotion of the movement for the preference of American-made goods. The creation of an American spirit and loyalty can be best put in evidence by preference for American-made goods, and is essential, as without this preference industrial prosperity will be extremely difficult to develop and in view of the enormous value of goods raised and mined in America and consumed by the American people the value of reciprocal export trade is infinitesimal, since the established policy in all European centers today is to give preference to homemade products. If this established European policy, coupled with the invasion of American markets, has proven the salvation of European countries and if the success of European industries can only be insured through destruction of American industries it is time we Americans recognize the necessity for preference in purchase at all times for goods made in America.

It is well for Americans, who are always proclaiming superior advantages and values of imports, to remember that when industry is paralyzed in America as it is at the present hour, because of the custom of giving preference in purchase to imports, that the internationally-minded American lovers of imports will in all probability witness the coming of the day when the necessary money with which to purchase either imported or domestic goods will be found lacking.

The duty of the hour is clear. If you want to help America, start giving preference now to American-made goods. Thank you.

LAND-TAKING IN BRIGHTON.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the taking of land for a public improvement, consisting of the laying-out and construction of an extension of Colborne road, Brighton district, as a highway, over and including the private way known as Colonial road and over the easterly end of Blenford road, bounded and described as follows:

PARK DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, January 11, 1933.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—At a meeting of the Board of Park Commissioners held on January 11, 1933, it was voted, subject to your approval, to lease to John J. Paget, 15 Mapleton street, Brighton, the concession privilege of letting swan boats and row boats on the pond in the Public Garden, Boston, for the sum of $1,000 per year for a term of five years.

It is the policy of the Board to advertise for proposals for the different kinds of concession privileges controlled by the Park Department, but the Board believes that this lease should be awarded to Mr. Paget for the reason that the swan boats can not be duplicated as Mr. Paget is the only one in the country who makes them and this concession on the Public Garden has been held by the Paget family for about fifty years.

The Board believes that it is for the best interests of the city that this concession should be awarded without advertising to Mr. John J. Paget, who has conducted it in a manner extremely satisfactory to the general public.

Respectfully yours,

DANIEL J. BYRNE,
Secretary.

PENAL INSTITUTIONS DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, January 16, 1933.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—Your approval is respectfully requested for the award of a contract, without advertising, to the Columbian Insecticide Company of 7 Water street, Boston, for the extermination of vermin at the House of Correction, Deer Island, from January 1, 1933, to December 31, 1933, both dates inclusive, at a cost of eighteen hundred (1,800) dollars.

The Columbian Insecticide Company has performed this work at Deer Island for a number of years in a highly satisfactory manner. This is an important matter in an institution and I believe it advisable to retain a company whose services have proven satisfactory rather than make a change which might prove unsatisfactory.

In my opinion this is a fair price.

Respectfully yours,

WILLIAM G. O'HARE,
Penal Institutions Commissioner.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, January 11, 1933.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,

Respectfully yours,

JOHN P. ENGLERT,
Superintendent of Public Buildings.

A trial of the U-Dryvit system during the latter part of 1932 has proven very satisfactory, and no other company is in a position to furnish the bond and insurance features which are a part of the U-Dryvit contracts.

IX. COMMENDATIONS.

Ladderman William H. Leonard of Ladder Company 3 is hereby commended for the meritorious service performed by him on Sunday, January 8, 1933, when he endeavored to rescue a drowning man from Fort Point channel. On this occasion Ladderman Leonard exposed himself to injury and possibility of physical disability and by his quick action was able to keep the drowning man from sinking. This case is referred to the Board of Merit for further investigation.

Late Sunday night, January 15, 1933, the Fire Commissioner was notified of the fatal and tragic accident which occurred on the Fore River Bridge, between Quincy and Weymouth, when an automobile left the bridge and was submerged in the channel of Fore river. The need of immediate assistance was emphasized and the only service available at that time was the Boston Fire Department. Engine Company 44 with the fireboat "Matthew J. Boyle" was immediately dispatched to the scene and by using its own equipment and its own men made possible the raising of the automobile within a very few hours. The conditions surrounding the scene of the accident made the rescue work very difficult and hazardous. Nevertheless the members of this department to whom was assigned the work of lifting the car performed every duty courageously and heroically with no thought of glory or personal reward. The men were earnest and zealous in the performance of their duty.

Individual commendation is due every member of the department who assisted in this work but the occasion cannot pass without special commendation being paid to Joseph M. McCarthy and Coleman B. Norton who did all the diving, and to Superintendent Edward E. Williamson and Master of Marine Service John M. McDonough, who directed the operations. The accident was a sad and sorrowful event and the families of the victims have the sympathy of everyone. It is a matter of satisfaction that the men who performed the rescue work reflected wonderful credit not only on the Boston Fire Department, but on the City of Boston by whom they are employed.

By order of Fire Commissioner EDWARD F. McLAUGHLIN,

HENRY A. FOX,
Chief of Department.

The cost of constructing sewage disposal plants in a number of states, and in Iowa in particular, may be levied against the various lots, parts of lots or parcels of ground draining to, or susceptible to drainage to, the site of the disposal plant. Such assessments must be in proportion to the benefits to each property and must not, in any case, exceed one-fourth of the fair value of the property in question. Any property owner may pay off the unpaid portion of such tax at any time. Interest on the deferred payments must not exceed 6 per cent.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 148. (Paragraph 1.)

A Board of Merit, consisting of Superintendent Michael H. Crowley and Deputy Superintendents Thomas F. Goode and James McDevitt, has brought to the attention of the Police Commissioner the following outstanding cases in which police officers of this department especially distinguished themselves in the performance of their duty during the year 1932. The commissioner, therefore, makes the following awards:

The Walter Scott Medal for Valor for 1932 and a Department Medal of Honor to Patrolman Elmer R. Ogston of Division 4.

Patrolman Elmer R. Ogston, formerly of Division 20, now attached to Division 4, on Wednesday, June 22, 1932, pursued and captured an armed holdup man who had held up and robbed a man in the office of a downtown theater. Patrolman Ogston pursued the man who turned and fired one shot at the officer and then disappeared in an alley. Patrolman Ogston with the aid of a searchlight loaned by Ladder Company 17, Boston Fire Department, continued the search for the man, who was finally located on the fire escape of a nearby building. Patrolman Ogston covered the thief with his service revolver and ordered him to throw up his hands. At the time of the arrest the thief had a 38 caliber revolver clutched in his right hand and a sum of money was found in his pocket, which he admitted was the property of the theater.

Department Medals of Honor to Patrolmen Frederick V. Perry, Division 10; Herbert J. Langlois, Division 10; Cyril Montgomery, Division 15; Joseph Gilleo, Division 1; Leo V. Devlin, Division 9; William B. Boyden, Division 10.

Patrolman Frederick V. Perry.

While with other officers under the personal direction of Captain Mullen, then of Division 10, he showed courage and prompt action while assisting in the capture of a band of dangerous characters on March 22, 1932. (Patrolman Perry was shot at by one of the men taken into custody, the bullet piercing his hatband.)

Patrolman Herbert J. Langlois.

While with other officers under the personal direction of Captain Mullen, then of Division 10, he showed courage and prompt action while assisting in the capture of a band of dangerous characters on March 22, 1932.

Patrolman Cyril Montgomery.

On January 2, 1932, Patrolman Montgomery was called into a house to quell a disturbance. Upon opening the door he was confronted by a man armed with a 45 caliber army revolver who threatened to kill the officer if he moved. The officer succeeded in disarming the man after a terrific struggle in which the left thumb of the officer was fractured. The gun was found to be unloaded when examined at the station and the man was committed to a hospital for mental treatment.

Patrolman Joseph Gilleo.

While patrolling his route, Patrolman Gilleo observed a man a short distance away from him take a revolver from his coat pocket and shoot at another man. The victim attempted to run away and was pursued by his assailant. Patrolman Gilleo gave chase, overtook the assailant and disarmed him. Patrolman Gilleo, fearing possible injury to some pedestrian, refrained from using his own revolver in effecting the arrest of this dangerous character, who was later committed to the Psychopathic Hospital.

Patrolman Leo V. Devlin.

Patrolman Leo V. Devlin showed initiative and courage on November 26, 1932, in response to a telephone call to the station that a holdup was in progress in a store on the division. Patrolman Devlin, with Sergeant Kuhlman, proceeded to the scene and as they arrived two men were running from the store, and as the officers started in pursuit they were immediately fired upon by the fleeing men, who took different directions, one being pursued by Sergeant Kuhlman and the other by Patrolman Devlin. The latter after a lengthy pursuit, which led into an unlighted alley, caught his man and after a struggle overcame his resistance without using his revolver which he carried in his right hand, and which he had refrained from discharging for fear of injuring some innocent person. The prisoner was identified with several armed holdups and has a long record for robberies and other crimes.

Patrolman William B. Boyden.

On March 22, 1932, Patrolman Boyden, through keen observation, noted the registration number of a wanted automobile and showed good judgment in notifying his station and diverting suspicion until an adequate force could be gathered to cope with what he recognized as a serious situation.

The commissioner notes with pleasure the courageous acts of the patrolmen named in this order, shown in emergencies where prompt action on their part was required.

Presentations of the Walter Scott Medal for Valor and the Department Medals of Honor to the patrolmen herein awarded were made by the commissioner on the occasion of the concert and ball of the Boston Police Relief Association, held at Mechanics Building on the evening of January 11, 1933.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

EUGENE C. HULTMAN,
Commissioner.

A trial board consisting of Captains Mullen, Hanrahan, and Killen, reconvened on December 29, 1932, in compliance with General Order No. 342, dated December 29, 1931. At that time the hearing was continued to January 12, 1933, for the purpose of making recommendation to the commissioner for final disposition of the complaint of Capt. James Laffey (now retired, formerly of Division 21) against Patrolman James J. McGowan, then of Division 21 and now attached to Division 5, who was charged with conduct unbecoming an officer.

The Trial Board reports that the captain, lieutenants and sergeants, under whom the patrolman has served during his probationary period, testified that he was sober and industrious, and that it is apparent that this officer has realized the enormity of his past offences, and to add a punishment at this time would not, in the opinion of the Board, serve any good purpose. Therefore, in view of all the facts, the Board respectfully recommends that the case of Patrolman James J. McGowan be placed on file.

The commissioner accepts the recommendation of the Trial Board, and it is hereby ordered that the complaint against the said Patrolman James J. McGowan be placed on file.

(Paragraph 5.)

For the information of the department, the commissioner transmits herewith the results of the examination given at the end of the Red Cross First Aid Course conducted for sergeants from October through December, 1932, by George Philip Johnson.

Ninety men took the examination. Of this number six sergeants and one lieutenant received a mark of 90 to 91 per cent (AA); twenty sergeants and two lieutenants received marks between 85 and 89 per cent (A); thirty-three sergeants between 80 and 84 per cent (B); twenty-three between 75 and 79 per cent (C); and five failed to pass.

Certificates will be awarded at the Police School at headquarters on Tuesday, January 31, 1933, at 5 p. m. Only those who received a mark of AA, A, B and C will report at this time.

The following is a list of the sergeants who completed the course. After each man's name appears a letter designating the grade he received on the final examination. The letters and the percentages they indicate are as follows:

AA = 90 to 91 per cent.
A = 85 to 89 per cent.
B = 80 to 84 per cent.
C = 75 to 79 per cent.

General Order No. 150.

(Paragraph 1.)

Patrolman William J. Bonner of the Bureau of Criminal Investigation and Patrolmen Arthur M. Tiernan and Elmer L. J. Hamlet of Division 14 are hereby commended in General Orders and each granted four days' additional vacation for effective police duty performed on November 20, 1932, in connection with the arrest of a group of dangerous characters in the South End, who had perpetrated a bold holdup of a camp in West Andover, Mass. When arrested, seven loaded revolvers were found in one of their cars, three of which revolvers had been taken some two hours previously in the Andover holdup. Numerous burglarious instruments were also found in both cars driven by the gunmen.

On November 25, 1932, the same officers, while cruising in the Jamaica Plain district, observed a man whom they had reason to believe was implicated in the West Andover holdup and who was also wanted for robbery while armed and attempting to kill a police officer in the Roxbury district on November 19, 1932.

The commissioner is pleased to recognize the initiative and effective police duty performed by these officers in accomplishing the capture of these felons and their successful prosecution.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

EUGENE C. HULTMAN,
Commissioner.

PROCEEDINGS OF CITY COUNCIL.

Monday, January 16, 1933.

Regular meeting of the City Council held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at 2 p. m., Chairman COX, senior member, presiding. Absent, Coun. Gleason and Ruby.

ABSENCE OF COUNCILOR RUBY.

The following was received:

January 16, 1933.

Boston City Council,
City Hall, Boston.

Fellow Colleagues,—I regret that I shall be unable to be at the meeting today as I am home ill with the gripple.

I am a candidate for President of the City Council because of my sincere belief that because of my length of service to my city, district, and our body, I have earned the right to this honor.

May I make the sincere request that balloting be postponed until next Monday? With the firm conviction that I make a reasonable and fair request, I trust that same will be granted.

Sincerely yours,

ISRAEL RUBY,
City Councilor, Ward 14,
by ANA LATN, Secretary.

Coun. McGRATH—Mr. Chairman, in view of that request from one of our older members here, I feel that we should grant him that privilege. I do feel, however, that we should meet on Thursday of this week rather than further delay city business.

Coun. BURKE—Mr. Chairman, I agree to the first part of what the councilor has said, in regard to granting the request for delay, but instead of adjourning to a special meeting I believe that we should take action in the matter of voting on the presidency at the next regular meeting of the Council, on Monday. I would move, therefore, that we grant the absent councilor's request for a delay.

Coun. ROBERTS—Mr. Chairman, I feel, in these times of stress, when city affairs need the cooperative action of both the Mayor and the City Council, that we should organize as soon as possible, that we should do something to speed up the election of a president of the body. We are elected here to expedite the city's business. Therefore, in order to avoid any criticism of the body, I am in favor of Councilor McGrath's proposition that we meet again next Thursday.

Coun. BRACKMAN—Mr. Chairman, the only reason why I rise to speak upon the matter is because there are absent today not only the member who has written this letter to us, but also another member of the Council, confined in the hospital, and we don't know when he will be able to be here. It may be that he cannot be present for a few days. We do not know at the present time. For that reason, I would suggest that the matter go over to the next regular meeting on Monday.

Coun. GREEN—Mr. Chairman, I move a short recess, of three minutes or thereabouts, until we may hear from the City Hospital in regard to the condition of Councilor Gleason.

The Council voted, at 2:24 p. m., to take a recess subject to the call of the Chair. The Council was called at order by Chairman COX at 2:34 p. m.

Chairman COX—The Council will be in order. The Council voted, on motion of Coun. McGRATH, not to vote at this meeting on election of a president.

Coun. McGRATH moved that when the Council adjourn it be to meet on Thursday, January 19, at 2 p. m.

Coun. DOWD—Mr. Chairman, may I make an amendment to that motion—that we then meet for the express purpose of electing a president?

Chairman COX—The Chair would state that that would prevent the Council from acting upon any other matter, although it might be advisable for the Council to do some other business. Does the gentleman withdraw his amendment?

Coun. DOWD withdrew his amendment.

Coun. BURKE—Mr. Chairman, for the same reason that I expressed when I took issue with the original motion, I think there is no need for a special meeting, that next Monday will be time enough for us to act. There is nothing urgent, I understand, there will be no irreparable injury so far as the city's business is concerned, if the Council does not meet until next Monday. I sincerely hope, therefore, that the Council when it adjourns will adjourn to next Monday instead of to Thursday of this week.

Coun. GALLAGHER—Mr. Chairman, I am of the opinion that the Council should get down to business here, organizing at the earliest possible moment. The city's business should come ahead of the personal ambitions of any member of the body. If we establish a precedent here today by delaying the election, what is there to prevent any member of the body from rising next Thursday and asking for another extension because of sickness or some other reason? I sincerely trust that this Council will recognize the seriousness and importance of organization and will get down to business, as I said a moment ago, as early as possible.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. Chairman, I feel as the colleague from Brighton (Coun. Gallagher) feels, that we should settle this matter as soon as possible. The presidency of this body is important every year, but this year it will have extraordinary importance, as it looks as though the chief executive of our city may shortly be appointed to an important position by the President of the United States. I think there is a good possibility of the present chief executive accepting a high position, possibly as minister to some of the Central or South American countries, possibly leaving here next October. (Laughter.) I move, therefore, that we proceed to elect a president who will be the Acting Mayor of Boston in the Mayor's absence and possibly the Mayor of Boston. If the Mayor of Boston should accept a position at the hands of the incoming President before March 3 it would necessitate a city-wide election within the next two months for the election of a mayor. Under existing conditions, I think the people of Boston expect this Council to organize as soon as possible.

Coun. BURKE—Mr. Chairman, not having any personal ambition, and not wishing to interfere in any way in the organization of the Council, after speaking with some of my colleagues, I withdraw any objection I may have made with regard to our next meeting.

Coun. McGrath's motion, that when the Council adjourn, it be to meet on Thursday, January 19, at 2 p. m., was carried.

APPOINTMENTS BY THE MAYOR.

Subject to confirmation by the Council, the Mayor submitted the following appointments for the term ending April 30, 1933, viz.:

FLOODING OF CHRISTOPHER LEE PLAYGROUND.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, January 16, 1933.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I herewith transmit to you report from William P. Long, chairman of the Park Commission, with reference to your request to flood the Christopher Lee Playground for skating purposes. This is in reply to your order of December 31, 1932.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,

Park Department, January 5, 1933.

Hon. James M. Curley,

Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir,—I am in receipt of an order from the City Council that the Park Commission be requested, through your Honor, to flood the Christopher Lee Playground for skating purposes.

While the Edison Company, which is directly opposite the Christopher Lee Playground, continues to use soft coal, it is useless to flood this area.

The Christopher Lee Playground has been flooded a number of times but the ice is covered almost as fast as it freezes by the soft coal clinkers; it is impossible to skate on same. For that reason an area in the rear of the Aquarium is flooded instead of the Christopher Lee Playground.

Very respectfully yours,

WILLIAM P. LONG,

Chairman.

VETO OF NORTH END PARK ENLARGEMENT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, January 16, 1933.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I beg to return herewith without my approval order adopted by your honorable body under date of January 3, 1933, and reading as follows:

"Resolved, That the City Council of Boston favors the enactment of legislation providing for the development and enlargement of North End Park, so called, in the City of Boston, and for the construction thereon of a suitable public bath house."

The report as submitted by the Park Commissioner with reference to the development of North End Park does not justify the expenditure of the money at the present time.

Very truly yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Park Department, January 16, 1933.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir,—I am in receipt of an order from the City Council which favors the enactment of legislation providing for the development and enlargement of North End Park and for the construction thereon of a suitable bath house.

North End Park is one of the most popular bathing beaches in Boston. During the years 1931-32, a new bath house for women and girls and a new laundry and field house combination was constructed at a cost of $125,000.

The men's and boys' bath house on the opposite side of the playfield was built about twenty years ago, and is of what is known as third-class construction.

The department has plans for renovating this house before the opening of the bathing season in June of this year.

Due to the present economic conditions, the Board does not feel it is advisable to ask for an additional appropriation for the enlargement of this area at the present time.

Very respectfully yours,
WILLIAM P. LONG, Chairman.

VETO OF IMPROVEMENT OF WORLD WAR MEMORIAL PARK.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, January 16, 1933.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I beg to return herewith without my approval order adopted by your honorable body under date of January 3, 1933, and reading as follows:

"Resolved, That the City Council of Boston favors the enactment of legislation providing for the improvement of World War Memorial Park, so called, in the East Boston district of the City of Boston, and for the construction thereon of an adequate public bath house."

The report of the Park Department is herewith appended and in view of the facts as therein set forth there is no other course to be taken than the rejection of the order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,

Park Department, January 16, 1933.

Hon. James M. Curley,

Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir,—I am in receipt of an order from the City Council which favors the enactment of legislation providing for the improvement of World War Memorial Park and for the construction thereon of an adequate public bath house.

A new bath house was built at the World War Memorial Park during the years 1929-30. This bath house is of brick and concrete and is considered one of the best bath houses in the department.

It is possible to add additional lockers if same were necessary.

The bath house has been adequate for this location up to the present time.

In the building of this bath house a new site was selected which allows of bathing for a longer period than was possible at the old location. Over 30,000 cubic yards of sand was pumped on this beach during the past year. The area in front of the bath house is sanded yearly and the department will have this beach area in first-class condition before the opening of the bathing season in June.

An item has been inserted in the budget for the year 1933 to renovate the tennis courts and ball field.

Plans have also been prepared to connect the World War Memorial Park with the Airport, by the building of a walk from the new road to be constructed in the rear of the Army and National Guard Hangars.

The Board does not feel that legislative enactment is necessary to improve the World War Memorial Park.

Very respectfully yours,
WILLIAM P. LONG, Chairman.

Sincerely,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

BUILDING OF CHISHOLM ROAD.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
The Finance Commission,
January 16, 1933.

To the Honorable the City Council.

Gentlemen.—On December 19 your honorable body requested the Finance Commission to report on the building of Chisholm terrace in Ward 18. The records in the Street Laying-Out Department reveal that a petition was filed under date of November 25, 1931, by eight residents of Chisholm road, in West Roxbury, for the laying out and construction of Chisholm road, from which Chisholm terrace extends to a dead end.

A hearing was held by the Street Commissioners on February 17, 1932, at which various residents favored the improvement and no objections were recorded. An order of May 3, 1932, by the Street Commissioners, approved by Mayor Curley on May 4, 1932, authorized the improvement.

The original order determined that no person sustained damage by the making of the improvement and it assessed betterments totaling $5,076.05 on the abutters. At a later date the Street Commissioners awarded damages of $105 to one abutter.

Subsequently, it was discovered by the engineers of the Street Laying-Out Department that because of a serious change in the grade of the street necessary to make Chisholm road conform to the grades of the adjoining accepted streets, the grade of Chisholm terrace—an unaccepted street—would be seriously affected. The Street Commissioners, therefore, decided that it would be proper to lay out Chisholm terrace at the same time, inasmuch as the cost of this extra portion would add only slightly to the cost of laying out and constructing Chisholm road, if the two jobs were done at the same time.

The order affecting Chisholm terrace determined that no person sustained damage and betterment assessments were made in the total amount of $1,064.30. It has been estimated by the Public Works Department that the extra cost necessitated by adding Chisholm terrace to the order to lay out Chisholm road will be only slightly in excess of the amount of the betterment assessments.

Respectfully submitted,

THE FINANCE COMMISSION,
by FRANK A. GOODWIN, Chairman.
JOSEPH A. SHEPHERD.
JOSEPH JOYCE DONAHUE.
CHARLES M. STOREY.

REINSTATEMENT OF MYLES J. JOYCE.

Coun. FITZGERALD offered the following:

Resolved: That the City Council of the City of Boston hereby approves the enactment of legislation authorizing the reinstatement of Myles J. Joyce as a member of the Police Department of said city, provided that such legislation contains a referendum to the Mayor and City Council.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

REINSTATEMENT OF STEPHEN M. RYAN.

Coun. GALLAGHER offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston favors the enactment of legislation authorizing the reinstatement of Stephen M. Ryan to the Police Department of said city.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

REIMBURSEMENT OF JOHN DOOCEY.

Coun. MURRAY offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council of the City of Boston hereby approves the enactment of legislation authorizing the reimbursement of John Doocey for injuries received from a golf ball at Franklin Park, provided that such legislation contains a referendum to the Mayor and City Council.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

VOCATIONS OF THOSE DRAWING WELFARE RELIEF.

Coun. NORTON offered the following:

Ordered, That the Mayor of Boston consider the advisability of requesting the Welfare Department to ascertain the particular trades and capabilities of those drawing welfare relief with a view to placing these individuals in a line of city work for which they are fitted.

Coun. NORTON.—Mr. Chairman, I might say that out on the golf course awhile ago a gentleman was put to sawing wood, a man who had but one leg. That matter was drawn to the attention of the Welfare Department, and they promised to give closer attention to the abilities and the physical condition of applicants for welfare, in the matter of manual or other labor. There are out at the cemetery at the present time a number of college men who would like to do a different type of work than shoveling, work that they are better fitted for. One man in particular put in three years at the Institute of Technology. He does not object to using a pick and shovel, but there might very likely be work that would be more beneficial to him and to the city, under the circumstances. Then, we see in different parts of our city at times men with new hoes, standing looking foolish. Doubtless many of those men are carpenters, plumbers, bricklayers, follow different trades and occupations when there is an opportunity for them to get work, and would like to do something of a constructive nature, that would not only help them but help the city. It does seem, where we are spending millions on city contracts, that it might be well to take some of these men and give them work for which they are fitted, instead of having them around looking foolish with new hoes, in January, out in front of our different homes or homes of their neighbors. These men want to work, would be glad to do constructive work, and it would be also well for the city if they could be placed by the Welfare Department at work that was in accordance with their abilities and their training. At Long Island the other day a brand new building, just turned over as a recreation building for the occupants of the island, suffered when the rain came down and spoiled the proscenium arch on the stage. There are undoubtedly men who could repair damage of that sort. So it does seem possible that skilled carpenters, plumbers, electricians and others might be placed by the Welfare to work on jobs for which they are fitted and in which they could render very useful service, instead of having them stand out with a hoe on the street in winter time looking foolish. They might well do something constructive.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

CHANGE OF NAME OF STEAMER
"STEPHEN J. O'MEARA."

Coun. NORTON offered the following:

Ordered, That the Mayor of Boston consider the advisability of assigning to the city boat "Stephen J. O'Meara" another name.

Coun. NORTON.—Mr. Chairman, the greatest Police Commissioner our city has ever had, an able official, a man of high reputation, integrity and character, was the late Stephen J. O'Meara. He set a standard for every future Police Commissioner of Boston. The boat which has been named after him was primarily intended to be one of the finest of police boats. Unfortunately, when it was turned over, after a quarter of a million dollars had been spent upon it, it proved useless for the purpose for which it was intended. It would seem, as long as this boat is no longer to be used by the Police Department of Boston, that its name, sacred to the memory of Mr. O'Meara, should be erased, that it should not continue to be applied to that white elephant of a boat.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

PROPOSED REINSTATEMENTS IN POLICE DEPARTMENT.

Coun. NORTON offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council of the City of Boston hereby approves the enactment of legislation authorizing the reinstatement of John J. Dowling as a member of the Police Department of said city, provided that such legislation contains a referendum to the Mayor and City Council.

Resolved, That the City Council of the City of Boston hereby approves the enactment of legislation authorizing the reinstatement of Edward Radden as a member of the Police Department of said city, provided that such legislation contains a referendum to the Mayor and City Council.

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston hereby favors the enactment of legislation authorizing said city to reinstate John F. Brawders as a member of its Police Department.

Severally passed under suspension of the rule.

PAYMENT TO MOTHER OF JOHN MCGONAGLE.

Coun. FITZGERALD offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston hereby favors the enactment of legislation authorizing said city to pay a sum of money to the mother of John McGonagle, who was killed in the Morton street school yard.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

PAYMENT TO DANIEL FRANKOWITZ.

Coun. FITZGERALD offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston hereby favors the enactment of legislation authorizing the County of Suffolk to pay a sum of money to Daniel Frankowitz, who was injured in the Charles Street Jail.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

A PAYMENT TO ANTOSA BOBNIS.

Coun. FITZGERALD offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston hereby favors the enactment of legislation authorizing the payment of a sum of money to Antosa Bobnis, widow of John Bobnis, a welfare worker who was killed.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

REINSTATEMENT OF FULTON P. WESSON.

Coun. DOWD offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston hereby approves the enactment of legislation to authorize the reinstatement of Fulton P. Wesson in the Police Department of said city, provided that such legislation includes a referendum to the Mayor and City Council.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

REINSTATEMENT OF CLARENCE H. BALL

Coun. DOWD offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston hereby approves the enactment of legislation to authorize the reinstatement of Clarence H. Ball in the Fire Department of said city, provided that such legislation contains a referendum to the Mayor and City Council.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

DAMAGES BY DYNAMITE EXPLOSION.

Coun. COX offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council of the City of Boston hereby approves the enactment of legislation authorizing payment of sums of money to persons whose property was damaged by explosion of dynamite in connection with sewer construction in West Roxbury, provided that such legislation contains a referendum to the Mayor and City Council.

Passed under suspension of the rules.

MUNICIPAL BUILDING FOR EAST BOSTON.

Coun. BARKER offered the following:

Ordered, That the sum of $125,000 be, and the same hereby is, appropriated, to be expended under the direction of the Superintendent of Public Buildings, for the erection of a Municipal Building in East Boston, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, upon the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

REINSTATEMENT OF ANGUS McDONALD.

Coun. BARKER offered the following:
Resolved, That the City Council of Boston hereby favors the enactment of legislation authorizing the reinstatement of Angus McDonald as a member of the Fire Department of said city.
Passed under suspension of the rule.

FIRE PROTECTION ARRANGEMENTS BETWEEN BOSTON AND MILTON.

Coun. BURKE offered the following:
Ordered, That the Fire Commissioner be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to inform the City Council with reference to fire protection arrangements now existing between the City of Boston and town of Milton.

Coun. BURKE—Mr. Chairman, it has been brought to my attention that the City of Boston sends fire apparatus into Milton and that the Milton Fire Department sends apparatus into Boston, upon occasion, to deal with fires occurring near the Boston and Milton line. This plan has been in existence now for a number of years, but it has been brought to my attention that Milton sends over a seventeen-year old pump, which is inadequate for the purpose intended, and not sufficient to give Boston property owners the protection that they should have. On the other hand, we send over to Milton much more up-to-date apparatus. I simply want to find out from people in authority whether statements I have heard to that effect are true or false.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

DISCONTINUANCE OF VOCATIONAL GUIDANCE.

Coun. BURKE offered the following:
Ordered, That the School Committee be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to consider the advisability of discontinuing the Department of Vocational Guidance of the School Department.

Coun. BURKE—Mr. Chairman, I have made a study of conditions myself and find that we have seventeen in that department, for which the City of Boston pays out $54,478 a year. Not one of the personnel of that department comes from civil service; neither do they have to have such qualifications as must be possessed by teachers, those possessing a degree from a normal school or from the Boston Teachers College. Yet they are placed there on the same basis as teachers, and, strange as it may seem, nine of the seventeen live outside of the City of Boston—in Taunton, Sharon, Belmont, Arlington, Milton, Cambridge, Woburn, and so on; and, strange as it may also seem, the person who comes from Milton is a school committeewoman of that town, and she herself has passed a motion that no person should be allowed as a school teacher in Milton unless domiciled there. Still, here we have this department of the School Committee with nine out of the seventeen members living outside of Boston, not being school teachers, not having classes, not dealing with children, and yet through favoritism of the school authorities they are placed in jobs to which they have no right. I ask the School Committee to delve into the situation and to straighten it out, seeing that the persons employed there come from Boston.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

REINSTATEMENT OF FREDERICK P. HARTING.

Coun. KELLY offered the following:
Resolved, That the City Council of Boston avors the enactment of legislation authorizing the reinstatement of Frederick P. Harting as a member of the Police Department of said city.
Passed under suspension of the rule.

FURTHER WORK ON GIRLS' HIGH SCHOOL AT GROVE HALL.

Coun. KELLY offered the following:
Ordered, That the Mayor of Boston be requested to order Contractor Matthew Cummings not to do any further work on the new Girls' High School at Grove Hall until it is determined whether this location is safe and what additional cost it will mean to the taxpayer to complete it.

Coun. KELLY—Mr. Chairman, some few months ago I introduced an order, which was passed unanimously by this honorable body, calling upon the chairman of the Finance Commission, one Frank A. Goodwin, to give to us this information. Mr. Goodwin is a man who receives $5,000 a year of your money, my money, my parents' money, the taxpayers' money, money for which he is doing absolutely nothing, except occasionally issuing some statements of absolutely no consequence to the press. So I introduced the order to which I have referred after discovering that $155,000 in extras was awarded by the Mayor of Boston to Mr. Matthew Cummings, one of the pet contractors of the present administration, an old gentleman who has received $4,650,000 of the taxpayers' money in less than three years. When I saw this enormous amount of $155,000 in extras over the contract price of $865,000, awarded by the Mayor of Boston, I felt that I owed a duty to the people who are hearing the expense of running this city to introduce an order calling upon the Finance Commissioner to submit to our body information concerning this outrageous expenditure to this pet contractor. I have been informed by the City Clerk, I think authentically, that up to date no answer has come back to this body. The condition now exists in the Grove Hall section that a school that will house the future mothers of Dorchester is being erected—first of all, on a site that was not agreeable to the thirteen civic organizations of Dorchester and, secondly, a site that has been proven that it is not capable of carrying the weight of this large high school. I am informed that in the rear of this school they are still digging for bottom on the Geneva avenue side. In other words, the contractor has no idea when he will ever reach bottom, if it is possible to do so, but the thing is still going right on, with the sanction of the Mayor's office, allowing the contractor to make a few thousand dollars more. I have been informed by the members of the civic organizations of Dorchester that when this school is erected, if ever,—at a possible cost of $2,000,000 instead of $865,000—many fathers and mothers will not allow their daughters to go to the school, for the simple reason that it is going to be a dangerous building for these girls to be housed in for five, six or seven hours a day. It is liable to capsize. But the Mayor of Boston seems very anxious to allow his pet contractor to carry on there with absolutely no regard for the safety of the girls who will be forced to attend the school. I think a nice little act that the Mayor could do for the people of Boston, before he is "deported," as the councilor on my right says, if that is what is going to happen to the gentleman,—before he is "deported" and run out of town would be to try to do something for the interests of the taxpayers. He should do so before going among the innocent banana merchants of Porto Rico, of the Argentine or the Philippines, who can perhaps handle this swarthy gentleman in A-I fashion. I believe the taxpayers of Boston would gladly pay his fare to get him out of town; but he should at least, in the barest gratitude, step in and stop any further work on this Grove Hall high school. What is going on there at Grove Hall, with Matthew Cummings the recipient of the Mayor's graciousness in handling over to him the people's money, is criminal. It would be a very nice act for him to afford protection to the future mothers of Dorchester, who will be studying their lessons there when he, the Senator, is conversing in his native tongue with the sugar—Councilor Norton says "banana"—merchants from the dark regions. I repeat, Mr. President, that it would be a very nice thing for the Mayor of Boston to order that there be no further work done on this contract until he investigates and finds out whether or not this school, if they ever reach bottom, will be safe for the school children in years to come. I am asking the Mayor to step in and take such action before further work is done, because it may be, even at this late day, cheaper for the City of Boston to abandon the location, from what I hear, than to have the work continue. I trust, therefore, that the order I have introduced will be passed under suspension of the rule.

Coun. BURKE—Mr. Chairman, this order should not evoke a great deal of laughter because it deals with a serious matter. However, it is pretty hard at times to refrain from smiling when the gentleman from Ward 15 (Coun. Kelly) gets going. I will state, however, that I started out to look into this project last Tuesday morning. I found a great deal of mud on the land and could see for myself exactly what had taken place. I found that they have dug 55 feet under ground there, making a hole that goes clear down into the earth, probably as far as they have been able to go, and when I was there a man came up with two pails of sand that were extracted from the hole, 55 feet below the surface of the ground. You could put your finger in and pass it right down to the bottom, and Matthew Cummings, the seventy-year-old contractor, was present, having just come up from the depth of the 55-foot hole. Just imagine a man as old as he taking a chance there! He made a statement that it was impossible to build on that land and stated that no doubt, when the building was built, because of the character of the soil it would crack. And still he is seeking under cover to secure a release if the thing happens. Here it is possible to do away with a great catastrophe that may happen to the young people of Dorchester, and there should certainly be the best study that can be made by engineers to find out whether or not that project should be abandoned. To be sure, the work already done has cost considerable money, but the monetary part of it is not the most important thing to us at the present time. The thing for us to look out for is the possible danger to the students who will go to the school. If, as the contractor says, the building is going to crack, it is certainly possible at least that there will be a catastrophe, and it is the duty of the citizens of Boston to now make an investigation and find out whether it is safe to continue the work. The framework at the front could be used for a municipal building, so that it would not be an entire loss. But we are in duty bound to take this matter seriously and to have experts determine whether it will be a safe building for the children of Boston when completed.

Coun. FISH—Mr. Chairman, coming from Dorchester, I also was opposed to this high school at the present location in the building, and I still stand opposed to it. I introduced order after order calling upon the Mayor of Boston to stop allowing more extras on this Dorchester high school. I might also state for Councilor Kelly's information that after I was discharged in the World War I worked for two years in Porto Rico. I know more about Porto Rico than James Curley does.

Coun. KELLY—Perhaps you will be the ambassador. (Laughter.)

Coun. FISH—Perhaps so. The gentleman from Ward 15 (Coun. Kelly) referred to banana kings. Having worked in Porto Rico, I would inform him that the bananas there are very small and scarce. The big industry in Porto Rico is sugar.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. Chairman, while I did vote for this high school at Grove Hall originally, I did so because the City of Boston had bought the land, paying thousands for it, and the School Committee recommended the site. Also, it was hacked by the American Federation of Labor. But we are going to have trouble there, as indicated by the borings. On the Hyde Park police station, which went up years ago, Mr. Cummings had a special contract for borings, I think, calling for thousands of dollars. There is only one thing to do. We should allow the Soil Mechanics Department of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology to take charge of the boring situation. I have an order here looking to that. The Soil Mechanics Department of the Institute of Technology is the greatest department of the sort in the world, having the greatest experts, and under their charter they must come in and help us if we wish them to do so. If that Department of Soil Mechanics will take charge of the matter, we will have no further waste of the people's money, Mr. President.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

DONATION BY COUNCILORS TO PUBLIC WELFARE FUND.

Coun. MURRAY offered the following:
Ordered, That the members of the City Council be requested to donate two days' pay a month for the Public Welfare Department up to June 1, 1933.

Coun. BURKE—Mr. Chairman, I would move to amend the time stated in the order, so that it will read January 1, 1934.

Coun. MURRAY—Mr. Chairman, I will be glad to accept the amendment.

Coun. CURTIS—Mr. Chairman, I rise to a point of information. Aren't we doing this already?

Coun. MURRAY—We have been, yes, but it is simply a matter of passing the order for this year.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

MUNICIPAL LIGHTING PLANT.

Coun. DOWD offered the following:
Ordered, That the City of Boston construct, or acquire, and maintain within its limits a plant or plants, including suitable land, structures and machinery and other apparatus and appliances, for manufacturing and distributing electricity for municipal use and for the use of its inhabitants, in accordance with the provisions of chapter 164 of the General Laws, and acts in amendment thereof or in addition thereto.

Coun. DOWD—Mr. Chairman, on December 19, 1932, I introduced a similar order which the Mayor of Boston, under date of December 31, 1932, vetoed. I would like to read a part of his veto message. He said that in 1906, while he was a member of the Board of Aldermen, he "voted for the erection of a municipal gas and electric plant," but a "thorough investigation of the matter made it necessary for me as Mayor in 1925 to disapprove an order similar to this, for the same reasons which now make it imperative for me to veto the present order." That is, in 1906 the then Alderman Curley saw fit to vote for a municipally owned electric lighting plant for the City of Boston. Now, how in the name of Heaven, with the march of progress of over twenty-six years, can the Mayor of Boston now return to the Council without his name attached the order which we passed here in favor of a municipal lighting plant? In 1906, Mr. Chairman, only 8 per cent of the cities and towns of the country owned their own lighting plants, while in 1932, 22 per cent owned their own municipal plants. He then continues and tells us that the provisions of chapter 164 of the General Laws are such that it will be necessary to amend the laws before anything can be done in this direction. Under the present law it is necessary for a city council or a town desiring to own its own plant to pass such an order two successive years, with the approval of the mayor or the selectmen. Last year we passed this order and the Mayor of Boston vetoed it. What we want to do is place it on the ballot, so that the people of Boston can decide for themselves. If they say "yes," then we can go to the Legislature hacked by the great mandate of the people, public opinion, not depending merely upon the whim of any one official. Oh, I wish the Governor of the Commonwealth and the Public Utilities Commission of this state would bring in the books of the Edison Electric Company and find out who are getting the $265,000 that is being paid to lobbyists and public officials throughout the state to stop the people from getting what they desire. I want the Mayor of Boston, when he vetoes such an order, to give us a more explicit reason why he does so. Is it because he is a stockholder of the Edison Company? What has happened since 1906, Mr. Mayor, when you sat in this chamber and voted for this very thing, a municipal lighting plant? Oh, I wish the Governor and the Department of Public Utilities would bring those books before the public, so that we might find out about these men, public officers, who are being paid by the Edison Electric Illuminating Company to stifle the common individual. We have shown conclusively that 51 per cent of the cities and towns are getting their electricity at anywhere from 2 to 3 cents per kilowatt hour, while Boston is paying 7½ cents. We have shown that the Boston Elevated are manufacturing their own juice at .8 cents, and yet the City of Boston continues to go on paying 7½ cents. I say to the Mayor that his veto is not sufficient to stop us. There is a public demand for this thing, Mr. Chairman, and we are going forward. The march of time cannot be halted by any individual, whether the Mayor of Boston or the Governor of the State, if they are interested in the Edison Electric Illuminating Company. I want to find out where the Mayor stands. On the one side we have the mass of the people who have the yoke of the Edison Company around their necks, and on the other we have the officials and stockholders of the Edison Company. Where do you stand, Mr. Mayor? Your veto message is very vague. You tell us that chapter 164 of the General Laws should be amended. I say to you that we want your signature for two years—your signature this year and the next Mayor's signature. Then it will go on the ballot automatically, and we can go to the Legislature with the great mandate of the people as to whether or not they want a municipally owned lighting plant.

Coun. KELLY—Mr. Chairman, as a fellow member of the committee with the previous speaker, I agree with everything he has said. I feel that one of the nicest ways in which the Mayor of Boston could show that he believes in the principles laid down during the recent campaign by the now President-Elect against the power trust, would be to show his sincerity and his belief in the campaign promises of the President-Elect. He should not have hesitated, Mr. Chairman, to give us that one signature on the order passed by this body unanimously in December of last year. I hope he will take official cognizance of what the councilor has said here today and that within the next few weeks, before he goes traveling, he will give the taxpayers of Boston one signature and that the succeeding Mayor will give them the second signature.

The order was declared referred to the Special Committee on Municipal Lighting.

PURCHASES IN CITY OF BOSTON.

Coun. DOWD offered the following:

Ordered, That the Superintendent of Supplies be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to make all purchases, whenever possible, in the City of Boston.

Coun. DOWD—Mr. Chairman, there is quite a "Buy in America" campaign on, which has been endorsed by the Mayor. I am quite in agreement with him in the course he has taken in that matter, in the indorsement he has given to that campaign. But I would like to go a step farther forward. He is paid by the citizens of Boston and should adopt the slogan, so far as the City of Boston is concerned, "Buy in Boston." About a year and a half ago, I introduced an order similar to this, but without effect, and now in this city, while the National Biscuit Company and the local cracker companies are employing their help but two days a week, the Purchasing Department travels to Chicago to buy crackers there for our institutions. If the Mayor of Boston is really interested in his city, if he believes in relieving the unemployment situation here, why doesn't he take steps to spend Boston's money for the upkeep of Boston's factories and business concerns? Why doesn't he tell his Purchasing Agent—whom I am not blaming, because he is ordered to do what he does by the Mayor of Boston—to discontinue immediately the spending of our money in the city of Chicago for foodstuffs that are going into our Boston institutions?

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

CUT IN SCHOOL DEPARTMENT BUDGET

Coun. DOWD offered the following:

Ordered, That the School Committee be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to cut two million dollars from the School Department budget for 1933.

Coun. DOWD—Mr. Chairman, naturally I understand that the Mayor of Boston has no definite control over the expenditures of our school system. We spend annually close to $17,000,000 exclusive of new buildings for the upkeep of our School Department. We find that last year nearly a million dollars was spent on repairs in the school system of the city, and I have no real valid objection to that, provided those who did the repairs, the contractors, resided in the City of Boston. But the trouble is that those who live in Boston cannot get a job in East Gelatry or West Sandwich, while people from those places can come in and get contracts from the City of Boston. I say the School Department is one place where the taxpayers can have money saved. I do not believe, with some of the reform organizations, that ten millions can be cut off our budget, but we can go to the School Department and, by cutting off frills, fads and fancies, stopping the employing of people living outside of Boston, and so on, economize without discharging a single employee or without hardship to any individual, cutting off at least $2,000,000 that should be cut off the School Department appropriation this year.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

REBATES TO PROPERTY OWNERS.

Coun. DOWD offered the following:

Ordered, That the Board of Assessors be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to submit to the City Council a list of property owners, the location of the property, and the amount which has been abated by said department during the year 1932.

Coun. DOWD—Mr. Chairman, it is rather unfortunate that any individual owning a two or three family house and who goes to the Board of Assessors for an abatement, is powerless to procure any abatement whatsoever. I am interested in finding out these large interests that have entree to the assessors' office and the Mayor's office and who are able, because they own millions and millions of property, to secure large abatements whether they should do or not. I say, if there are to be abatements, they should be secured by the man or woman who owns a small home, who is struggling to pay taxes, and I am anxious to find out from the Board of Assessors just who the individuals are who have received abatements during the past year.

Coun. MURRAY—Mr. Chairman, might I offer an amendment, so that the order would apply to people owning more than one home or more than one house—because I don't think those who are able to pay taxes on their property should be released? If this were confined to those owning two or more pieces of property, I think I would be satisfied.

Coun. NORTON—I would suggest that it be applied to those owning property assessed at $30,000 or more.

Coun. DOWD—Mr. Chairman, I would agree to that amendment.

Coun. NORTON—That our Board of Assessors present to the Council a detailed statement of the abatements made by that board in the past year on real estate assessed at $30,000 or more.

Coun. MURRAY—I think a person with $30,000 worth of property free and clear—unless there is a mortgage on a large part of it—should be expected to pay some taxes. So I think placing the amount at $15,000 or more would be a better amendment.

Coun. DOWD—Mr. Chairman, I think that amount would be rather low. I think it should read $30,000. Of course, when it comes to property valued at $15,000, that is a matter of judgment with the assessors.

Coun. BRACKMAN—Mr. Chairman, I want at this time to voice my objection to the order for this reason. The Assessing Department of the City of Boston is one department that has been in chaotic shape during the past year, because thousands and thousands of petitions have been pending in that office and because there is the requirement that the Board appear before the Board of Tax Appeals practically every day in the week. I don't believe we ought to pass an order that would increase the present clerical work in the department, and I don't believe it will accomplish any useful purpose. It will merely mean that the office force will have to check through all the books, going back through all the abatements that have been made in 1932, thereby adding greatly to the work of an already overworked department. It means a tremendous task, because quite a number of abatements have gone through. I am particularly interested in this matter as it concerns my district, one of the largest home districts in the City of Boston. It has been my personal effort to obtain many abatements on one two and three apartment houses in the district. I think the Board has taken the attitude that where cause is shown there should be in such cases an abatement of 10 or 15 per cent. Certainly they have done it in my district, and I have the promise they will continue to do it. It is an undoubted fact, as set forth in an order that I introduced several weeks ago asking that the Mayor take steps to reduce tax valuations in such district at least 25 per cent, that there is an overassessment in such districts. I am going to try to continue my work in obtaining such abatements of at least 10 or 15 per cent, and to my knowledge there have been many such abatements by the Board in my district in the last few months. I certainly think that the Board is always glad to cooperate in that matter.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. Chairman, I believe, in connection with an order of this kind, that we are not aiming at the small home owner. I believe that three-fourths of the home owners in my district are over assessed. I believe, however, that this order is directed to the large real estate holders, who have been granted abatements. I understand, by the Board of Taxes. In this order we are not dealing with the small home owner, but I think it should be applied to the real estate owner with property valued at $30,000 or more, the large real estate owner.

Coun. DOWD—Mr. Chairman, to set the minds of the members of the Council at rest, I might say that in my opinion you will find very few abatements where small home owners are concerned. We hear a lot of talk about the Board of Appeals granting abatements to this or that concern running into thousands of dollars, but not a word do we hear about our Assessing Department granting abatements to individual home owners. I want to have pointed out who the individuals in Boston are who have entree to the assessors' office and to the Mayor's office and who obtain abatements on the large property. Taking a person in my ward with a three-family house, does he get an abatement? I doubt if any of the councilors here can get a good abatement on any ordinary home. So far as the amendment offered by Councilor Norton is concerned, covering properties valued at $30,000 or over, I don't think that will involve a terrible amount of work on the department, to show such abatements for one year. The only way we can get such information is through such an order as we have before us. Of course, it has to cover the abatement generally. We cannot select properties here and there, but we can obtain the information we desire through an order of this type. We are not striking at the home owner, because you and I know that very few home owners have been receiving abatements in 1932. But we do want to find out who the large real estate owners in Boston are who have been receiving abatements.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. Chairman, I would like to tell the councilor of one large real estate interest—

Coun. DOWD—Mr. Chairman, I am not interested in any particular real estate owner that the councilor from Hyde Park may have in mind. But I would like to get this information that we ask for generally from the Board of Assessors over their own signatures. I think the Council is entitled to have it, and that the taxpayers of Boston, who are overburdened, are entitled to know who is who and who the ones are who are getting these abatements in the City of Boston.

Coun. BRACKMAN—Mr. Chairman, I don't want it to appear that I am not looking after the interests of the taxpayers, because I think my actions indicate that I have been doing so consistently, as much as anybody in the body. But my brother knows as well as I do, that any of the big real estate holders who have obtained abatements downstairs have probably done so on property that is standing in the name of straws, which would mean nothing. We would, in other words, accomplish nothing along that line, and the efforts of the Board might well be put to better use. Let us not simply engage in an idle chase, where the names we obtain will not be names that any member of the body will recognize or know. Knowledge obtained in any such way will not be beneficial to us.

Coun. NORTON's amendment, adding at the end of the order the words "on all real estate valued at over $30,000," was adopted, and the order as amended was passed.

HIGH PRESSURE SYSTEM IN ROXBURY.

Coun. BRACKMAN offered the following:
Ordered, That the Public Works Commissioner, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested to make a report to the City Council as to the steps taken, if any, by him in securing the necessary cooperation of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts in obtaining a high water pressure system in Roxbury.

Coun. BRACKMAN—Mr. Chairman, about three months ago the Mayor of Boston sent to this body proposing an appropriation of $600,000 to install four miles of 49-inch main through Roxbury and covering a part of Dorchester and Jamaica Plain. This was done for the purpose of increasing the water pressure, particularly in the Roxbury district, because inadequate pressure now exists in that district. The result has been that we have there a fire hazard and a menace. The matter came up before the Council and was dismissed without prejudice, in order to give the Public Works Commissioner an opportunity to co-operate with the Commonwealth of Massachusetts in tapping on to a line that now exists, so that we might save about $100,000. To date we have learned nothing as to what has been done, and my order merely asks the Public Works Commissioner to report what action has been taken and what steps are under way looking to the carrying out of this particular project.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

PROCEEDINGS OF SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

Jan. 3, 1933.

The meeting for organization of The School Committee of the City of Boston for the current municipal year was held in the Administration Building, 15 Beacon Street, at 5:42 o'clock P. M.

Present: Messrs. Hurley, Mackey, Mrs. Pigeon, Messrs. Reilly and Tobin.

The meeting was called to order by Mr. Joseph J. Hurley, the senior member.

Mr. Hurley stated that under the provisions of Chapter 479 of the Acts of 1924—An Act Providing for Biennial Elections in the City of Boston, etc.—the membership of the School Committee for the year 1933 is the same as that for the year 1932; namely, Mr. Joseph J. Hurley, Dr. Charles E. Mackey, Mrs. Elizabeth W. Pigeon, Mr. William Arthur Reilly, and Mr. Maurice J. Tobin.

ELECTION OF CHAIRMAN

The Committee proceeded to the election of a Chairman, and the Secretary was directed to call the roll.

The members as their names were called respectively stated that they voted as follows:

For WILLIAM ARTHUR REILLY—Dr. Mackey, Mrs. Pigeon, Messrs. Tobin and Hurley—4.

For ELIZABETH W. PIGEON—Mr. Reilly—1.

Mr. William Arthur Reilly was thereupon declared duly elected Chairman of the Committee, and assumed the chair.

Mr. Reilly: The Chair deeply appreciates this expression of confidence and wishes to express his feeling of renewed energy and desire for still greater effort in the interests of the welfare of the pupils in the schools and the community in general, in order to justify this evidence of continued confidence.

The past year has seen trials and tribulations come to the members sitting on this Committee, but I think that one feature is outstanding—that there is a closer cooperation between the members of the Committee than ever before, and a greater feeling of confidence in the school service than has been manifest for some time. The Committee has been in frequent conference with representatives of the teacher organizations and has called the groups in many more times than in the history of any previous Committee.

Unfortunately, during the past year the attacks on the School Committee and on the Department of School Buildings which have characterized the last five years, have continued. I believe it is because the schools are such an easy target, being the largest department of the city government, and so organized that wherever a minor error may appear in the large organization it easily can be magnified by those particularly interested in that specific event. It is to be regretted that these critics overlook the good that the School Committee does, by and large, during its tenure of office. By taking up minor items and magnifying them in an attempt to break down the morale and confidence of the people in the administration of the schools, a great evil can result, and it is to be hoped that the organizations and individuals who have made it a practice to attack the School Committee in the past, will refrain from doing so until they have gained all the facts first-hand from the Committee.

Naturally the big problem for the Committee this year is the matter of economy and it is well to remember that the School Committee for the past two years has been engaged in a program of retrenchment. What the future will bring no one knows. There are many specific retrenchments that have been recommended. There is consideration to be given to the existence of the great number of teachers on our present eligible lists. Whether that will result in the ultimate closing of The Teachers College, no one can tell. Whether or not the Continuation School can exist under present conditions, is another thing no one can tell. Consolidation of departments may be necessary. The abandonment of military drill in intermediate schools may be necessary. These and many other specific suggestions are in the minds of the people and in the minds of members of the Committee for consideration during the coming months.

Speaking of economy and the record of the School Committee during the past two years, I would summarize in the following brief statement:

Through the efforts of the School Committee, with the cooperation of all its subordinates, the tax levy for school purposes for 1932 was $2,978,871.00 less than the levy for 1931.

The employees of the School Department contributed from January 1, 1932, to December 31, 1932, $680,000.00 from their salaries to the Welfare Department. This contribution reduced the actual cost of schools for 1932, as compared with 1931, by the sum of $3,658,871.00.

It is obvious that the voluntary contributions of the School Committee employees reduced the city tax rate by that amount, viz., $680,000, because otherwise such sum would have to be raised by taxation for the Welfare Department. In effect, therefore, these voluntary contributions on the part of School Committee employees caused an actual reduction in the tax rate.

For the current school year, September 1, 1932, to August 31, 1933, if the present system of contributions is maintained, the employees of the School Department will have contributed to the Public Welfare Department $960,000.00. These contributions really mean that the salaries of all employees receiving more than $3000 a year were cut 10%; all receiving $1600 to $3000 were cut 6-2-3%; all receiving less than $1600 were cut 3-1-3%. If the loss of the annual increment is taken into account it will be made clear that those receiving more than $3000 but who have not yet reached the maximum salary of their ranks, have suffered for the year an actual cut in salary of from 10% to 15%. Those receiving a salary between $1600 to $3000 and who have not yet reached the maximum, have suffered a cut of from 6-2-3% to 14%, while those below the $1600 level who have not yet reached their maximum, have suffered a cut of from 3-1-3% to 11%.

In addition to this record of the past year, the Superintendent's Report which is now in preparation and will be ready at an early date, will point out a record which is indeed astounding for an executive who is completing his first year as Superintendent of the Public Schools. The Report has been epitomized into some seventeen separate items which may be termed "Outstanding Accomplishments in 1932." Those will be read, with the consent of the Committee, at the meeting at which the Superintendent's Report will be presented.

In closing, I wish to thank the Committee for this evidence of continued confidence in me manifested by permitting me to serve as presiding officer for another year. I will endeavor by generous and whole-hearted service to show my appreciation of this action of the Committee.

Mr. Hurley: It is not perhaps usual for a member to speak at this time, but I cannot allow the opportunity to pass without expressing what I know is my own and the sentiment of all the other members of the Committee, that in the past year you as Chairman have done a fine piece of work, have handled a difficult situation with uniform courtesy and tact, have carried us through with flying colors perhaps the hardest year the School Committee has seen in a couple of decades.

Chairman: Thank you.

On motion, the Committee thereupon reconsidered and rescinded its previous action which resulted in the election of Mr. Tobin as Treasurer.

On motion, the Committee again proceeded to the election of a Treasurer of the Corporation and Mrs. Pigeon was duly elected by the following vote:

TO REMOVE ICE AND SNOW EASILY.

In certain special emergency cases, as in traffic areas, it may be desirable to entirely remove thick, heavy accumulations of ice and hardened snow which, because they usually become badly rutted, are a cause of dangerous traffic conditions. In such cases the application of flake calcium chloride by means of a mechanical spreader at the rate of three quarters to one pound per square yard will soon loosen the entire ice coating, permitting its removal from the pavement by hand or mechanical means.

For this purpose, a solution containing from 25 to 30 per cent of calcium chloride, which figures 2.85 to 3.75 pounds per gallon of solution, may be employed. Such solutions, especially if made up with warm water and applied by a street flusher equipped with nozzles which throw a finely divided high-pressure spray, have proved highly efficient for this purpose. As soon as the ice has become loosened from the pavement surface, it should be removed and an extremely light treatment of coarse sand applied to the surface.

KANSAS CITY WINS POLICE HOME RULE.

The Supreme Court of Missouri has given Kansas City control of its police department.

For years those who wanted the city to operate and control its own police department had been going to the Legislature regularly with bills which would end state control. But conditions were never just right. The city raised the question of the constitutionality of the law under which the department has operated, and the Court held the law unconstitutional in a five-to-two opinion.

The police department of Kansas City had been under the control of the state since 1874. Under the law as it has existed in recent years, the department was administered by a commission of three members, two appointed by the governor and the mayor, ex officio.

The city attacked the law on the ground that it delegated legislative powers to an administrative board. In this contention the city was upheld, the court holding that the limitations in the law were not sufficiently definite to prevent the commissioners from making almost unlimited demands on the city treasury.

WATER SUPPLY FROM WELLS.

The entire water supply of Memphis is taken from wells. The wells penetrate two strata of sand, the upper stratum being 300 to 500 feet below the surface, and the lower stratum roughly 1,000 feet deeper. The upper stratum, known as the LaGrange formation, is the more important and furnishes most of the supply. It is the one commonly used in this vicinity.

The lower stratum has been developed by the city to a limited extent, because wells in it do not interfere with those in the upper stratum, and therefore wells in the respective strata can be placed in close proximity to each other, and a greater capacity obtained from a given area. The LaGrange formation underlies western Tennessee, eastern Arkansas and northern Mississippi. It outcrops in a belt roughly parallel with the Mississippi river and some 40 miles eastward therefrom. Throughout this entire region it furnishes an ample supply to many municipalities and industries. The outcrop area is such that an abundant supply is in sight, for everyone caring to use it, for many years to come. The sands and clays, which are interspersed, are supposed to be deposits formed in prehistoric times, when the entire Mississippi Valley as far north as Cairo was practically an arm of the Gulf of Mexico.

LIFE-GIVING PATRIOTISM IS LOCAL.

By civic patriotism is meant the feeling and the taking of a deep, unselfish, earnest, ever-wakeful, active interest in the affairs of one's own city or local community, regarding it as having an autonomy, a distinct personality, a name and interests of its own, and, if one pleases, endowed with a sense of personal honor and with all laudable ambitions for the promotion of the welfare of its people.

Where such civic virtues exist the local community will neither suffer from the dry-rot of public indifference and neglect nor become tainted with graft or corruption. Its life will be healthful, and, like the ocean, will be kept pure by its own ceaseless flow and movement. All life-giving patriotism is local.

Show a good municipal citizen and one will see a citizen who loves his state, and who loves his nation, and who will discharge all the duties of this triple relation. Good government in local affairs is the best assurance of good government in state and national affairs.

CHANGING STREET NAMES.

Alteration in the names of streets seems to be on the increase in the United States. In most cases the reasons for it are inadequate, while changes that would actually make for clearness remain unmade. The reason for change would usually seem to be general patriotism, national or local, as where the name of some prominent person is given to a street. During the war German names were largely discarded, as where Berlin avenue in St. Louis became Pershing avenue. In the height of President Wilson's popularity abroad, Wilson avenues sprang up all over the allied countries. Later, disappointment or dissatisfaction caused many of these to be changed.

CITY RECORD

OFFICIAL CHRONICLE OF BOSTON MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

VOL. 25.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 28, 1933.

No. 4

NEW PRINTING PLANT, POLICE STATION AND THE TRAFFIC TUNNEL ADMINISTRATION BUILDING OF TRANSIT DEPARTMENT OFFICIALLY DEDICATED BY MAYOR CURLEY BEFORE INTERESTED GATHERING. MAYOR EXPRESSES REGRET THAT GOVERNMENTS ARE CURTAILING WORK AND THUS INCREASING BURDEN OF UNEMPLOYMENT.

City officials, prominent business men and citizens gathered at the new Municipal Printing Plant, Transit Department and Police Station on North street on Tuesday, January 24, for the dedication exercises. The buildings have been newly erected and have all the modern improvements such buildings require. Mayor Curley officiated at the exercises of dedication, delivering the principal address. Other officials also spoke.

Mayor Curley in his address spoke, in part, as follows:

Mr. Chairman, Honored Guests and Friends.

We are participating in a most unusual ceremony in the dedication of these three latest contributions to the physical life of Boston. Unusual in that in all probability a similar scene could not be witnessed in a single one of the cities of the entire United States. There is a feeling of gratification that comes at the dedication, but it is a gratification that is tempered with just a tinge of sadness at the knowledge that when the dedication exercises have been completed those men who have found opportunity for a livelihood through the work made available will no longer have any employment at which to work. It is a most serious situation. It represents a change in the economic thoughts of the nation that have been developed by a group in America who are in the main responsible for the major portion of the troubles that have been visited upon America during the last ten years.

The new theory harbors the belief that the best way to restore prosperity is to cease public works of every character, cut down expenditures in every line of activity, overlooking the all-important fact that when you take the opportunity for a livelihood away from the individual you only add the family of that individual to the already swollen ranks of those now receiving aid and regardless of the extent of the expenditure that may be made there will be nothing to show at the end of the year. For myself, I believe it far better to spend lavishly in periods of depression and distress for the construction of enduring structures and providing work for the people rather than spending money to add to the over swollen bread lines. I don't know just when we are going to emerge from this trend of thought. I don't know just when sanity is going to be restored to the United States. We are here today assembled to dedicate three buildings. One, the most unique of its kind in the entire country, the Municipal Printing Plant, owned and operated by the City of Boston, built on the site of the plant where Benjamin Franklin first operated a press in Boston. It becomes a monument, if you will, that links the present with one of the most illustrious characters that lived in the history of the nation.

No man has ever typified a sublime faith in a larger measure than the printer, Benjamin Franklin. Born to poverty, knowing naught but poverty and distress until he arrived at his majority, with a limited opportunity for education other than that which he carved out for himself by study at night and in his spare moments, and living to witness the fruition of his dreams, the establishment of the American Republic, made possible in as large a measure in the field of diplomacy and state craft by Benjamin Franklin, as it was in the field of battle through the services of General George Washington. It was Franklin, the printer's devil, whose childhood and boyhood typified poverty, who became the trusted messenger of the colonies to place their case before the government of France and placing it with such skill, diplomacy and ability as to induce the French government to provide not only the money, but the ships, the sailors, soldiers and marines that made possible the establishment of the American Republic.

Among the three buildings to be dedicated is a Transit Department building, the Administration Building, in connection with the operation of the tunnel to East Boston. This building with land and the tunnel represents an expenditure of approximately $20,000,000. It would be difficult to operate a tunnel in our day, if it were not for the genius of Franklin in his day more than a half century ago, who was the first to draw lightning from the clouds, paving the way for the development in the field of electrical science that makes possible the operation of the light and heat in the tunnel that we build 150 years later, running under the site where Franklin ran his printing press.

It is an interesting thought, this combination of Printing Plant, Transit Administration Building, and the new Police Station to take the place of the first and oldest police station in Boston. We all realize that the population of the North End of Boston is on the decline. We recognize the invasion of business, we recognize that it may be a century before the places of habitation are entirely removed from the North End of Boston, and so within the last week we have considered the utilizing the income of the George Robert White Fund for the wiping out of some of the old buildings that are unhealthful and where people should not be permitted to live in the North End of Boston, and replacing them with parks for the promotion of the health of the people of this section of the city. Everyone of these institutions, whether it is a new station or a printing plant, a tunnel or a new park, represents progress. We have had no progress in America during the last two years. We have lost the faith that made it possible for Washington, Adams, Franklin, Harrison, Otis and all of the others to give this flag to the people that occupied the thirteen colonies.

"O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen,
From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean,
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"

RECREATION FACILITIES BEING PLANNED IN GREATER ABUNDANCE FOR UNEMPLOYED AS A MEANS OF PRESERVING HEALTH. MAYOR CURLEY BROADCASTS IDEAS AND PLANS AS BEING PREPARED BY COMMITTEE OF PUBLIC-SPIRITED CITIZENS. MUNICIPAL BUILDINGS TO BE USED MORE GENERALLY.

Speaking over Radio Station WNAC on Monday, January 23, Mayor Curley spoke, in part, as follows: Friends of the Radio Audience.

I appreciate that it may appear rather unusual at this time of the year for a public official of Boston to discuss the question of recreational facilities. But I am beginning to wonder, in view of the exceptionally open winters that we have enjoyed in Massachusetts, more particularly in Boston, during the past two years, whether the time has not arrived for Boston to seriously consider directing the attention of the entire people of the United States, and of the world, if you will, to the advantages of Boston as a winter resort.

No city in America is so rich in historical background as is our own City of Boston, and no city in America has devoted a larger amount of money or given more intelligent thought in the direction of the development of recreational facilities during the past two decades than the City of Boston.

Unquestionably, the development of the city at the South Boston section occupies a place in the forefront in the matter of recreational facilities among the cities of the entire world. In 1915, when this project was broached, it met with the opposition not only of a legislative assembly but upon two occasions by the City Council, and even a ten taxpayer petition in addition to the opposition of the Finance Commission, as a waste of money. Yet I question if there is a single individual who regrets the action taken by the city, in 1916, in the starting of what is known as the Strandway development of South Boston. Prior to the creation of this great park area, with bathing facilities for a distance of two miles along Dorchester Bay, and capable of accommodating from 150,000 to 200,000 persons as it has many times, within the last year, on a single warm day, there was nowhere such an accommodation for the city's public.

In addition, a stadium has been here erected with accommodations for 10,000 persons, with sufficient space to permit of the further addition, whenever the occasion makes it necessary, of some 60,000 in seating capacity. Likewise, baseball diamonds, football fields, sufficient to accommodate some twenty different groups at a single time, have been built. It is a most unique investment upon the part of the municipality, when you consider that even within the last two years we have not permitted our work to lag. We constructed in 1931, and completed, the largest single bathing establishment to be found in the entire world, the L Street Bath House, for men, women and children, and with a solarium for men to which, at the present time, physicians and surgeons connected with all our leading hospital institutions are sending their patients in order that they make take advantage of the ultra-violet ray roof provided there.

CASTLE ISLAND IMPROVEMENT.

During the last year a road was constructed extending to Castle Island, with a large circle for the parking of cars, which permit of driving one's car along a bathing front of nearly three miles and then parking the car, on a warm day, where every passing breeze might be enjoyed by the occupant. This represents only in part the work that has been done. We have found it possible in 1932 to provide employment for what is known as the white collar worker, to the number of five hundred, for a period of a year and a half on a most interesting and unusual experiment. You know, the average citizen is perhaps a little bit more familiar with the game of golf than he was twenty years ago. It is true that nearly 40,000 persons played golf at Franklin Park last year. The actual net revenue over and above all expenses averaged $22,000 each year, in addition to providing recreational facilities and opportunity for more than 40,000 persons.

In 1932, as a means of providing employment, which seems to be decreasing rather than increasing at the present hour, we purchased from Harvard University and from private interests seven and a half million square feet of land in West Roxbury. We purchased it at the lowest price that a large block of land has been sold during the last ten years, paying two and one half cents per square foot. It was not really very inviting land, being filled with rocks, bricks, scrub growth and trees. But it afforded opportunity for employment in the open for not only the physical development, but an opportunity for a change, for mental relief and solace, if you will.

Five hundred men started work on this particular project, who had never handled an axe since the day when they handed it to their mother for her to chop wood. These men were given axes, some were given pickaxes with which to remove stones and bricks, shrubbery and trees, and some were given wheelbarrows. The work those men did was most amazing. With a realization of the difficulties that would confront them in that character of labor, we built a large mess house, where they could get warm, and where soup could be made for the noon hour relief. At the end of three months there wasn't a single man who had not put on ten pounds, and who were physically and mentally more fit than they had been in a number of years.

NEW GOLF COURSE TO OPEN.

We hope that this golf course will be open soon to the public, sometime this year, probably about June. These men removed the stone and shrubbery and waste material under the direction of Duncan Ross, who is regarded as one of the ablest golf course designers in America. I am quite certain that within a year that golf course will be earning sufficient revenue to net a profit to the city. The state has already arranged to build a highway across the front of the golf course, thereby increasing the value of 7,000,000 square feet from two and one half cents to ten cents per square foot, making land that cost about $140,000 worth about $700,000.

Now, then, with the completion of that state boulevard and the completion of the golf course we should net sufficient increased revenue from the neighboring properties to offset many times over the total investment, to say nothing of the benefit and advantage in providing an opportunity for men to restore courage, health, faith in themselves, faith in God and faith in our common country. Our experiment in the matter of developing that golf course has attracted attention from the medical authorities and social service workers, who are immensely interested in the exceptional results that we have derived as a consequence of our experiment.

I had a visit from a committee headed by William Phillips, former Ambassador to Belgium and more recently a Minister from the United States to Canada, who are interested in providing recreational facilities for the unemployed, recreational facilities that would make available the use of gymnasiums and shower baths and necessities of that character that are beyond the reach of the man without employment, and who is obliged to change his place of abode and lodging to a less expensive tenement, but, in addition, they have developed the idea of increasing our library facilities and have secured the voluntary service of men and women experienced in the production of the drama, who have arranged to put on from time to time theatrical productions in the various municipal buildings throughout the city. Experts in penmanship, mathematics and in about every conceivable line that will make the individual for a brief time at least forget his own troubles and get a little clearer conception of his duty, responsibility and opportunity that is going to come once more into the life of this country of ours.

It is a great opportunity to be of service to so many women and men, and we are indeed fortunate here in Boston that we have the physical equipment in the municipal buildings where men and women who are worn out in their quest for employment, and who feel that every hand in the world is raised against them, to come into an atmosphere of friendship and fellowship and of hope to revive once more that faith that is so essential to a more prosperous and a happy day in the life of our America.

DEDICATION OF BUILDINGS.

We want that faith restored. I believe we are going to have it restored in this country shortly and I believe we are going to change the trend of economic thought and return it to the saner channels that recognize that the only way to end industrial depression and unemployment is through work and wages and opportunity for all the people.

PURPOSES OF BUILDINGS.

We are dedicating a police station here that represents an investment pretty close to $200,000. We dedicated earlier another station representing an expenditure of $350,000, over one half million dollars in a single day. For what? For the protection of the life and property of the citizenship of the oldest city in America, but if education means anything, if religious teachings mean anything, if the constitution means anything, we should not be spending money in such volume to protect man from his fellowman.

I sometimes wonder what is the true definition of progress in our day. I interpret it as the opportunity for the individual to advance spiritually, intellectually, mentally, and to appreciate, during the progress of his affairs, that his fellow citizen should be permitted to enjoy the same rights as he.

I listened with a great deal of pleasure to what was said by Captain Mullen. He not only worked in the North End, but he married a North End girl, and they have been happy during their entire married life. If only we could make the game of life itself and the citizenship of America what matrimony compels us to make, a game of give and take, a game where the exercises of charity and kindness and consideration and wise judgment play an important part, perhaps then the time might come when it will be unnecessary to build police stations, maintain police courts.

Let us pray God that that Utopia may some time arrive during our existence.

Nathan Heller of the Transit Commission, in his address spoke as follows:

Mr. Chairman, Your Honor Mayor Curley, Invited Guests, Ladies and Gentlemen.

Any feeling of gratification that I might have entertained in being invited to participate in these exercises as the representative of the Transit Commission is considerably tempered, if not entirely dispelled, by the regret, which I know you share, that Colonel Thomas F. Sullivan, the chairman of the commission and the mainspring of the department, is unable, due to illness, to be present upon this occasion. But, lest you be unduly alarmed, let me assure you that it is only a matter of days when he will be back at his desk, his usual dynamic, energetic, thoroughly competent self.

It is two years, lacking two months, since Master Francis Curley, young son of his Honor the Mayor, in the presence of thousands of citizens assembled in East Boston, dug the edge of his little silver shovel into the earth, thereby signalizing the inauguration of construction of a great public improvement, the East Boston Traffic Tunnel, which had been the subject of consideration and discussion, if not aimless at least inconclusive, for more than three quarters of a century.

The two years have passed, and we of the Transit Commission feel justified in taking pride in the accomplishments of the department during this period.

Today finds the department engaged in the last stage of construction, involving the paving and tiling of the tunnel, the installation of electrical equipment, and the demolition of structures to provide adequate street approaches. In this period of two years the difficult basic work in the building of the tunnel has been completed. In fact, last July saw the last surge of the huge shield, one of the largest ever built, leaving behind it, completely fashioned and laid, a gigantic tube of steel and concrete, 4,800 feet in length and 100 feet in circumference, and arriving at its predetermined destination with the variation of hardly a hair's breadth months ahead of scheduled time, and what is perhaps even more remarkable, without the loss of a single life, thereby establishing a world's record for tunneling in point of speed and safety. When this great undertaking is completed, which we hope will be before the current year has passed into history, it will have involved the expenditure of nearly $19,000,000, the largest individual appropriation for a municipal undertaking in the history of New England.

DESERVED STRUCTURE.

A public improvement of this magnitude and of such great importance to the convenience and comfort, the prosperity and welfare, not merely of the residents of this North End district of Boston but of the inhabitants of the entire metropolitan area, well deserves to be adorned and graced with this magnificently beautiful group of municipal buildings, which you here perceive, structures not only utilitarian in design, purpose, and character but in keeping with the architectural standards of Boston, the city beautiful, known throughout the world as the Athens of America.

Well do I recall the birth of the idea of this splendid community of municipal buildings. Colonel Sullivan and his associates, perplexed to decide where to locate the new police station to take the place of the old Station 1 on Hanover street, which had to give way to make room for the Tunnel plaza, sought the counsel and assistance of his Honor the Mayor. His response was immediate and adequate. The gratifying result is here evidenced before you, these buildings comprising three units, the Tunnel Administration Building, the Police Station, and the structure housing the Printing Department.

It is indeed fitting that the father of the idea, which has now taken tangible form, should grace these dedicatory exercises with his official presence. Representing the Transit Commission, I cannot let this opportunity pass without expressing to him our great appreciation for the constant, unswerving and generous support that he has accorded us in solving the many problems and surmounting the many difficulties which we have had to face during the course of this work. The East Boston Traffic Tunnel, embellished by these attractive structures, stands as another imperishable monument to the courageous yet prudent, the far-sighted yet not visionary, wisdom and statesmanship of a great administrator of public affairs, our honored Chief Executive.

MAJOR CASEY'S ADDRESS.

Major William J. Casey, Superintendent of Printing Plant, upon introduction, spoke as follows:

After thirty-five years of tenancy in various buildings in this city, and during this period having been forced to move four times with great expense to the city, it is indeed gratifying to have the Printing Department located in a fireproof, sanitary city building, and I want, at this time, to thank his Honor the Mayor for the helpful interest that he has always manifested in the welfare of the Printing Department.

One does not have to stretch his imagination very far to realize the important part printing plays in every phase of our educational, industrial and social life in city, state and nation.

The recommendation for this building was made by the Mayor of Boston, a man who truly illustrates and demonstrates the value of printing better than any individual that I know of in this country, and I think you will agree with me that Mayor Curley exemplifies in the highest degree the value and benefits of the printed word. From such a man one would naturally expect a deep interest in the city's Printing Department, and I am sure that his desire that the city have a printing establishment equipped to give the best possible service, prompted his recommendation for permanent quarters for the Printing Department.

The department was established by ordinance in March, 1897, and it was intended at that time that all the printing, both city and county, which Boston paid for, should be executed at the city's Printing Plant. Unfortunately, both for the city and the Printing Plant, we have county and court officials who do not recognize that the city has a right to participate in its own expenditures, although they, themselves, receive everything from the city. The printing required by these county offices and departments is passed out, without competition, to individuals and private concerns, the owners of which in many instances are not residents of Boston.

The Printing Department of the city is probably the most unique in the country as it does not receive one cent of appropriation. The plant is maintained entirely from its income.

It is organized and equipped especially for the city's needs and we have always endeavored to give service to the various departments of the city and county at a cost comparable to the prices charged by private concerns for similar service.

In addition to the city's printing, the department furnishes standard stationery supplies and purchases all the postage used by the various departments of the city.

The department employs on an average about one hundred twenty men and women. They are paid the union rate of wages, receive the usual gratuities other city employees do, such as two weeks' vacation and holidays without loss of pay.

Since 1908 the plant has realized profits each year as a result of successful operation. These profits, excepting for some transfers for other municipal purposes, have been held intact, so that over a period of years enough money has been accumulated to pay for the construction of the Printing Department Building.

During my twenty years of service as superintendent, the greater portion of which has been served under our present Mayor, we have managed to give every employee steady employment, without lay-offs or short time. Last year, 1932, was the first year of the depression period which affected the department. The volume of printing for the year 1933 will be considerably less than the previous year because of greatly reduced appropriations for printing in the various departments of the city. We need more than ever the county work to tide us over this difficult period, thereby enabling the department to give continuity of service to citizens of Boston.

The department has been fortunate to have in its employ many faithful and conscientious individuals. They have contributed in full measure to the successful operation of the plant.

The new building is a fireproof structure throughout, excellent light, thoroughly ventilated, and with sanitary features that make it an ideal plant to work in. Allowances have been made for future growth should the city's business increase. It is equipped with modern machinery and has every facility to execute the city and county printing.

Under present business conditions it is impossible to predict the future, but I am hopeful that a return to normalcy is near at hand.

The future success of the Printing Department depends largely upon the cooperation of those departments who do not come under control of the Mayor to have their printing done at the City Plant, and on the employees themselves that they conduct their activities in the interest of the city so that quality and a high standard of service may be always maintained.

I wish to express the hope that the efficiency and progress of the plant in the years to come will be such as to always reflect credit on the wisdom and judgment of the man who made possible the creation of the building we now dedicate.

CAPTAIN MULLEN'S ADDRESS.

Captain John J. Mullen when presented spoke as follows:

Mr. Chairman, his Honor the Mayor, Honored Guests and Friends.

Recently I have been assigned to command this division and it is my good fortune to be able to enter a brand new police station and that does not mean that there is going to be a brand new line of police work in the North End. A previous speaker gave the impression, that I am an entire stranger. As far as my police experience has been, it has always been at the other end of the city, Roxbury, for a period of thirty-two years. Recently, through the will of the Police Commissioner, I was sent down here. While I have never been a policeman in the North End, in the days before I was a policeman I was not a stranger. I come from Charlestown and have spent many happy hours in the North End and I might add that when I picked a partner in life, I found her in the North End. We have got along without any trouble and I do not see why I cannot get along with the other people in the North End.

The old station house on Hanover street has made some interesting police history and on examining the police records there probably has been more fortunate or unfortunate men confined inside the place than almost any other. The records show 251,000 arrests; that's some hotel. Some of them paid the next morning, many of them did not. I don't look to see any such record made in the future. Every police officer that served in the North End was reluctant to leave, and always spoke well of it. I do not know why I should be any different. Thank you.

NEW POLICE STATIONS FOUR AND FIVE DEDICATED BY MAYOR CURLEY AND CITY OFFICIALS. CITIZENSHIP OF SOUTH END DISTRICT LAUDED BY MAYOR FOR STERLING QUALITIES.

Boston's new police stations, which combine former Stations 4 and 5, were dedicated on Tuesday, January 24, with prominent police and city officials taking part in the exercises, in which Mayor Curley took the leading part.

Mayor Curley when introduced spoke in part as follows, at the dedication of the new Police Stations 4 and 5 on Berkeley street, over which station Capt. William W. Livingston, will preside:

Mr. Toastmaster, Honored Guests, Ladies and Gentlemen.

We have been privileged to enjoy a rare treat today to get an insight into the character, ideals and aspirations of the men at the head of police affairs in Boston. We perhaps for the first time have learned that that great human dynamo who presides as Superintendent of the Boston Police is one of the most human of individuals that ever presided over any organization anywhere in the history of the world, Michael H. Crowley. We have been privileged to learn today that he is not only imbued with philosophy and logic in his journey through life and has made it his business to impart that to every individual with whom he has come into contact.

I confess that I was most agreeably surprised at the presentation made by the gentleman who is to preside over this latest addition to the defense of life and property in Boston to learn that as captain of this particular division we are to have a poet and one with the soul and inspiration of a real poet. No one could listen to Captain Livingston's story about the South End and not arrive at any other conclusion that while he knocked elbows with his friends on earth his heart and thoughts were in the clouds. It was a revelation to me and I have always been surprised at the number of arrests that take place in the South End stations. After listening to Captain Livingston I can well realize that a man with a few drinks in him would welcome the opportunity to be arrested by Captain Livingston and listen to him quote poetry, but after all the viewpoint of the individual has changed with reference to the Police Department and to the men in the police service.

Twenty-five years ago a police officer was regarded as but an enemy; today he is a friend of children, a friend of the aged, a friend of everybody and perhaps as a consequence of that better understanding that has developed through the years between the public and those who are selected to safeguard life and property, we are living in a happier day than those people who preceded us nearly a quarter of a century or more ago. The only bit of pessimism that comes to my mind at a dedication of this character is as to just when we are going to stop the expenditure of public money for the protection of life and property. With all the progress that humanity has made in nearly twenty centuries, we still find it necessary every year to provide a larger sum of money and a greater force of men in order to instill morality and decency and respect for law and a deeper respect for the rights of one's fellowman.

In 1917 before the adoption of the noble experiment, known as the Eighteenth Amendment, the actual expenditures for the conduct of the Police Department and the courts in the City of Boston was a little over $4,000,000. The number of men employed in every capacity in the Police Department was just slightly in excess of 1,700. We were told that with the adoption of the Eighteenth Amendment that crime would diminish, court cases would be lessened, that there would be more general contentment and happiness and less criminality and less disorder in every section of the country. In 1932, last year, after twelve years of the noble experiment, the Police Department had been increased to over 2,400 men, an addition of more than 700 or nearly 50 per cent greater than in 1917 and the cost of conducting the courts and Police Department in the City of Boston was increased from $4,000,000 a year in 1917 to over $10,000,000 in 1932, an increase of more than 150 per cent in a period of fifteen years, an average increase of 10 per cent each year, under the provisions of the Eighteenth Amendment, and we find it necessary to build larger stations to accommodate the individuals who violate the law with the noble experiment in operation. I sincerely trust that Congress in its wisdom will speedily repeal the Eighteenth Amendment, restore personal liberty and end the impossible attempt at enforcement of a law that is obnoxious to the great majority of the people of the United States, and take from the statute books a law that has contributed more to immorality among the boys and girls of America, that has contributed more to the increase in the costs of operating our jails, courts, hospitals, morgues and our Police Department than any and all laws that have ever been on the statute books of the nation.

This building represents an expenditure including land and building of $350,000, the cost of the building, $250,000, and we find it necessary in order to combat the criminal and underworld element, so called, to construct double garages in connection with the building for the housing of ninety cars and motorcycles. The Police Department is an army today in every city in the union. Never was a more serious situation in the life of America and every intelligent observer in every country of the world outside of America, laughing at our folly and our inability or our cowardice in our failure to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment. If the predictions made by the advocates of the Eighteenth Amendment had been realized the probability is that for the maintenance of courts and Police Department in Boston this year, the expenses would not be in excess of $5,000,000, instead of $10,000,000.

I wonder if you realize what that $10,000,000 means. We have a population of but 780,000 in Boston, men, women and children. It represents a per capita tax of little over $11.50 on each man, woman and child in the city. For a man with a family of five, consisting of his wife, himself and three children it would represent a tax to be paid by him of nearly $60 a year, a direct tax upon him and his family of more than $1 each week, to protect himself and family in the community, from those who insist on violating the laws of the land. It is a serious situation and never was a more serious one. I realize that the crime wave in America in large measure may be traced invariably to business conditions in the country. When we have a period of prosperity, crime recedes and when we have a period of unemployment, the crime wave mounts. We have not only the unemployment period, but we have the attempt to enforce an unenforceable law.

I am pleased that in this particular section that the people are fortunate enough to get a man with the kind heart and the gentle aspirations, that after listening to Captain Livingston, we know animate the man. In this station he will be human, but just. In this station will come not only those who have violated the law, but occasionally some honest citizen seeking advice comes to this man, who will be in command as I am quite certain he will be, and he will go away with a feeling that he has spent a few moments with a friend interested in him and interested in every citizen in the entire City of Boston.

I sincerely trust that the day will speedily come in the life of the nation when it will be unnecessary to make such huge expenditures for the protection of life and of property either in our city or in any American city.

SUPERINTENDENT CROWLEY'S ADDRESS.

In his address Michael H. Crowley, Superintendent of Police, spoke as follows:

First of all, I want to thank his Honor Mayor Curley for inviting me to attend this dedicatory exercise. Secondly, to thank him for building and presenting to the Boston Police Department this wonderful structure. It is very evident to me and to many others that the Mayor has a soft spot in his heart for the police of Boston. He realizes their difficulties, their trials and their tribulations, and he knows that they must have decent and proper domiciles to successfully carry on the duty required of them. This is a well equipped building, having all comforts of home for the officers who are obliged to spend a great part of their lives within its portals. Upon my first visit to this new station I was very much impressed by the difference between the new and the old Station 5. I was particularly interested in the fine bedrooms, the shower baths and the sanitary arrangements in general.

Forty-four years ago last month I began service in old Station 5, on East Dedham street. I remember my first night on duty as if it were yesterday. It was terribly cold, thermometer five below zero, and although the screen law was in existence, every bar-room in Boston violated the law, as the windows were covered with frost so thick that not an object or person could be seen inside.

I had the good fortune to be assigned as a recruit to Patrolman Charles Gillette, who is here today and in fine health, although he is now in his eighty-fourth year. I can honestly say that he started me right and did not ask me to take a drink of liquor, but did invite me to have a lunch and a hot cup of coffee.

It is a strange fact that on the site where this new station stands a Congregational Church existed for many years, later it was turned into a theater (Scenic Temple), and later into a meeting place where many Communists held forth with secret meetings.

The district has changed very much in forty-five years. In the olden days, many men who distinguished themselves as politicians and business men lived within a stone's throw of this spot—Jim Donovan, Dave Barry, Mr. Ratchesky, Isaac Rosnosky, John A. Keliher, Johnny Gartland, and many more too numerous to mention. In those days the old South End was considered a good place to live in.

The territory now covered by Station 5 is filled mostly with lodging houses. Men and women coming and going continually.

I know that the Police Commissioner likes this new station very much, and I am sorry that illness prevents him being here today to express his thoughts.

A most logical lesson was taught to me by a real old Irish gentlemanly policeman with whom I was assigned one of my nights as a recruit. He said, "Do you drink liquor?" I answered, "No, sir." "That's good," he replied. "If you keep away from that you'll last a long time in the department,—but let me tell you something that is more important than drinking liquor. Keep your head cool, your feet warm, your eyes and ears wide open at all times—see and listen to everything you can, but, of all things, keep your mouth shut." I've known a lot of policemen in my day that lost their jobs by saying too much, but I never knew of one losing his job for saying too little. In order to follow his advice and not lose my job I will now stop talking.

CAPTAIN LIVINGSTON'S ADDRESS.

Captain William W. Livingston's address was as follows:

Mr. Chairman, His Honor the Mayor, Superintendent Crowley, Invited Guests, Ladies and Gentlemen.

This magnificent new building where we have gathered today should remain a monument to Mayor Curley and Police Commissioner Hultman in time to come. Within the shadows of this building we have the Franklin Institute, where the young men of this district can receive knowledge and assistance in the advancement in life. Having lived in the South End nearly all my life I am proud to say we have various societies and institutions where the young people can be assisted in the life before them, it being a cosmopolitan section. There is the Lincoln House on Emerald street, in charge of Mr. Kingman; South End House, Union park, in charge of Mr. Stoneman; South Bay House, the same association, the Landladies' Association of the South End, who are the lodging-house keepers, who are always assisting in all things to aid charity and uplifting for the good of the district.

On a street near the Cathedral of the Holy Cross, East Dedham street, is situated at present the old Station 5, where the floors have been replaced often, worn out by the tread of human feet, where the passing of time has left various memories. The residents of this section of the city are of the best. To cite an example: recently there was a fire near Washington street, at East Dedham street. Various families were forced to the streets. Immediately the refugees were taken into the homes of nearby residents, sharing what they had. Some of the finest women and men have been reared in this section of the city. Some of the young men who gathered on street corners when I was a patrolman are now occupying positions in state and city and are also members of the Police and Fire Departments, a credit to the section of the city and their parents.

The conditions of life have changed. Older residents have removed from this section to other parts. I am honored to be selected to command the new Station 4, and 5. While outside on the sidewalk, at the corner stone, the band playing, I observed four little tots from four to apparently six years. They were watching everything going on. Little did they realize that later in life, after this gathering has passed on, that they can remark as they pass this building, "I was there when it was dedicated." To me it reminds me of the prose, "Life is full of memories, the fond ones we cherish, the sad ones we bear, the bad ones we erase, life goes on and faith lives." I thank you.

LAND-TAKING IN CHARLESTOWN.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the taking of land for a public improvement consisting of the discontinuance of Hamblen street, Charlestown district, as a highway, northeasterly from Arlington avenue, for a distance of approximately three hundred and thirty feet, bounded and described as follows:

The highway named Hamblen street is hereby discontinued from Arlington avenue northeasterly for a distance of approximately three hundred and thirty feet, for all purposes except the right to maintain and repair sewerage works where the same now exists.

Said Hamblen street as hereby discontinued is bounded:

Southwesterly by Arlington avenue, thirty and 28-100 feet; northwesterly by the northwesterly line of said Hamblen street as hereby discontinued, three hundred twenty-seven and 52-100 feet; northeasterly by the northeasterly line of said Hamblen street as hereby discontinued, thirty feet, and southeasterly by the southeasterly line of said Hamblen street as hereby discontinued, three hundred thirty-one and 69-100 feet.

Voted, That this Board determines that no person sustains damages in his estate by the making of the public improvement consisting of the discontinuance of Hamblen street, Charlestown district, as a highway, from Arlington avenue northeasterly for a distance of approximately three hundred and thirty feet, under the order of the Board and awards no damages therefor.

EXTENSION OF CONTRACTS.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

The Roxbury Concrete Construction Company, Incorporated, has been granted an extension of the contract for the building of sewerage works in Homewood road and private land, West Roxbury, from December 31, 1932, to January 31, 1933 (31 days).

T. J. O'Connell Company has been granted an extension of the time of completion of the contract for cleaning sewers in Neponset Playground and across Neponset avenue near Blackwell street, Dorchester, from December 31, 1932, to February 28, 1933 (59 days).

Worthington Pump and Machinery Corporation has been granted an extension of the time of completion of the contract for new No. 4 pump for Calf Pasture pumping station from January 26, 1933, to April 1, 1933 (65 days).

MAYOR CURLEY REPLIES TO POLICE DEPARTMENT STATEMENTS RELATIVE TO INFORMATION CONCERNING SPEAKEASIES AND VICE RESORTS. CHARGES AS ABSOLUTELY WITHOUT FOUNDATION THAT INFORMATION ORIGINATED IN HIS OFFICE. POINTS TO FACT HE HAS NO CONNECTION WITH DEPARTMENT SAVE TO PAY BILLS.

The statements emanating from the Police Publicity Bureau which have appeared in the press setting forth that communications received from the office of Mayor Curley and containing information relative to the location of speak-easies or vice resorts had been forwarded to the Police Commissioner in the last seventy-two hours are absolutely without foundation. The story which appeared in the evening papers of Monday, January 23, and in today's papers, Tuesday, January 24, relative to a liquor king's headquarters being maintained within a stone's throw of City Hall, and further that patrons of houses of ill repute were assembled in a building on Province street, is news to me.

It is evident that the Publicity Bureau of the Police Department, anticipating that action may be taken with reference to certain places where the law is flaunted, is seeking to establish an alibi. The only information furnished the police by me was that which was directed to the attention of the commissioner upon the occasion of a visit last week to the office of the Mayor and, apparently, a large portion of the information which I imparted to him, fortunately in the presence of the Corporation Counsel, was in no sense news.

The Police Department is not subject to either control or dictation by the Mayor of Boston, the commissioner receiving his appointment from the Governor of the Commonwealth. Under the statutes, however, it is the duty of the municipality to provide the necessary funds for the conduct of the Police Department and for this purpose the sum of nearly $6,000,000 annually is available. It would appear that this amount is sufficiently large enough to permit of a complete and accurate knowledge of persistent and long-continued violations of law in the city.

It is my duty as Mayor to forward to the head of every department information received by me that, in my opinion, may be helpful to them in the conduct of department activities, and in the case of the Police Department this was done.

It is neither my desire nor purpose to interfere or dictate what shall or shall not be done in the Police Department. The department received ample funds with which to conduct its activities in conformity with law and provide the requisite protection for life and property.

It was the contention of the Police Commissioner at the conference held at the office of the Mayor that there was no law which permitted the police to enter night clubs or private clubs of any character, either for the purpose of prohibiting violation of a narcotic law, the prohibition act, or to prevent the so-called stripping acts or exhibition of nude women. I informed the commissioner that a bill had been drafted and submitted to the Legislature which would give the police that authority, provided the law was approved by the General Court. So far as I am aware this is the first time an attempt has been made to permit of police supervision of these resorts, notwithstanding the fact that they have been operating in the city for a period of years. The apprehension of law violators is the business of the Police Commissioner and the Police Department, not the Mayor.

MAYOR CURLEY PAYS NOTABLE TRIBUTE TO BENJAMIN FRANKLIN AS PUPILS OF THE CHRISTOPHER GIBSON TRADE SCHOOL PLACE WREATH ON MONUMENT TO MEMORY OF EARLY CITIZEN IN FRONT OF CITY HALL.

Upon January 17 Mayor Curley delivered the following address at the Franklin Day exercises in front of City Hall:

As Mayor of Boston it becomes my very great privilege to welcome the representatives of the Christopher Gibson Trade School, which particular school is perpetuating the memory of Franklin in a most practical way—in the teaching of the art of printing. It is fitting and proper that exercises in memory of the services of Benjamin Franklin, one of the greatest of all Americans, should be held at the particular spot where we today are assembled.

School street derives its name from the fact that, at this very spot at which we are assembled, was located originally the Boston Latin School, which was attended by Benjamin Franklin and from which the street derives its name.

As these boys have so well pointed out, no man in the history of our country, with the possible exception of the Father of Our Country, and the Savior of the Union, is accorded a warmer spot in the hearts of the Americans and all lovers of liberty throughout the world than does Benjamin Franklin. He sounded every depth of adversity and poverty and he overcame every character of difficulty that could come to the ordinary man. He was familiar with the face of poverty; he knew the meaning of hardship; he recognized the value of hard work; and he gave to posterity a cause which the people of the world might further and profit by, not only in hours of adversity, but in the hours of prosperity.

I had a visit recently from a distinguished citizen of Japan, the former Mayor of the city of Tokio. I confess that he was by far the most optimistic individual that it has been my privilege to meet in many years. He was visiting America for the purpose of extending to public officials invitations to attend the Olympic Games to be held in Japan in 1942. Of course I accepted the invitation, notwithstanding the fact that I would be sixty-seven and, in all probability, would not be serving as Mayor of Boston.

In the course of our conversation we discussed Benjamin Franklin. He expressed his desire to visit the spots that had been set aside in our city to commemorate the constant services of Benjamin Franklin.

I informed him that we would dedicate a municipal printing plant constructed upon the site of the original little printing shop that was run by Benjamin Franklin in Boston in the early days. It is a most unique venture for an American municipality and it is a monument to the teachings of Franklin. This printing shop, to be dedicated by the city during the early part of next week, represents an investment of $450,000, covering the cost of erecting a splendid type of colossal building and, within the building, the most modern of equipment for printing. The funds with which the building was constructed represents the savings of a period of about fifteen years, resulting from the printing of material of these various departments of the municipality and the county, and is not only a tribute to Franklin, but is likewise a tribute to the ability of the men who have been charged with the responsibility of conducting the Printing Department of the City of Boston.

I was naturally surprised to learn from this distinguished member of Japan that the maxims of Franklin's Almanac were to be found in every public school room in Japan. I can conceive of no better service that could be rendered by the School Department of Boston than to have the pupils of our public schools become familiar with the teachings of Franklin.

In all probability no man in the history of our country was so many-sided as Franklin. This man, born to adversity, this man, whose education represents the hardest possible character of sacrifice on the part of the individual,—for he had been obliged to leave school in order to earn his livelihood, and aid in the support of his family,—this man was chosen leader for the journey across the ocean to represent our Council in Washington and to plead with France for that aid and cooperation without which, in all probability, American independence might have been long delayed or possibly never achieved.

We have a more profound appreciation of Franklin with the passing of the years when we realize his contribution of statesmanship, perhaps more particularly in compelling the Continental Congress to approve of the draft of the Declaration when, if the advice of those who had been just a little bit timid had been taken, in all probability, war would have never been declared. We might still be a dependent of Great Britain.

We have an equally high appreciation with the passing of time and the development of electricity made possible by this great American, the pioneer in the development of electrical energy and electrical science. We sit at home at day or at night time, we tune in on a radio and, lo and behold, out of the air comes wonderful music, the brilliant addresses of great men, that which amuses, that which entertains, that which instructs in every field. How seldom we appreciate that, if it were not for Franklin, in all probability this might not have been realized in our day, and might have been left as a blessing to posterity. At home we enjoy the benefits of his electrical energy in the form of light, in the form of heat, in horse power, to do the work, the drudgery formerly performed by hand by the individual.

Our appreciation for this great man grows. In the early days when knowledge as to how fire might be utilized to heat a home without injury to the home, and without discomfort to those assembled there, was limited, our appreciation is enhanced by the knowledge that it was Benjamin Franklin who first invented a workable wood stove.

We hail him as statesman; we hail him as leader; we hail him as philosopher; and, above all else, we hail him as one of the most inspiring men who have lived in America. To our American history his name is an inspiring example which will continue until the end of time, an inspiring source of suitable knowledge and beneficiary to all the people of America and all the people of the world.

has submitted the following finding and recommendation:

The Board having heard and carefully considered all the evidence as presented by witnesses, finds the said Patrolman Francis W. Sullivan guilty of both charges and specifications thereunder.

The Trial Board is required by the rules of the department to recommend the dismissal of Patrolman Francis W. Sullivan from the Police Department because of the fact that he has been found guilty of untruthfulness. However, in view of the fact that there were extenuating circumstances attached to this case we believe the punishment too severe, and respectfully recommend that the commissioner use his discretionary power, waive the said rule, and that Patrolman Francis W. Sullivan be ordered to perform 210 hours of punishment duty.

The Police Commissioner accepts the finding and recommendation of the Trial Board and hereby orders that the said Patrolman Francis W. Sullivan perform 210 hours of punishment duty.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

EUGENE C. HULTMAN,
Commissioner.

DEAR SIR,—For the reasons as below explained, will you kindly approve and forward to the Mayor the following request for transfer within the appropriations of the Medical Examiner, Southern Division:

From the appropriation for B-14, Motor Vehicle Repairs and Care, $45.91; D-11, Motor Vehicle, $2.18, to the appropriation for D-5, Medical, Surgical and Laboratory Supplies, $45.91; D-1, Office, $2.18.

It was necessary to purchase laboratory supplies which are represented by these bills.

Respectfully,

TIMOTHY LEARY,
Medical Examiner, Southern Division.

The above transfers were made by the City Auditor with the approval of the Mayor December 31, 1932.

CHARITY WRESTLING MATCH FOR MAYOR CURLEY'S UN-EMPLOYMENT FUND.

The following statement was received by his Honor the Mayor from Steve McPherson, in connection with the charity wrestling program held by him at the Boston Arena on Wednesday, January 18, entitled, "We Are All Human," by C. L. M.:

Next Wednesday night our weekly wrestling program, featuring a triple main event, will be conducted for Mayor James M. Curley's Unemployment Fund.

A year ago last summer as I was driving east from California, across the Mohave Desert, I met a man, a woman and a beautiful little girl baby, trekking their way across the blistering sands that border on Death Valley. I picked them up, carried them 100 miles into Northern Arizona where the father obtained work in a mine. But when I criticized him for exposing his wife and baby to the terrific heat, he said he would as soon they died from thirst on the desert than from starvation in Los Angeles.

The other day I was in New York. I saw in that line of starving faces at Times square, shivering in the cold, two tiny tots clinging to the hand of their mother, waiting for sandwiches and coffee, when they needed milk.

I marvel that it's not like that in Boston, and to this great man to whose unselfishness and resourcefulness the fact that Boston has no babies starving is due, I give the credit. Moreover, when a stranger in this city, I received my first real Western handshake from Mayor Curley.

I appreciate my success here and the kindness with which the fans are receiving my programs. I am glad to become a citizen of a city, where, in the midst of a national crisis, people are not starving. What little I can do to help in the great work of civic welfare which today constitutes Mayor Curley's greatest problem, I am glad to do.

My losses were tremendous when I started here, in fact I'm not quite even yet, but one week's delay will not bother my creditors when they know the money they would have received is going to such a worthy cause.

LAND-TAKING IN WEST ROXBURY.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the taking of land for a public improvement, consisting of the laying out and construction of Huntington avenue, West Roxbury district, as a highway, from Navarre street to Ramsdell avenue, with the name of Clare street or some other distinctive name, bounded and described as follows:

A highway named Clare avenue is hereby laid out, from Navarre street to Ramsdell avenue and ordered constructed.

Said highway and the land, exclusive of trees or structures standing upon or affixed thereto, in which an easement for street purposes is hereby taken, is bounded and described as follows:

Northeasterly by Navarre street, sixty-nine and 22-100 feet; easterly by the easterly line of said Clare avenue as hereby laid out, six hundred thirty-nine and 51-100 feet; southwesterly by Ramsdell avenue, one hundred eleven and 19-100 feet; northwesterly by the northwesterly line of said Clare avenue as hereby laid out, eighty-nine and 43-100 feet on a curve of forty-five and 65-100 feet radius; and westerly by the westerly line of said Clare avenue as hereby laid out, six hundred eleven and 62-100 feet.

Trees or structures standing upon or affixed to the above described land shall be removed therefrom within sixty days following a notice of the city's intention to enter upon said land for the purpose of constructing said improvement.

Betterments are to be assessed for the making of the aforesaid improvement.

Ordered, That this Board estimates that the abutting lots of land on both sides of said Clare avenue, from Navarre street to Ramsdell avenue, will receive benefit or advantage, beyond the general advantage to all real estate in said city, from the improvement herein ordered; each of said lots to the amount hereinafter respectively set against it; said lots and the supposed owners thereof being shown on a plan marked "City of Boston, Clare avenue, West Roxbury, Assessment Plan, July 28, 1932, William J. Sullivan, Chief Engineer, Street Laying-Out Department," and on file in the office of said department.

THE CINCINNATI RETIREMENT SYSTEM.

Cincinnati, after several years of careful study, has adopted a retirement system providing retirement allowances and death benefits for all municipal employees, excepting elected officials, members of independent boards and commissions, the employees of the University of Cincinnati, the employees of the municipal court and department heads. The city council, especially the finance committee, carefully studied systems in other cities before finally establishing the Cincinnati system.

Membership was optional to all general employees employed on August 1, 1931. Those of this group who joined the system at any time up to December 3 were given credit for prior service. The city will contribute an amount equal to the accrued liability resulting from such service. The personnel of the police and fire forces employed at the time the new system was established will continue under their separate pension plans. However, after January 1, 1932, all new entrants to the city service, including the uniformed services, will be required to subscribe to the new system.

UNITED STATES TO HAVE TENTH MUNICIPAL UNIVERSITY.

The tenth municipal university in the United States is being planned by Omaha, Neb., whose citizens have approved plans for the establishment of a four-year university, to be supported by a mill tax. The following are the nine municipal universities or colleges known to exist at the present time in the United States, in order of their establishment on the municipal basis: College of Charleston (South Carolina), 1837; University of Louisville (Kentucky), 1837; College of the City of New York, 1847; Hunter College of the City of New York, 1870; University of the City of Cincinnati (Ohio), 1871; University of Toledo (Ohio), 1884; University of Akron (Ohio), 1913; University of the City of Detroit (Michigan), 1923; Municipal University of Wichita (Kansas), 1926.

CHICAGO POLICE REORGANIZED.

Many improvements have recently taken place in the organization and administration of the Police Department of Chicago, Ill.

Although the numerical strength of the force has been reduced in the last two years approximately from 6,700 to 6,000, the number of men on foot patrol has been increased 150 per cent, being now about 1,900. The efficiency of the department has been further increased by adding to the number of patrol cars and by placing in operation an extensive police radio system. There are now some 100 small patrol cars and fifty large high-powered ones equipped with radio. Furthermore, 20 per cent of the present force constitutes new blood in the department. The average age has been lowered, and a greater proportion of young men will be encouraged by the reduction of the admission age to a range of twenty-one to twenty-nine years, from the former limits of twenty-three to thirty-five, approximately. Civil service methods in disciplining new policemen are better, and a more thorough check-up on the character of those examined is made.

STATE-WIDE CAMPAIGN AGAINST DIPHTHERIA BRINGS NOTABLE RESULTS.

A decrease in cases and deaths has been very marked during the five-year campaign in New York State for the extirpation of diphtheria. The campaign was the joint effort of the State Departments of Health and Education, the State Medical Society, the Welfare Division of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, and the State Committee on Tuberculosis and Public Health of the State Charities Aid Association, all banded together. They were aided by the parent-teacher associations, women's clubs, civic clubs and other social and welfare organizations.

Although the goal was not completely reached, the results are very encouraging and prove beyond a doubt that diphtheria can be controlled.

It has been estimated that at least 35 per cent of the children under five years old must be protected against diphtheria before a community is safe from an epidemic of the disease. No city over 100,000 has yet reached that percentage, although Utica with 30 per cent approaches that figure. While it is more difficult for a big city to attain a large percentage of immunizations, with a proper organization and sufficient determination this can be done.

Cities that have attained the 35 per cent standard are:

50,000 to 100,000 population: Binghamp-ton and Niagara Falls, 38; New Rochelle, 35.

25,000 to 50,000: White Plains, 49; Kingston, 36; Poughkeepsie and Auburn, 35.

10,000 to 25,000: Middletown, 73; Ogdensburg, 65; Hornell and Port Jervis, 56; Endicott, 54; Johnson City, 53; Geneva, 49; Rockville Center, 45; Massena, 44; Ossining, 41; Mamaroneck, 40; Gloversville, 39; Glen Cove, 38; Peekskill, 37.

COAL RESERVES OF THE WORLD.

Five-sevenths of the estimated coal reserves of the world are in North America, followed by those of Asia, which comprises the largest anthracite areas, chiefly in China. About 53 per cent of these reserves consist of bituminous coal, 41 per cent of sub-bituminous, and 6 per cent of anthracite. More than half of the world's reserves of bituminous coal are in the United States. Through the scientific research of fuel engineers and chemists the uses of coal have increased rapidly and grades which were formerly considered of little value are now having wide usage.—The Coal Industry of the World (Trade Promotion Series No. 105).

BOSTON INCORPORATED AS A CITY, 1822.

The act of incorporation was passed by the Legislature on February 23, 1822. On March 4 following, the voters of Boston accepted said act, chapter 110. 1821-22, as its first city charter by a majority of 916 in a total vote of 4,678. The vote was 2,797 yeas, 1,881 nays. Previous attempts to incorporate as a city had been made in 1650, 1659, 1667, 1708, 1744, 1762, 1784, 1791, 1804 and 1815. The charter was revised in 1854, 1885 and 1909. Amendments to the 1909 charter were enacted in 1910, 1912, 1914, 1918, 1919, 1921, 1922 and lastly in 1924 (see "Municipal Register" for 1928, pages 19-43).

MASSACHUSETTS BAY COLONY.

The first chartered colony in New England, charter granted by Charles I on March 4, 1629. About a year before, a patent had been granted to six prominent men of Dorchester, west of England, among whom was Capt. John Endicott. He sailed in June, 1628, with a party of fifty or sixty persons, arriving in September and settling at Naumkeag, afterward named Salem. In the spring of 1629, the Bay Company fitted out three ships conveying about four hundred persons and arriving at Salem in June. Endicott sent a small party to effect a settlement on the Bay in Mishawum, afterward named by the settlers Charlestown, the first town in New England to assume the town polity, Plymouth and Salem being governed by a governor and council. Endicott was appointed in London as the first resident governor on April 30, 1629. The Massachusetts Bay Company was reorganized in London on October 20, 1629, when John Winthrop was chosen as governor. He arrived at Salem on June 12, 1630, soon proceeded to Charlestown with a large following and finding that place unsuitable, finally settled in Boston. Winthrop served thirteen years as governor in four different periods ending in 1649 and Endicott fifteen years at various times ending in 1665. Other governors were Thomas Dudley, Richard Bellingham, John Haynes, Henry Vane, John Leverett and Simon Bradstreet, the latter serving twelve years until 1692 when the Bay Colony and the Plymouth Colony were merged, becoming the Royal Province of Massachusetts Bay, which existed eighty-two years to 1774, the governors being appointed by the King.

The name, Massachusetts, is Indian and signifies "near the big hills."

METHODS OF ELIMINATING GRADE-CROSSING ACCIDENTS.

Five suggestions aimed at the elimination of grade-crossing accidents are offered in the monthly report of the Street Traffic Committee of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

It is estimated that curing the grade-crossing evil would reduce traffic accidents by 10 per cent in a very short time, and the Committee presents the following five points for discussion:

1. Do away with those grade crossings which have the heaviest traffic.
2. Place warning signs not less than 500 feet back from the railroad tracks.
3. Take down all signs from obsolete trackage.
4. Use traffic-light signals (operated by trains) instead of signs, if there are fewer than five trains per day.
5. Consider scrapping all railroad signs in favor of signals for use only when train is approaching.

"The last two points—merit consideration first, because, though they are new doctrines, they seem the least expensive and most practical of application."

GREAT LACK OF RURAL HEALTH SERVICE FACILITIES OFFICIALLY INDICATED.

Only 25 per cent of the rural population of the United States is at present provided with adequate and properly organized local health service, reports Surgeon General H. S. Cumming in his annual resume of the work of the United States Public Health Service during the past fiscal year, which has just been submitted to Congress.

PROCEEDINGS OF CITY COUNCIL.

Thursday, January 19, 1933.

Adjourned meeting of City Council at 2 p. m.
Chairman COX presiding. Absent, Coun.
Gleason.

ATTEMPT TO ELECT PRESIDENT.

Coun. KELLY—Mr. Chairman, I move you, sir, that we now proceed to take a ballot in an attempt to elect a president of this Council for the year 1933.

Coun. LYNCH—Mr. Chairman, in view of the fact that one of our sick members is a little late in arriving, and is on his way to the Council Chamber, I move you, sir, that we take a recess until the gentleman arrives.

Coun. KELLY—Mr. Chairman, I stood on the floor of this Council last week and heard certain members of the City Council say that the thing to do was to get right down to business. I also think the thing to do here is to get down to business in this City Council, and therefore I hope that the members will proceed, under my motion, to go forward in an attempt to elect a president of the body.

Coun. RUBY—Mr. Chairman, I hope that the members of this body will not lose their heads. To me, the election of a president of the body is only incidental in the conduct of the business for which we have all been elected. I was last Monday in the same situation as our absent member, lying in a sick bed, and if today any colleague of ours is on his way from the hospital, a sick man, every member of the body owes it to such a member to see that he gets a square deal and an opportunity to express his choice for president of the body. If the member is on his way to the Council Chamber, I am heartily in favor of postponing our ballot for a short time, in order that he may exercise the same prerogative as the rest of us.

Coun. BURKE—Mr. Chairman, I wish to voice the same sentiments as the councilor from Ward 14. It is not a question of delaying action until some other day, but simply courteously withholding our balloting, under the circumstances, until one of our members, who is on his way from the City Hospital, arrives. I don't see why we cannot wait and give that gentleman the opportunity to record his choice in the matter of the president of the body for the year 1933. I would ask the gentleman if our fellow member is on his way from the hospital at the present time?

Coun. LYNCH—Mr. Chairman, I distinctly stated, in making the motion, that our colleague is on his way from the hospital, and therefore I thought we should await his arrival. If any member doubts my statement, the fact can be easily verified by telephoning the City Hospital.

Coun. GREEN—Mr. Chairman, I agree with both Councilor Ruby and Councilor Burke. I think we should be fair in the matter this afternoon. The councilor from South Boston (Coun. Lynch) made the same request that I made a week ago. I am going to move, Mr. Chairman, a recess subject to the call of the Chair. I might supplement that with this statement, that I feel that we should recess until Councilor Gleason arrives, if he is on his way.

Coun. KELLY—Mr. Chairman, I will withdraw, if the councilor is on his way from the City Hospital. I was informed that he would not be here today. But, in view of the fact that we are assured by our worthy colleague from South Boston that he is on his way from the City Hospital, I gladly withdraw opposition.

Chairman COX—That we take a recess subject to the call of the Chair,—is that the motion?

Coun. LYNCH—Or until the gentleman who is ill arrives, Mr. Chairman. I don't suppose we will have to wait over thirty minutes at the most.

Coun. RUBY—Mr. Chairman, I would ask if we have any other business that we might transact, simply postponing the taking of a ballot until we have done the other business that may possibly be confronting the members of the body?

Chairman COX—The Chair would state that there is some other business with which the Council can proceed while waiting for the councilor to arrive.

Coun. RUBY—Mr. Chairman, I ask unanimous consent to make a statement.

Chairman COX—The Chair hearing no objection, Councilor Ruby may proceed.

Coun. RUBY—Mr. Chairman, last Monday I was unable to be present at the regular meeting of this body. If my memory serves me right, there are less than five times that I have absented myself from meetings of the Boston City Council in seven years. I think my record for attendance, not only at regular meetings but at meetings of committees, is excelled by no member of the body or of any previous Council since the inception of the present body in 1926. I was a candidate for president and, because of my unavoidable absence at your last meeting, I made the simple request through a message to this body that the election be postponed. It seems rather strange that one or two members of this body should have become unnecessarily disturbed because of that fact—one, if my information is correct, feeling that serious business of the Boston City Council was being delayed and ought not to be delayed because of the personal aspirations of an individual member.

Let me remind that councilor—whom I am sorry has left this chamber—that he had last year the same aspirations that I had this year, and that he was fortunate enough to secure election as president of the body last year, and that he had the same aspirations two years previous. So it seems rather strange and unusual that he should have felt that I had no right to my personal aspirations, though he has had the same aspirations previously. Also, the councilor from Ward 18 (Coun. Norton)—and I am sorry that he is not here—was rather disturbed because a delay of one week in the election of president might delay the business of the city. I understand that he had to be reminded himself that there were no scrubwomen members of the Boston City Council, and let me remind him that if he had paid attention to his duties as a member of the Boston City Council, as some of us try to do, he might be better informed as to what progress is being made in the business of the body. Let me remind him that there is nothing pending in this body today that requires the appointment of even one committee, outside of the fact that we have sent to the Committee on Public Lands the question of a transfer from the Boston City Hospital of building and land on Dorchester avenue to be taken over by the Park Department; and, of course, that business might well have been prejudiced by Councilor Ruby's request of last Monday that the election of a president of the City Council be postponed until the following meeting. But, Mr. Chairman, I have not risen for that purpose alone. I have risen once and for all to satisfy my mind by ascertaining whether any one of the twenty-two members of this body elected from their respective districts must of necessity be discriminated against because of race or creed. No other member of this body who has been a member of it as long as I have, and who has aspired for the presidency, has not received it. I came into this body in 1926, being elected in 1925, at the time of the change in the charter, when the citizens of Boston decided that each ward of the city was entitled to individual representation; and I suppose that my ward must pay the penalty when certain bigots in this body say that, regardless of the capability, regardless of the honesty and regardless of the integrity of the councilor from Ward 14, he dare not aspire to the presidency because he is a Jew. Mr. Chairman, I am a Jew and am proud of that fact, and if I could by changing that fact become the President of the City Council or the chief executive of the City of Boston, if I could thereby receive any honor that might be tendered me by the citizens of Boston, let alone my twenty-one colleagues, I would not do so. I am, Mr. Chairman, as I say, a Jew, and I am proud of that fact. And who will dare to assume, Mr. Chairman, that one who has tried to be on the level with his fellow members has not the right to aspire to the signal honor of presidency of this body, an aspiration of which no member need be ashamed? I am proud to say that I was able to gather a group of colleagues in conference, men who were willing to sit down and attempt fairly and squarely to decide upon the man best entitled to the office of president for 1933. Of course, I had aspirations. If I did not have aspirations, I would not be here, and if I did not possess the ability and, in my humble opinion, at least, the capability of holding down that office, I would never have aspired to be even a member of this body. No member from that district has ever been honored with a re-election to public office for four consecutive terms, as I have been. When the Catholic Archdiocese of Boston asked me to save for them $250,000 worth of property—not synagogue property, if you please, gentlemen—Ruby did not stop to think that, because he was a Jew, he did not owe it to his non-Jewish constituency to battle shoulder to shoulder with the best group of men it has ever been my pleasure to battle with. And I had the nerve, courage and audacity to come into this very body in 1928 and ask for the removal of an entire department of the City of Boston because I felt that they had done something against the non-Jewish residents of my district. I was the same Jew then that I am today,—proud of it then, prouder of it now if that is possible. In the Council of 1928 or 1929, Councilor Ruby, representing the 80 per cent Jewish ward in Boston, was proud to help signally honor the memory of a man whom I had cherished and who was my everlasting friend. I don't want to mention his name in vain today, because he has gone to his just reward. It was the Jewish councilor in the Boston City Council who for the first time in the city's history had a street named in honor of a person whom I still hold in fond memory, and who was not a Jew.

Chairman COX—Will the Council allow me to call Councilor Kelly to the chair?
(Coun. Kelly took the chair.)

Coun. RUBY—Through all the years of my activity as a public official I have tried to be tolerant because, after all, is it not the friends we make and the kindly deeds we do that we hope to be judged by? For that reason, Mr. Chairman, I had hoped that those who have followed the fortunes of the Hon. Alfred E. Smith, whom we call the greatest leader that democracy has ever had, would try to emulate his example. When confronted with exactly the same situation that I was confronted with, Mr. Smith said, "No; loyalty, honor and devotion to an individual should be higher and greater than personal ambition," and he refused to support for the governorship of New York some one other than the present incumbent. And when the President-Elect of this country, the Hon. Franklin D. Roosevelt, was told that it would mean his defeat if he sponsored the cause of the man who is at present Governor of New York, only a few short weeks ago, he said, "If you do not nominate him I will tour the state for him." There was tolerance. There were two men who put aside their own personal ambitions because of loyalty to a friend, and they elected thereby the man who is now the Governor of New York State—whose election no people of this country, let alone the Jewish people, will have any cause to regret. No people more greatly appreciate or cherish the few honors that come to them than the people of my faith. We safeguard them, we treat them with holy respect, that there may not be a blemish either on ourselves or on the race of people from whom we sprang. Boston should be no different; Boston should be just as tolerant as New York. You asked Boston in 1928 to be tolerant with your candidate for president, and we were, and I am proud to be able to make the statement on the floor of this body that the two so-called Jewish wards in Boston gave to the Hon. Alfred E. Smith an overwhelming majority at that time, as my own ward in this last election, in November, gave to the Hon. Franklin D. Roosevelt over 11,000 votes out of 13,000 cast, within 100 votes of the number received by the Governor of this Commonwealth. I do not know, Mr. President, why I cannot be seriously considered as a candidate for the presidency of the body unless there is something in my make-up that has not appealed to the members. If that were so, of course I would have nothing to say, because if there were something in the make-up of the next fellow which went against me I would have a right to the same feeling towards him. But when you are told, "You have been a good fellow in the Council, you are a likeable chap, and everyone who meets you considers you a gentleman," what are you to think? If they expected that the gentleman from Ward 14 was going to change his religion in order to become president of this body, I think they are satisfied that they have missed their guess. I do not judge a man by the fact that he may be Catholic, Protestant, Jewish, colored, Irish, Italian, or of any other extraction, and I think my record here emphasizes that fact. When the councilor from Ward 19 (Coun. Murray) and the former councilor from Ward 18 came to me several years ago and asked me how I felt in regard to changing the name of Oakland and Ashland streets, in honor of one of their holy fathers, I said, "Of course, I will go through." I believe in honoring the living as well as remembering the dead, and I told them that I would help them. I don't want to take away any of the credit from Councilor Murray, because that is not my purpose here. But when the name "Cummins Highway" went through I was as much pleased as they were, and I will remember standing on that platform on the corner outside the church in honor of Father Cummins. When that old man left his home, or parish house as you call it, and walked on the platform, there was the melting pot of all creeds honoring a man whom we respected. He was a man who had earned the right to our respect. And then this year, after waiting for seven years, and after everybody else who had served during my time and who wished the presidency had had it, I thought my ambition might be realized. There was my good friend Green, to whom I will always be indebted for his wonderful attitude towards me, and whose friendship I shall always cherish, because when I needed him he was right there. He had been elected president. My good friend Major Lynch had been elected president; the councilor from Ward 22 (Coun. Gallagher) had been elected president. In 1926 I gave my word that I would vote for Charles G. Keene for president and, in spite of the fact that a boom was started for me then, I stood by my word and voted for Councilor Keene. Like my loyal friend and former member of the Council, Herman L. Bush of Ward 12, and I am glad that he is here today, I kept my word. When he was asked to vote for Ruby, to swing over to Ruby, his only answer was that "We"—he and myself—"have given our word, and we don't break our word." And the councilor was then elected president. And then our former colleague—a wonderful chap as ever sat in this body, the late Mr. Heffernan—was elected president, and then Timmie Donovan from East Boston and others were successively elected, and I voted for them. And subsequently, as some of you may remember, I gave my word to John I. Fitzgerald that I would not leave him, and my head is still on my shoulders swinging high. I did not leave him. And the following year I said to Major Lynch, "Of course, I will vote for you,—I think you are as decent and as honorable a man as there is in the body," and that goes this very minute. For that reason I voted for Councilor Lynch of South Boston as president of the body. Now, I don't know what I have done in the last seven years that may have affected the minds of some of the men here against me. This is a matter of principle with me, Mr. President. I may feel better when I have got this off my chest, if it only cements legitimate friendships. I don't want the friendship of any man in this body unless he can come over to me, as I can go to him, shake hands and be sincere about it. I would rather fight an open enemy than an enemy who is wearing a mask, because you don't know how to fight that kind of enemy. I had hoped that I had earned the right to preside over this body. I think nobody can blame me for having this humble opinion of myself. I might not have done the job better than any of my predecessors, but I am of the firm conviction that I could have done as well, and for that reason I became a candidate. So far as my capabilities are concerned, for the information of those skeptical councilors who could not vote for Ruby because he was a Jew, let them consult the records of the City Council, for instance, the year when Timmie Donovan was its president, and you will find there that on many occasions Councilor Ruby was called to preside and presided, I think, with no unfairness to the body. I am glad at least that I live in a district where there are five thousand or more non-Jewish voters, and I hold my head high when I say that I have received the bulk of their votes every time I have aspired to re-election. At least I live in a district where my non-Jewish neighbors are tolerant with me because of the service I am rendering. I had hoped that after seven years of our living together here the best of feeling might prevail between us. After all, outside of our own immediate families, our wives and our children, with whom we have been more confidential than with ourselves? I know your secrets and you know mine; you have never been afraid to tell me your secrets and I have never been afraid to tell you mine. Why should it be necessary for these high political figures outside of the Council to dominate men in this body, dominating men whose friendship I have enjoyed? I say this to you, that every utterance I make I will prove, if necessary. Outside influence has been exerted on some members of the body over whom they have control. Unfortunately, not all the members of the City Council have been elected, as I have, with no boss outside of my good, loyal wife, who is here today, although she knows I am not going to win. Certain men have been instructed that Councilor Ruby must not win, because we live in a Catholic city and Ruby cannot be President of the City Council in a Catholic city. This is not a Catholic city, my friends. This is a city of 900,000 men, women and children, where we are working one for all and all for one; and it should never be said in the future that a man did not have the right to aspire to the presidency of the body because he was not of your extraction and of your religious belief. I hope that I have had the friendship of the attaches of this body; I sincerely hope that I have never offended the press, who have so impartially recorded the doings of the body. I hope that I shall merit your friendship in the future, even though not as president. I pledge this, that so long as I may be a member of the body my conscience will never allow me to vote other than for the best interests of the city and of everyone concerned, and when I vote for presidents of this body I will take into consideration first the ability of the man and the question of whether the city will suffer detriment by his election, and will he be fair? If those three questions can be answered in the affirmative, the man may be a Chinaman and I will still vote for him. I thank you sincerely, Mr. Chairman, for having extended to me the courtesy of allowing me to make these lengthy remarks.

Coun. BURKE—Mr. Chairman.

Chairman KELLY—For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Coun. BURKE—I ask unanimous consent to make a statement, Mr. Chairman.

Chairman KELLY—If there is no objection, the councilor may proceed.

Coun. BURKE—Mr. Chairman, as you are aware and as all here are aware, I am one of the new councilors in the Council Chamber of the City of Boston, and I come from a ward where, thank God, we have no bigotry. No representative is sent from that ward who would not be willing to vote for any man for president regardless of color, race or creed. Let me say that there is not one man in my ward who has attempted to approach me or to get my vote for any member of this Council, and if he had done so I would have told him that that was my business, my prerogative, and that I would vote according to the dictates of my conscience. If Ollie Ruby should be elected president of the Council, he would find no man collaborating with him more faithfully in this entire body. I, too, want to see a man picked who is capable in every respect to be president of the Council, a man who is fair, just, educated, who knows the intricacies of the government of the city; and I say here—and I will call upon any of the members of this Council to substantiate my statement—that municipal government represents some of the most intricate government problems in the world. I don't believe there is any one man who has at his fingertips the information necessary to run a municipality. I do not believe there is a man in the City of Boston—and this does not exclude our Chief Executive—who would not have his serious troubles in bringing about certain desirable results in the City of Boston. I want to state to my colleagues for purposes of the record and the press that there is not one spark of bigotry in my soul, that Ollie Ruby, although a Jew, is a good friend of mine, and has been ever since I have been in the Council. At all times he has been a great friend of mine and has assisted me in every way possible. I admire his character; I admire the fact that he stands on principle, and that alone. I want to tell him that there is not one councilor in the chamber, I believe, who would refuse to vote for him because he is of the Jewish faith. I number among my friends many Jewish people. I consider them among my best friends, and I can at all times call upon them with the same confidence and the same success that I would call upon those of other faiths. But it is about time that we in Boston stood on our feet and exercised the duties and powers given to us by the people of our districts and the people of Boston. I say that no man, I don't care who he is, has a right to call me on the 'phone and ask me to vote for any individual for president. I say that no man has a right to attempt to exert pressure and take away the soul of a man to the extent of trying to get him to vote for somebody for whom he does not desire to vote. You can call it persuasion or anything you wish, but nobody has a right to try to induce us to vote against our conscience and best judgment. The man who comes to you and tries to persuade or compel you to do a thing you don't want to do while in public office is not your friend, but your enemy, and immediately upon conversation with a man of that sort it is the duty of every man here to remember the time when he stood up in this Council and raised his hand to Almighty God in a pledge to carry out the dictates of his conscience and to do his duty towards his city, having in mind the welfare of all its inhabitants. It is our duty, Mr. Chairman, to remember our obligations to the people of the city, people who are out of employment and who are bearing burdens that they cannot afford to bear. They need help, and it is our duty, so far as possible, to help them. It is our duty above all to concentrate our attention on the affairs of the city, to see that they are carried on honestly and ably, with due regard to the interests of all. And the citizens of Boston will take away the power from men who have broken faith, placing in power honest, sincere, courageous men, who will carry out their oaths of office.

LAND FOR TRAFFIC CIRCLE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 16, 1933.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—In the laying out of the traffic circle at Charles and Nashua streets the Park Department of the City of Boston acquired, through the Metropolitan District Commission, for the term of ninety-nine years, a parcel of land containing 17,815 square feet.

The Park Department, in connection with the development of a park at this point required an additional 32,260 square feet of land and flats adjacent to the original parcel acquired by the city through the Park Department.

The Metropolitan District Commission, I am informed, are agreeable to licensing this land to the City of Boston for an interminable period and permit its use for park purposes, provided the city will agree to abandon such riparian rights as they may enjoy in the original parcel conveyed by the Metropolitan District Commission to the Park Department.

In view of the facts as here presented and set forth in the accompanying communication I respectfully recommend, as requested by the Park Department of the City of Boston, the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Law Department, January 16, 1933.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir,—Inclosed please find order authorizing the grant of certain rights to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, on condition that the said Commonwealth of Massachusetts grants to the City of Boston the right to fill certain land and flats set forth and described in said order.

By a deed recorded with Suffolk Deeds, Book 5191, page 632, the Commonwealth of Massachusetts conveyed to the City of Boston two parcels of land situate on Nashua street and recorded with Suffolk Deeds, Book 5191, page 632. The Board of Street Commissioners of the City of Boston, in laying out the traffic circle which is situated on Charles and Nashua streets, used in the said lay-out a portion of the said two parcels of land prior to their conveyance to the said City of Boston. It was, therefore, necessary for the Park Department of the City of Boston to later acquire other land. They did acquire a parcel of land on Nashua street by an indenture between the City of Boston and the Metropolitan District Commission for the term of ninety-nine years. This later acquisition, however, together with whatever remained of the two parcels of land first mentioned, was not sufficient for the purposes of the Park Department, so the Park Department desires to fill over a parcel of land adjacent to these parcels and belonging to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. I am informed that the Commonwealth of Massachusetts is willing to grant a license for the City of Boston to fill upon the additional land which they desire on condition that the City of Boston releases to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, all rights which it may have acquired by the first deed above mentioned over the land and flats adjacent to the parcel of land granted to the City of Boston for the term of ninety-nine years by the indenture between the Metropolitan District Commission and the Park Department of the City of Boston above mentioned.

I am informed that the Park Department no longer needs the said rights, if any, which were conveyed to the Commonwealth by the said deed.

If this matter meets with your Honor's approval, will you have the same introduced into the City Council.

Yours very truly,
SAMUEL SILVERMAN,
Corporation Counsel.

Whereas, The Commonwealth of Massachusetts, under the authority of section 2, chapter 371, Acts of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts for the year 1929, conveyed to the City of Boston two certain parcels of land, one of said parcels situate on the northerly side of Nashua street in said Boston and the other parcel situate on the southerly side of Nashua street; and

Whereas, By an indenture dated December 11, 1930, entered into by the Metropolitan District Commission of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and the City of Boston, there was granted to the City of Boston for park purposes, for the term of ninety-nine years, a certain parcel of land and flats containing 17,815 square feet, more or less, adjacent to the parcel of land above mentioned as situated on the northerly side of said Nashua street; and

Whereas, The City of Boston is desirous of using and occupying additional land, containing approximately 32,260 square feet of land and flats adjacent to the parcel of land above mentioned as containing 17,815 square feet, for park purposes and also desires the right to slope the filling upon the land and flats of the Commonwealth adjacent to and east of the last mentioned parcel of land and flats; and

Whereas, The City of Boston, by virtue of owning the upland and the fee of said Nashua street, may have certain rights as a riparian owner over the flats owned by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts adjacent to and to the east of the parcel of land containing 32,260 square feet of land above mentioned; now, therefore, it is hereby Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be, and he hereby is, authorized, in consideration of one dollar paid by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, to grant to the said Commonwealth of Massachusetts by an instrument in writing, satisfactory to the Law Department of the City of Boston, all rights, if any, which the City of Boston acquired by a conveyance to it of two parcels of land situate on Nashua street in Boston described in a deed from said Commonwealth to the City of Boston, recorded with Suffolk Deeds, Book 5191, page 632, over the land and flats adjacent to and to the east of the parcel of land and flats containing 32,260 square feet as above set forth; and as a further consideration on condition that the said Commonwealth of Massachusetts grants to the City of Boston and its assigns a license to fill the said parcel of land above mentioned as containing 17,815 square feet of land to slope the said filling upon the land of the said Commonwealth adjacent to and easterly of the said parcel of land last mentioned above as containing 17,815 square feet of land, and also to fill the parcel of land granted to the City of Boston by the indenture between the Metropolitan District Commission of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and the Park Department of the City of Boston as above mentioned.

FINANCE COMMISSION REPORT ON GARBAGE CONTRACT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Finance Commission, January 16, 1933.

To the Honorable the City Council.

Gentlemen,—On December 19 your honorable body adopted an order requesting the chairman of the Finance Commission to investigate and report upon "the mysterious and suspicious circumstances surrounding the awarding of a contract for the collection of ashes and garbage in the Dorchester district to Coleman Brothers, Inc., for the year 1933."

The order further indicates that the principal reason for the suspicion is because it happened that the contract price accepted by the city for the year 1933 is $33,276 in excess of the 1932 contract price, though in some of the other districts of the city the price for 1933 is less than for 1932.

So far as the commission can find there is neither mystery nor suspicion attached to the award. The contract was publicly advertised in the usual way. Four competitive bids were received and the award was made to the lowest bidder. It happened that Coleman Brothers Company, Inc., who had the contract for the collection of garbage and refuse in this district in 1932 was the low bidder for the 1933 contract and, therefore, was awarded the contract.

The price offered by Coleman Brothers Company, Inc., for 1932 was $16,890 per month, but the period which the contract covered was an eleven-month period. The month of January was not included. The price offered for 1933 is $19,413 per month, the month of January being included. It is a fact beyond dispute that the month of January is usually the most expensive month of the year to the contractor because of the usual weather conditions encountered. Bidding a flat price per month for the year with January included, therefore, must necessarily be higher than a flat price for the year with January excluded. This accounts for a large part of the difference between the 1932 and 1933 offers.

There are other important considerations, as follows:

Statistics of collections available to all bidders indicated at the beginning of 1932 that the volume of collections would be lower in 1932 than in 1931, in which year there had been a reduction in volume from previous years' collections. As it turned out, however, this continued reduction in volume did not materialize in 1932. The bidders in the 1933 competition undoubtedly believe a reduction is not likely to materialize in 1933, principally because there has been considerable building within the past year or two in a large section of the district and, therefore, a larger number of households to serve.

It was more or less generally known among contractors and city officials that the contractor in 1932 lost considerable money on the contract because his figure was too low. Again, it is noted in reviewing the bids for all the districts of the city that 75 per cent of the contractors agreed in their offer to pay to the labor employed the "prevailing rate." It is well known that the prevailing rate at the present time is less than 50 cents per hour. The contractor, in this case, agreed to pay 62½ cents per hour for labor.

For the above reasons the Finance Commission believes the city authorities were warranted in approving the award to the lowest bidder at the price offered.

Respectfully submitted,

THE FINANCE COMMISSION,
by FRANK A. GOODWIN, Chairman.
JOSEPH A. SHEEHAN.
JOSEPH JOYCE DONAHUE,
CHARLES M. STOREY.

PROCEEDINGS OF CITY COUNCIL.

Monday, January 23, 1933.

Regular meeting of the City Council in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at 2 p. m., Chairman COX presiding, and all the members present.

On the motion of Coun. NORTON, the Council voted to proceed to the election of a president.

The clerk called the roll, with the following result:

For Joseph McGrath—Coun. Barker, Dowd, Englert, Gallagher, Gleason, Hein, Kelly, Lynch, McGrath, Murray, Norton, Roberts—12.

For Joseph P. Cox—Coun. Brackman, Burke, Cox, Donovan, Fitzgerald, Green, Power, Ruby—8.

For Clement A. Norton—Coun. Curtis—1.

For Francis J. Kelly—Coun. Fish—1.

And Coun. McGrath was declared elected President of the body for the year 1933. (Applause.)

Coun. GREEN—Mr. President, I move you, sir, that we make the election of Joseph McGrath unanimous.

Coun. COX—Councillor Green, the motion is out of order.

President McGRATH said, in taking the chair:

The Council will come to order.

REMARKS EXPUNGED FROM RECORD.

(The following refers to remarks made in the Council preceding the election of President.)

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, I would respectfully move, sir, as the first motion in this new body, in view of the personal remarks that have been indulged in by the members, that all that has been said here today preceding the vote for president be stricken from our official record.

Coun. FITZGERALD—Mr. President, I object.

Coun. BURKE—And I object, Mr. President.

Coun. KELLY—Mr. President, I believe if there is one time when a man should have his say as a public official, it is when the sort of thing takes place that has taken place here in this city. I do not intend to be bulldozed. I want the remarks of this meeting kept as a public document, and we are entitled to have them, sir.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, we have today had members of this body castigated in a way which has never been seen here in the past. It is wrong, sir, to include in our official records many of the statements that have been made here today, and I respectfully press, Mr. President, my motion for eradication of the remarks from the official record.

President McGRATH—The motion has been made that all remarks made previous to the ballot for president be eradicated from the records.

Coun. BURKE—Mr. President, I want to state, in so far as I am concerned, that I made no vicious attacks on anyone who did not deserve them, and I want to have the remarks I made stay in the record, because they came from my heart. They were what I intended to say, and they are properly a part of our proceedings. I want them there as a matter of public record.

Coun. FITZGERALD—And I take the same stand that Councillor Burke does, Mr. President. Any remarks I made I want to have remain on the records.

Coun. Norton's motion was declared lost. Coun. NORTON doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays.

Coun. NORTON—I simply want to add just a word, Mr. President, in regard to my motion to eradicate remarks from the record. In the heat of an unprecedented battle men make remarks that would just as well or better not be said, things that they will later regret. Therefore, I press my motion.

Coun. Norton's motion prevailed, yeas 14, nays 8: Yeas—Coun. Barker, Brackman, Dowd, Englert, Fish, Gallagher, Gleason, Green, Hein, Lynch, McGrath, Murray, Norton, Ruby—14.

Nays—Coun. Burke, Cox, Curtis, Donovan, Fitzgerald, Kelly, Power, Roberts—8.

Cohen, 45 Supple road, Roxbury; Robert Levine, 59 Elm Hill avenue, Roxbury; John Novick, 16 Glenwood street, Roxbury.

Severally laid over a week under the law.

Coun. COX—Mr. President, I would like to ask unanimous consent to make a statement. I have here the signed agreement of twelve men who solemnly pledged themselves over their signature

Coun. CURTIS—Mr. President, I rise to a point of order, that what the gentleman is about to say, in view of the action that has been taken in this body, is immaterial and irrelevant. The President has already been elected.

President McGRATH—The point of order is well taken. The remarks were read before and by vote of the Council have been ruled out.

Coun. COX—Mr. President, the remarks I have to make were not ruled out. Mr. President, —

President McGRATH—For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Coun. COX—Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make a statement.

Coun. CURTIS—Mr. President, I object.

President McGRATH—The Chair must rule the gentleman out of order.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,

Public Works Department,
January 20, 1933.

To His Honor the Mayor.

In reply to attached order in Council, by Coun. Brackman, dated January 16, 1933, "that the Public Works Commissioner, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested to make a report to the City Council as to the steps taken, if any, by him in securing the necessary cooperation of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts in obtaining a high water pressure system in Roxbury."

We await a reply from the Metropolitan District Commission to a proposition to furnish us a 54-inch line from the high service mains at Prince street and the Arborway and through the Arborway to near Forest Hills, which will be a part of their new feed for the southerly district. Permission will also be obtained for the City of Boston to tie on to this main at or near Forest Hills street and proceed, on our practically established route, to the junction of Geneva avenue and Columbia road.

Favorable action by the state must precede action by the city.

Yours respectfully,

J. A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

"Ordered, That the Traffic Commissioner be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to install automatic traffic signal at Codman square, Ward 17."

It is to be regretted that these traffic signal lights cannot be established at this point, as the financial condition of the city will not warrant the expenditure at this time of money for this purpose.

Very truly yours,

BORINGS -ON SITE FOR GROVE HALL HIGH SCHOOL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Department of School Buildings,

January 19, 1933.

Mr. W. J. Doyle,

City Clerk.

Dear Sir,—The order passed January 16, 1933, in the City Council, that the Mayor of Boston consider the advisability of requesting the Department of School Buildings to request the Soil Mechanics Department of Massachusetts Institute of Technology to supervise the present boring operations on the site for the Grove Hall girls' high school building. Presented by Councilor Norton.

Replying to this order would say that it came about three months too late, as the progress of the building is too far beyond the boring stage now to have any information that might develop be of any particular value at this time.

Very truly yours,

JOHN J. DUNIGAN,
Acting Superintendent of Construction.

PAYMENT OF AID TO SOLDIERS AND SAILORS.

Coun. NORTON submitted an order for payment of aid to soldiers and sailors and their families in the City of Boston for month of January, 1933. Order passed.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON MUNICIPAL LIGHTING.

Coun. DOWD, for the Committee on Municipal Lighting, submitted report on order (referred January 16) that the City of Boston construct or acquire plant for manufacturing and distributing electricity for municipal use—that same ought to pass.

Coun. DOWD—Mr. President, just a word on that order. This is a similar order to the one that the Mayor vetoed last December, and I introduced again last week for a municipal light plant, which was referred to our Special Committee on Municipal Lighting. In introducing this report today I want to advise the Mayor of Boston that as a member of the Board of Aldermen of 1906, as appears in Document 86 of that year, he signed a minority report in which he said that he "had reached the conclusion that as a matter of practical business the City of Boston would be warranted at the present time in engaging in the business of manufacturing electricity." I have here now before me the minutes of 1906. I am not going to bore the Council by reading what the present Mayor, then an alderman of the city, said at that time, on page 853, October 29, 1906. He stood on the floor and called the officials of the Edison Company robbers, and yet he now vetoes an order to the same effect. I wonder what has transpired between 1906 and 1932 to make the Mayor of Boston change his mind? There it is in black and white in a three-page speech; the Mayor of Boston goes on record as saying that the officials of the Edison Company are robbing the people. If in 1906 he felt that they were robbing the people, I don't know what he calls it in 1932. I leave the situation to your good judgment. I want the Mayor of Boston when he vetoes this order again to give us some concrete reason for doing so, and also to advise us of the reason for the change in his attitude since he was a member of the Board of Aldermen in 1906.

The report was accepted, and the order was passed, yeas 19, nays—Coun. Curtis—1.

Coun. HEIN moved to adjourn; lost.

INFORMATION AS TO NAME OF OFFICIAL.

Coun. DOWD offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to name the public official who he states has deposited $60,000 in cash in the last two years.

Coun. DOWD—Mr. President, the papers of this city carry this story—whether honest or not—that the Mayor of Boston has stated that some public official in the Police Department has deposited $60,000 in cash in the last two years in the Boston banks. If that is so, I am of the opinion that the public should know who that public official is. I am also confident, despite what we read and hear in the newspapers, that it is not fair to throw a stigma or blot on the entire membership of the Police Department, because I am firmly convinced that our Police Department as a whole is probably efficient and honest, and if there are one or two public officials who have received $60,000 and have put it in the banks during the last two years, I am of the opinion that the public should know who they are.

The order was passed.

ANNUITY TO WIDOW OF MARTIN F. MULLIGAN.

Coun. DOWD offered the following:
Resolved, That the City Council of the City of Boston hereby favors the enactment of legislation authorizing the payment of an annuity to the widow of Martin F. Mulligan, late member of the Fire Department, provided that such legislation contains a referendum to the Mayor and City Council.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

REINSTATEMENT OF WILLIAM E. DEVINE.

Coun. DOWD offered the following:
Resolved, That the City Council of the City of Boston hereby favors the enactment of legislation authorizing the reinstatement of William E. Devine in the Fire Department of said city, provided that such legislation contains a referendum to the Mayor and City Council.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

ANNUITY TO WIDOW OF JAMES H. LETTMANN.

Coun. DONOVAN offered the following:
Resolved, That the City Council of Boston hereby favors the enactment of legislation authorizing the payment of an annuity to the widow of James H. Lettmann, late member of the Fire Department of said city.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

REINSTATEMENT OF PATRICK J. FLAHERTY.

Coun. DONOVAN offered the following:
Resolved, That the City Council of Boston hereby favors the enactment of legislation authorizing the reinstatement of Patrick J. Flaherty as a member of the Fire Department of said city.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

REINSTATEMENT OF GEORGE L. W. REID.

Coun. ENGLERT offered the following:
Resolved, That the City Council of Boston hereby favors the enactment of legislation authorizing the reinstatement of George L. W. Reid as a member of the Police Department of said city.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

SIGN ON ALLSTON STREET.

Coun. HEIN offered the following:
Ordered, That the Traffic Commissioner be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to install "Slow" signs on Allston street, at the intersection of Greylock road, Ward 21, to protect children who are obliged to make a crossing at this point in going to and coming from school.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

REINSTATEMENT OF CARLOS H. COTTON.

Coun. HEIN offered the following:
Resolved, That the City Council of Boston hereby approves the enactment of legislation to provide for the reinstatement of Carlos H. Cotton in the Police Department, provided that said legislation includes a referendum to the City Council.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

STREET CONSTRUCTION BY DAY LABOR.

Coun. BURKE offered the following:
Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to have all street construction work during the year 1933 performed by day labor, under the supervision of the Commissioner of Public Works.

Coun. BURKE—Mr. President, I have put that order in twice during the past year. On each occasion it was passed unanimously by the Council, although it finally amounted to nothing, but I note that the Mayor of Boston while in New York with the President-Elect stated that what was necessary was to create work so that the people of the country—and in this particular city the people of the City of Boston—could be taken off the welfare rolls. Here is an order which looks to putting some men to work on day labor, accomplishing the same thing.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, three years ago I introduced the same order, believing, as does the councilor from Ward 17, that we should place men at work so far as possible at day labor. May I state that the body has a power under an order like this to make sure what will be done with the money appropriated. But if you will stand with me when the budget comes up, we can take action looking to day labor instead of contract work, on certain kinds of work. We can accomplish that end by only voting enough money for two months, for example, for the running of the Public Works Department, and if in the two months we find that they are not doing the work by day labor, we can refuse to vote to appropriate further amounts until we see that day labor work is being done. No more work for the Tomasellos and Singarellas, Mr. President. (Applause from the gallery.)

President McGRATH—Those in the gallery are here as guests of the Council and are very welcome, but under the rules of the Council there can be no manifestation of approval or disapproval of any action of the members of the Council from the gallery. We will appreciate it if our guests will conform to the rules.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, if this Council will refuse to appropriate the money and will stand with me, we will make it possible for the City of Boston to employ our people instead of foreigners on the work of the City of Boston, and will stop the necessity for this continuous demand on the front office, of which the Chief Executive takes no notice whatsoever. We will have the opportunity in the next few weeks, if we are sincere, not to vote amounts for the entire year, but for two months. Then, if they do not put men at work, citizens of Boston, at day labor, we can refuse to make further appropriations and we will then see very quickly that our ideas are carried out.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

CONTINUANCE OF "GOSSIPERS" ON STATION WAAB.

Coun. BURKE offered the following:

Whereas, The entertainment team known as "The Gossipers" has been broadcasting for a long period of time over radio station WAAB, and the people of Boston and neighboring cities and towns have derived such great pleasure from listening to their entertainments; and

Whereas, Information has been given to the effect that the directors of Station WAAB are contemplating discontinuing "The Gossipers" as one of their features; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston be, and hereby is, recorded as favoring the continuance of "The Gossipers" on Station WAAB in order that the thousands of daily listeners may continue to enjoy the entertainment which they provide.

Coun. BURKE—Mr. President, I put that resolution in at the request of another member of the Council. I hope it passes, because he is very much interested.

The resolution was referred to the Committee on Rules.

TRAFFIC SIGNALS ALONG SEAVER STREET.

Coun. BRACKMAN offered the following:

Ordered, That the Traffic Commissioner be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to install traffic signals along Seaver street, Boston.

Coun. BRACKMAN—Mr. President, we have had traffic signals installed in various sections of the City of Boston where they were hardly necessary. Along Seaver street, Roxbury, thousands of automobiles pass every day in the week. We have there many intersections and street crossings, but there is no protection for the pedestrian. It is high time that the Traffic Commissioner took cognizance of the fact that on our main thoroughfare pedestrians have no rights, and I hope he will heed this order of the City Council.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

Coun. HEIN moved that the Council do now adjourn.

The motion was declared carried. Coun. POWER doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays.

The motion was carried by roll call, yeas 11, nays 10.

Yeas—Coun. Barker, Curtis, Englert, Fish, Gallagher, Hein, Lynch, McGrath, Murray, Norton, Roberts—11.

Nays—Coun. Brackman, Burke, Cox, D'Novan, Dowd, Fitzgerald, Green, Kelly, Power, Ruby—10.

The Council stood adjourned, at 3.46 p. m., to meet on Monday, January 30, 1933, at 2 p. m.

MAYOR CURLEY URGES "BUY AMERICAN MADE" PRODUCTS AS MEANS OF REVIVING COUNTRY'S INDUSTRY—ALSO CALLS ATTENTION IN RADIO ADDRESS OVER CITY HALL STATION TO RECREATIONAL BENEFITS NOW BEING PROVIDED BY BOSTON FOR BUILDING AND KEEPING CITIZENS IN GOOD MENTAL HEALTH UNTIL DEPRESSION ENDS UNDER INCOMING ADMINISTRATION OF PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT.

Mayor Curley, speaking over Station WNAC, Monday, January 30, 1933, spoke, in part, as follows:

Friends of the Radio Audience.

On last Monday we discussed the question of providing a recreational and educational program for the unemployed and since last Monday a definite, organized program has finally been determined upon. As to the necessity of such program, I am satisfied that every individual who has given any study whatsoever to the question of the unemployed is convinced that something must be done in order to preserve the sanity and peace of mind of the American people during the period of unprecedented depression that still continues in our country.

William Green, the President of the American Federation of Labor, is authority for the statement made within the past week that at the present time there are 14,000,000 men without employment in the United States. If they were simply without employment the situation would not be so bad but the immediate prospect of re-employment appears somewhat remote at the present hour and there is a possibility that the situation may become more aggravated during the next two months. Of course we are all extremely hopeful that under the splendid and inspiring and courageous leadership of a new President of the United States in the person of Franklin D. Roosevelt, that steps may be taken at an early date to relieve unemployment and provide once more an opportunity for the people of America.

Boston during the past week has achieved a notable victory in the decision arrived at by the Interstate Commerce Commission with reference to the removal of the so-called differentials that operated in favor of the great port of New York and to the detriment of the ports of Boston, Baltimore and Philadelphia. It represents the culmination of a fight started about 1922 and waged continuously during the past eleven years and financed largely through the treasury of the City of Boston. It represents an expenditure by the City of Boston during that period of time of nearly a quarter of a million dollars.

Boston Port Changes.

Twenty-five years ago Boston occupied a most importance place in the commercial life of the nation. For nearly one hundred years Boston occupied first place commercially in America and for fifty years it occupied second place. With the creation of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and with the rulings adopted by that body, we have gradually passed from first and second place as a commercial city to what is known as a port of call at which port steamers stop either to take on or discharge passengers and freight, rather than a port of cargo. Twenty-five years ago we were a port of cargo. Twenty-five years ago in a single year from the port of Boston there were shipped twenty-five million bushels of wheat, just one cargo item. Now it is generally accepted that the very best possible cargo, or what is known as bottom cargo, is wheat, and yet during the year 1932, or in any one of the five preceding years we rarely averaged in excess of four million bushels of wheat shipped from the port of Boston.

A system of preferential charges, known as lighterage charges, absorbed by the shipping agencies and by the port of New York, made it more advantageous, notwithstanding the fact that there was shipment and trans-shipment and trans-shipment or sometimes a handling of from two or three times of the same cargo. It was more advantageous and less expensive to ship by way of New York with the absorption of charges than to ship with a single handling from Boston and after a long fight lasting nearly thirteen years, the decision has finally been handed down in favor of the ports of Boston, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New Jersey, so that we start with some reasonable opportunity for competition once more in the field of commerce.

Personally, I do not believe that the prospect for any great amount of business with Europe is immediate. I rather regard the conditions in Europe as representing a matter of life and death struggle for existence itself and so long as the situation continues, so long as substantially every country in Europe adopts the slogan of "Buy only local goods," there is little likelihood for a broadened field for exports from the United States of America to any European countries.

I had occasion a year ago last May to make my first visit to Europe, and I was impressed with how sincere and how serious were the entire people of every country visited by me with reference to the question of favoritism for home products. I found throughout Great Britain large signs both on dead walls and illuminated, reading "BUY ONLY BRITISH MADE GOODS," and I found displayed in the stores and upon the streets the products of the colonies of Great Britain. I found the same situation in France and Italy, in fact, I found the same situation in Ireland and in the post office departments in substantially every one of these countries making it a practice to print on the outside of envelopes "BUY ONLY HOME-MADE GOODS."

From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean,
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,

NATHAN HASKELL DOLE.

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION RULING ON LIGHTERAGE CASE BIG BOOM TO BUSINESS IF IT IS SUSTAINED BY FULL BOARD — MAYOR CURLEY REJOICES OVER DECISION AND FORESEES GREAT REVIVAL OF PORT BUSINESS. EXPRESSES THANKS FOR AID ALL BAY STATE EXECUTIVES GAVE TO BOSTON IN FIGHT.

Mayor Curley, on January 30, issued the following statement relative to the Interstate Commerce Commission Ruling:

The decision of the examiner, Earl N. Steer, of the Interstate Commerce Commission, in the lighterage case in which he found in favor of the Port of Boston, is indeed gratifying for, in my opinion, if the findings of the examiner are sustained by the full commission it will mean a revival of business through the Port of Boston.

The fight to eliminate the preference at the Port of New York and the discrimination against the Port of Boston by gratuities in the form of free lighterage, free car floatage and trucking, which the Boston Port Authority and the City of Boston instigated with my approval almost two years ago and at a cost of approximately $60,000, has justified this expenditure and I know will be hailed by all those who have the Port of Boston at heart and who look forward to a renewal of the port's former activities.

It will be remembered that when the case was first heard in Boston in 1930, I testified that unless the discriminatory gratuities are abandoned at the Port of New York, the Port of Boston could not hope to compete for either export, import or coastal business. It is apparent that the examiner, after a complete review of evidence submitted, is of the same opinion.

If the railroads serving the Port of New York are required to charge for the free services which they now render at that port, the rate for export traffic through the Port of Boston will be lower than that existing at New York and the Port of Boston will then be allowed to enjoy the advantages and benefits which accrue to her from modern up-to-date accommodations on the waterfront.

In Boston we have no lighterage service and practically no car floatage as the facilities at this port permit the ship to come alongside the railroad pier. The gratuities granted at the Port of New York, the expense of which is absorbed by the railroads, have resulted in diverting to the Port of New York traffic that would normally come to the Port of Boston.

While this decision rendered by the examiner is but the first step toward ultimate victory, I propose to leave no stone unturned to press our contention before the Interstate Commerce Commission in order that the discrimination against the Port of Boston may be eliminated and Boston once more restored to her position of commercial advantage, which she formerly enjoyed.

I am indeed grateful to all the mayors who testified at the various hearings when they were held in Boston and who contributed so materially in Boston's fight to eliminate the unfair situation which has now been recognized by the Interstate Commerce Commission. To the Boston Port Authority, who joined with the City of Boston in this fight, I extend my sincere appreciation and gratitude for the splendid service rendered to this city.

The tremendous advantage which will accrue to the Port of Boston may be seen when we appreciate that the evidence in the case indicated that more than 60 per cent of the traffic in New England was shipped through the Port of New York rather than through the Port of Boston due to the gratuities given at the Port of New York. With the discrimination removed this traffic will move through the Port of Boston with the consequent result that an increase in the number of sailings will be made from the Port of Boston and the large amount of commodities purchased here by these ships which call will result in more business for our merchants.

Victory in this cause means that the Port of Boston will no longer be a port of call but will once more take her former position as one of the leading ports of the country.

LONG ISLAND PATIENTS ENTERTAINED WITH MARDI GRAS REVUE AND MINSTREL SHOW UNDER AUSPICES OF FITTON NOTRE DAME ALUMNAE.

The patients of the Long Island Hospital enjoyed a rare treat on Wednesday evening, when the Fitton Notre Dame Alumnae of East Boston presented a Mardi Gras Revue and old fashioned minstrel show in the Curley Recreation Building. More than one thousand two hundred patients of the hospital, employees and invited guests enjoyed the best show ever presented at the Island.

The entertainment was presented under the personal direction of Dom F. Keegan. The Rev. William D. Whelan, pastor of the Holy Redeemer Church, was present as a special guest. The members of the Show Committee of the Alumni were also present, including Mrs. William C. Blinn, chairman, Miss Florence J. Matthews, Miss Clementine MacDonald and Miss Margaret A. Murray.

The show was put on as a special compliment to Mayor James M. Curley. The numbers were enthusiastically received. Not in many a day have the inmates enjoyed an old fashioned minstrel show.

The arrangements at Long Island were made under the direction of Commissioner James E. Maguire, who is chairman of the Welfare Board which has charge of all the entertainments given the inmates during the year. The other members of the Board active in assisting with the details included Walter A. Stout, John H. Kane, Gerald T. Mahoney and Dr. Harvey M. Williams.

The members of the Notre Dame Alumnae praised very highly the stage appointments of the Curley Recreation Building and said they were well nigh perfect.

After the entertainment the members of the Alumnae, and the special artists and guests, were given a collation by Commissioner Maguire.

The Mayor, upon recommendation of the Corporation Counsel, has approved the following claim:

Mamie Pedonti, 17 Orchard street, Malden, in the sum of $100, as compensation for personal injuries caused by defect in sidewalk in front of 65 North Margin street, August 9, 1932.

BUY AMERICAN GOODS.

There is much of merit in the proposition as supported and sustained by the Boston American Publishing Company with reference to favoritism for American-made goods. While it is true in the two most prosperous years of the nation, 1927 and 1928, that our exports and imports practically balanced, we could have enjoyed immeasurable prosperity; in fact, we could at the present time without the export of a single dollar's worth of goods. The fact nevertheless remains that mass production and mass distribution is not at the present time, and has not been for a period of years, a distinctively American institution. With a view to avoiding tariff duties, American manufacturers have established in the ten-year period prior to 1928 in the countries of Europe alone 1,700 branch manufacturing establishments. Branch manufacturing establishments where the highest and most improved type of high speed machines largely automatic in character were in operation, meaning just so much less in export trade for the United States of America, and under our tariff laws the permission was granted to allow unfinished parts to come into our country to be fabricated in America. So we find these countries taking advantage of the convict labor, child labor, and women labor and the low-paid labor of men in European countries in the fabrication of parts and the piecing of them together in complete structure in the United States, thereby escaping duty, thereby taking advantage of the cheap foreign labor to the disadvantage of the people of America.

I believe the time has arrived when we have all got to do a little clear thinking locally. Apparently after more than three years of depression in America we are almost as far from the solution of our difficulties today as we were three years ago. I read in the paper within the past ten days of the appointment of a Senate Committee to investigate the cause of the depression and ways and means of working out of it. If that is the situation then it is about time for every individual to do just a little thinking, and if the four billion dollars worth of goods, which was the high-water mark in 1928, represents the purchase of American-made goods, this now would be quite a great help to America industrially. So while the statesmen are working on these problems it is time for us to do a little thinking on problems locally.

We all appreciate that America has emerged stronger, better, richer from each depression visited upon our nation and we have a realization we are going to emerge from this depression if we can learn the lesson that the only way that an individual can help his fellow man in America and the only way to help industry in America is by giving preference to the matter of the purchase of American-made goods.

BUILD UP AMERICAN MORALE.

With reference to the Emergency Recreational Program, it is admitted by everyone that something must be done to preserve not only the physique of the individual, that is, as a consequence of the lack of pure and nutritious food, due to the depression, it is equally necessary to change the viewpoint and mental aspect of the average American. With a view to promoting the physical as well as the mental well-being of the individual

American we have embarked in Boston upon a most unique program. It is known as the emergency recreational and educational program and it will be opened to the public in the thirteen municipal buildings starting tomorrow evening, January 31, at 8 p. m. It represents pioneer work for the mental relief of the unemployed. It represents a series of educational courses through the cooperation of schools, colleges and universities. It is in charge of a committee eminently qualified to carry on this particular class of work.

We have as head of the physical committee William J. Bingham, director of physical education and athletics of Harvard University, who will have charge of the gymnasiums; on music we have the voluntary services of Arthur Fiedler of the Boston Symphony Orchestra; arts and crafts, we have George Greener of the North Bennet Street Industrial School. On reading and quiet games we have Milton E. Lord, director of the Public Library, and on public health we have Dr. Charles F. Wilinsky, director of Health Units in the City of Boston, with A. F. Whitten, associate professor of romance languages at Harvard University, in charge. Now we have all of the facilities. We have the buildings which represent the physical side; we have the instructors to represent the teaching side; all we require is the public. If you feel just a little bit depressed and disturbed as to the future and your health is not quite as good as it should be, I urge everyone listening in to attend one of these courses at the nearest municipal building in the place where you reside. If you do that I feel quite sure you will benefit mentally and physically and that you will be mentally and physically in a position to share in the prosperity that we all hope for under the leadership of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

DENTAL SERVICE EMPLOYEES CONTRIBUTE $1,500 TO WEL- FARE RELIEF.

The dental services employed under the direction of Doctor Griffin in the Health Department of the City of Boston contributed $1,500 on January 31 to the Public Welfare Department. This voluntary contribution by men who are not employed directly by the city is not only very welcome but should serve as an incentive for other beneficiaries of the city, either engaged in contracting work or otherwise or in the sale of supplies to the city, to make similar donations. In conformity with the expressed wish of the men in the dental service the money will be turned over to the Public Welfare Department for the purchase of shoes and stockings for the children of needy families that are now being aided by the Public Welfare Department.

BOSTON PORT CHARGES LOWER THAN THOSE OF MOST OTHER ATLANTIC SEABOARD CITIES, ACCORDING TO PORT AUTHORITY.

Mayor Curley, on January 30, received the following communication from Richard Parkhurst, Vice Chairman of the Boston Port Authority:

DEAR MAYOR CURLEY,—As to Boston "Port Charges" there has existed in uninformed quarters a feeling that these charges are higher than in other United States ports. As a matter of fact—and comparatively recently—officials of two passenger lines (whose ships do not use Boston) have publicly so stated. The Boston Port Authority, after careful investigation, wishes to inform you that the contention that it costs more to handle and work ships here than at other ports is not borne out by the facts.

In employing the term "Port Charges" it all depends upon just what is meant and whether or not ships are handled, because of schedule requirements, at overtime and Sunday rates, as incidentally has often been the case where critics' vessels are concerned.

"Port Charges" as such include pilotage, tug hire, tonnage tax, customs fees, customs brokerage, watching vessel and quarantine (health inspection). A comparison of these charges on a ten-thousand-ton vessel entering the ports of Boston, New York and Philadelphia shows other places slightly under New York. Most of these charges in point of fact are fixed by law and effective in all ports alike.

"Cargo Charges," as distinguished from but of equal importance with "Port Charges," comprise wharfage, dockage, watching cargo, tallying and stevedoring. Taking a ten-thousand-ton vessel and assuming discharge of fifty-five hundred tons of general cargo at Boston, New York and Philadelphia, the advantage, from the point of view of the steamship company, is with Boston. From the point of view of the consignee this is not always so, largely because of certain situations outside the direct scope of "Cargo Charges," and with which the Port Authority is dealing in their investigations and proceedings before the Interstate Commerce Commission and the United States Shipping Board.

The fact that Boston is now largely a port of call, rather than a terminal port for most overseas vessels frequently necessitates overtime and Sunday work, with resultant higher costs on these ships, but under like circumstances cost would be as high at other ports. In other words, when a vessel loads or unloads at the Port of Boston on regular schedule, and under the ordinary operation of the port facilities and labor arrangements, the costs not only are not higher than at other United States ports, but in many instances are lower.

We feel sure you will be interested in the result of our investigations in the foregoing matter and beg to remain,

Sincerely yours,

BOSTON PORT AUTHORITY,
RICHARD PARKHURST,
Vice Chairman.

TO REMOVE ICE AND SNOW EASILY.

In certain special emergency cases, as in traffic areas, it may be desirable to entirely remove thick, heavy accumulations of ice and hardened snow which, because they usually become badly rutted, are a cause of dangerous traffic conditions. In such cases the application of flake calcium chloride by means of a mechanical spreader at the rate of three quarters to one pound per square yard will soon loosen the entire ice coating, permitting its removal from the pavement by hand or mechanical means.

For this purpose, a solution containing from 25 to 30 per cent of calcium chloride, which figures 2.85 to 3.75 pounds per gallon of solution, may be employed. Such solutions, especially if made up with warm water and applied by a street flusher equipped with nozzles which throw a finely divided high-pressure spray, have proved highly efficient for this purpose. As soon as the ice has become loosened from the pavement surface, it should be removed and an extremely light treatment of coarse sand applied to the surface.

CATCH-BASIN CLEANING.

The cleaning of catch-basins in Toronto, Ont., is started immediately after the spring clean-up of the streets, and is usually sufficient until the fall, when the basins are given a thorough cleaning for the winter, in order to reduce to a minimum the blocking of drains during this season. Many basins throughout the business sections and those in subways and at the bottom of grades are given constant attention, owing to the exceptional amount of refuse washed to the culvert and drains by street flushing and rainstorms.

The total cost of catch-basin cleaning in 1931 was $17,580.70. A total of 11,561 cubic yards of material was removed from 54,306 catch-basins. The cost of cleaning the basins and removing the accumulated material was $1.52 per cubic yard, or 32 cents per basin per cleaning season, according to George W. Dies, Street Commissioner, Toronto, Ont.

JAMAICA SPENDS $1,000,000 ANNUALLY ON ROAD CONSTRUCTION AND MAINTENANCE.

Jamaica, an English possession, has a highway system which is almost entirely constructed of waterbound macadam, some 70 miles of which has been surface-treated. Many of the roads are under the supervision of the Department of Public Works and various parochial boards. There are about 2,500 miles of bridge and foot paths. The highway system connects all parts of the island in a very satisfactory manner, and the problem is not that of the construction of new roads, but the improvement of old ones, the surfacing and widening of these roads, and protective coatings. The roads are well maintained and, as there are not many heavy trucks, the maintenance is satisfactory. There are approximately 4,000 miles of highways, or 1.11 square miles of area to one mile of highway.

About a million dollars per year is spent on new construction and maintenance, the machinery used being both European and American.

(From a report of the American Road Builders' Association.)

ARMY CURTAILS PARTICIPATION IN AIRPORT OPENINGS.

The many calls upon the Army Air Corps for cooperation and participation in airport opening celebrations has made it necessary for Assistant Secretary F. Trubee Davison to curtail this activity. Consequently, the announcement was recently made that Air Corps airplanes would no longer participate in municipal airport dedications in cities of less than 50,000 population. Mr. Davison stated that he regretted taking this step but that airport dedications had become so numerous that the Army found itself unable to meet the demands for airplanes and pilots for exhibition flights. "If we did not put a brake on this activity," he said, "the military usefulness of our pilots would be impaired and the Air Corps would be transformed into a flying circus."

* Contract awarded.

Upon January 30 the Mayor approved contracts with lowest bidders as indicated for furnishing meats to the various city departments during February, with the exception of the two items of the New Boston Supply Company.

The last time the New Boston Supply Company had a meat contract with this department there was considerable trouble as to meats and deliveries. Therefore permission has been given to award the two items that this company are low on to the next lowest bidders, as indicated.

As the totals of the items to be awarded to Fred W. Baldau Company, Adolf Gobel, Incorporated, Wattendorf & Co., Swift & Co., and S. F. CONTRACTORS ON CITY WORK MUST PAY PREVAILING WAGE RATE.

Upon January 31 the Mayor issued the following statement:

A conference was held on January 31 between members of the Pavers' Union, certain contractors, the Mayor and the Corporation Counsel, with reference to payment by contractors of public works under contract to the City of Boston.

It appears that a misunderstanding exists among contractors with reference to a recent decision of the Supreme Judicial Court declaring a certain provision of the General Laws, with reference to prevailing rate of wages, unconstitutional. This decision merely held that the statute making it a criminal offence to refrain from paying the prevailing rate of wages on public works by contractors was unconstitutional because the terms of the statute with reference to prevailing rate of wages was uncertain.

The Court held that a penal statute must be definite with regard to the requirements of the law which, if not obeyed, would result in a crime. The provision in the city contract relating to the requirement by contractors that they pay the prevailing rate of wages does not come within the purview of this decision, for this provision is a part of the contract agreed to by the contractor and the city and is independent of any statute creating a criminal offence in the event of a violation of its terms. In other words, the city can insist that the contractor pay the prevailing rate of wages as a part of the agreement entered into between the contractor and the city.

There is no law which prohibits a contractor or the city from making a bargain that in the event of an award of a contract that the prevailing rate of wages will be paid by the contractor. The question of what is the prevailing rate of wages as agreed upon may be determined by the municipal officer in charge of the work, such as the chief engineer, the commissioner in charge of the municipal department, or any other person who the contractor provides shall be the referee of this question.

Corporation Counsel Silverman has advised me that in the event that complaint is made that a contractor is not paying the prevailing rate of wages that such a contractor renders himself liable for breach of contract regardless of the statute pertaining to the payment of the prevailing rate of wages by contractors on public works.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 154.

(Paragraph 1.)

The office of Inspector of Divisions is hereby created in the office of the superintendent, and his duties shall be as follows:

He shall inspect all divisions of the department for the purpose of ascertaining and noting how the members of each division are performing their duty. He shall make his visits at irregular intervals and unannounced. He shall observe the manner in which the officers in command and in charge of divisions perform their duty. He shall observe the manner in which the sergeants perform their duty. He shall observe the manner in which patrolmen perform their duty.

He shall observe the conditions in every division and shall note whether all members of the division are zealous in the enforcement of the laws of this Commonwealth. He shall report in writing on the first day of each month, and more frequently if required, to the superintendent, setting down the division or the divisions that he has visited, the time spent visiting each division, and in his report shall call specifically to the attention of the superintendent every matter of importance concerning proper police administration, conditions he observed and whether or not the work of the division is being properly carried out.

(Paragraph 2.)

The following promotions and assignments are hereby ordered to take effect on Monday, January 30, 1933, at 7.45 a. m.:

To the Grade of Deputy Superintendent.

Capt. John M. Anderson from Bureau of Criminal Investigation to Bureau of Criminal Investigation.

Capt. Martin H. King from Division 2 to Superintendent's Office as Inspector of Divisions.

To the Grade of Sergeant.

Patrolman James R. McLaughlin from Division 2 to Division 9.

Patrolman John F. Lyons from Commissioner's Office to Commissioner's Office.

Patrolman Charles J. Hunter from Division 9 to Division 10.

(Paragraph 3.)

The following transfers are hereby ordered to take effect on Monday, January 30, 1933, at 7.45 o'clock a. m.:

Deputy Superintendent James McDevitt from Bureau of Criminal Investigation to Bureau of Traffic.

Capt. Joseph McKinnon from Division 9 to Division 2.

Capt. Thomas S. J. Kavanagh from Division 18 to Division 9.

Capt. Louis E. Lutz from Superintendent's Office to Division 18.

(Paragraph 4.)

Patrolman Terence A. Koen of Division 11 is hereby commended in General Orders and granted two days' additional vacation for effective police duty performed January 7, 1933. As a result of outside telephone calls from several storekeepers, that they had observed two suspicious characters loitering about their premises (one of whom had a revolver), police cruising cars and two motorcycles were dispatched to the locality at various times in an effort to apprehend the men.

In view of repeated telephone calls, Patrolman Koen, who was doing clerical duty in the station, requested permission from the officer in charge to be allowed to don citizen's dress and use his own automobile to assist in the search. Patrolman Koen proceeded to the vicinity described and saw two men hurrying along Columbia road toward South Boston followed by a police car. Patrolman Koen, observing one of the suspected persons throw a revolver over the bridge to the railroad track, jumped from his automobile and called to Patrolman Elwell to recover the revolver. Patrolman Koen, with drawn revolver, pursued the men who finally threw up their hands and surrendered, and were placed under arrest by Patrolmen Koen, Elwell and Keenan.

The commissioner is pleased to recognize and commend the initiative and interest shown by Patrolman Koen in the work of the department on this occasion.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

EUGENE C. HULTMAN,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 155.

(Paragraph 1.)

Patrolmen Edward Fallon, Lawrence A. Boyle, William M. Rush, Daniel L. Donahue, Herbert A. Dolan and John J. Faherty, all of Division 5, are hereby commended in General Orders for their prompt response to an emergency call which had been sent to the station on January 17, in which it was reported that a holdup was in progress in a tailor shop in the South End.

The commissioner is pleased to recognize the prompt response to duty shown by these officers in effecting the arrest of the dangerous characters who committed this crime.

(Paragraph 2.)

It gives the commissioner great pleasure to publish for the information of the department the following letter:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
FIELD FORCE,
DIVISION OF SECRET SERVICE,
BOSTON, January 26, 1933.

EUGENE HULTMAN, Esq.,
Commissioner of Police.

MY DEAR COMMISSIONER,—I wish to thank you for the cooperation of your department in two recent cases involving counterfeiting; in one of which we were notified by Deputy Chief McDevitt and as a result of the cooperation of your inspectors two men were arrested for possession and passing of counterfeit 50 cent coins. Again, recently, we received a call from Station 7, East Boston, who also have cooperated with us at all times and through the excellent police work of Special Officers Whaland and Patterson a counterfeiting plant was captured and Charles Anderson was arrested and sentenced to two years.

With kindest personal regards, I am

Respectfully,

HARRY L. BARKER,
Operative in Charge.

Specification: In that on the 3d day of December, 1932, the said Patrolman Roger L. McGrath of Division 7, while on duty and in uniform, did engage in an altercation with a brother officer, and further, did threaten to assault a brother officer.

Charge 2: Excessive brutality towards a prisoner.

Specification: In that on the 3d day of December, 1932, Patrolman Roger L. McGrath, while on duty and in uniform, did use excessive force on a prisoner by striking said prisoner with his police club, and further, that the said Patrolman Roger L. McGrath did use excessive force on a prisoner when it was absolutely unnecessary for the safe custody of the prisoner, or for overcoming any resistance.

Charge 3: Actions contrary to good order and discipline.

Specification: In that on the 3d day of December, 1932, the said Patrolman Roger L. McGrath of Division 7, while on duty and in uniform, did commit acts contrary to good order and discipline, has submitted the following finding and recommendation:

The Board having heard and carefully considered all the evidence as presented by witnesses made the following finding:

The Board finds Charge 1 and specification thereunder sustained, in that the said Patrolman Roger L. McGrath did have an altercation with a brother officer while the said Patrolman Roger L. McGrath was in an excited frame of mind owing to the trouble which he (McGrath) had with his prisoner, and although this fact amounted to an extenuating circumstance nevertheless, the said Patrolman Roger L. McGrath showed a lack of self-control which is a necessary qualification in every officer, and further, the action of the said Patrolman Roger L. McGrath was contrary to good order and discipline.

The Board finds Charge 2 and specification thereunder not sustained, in that the said Patrolman Roger L. McGrath was justified in believing himself about to receive bodily harm at the hands of his unruly prisoner, and that the said Patrolman Roger L. McGrath did not use excessive force in subduing his prisoner. The Board therefore finds the said Patrolman, Roger L. McGrath not guilty on Charge 2 and specification thereunder.

The Board reports a finding of guilty on Charge 3 and specification thereunder, basing its finding on the act of conduct unbecoming an officer as charged in Charge 1 and specification thereunder, in this complaint on which the Board found the said Patrolman Roger L. McGrath guilty.

The Board respectfully recommends that the said Patrolman Roger L. McGrath be restored to duty as of January 26, 1933, and that as punishment the said Patrolman Roger L. McGrath be suspended from duty for a period of seven days, effective as of January 19, 1933, with loss of pay.

The commissioner accepts the finding of guilty by the Trial Board on Charge 1 and specification thereunder and Charge 3 and specification thereunder, and not guilty on Charge 2 and specification thereunder, but is not in accord with their recommendation. Therefore, in view of the serious nature of the charges of which the said Patrolman Roger L. McGrath was found guilty, the commissioner hereby orders that the said Patrolman Roger L. McGrath be suspended from duty, with loss of pay, for a period of twenty days, effective as of January 19, 1933.

Civil Service Rule 23, Section 3, requires approval of the Civil Service Commissioner before reinstatement.

Rule 23.

Section 3. With the consent of the Commissioner upon good cause shown, an appointing officer may reinstate in the same position or in a position in the same class and grade any person who has been separated from the service; provided, however, that the Commissioner shall not allow reinstatement of a person discharged for cause.

(Paragraph 4.)

Acting under the provisions of chapter 521, Acts of 1922, creating the Contributory Retirement System, the Boston Retirement Board has notified this department that it has approved for retirement on account of accidental disability, Patrolman Edward F. Harrington of Division 13, who is a member of said Contributory Retirement System; such retirement to take effect at midnight, Tuesday, January 31, 1933.

Wherefore, In view of this operation of law, the Police Commissioner states that on and after January 31, 1933, at the hour stated, the said Patrolman Edward F. Harrington shall no longer be an active member of this department, and it is hereby ordered that its records be so amended.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

EUGENE C. HULTMAN,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 156.

A trial board consisting of Captains Campbell, Clafin and Flaherty, having heard by reference a complaint made by Perley S. Skillings, captain, Division 16, against Joseph P. Maloney, patrolman, Division 16, for violation of Rules 36 and 41 of the Rules and Regulations of the Police Department, to wit:

Charge: Conduct unbecoming an officer. Specification. In that on the 2d day of January, 1933, the said Patrolman Joseph P. Maloney, while in uniform and on duty was under the influence of intoxicating liquor to the extent that he was unable to perform police duty if called upon so to do,—has submitted the following finding and recommendation:

The Board, having heard and carefully considered all the evidence as presented by witnesses, finds the said Patrolman Maloney guilty on the charge and specification, and in view of the fact that Patrolman Maloney's captain, lieutenant and two sergeants all testified that he was an exceptionally efficient police officer, that they never knew of him having taken a drink of intoxicating liquor previous to January 2, 1933, and Patrolman Maloney having volunteered to go to his spiritual adviser to take a pledge abstaining from the further use of intoxicating liquor, and that he would take the pledge card to the superintendent and show it to him, the Board feels that leniency should be shown in this case and respectfully recommends that Patrolman Joseph P. Maloney be ordered to perform 210 hours' punishment duty.

The commissioner accepts the finding and recommendation of the Trial Board and hereby orders that the said Patrolman Joseph P. Maloney perform 210 hours' punishment duty, and hereby further orders that the said Patrolman Joseph P. Maloney take a pledge with his spiritual adviser to abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors hereafter, and that the pledge card be exhibited to Michael H. Crowley, Superintendent of Police, on or before Friday, February 3, 1933.

(Paragraph 2.)

The following instructions are published for the information of the department:

Subject: Directions to members of the department governing obtaining of records from the files of the Massachusetts Board of Probation.

When it is required that the criminal record of a person be obtained by any member of the department, such record shall be furnished through the Bureau of Records.

This shall apply not only to cases where arrests have been made but also to all cases under investigation, including applications for licenses.

The officer charged with the investigation shall, in every case, bring to the Bureau of Records Form No. 90 ("Request for Criminal Record," specimen submitted) provided for the purpose, giving required data thereon as near as may be.

The officer of the Bureau of Records shall examine the files of the Bureau and shall, if such a record appears, furnish it to the officer upon the standard "Criminal Record" Form No. 1137 (specimen submitted), after checking carefully with the Massachusetts Board of Probation and State Bureau of Identification. If no record of the subject appears in the Bureau of Records files, the officers of the Bureau of Records shall carefully check with the Massachusetts Board of Probation and the State Bureau of Identification by telephone or otherwise, obtain any criminal record known to the above agencies and furnish same to the requesting officer on Form 1137.

Should no record be found against a subject at any of the three agencies mentioned (Bureau of Records, Massachusetts Board of Probation or the State Bureau of Identification), a notation (no record), stamped on Form No. 1137 mentioned, will be furnished to the requesting officer.

If there is any difficulty experienced at the Board of Probation in connecting any names furnished with similar names in the files, the visiting officer shall be directed by the Bureau of Records to proceed to the Board of Probation to assist in any possible manner in the identification, taking with him a sufficient number of Form No. 1137 and copying thereon the records furnished, including all names the subject is recorded under.

The officer shall forthwith make known to the Bureau of Records, either by appearing in person or by telephone, the fact that he has obtained such a record.

The Bureau of Records shall furnish all officers visiting the Board of Probation with request form provided, numbered 1373, signed in the name of the commanding officer of the Bureau of Records and this request form will remain at the Massachusetts Board of Probation for their files.

When the record is an extensive one and it appears that efficiency will be served by photographing the record cards at the Board of Probation, this will be done and the photostatic copies will be delivered to the Bureau of Records which, in turn, will forward them to the commanding officer of the requesting officer.

The mailman of Division 2, who also cares each day for the department mail for the City Prison, shall, while visiting the City Prison, noon and early evening of each day, visit the office of the Board of Probation, 20 Somerset street, receive from them all material for the Bureau of Records, and deliver the same direct to the Bureau of Records upon his arrival at Headquarters.

As the Board of Probation closes Saturday at noontime, it has been arranged that on Saturdays they will deliver to the City Prison, after their closing hour, all finished work which the Division 2 mailman on his early evening call will pick up and deliver to the Bureau of Records.

All records are department property and shall, after serving their purpose, be promptly returned direct to the Bureau of Records either by the officer personally or through the department mail.

Each record shall be charged to the officer to whom it is furnished in the Bureau of Records file now existing for that purpose, and due credit will be given when they are returned to the Bureau of Records.

NOTE.—Commanding officers will make requisition immediately on the property clerk for their respective requirements of Form No. 90 ("Request for Criminal Record"), which comes in blocks of fifty slips each.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

EUGENE C. HULTMAN,
Commissioner.

LIBRARY PACKED AS DEPRESSION CONTINUES.

As the curve of business goes down, the curve of reading goes up! To those cities tempted to chop off the budgetary appropriation for libraries as the first move in a program of economy, this report from the American Library Association Bulletin may be interesting:

More than a million new readers have found their way into libraries in cities of over 200,000 population in the last two years, and the number of books borrowed from them has reached the unprecedented high of 157,000,000—more than 26,000,000 over figures for 1929.

While these figures are indicative of the increase in reading throughout the country, they do not tell the whole story, for they represent only 44 libraries. Reports received by the American Library Association indicate that the per capita demand for books is equally great in smaller libraries.

Expenditures for library service in the cities noted increased 5 per cent during the two-year period; the number of books available increased 10 per cent; the number of registered readers, 19 per cent; and the number of books borrowed, 20 per cent.

RURAL TEACHERS' SUPERVISION.

Improving instruction in rural schools through promoting the efficiency and professional growth of teachers is the most important function of supervision in connection with the rural school movement. In the accomplishment of this purpose supervisors use different means and procedures usually designated as supervisory measures, according to the United States Office of Education. Among those found particularly successful in rural communities are: County-wide teachers' meetings, circular letters, group conferences, visitations, individual conferences, and help rendered by teachers to colleagues.

LIFE-GIVING PATRIOTISM IS LOCAL.

By civic patriotism is meant the feeling and the taking of a deep, unselfish, earnest, ever-wakeful, active interest in the affairs of one's own city or local community, regarding it as having an autonomy, a distinct personality, a name and interests of its own, and, if one pleases, endowed with a sense of personal honor and with all laudable ambitions for the promotion of the welfare of its people.

Where such civic virtues exist the local community will neither suffer from the dry-rot of public indifference and neglect nor become tainted with graft or corruption. Its life will be healthful, and, like the ocean, will be kept pure by its own ceaseless flow and movement. All life-giving patriotism is local.

Show a good municipal citizen and one will see a citizen who loves his state, and who loves his nation, and who will discharge all the duties of this triple relation. Good government in local affairs is the best assurance of good government in state and national affairs.

RECREATION, ADEQUATE AS TO KIND AND AVAILABILITY.

Although the ratio of park acreage to population has been used as the simplest measure of the extent to which cities provide areas for the recreation of their people, it is by no means an accurate basis for determining this. If most of the total acreage is in one large park, if the parks are poorly distributed, or if they do not provide various types of recreation facilities, the park system may be inefficient even though the acreage is large. The efficiently planned park and recreation system will involve balanced relationship and well-distributed location of several types of properties, namely, children's playgrounds, neighborhood playfield parks, neighborhood parks, reservations, boulevards, and parkways.

(Bureau of Labor Statistics, Publication No. 462.)

CHANGING STREET NAMES.

Alteration in the names of streets seems to be on the increase in the United States. In most cases the reasons for it are inadequate, while changes that would actually make for clearness remain unmade. The reason for change would usually seem to be general patriotism, national or local, as where the name of some prominent person is given to a street. During the war German names were largely discarded, as where Berlin avenue in St. Louis became Pershing avenue. In the height of President Wilson's popularity abroad, Wilson avenues sprang up all over the allied countries. Later, disappointment or dissatisfaction caused many of these to be changed.

A SQUARE DEAL IN ASSESSMENTS FOR TAXATION.

Many cities are finding it greatly to their advantage to have their tax valuations periodically overhauled. The first criterion of any assessment is equity. For every citizen who wants through "pull" or however else to get off easy, there are twenty, nay a hundred, who want a fair and square deal for all.

The appraisal of city real estate is a highly technical affair.

Few things are more important than the equalization of assessments. Particularly in cities that are cramped by an inflexible debt or tax limit, an honest, full value assessment may be a great boon. Without the slightest raise in the tax rate a substantially greater tax yield may be had.

PHILADELPHIA'S GROWTH.

The principal American cities are sharing Philadelphia's experience of growing faster outside than inside the official city limits. That portion of the 1930 tentative Philadelphia metropolitan area which lies outside the city limits increased 42.1 per cent in population in the last ten years. Meanwhile, Philadelphia itself grew in population 7 per cent. The increase for the entire metropolitan area, which is considerably smaller than the Philadelphia Tri-State District, was 16 per cent. The Philadelphia metropolitan area submitted for approval of the Census Bureau is regarded as of 1,141 square miles, of which the city itself comprises 128 square miles.

Typical of the growth that has been taking place just outside the city limits, Upper Darby Township, at the western gateway to Philadelphia, grew at the phenomenal rate of 421 per cent in the last decade.

In 1910, Delaware County, west of Philadelphia, and Camden County, southeast of Philadelphia, had average population densities per square mile of between 450 and 650. In 1930 the comparable average densities in these counties were between 1,100 and 1,700.

LEGAL HOLIDAYS.

As provided by the Revised Laws of Massachusetts, also by chapter 473, Acts of 1910, and chapter 104, General Acts of 1916 (ratified by the electorate on November 7, 1916), legal holidays on which the public offices shall be closed, include January 1, February 22, April 19, May 30, July 4, September (first Monday), October 12, Armistice Day (November 11), Thanksgiving Day (the last Thursday in November) and Christmas Day (December 25).

HEIGHT OF BUILDINGS NEAR AIRPORT.

After fifteen months of effort by the Aviation Department of the San Diego Chamber of Commerce, an ordinance has been adopted by the City Council of San Diego limiting the height of buildings in the area adjacent to the municipal airport, Lindbergh Field, which is 1½ miles from the center of the business district. According to Thomas F. Bomar, manager of the Chamber's Aviation Department, it was necessary to survey the vicinity of the field, make contour maps of that area, convince the property owners and the City Planning Commission of the necessity and desirability of the ordinance, and then overcome the efforts of the few objectors before the City Council.

KANSAS CITY WINS POLICE HOME RULE.

The Supreme Court of Missouri has given Kansas City control of its police department.

For years those who wanted the city to operate and control its own police department had been going to the Legislature regularly with bills which would end state control. But conditions were never just right. The city raised the question of the constitutionality of the law under which the department has operated, and the Court held the law unconstitutional in a five-to-two opinion.

The police department of Kansas City had been under the control of the state since 1874. Under the law as it has existed in recent years, the department was administered by a commission of three members, two appointed by the governor and the mayor, ex officio.

The city attacked the law on the ground that it delegated legislative powers to an administrative board. In this contention the city was upheld, the court holding that the limitations in the law were not sufficiently definite to prevent the commissioners from making almost unlimited demands on the city treasury.

WATER SUPPLY FROM WELLS.

The entire water supply of Memphis is taken from wells. The wells penetrate two strata of sand, the upper stratum being 300 to 500 feet below the surface, and the lower stratum roughly 1,000 feet deeper. The upper stratum, known as the LaGrange formation, is the more important and furnishes most of the supply. It is the one commonly used in this vicinity.

The lower stratum has been developed by the city to a limited extent, because wells in it do not interfere with those in the upper stratum, and therefore wells in the respective strata can be placed in close proximity to each other, and a greater capacity obtained from a given area. The LaGrange formation underlies western Tennessee, eastern Arkansas and northern Mississippi. It outcrops in a belt roughly parallel with the Mississippi river and some 40 miles eastward therefrom. Throughout this entire region it furnishes an ample supply to many municipalities and industries. The outcrop area is such that an abundant supply is in sight, for everyone caring to use it, for many years to come. The sands and clays, which are interspersed, are supposed to be deposits formed in prehistoric times, when the entire Mississippi Valley as far north as Cairo was practically an arm of the Gulf of Mexico.

CHICAGO CLEARING FISCAL SNARLS.

Chicago is slowly unraveling the fiscal snarl which has brought its local governments to the verge of complete standstill. The assessing machinery of Cook County has been reorganized and an honest, capable and impartial assessor placed in full charge. Legislative authorization has been obtained, through a special session of the Illinois General Assembly, to bridge the gap until the tax gathering machinery can be made to function normally again. Vigorous efforts are also being made to force the various taxing bodies to reduce current budgets so that the aggregate expenditures of all governments in Cook County in 1932 will fall within sharply decreasing tax collections.

TRAFFIC SIGNALS ON SEAVER STREET.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, January 30, 1933.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I herewith transmit to you report from Joseph A. Conry, Traffic Commissioner, with reference to your request to install traffic signals along Seaver street. This is in reply to your order of January 23, 1933.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,

Traffic Commission, January 25, 1933.

Hon. James M. Curley,

Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir,—I have the honor to acknowledge receipt of Council order dated January 23, 1933, which reads as follows:

"Ordered: That the Traffic Commissioner be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to install traffic signals along Seaver street, Boston."

It is to be regretted that these traffic signal lights cannot be established at this point, as the financial condition of the city will not warrant the expenditure at this time of money for this purpose.

Very truly yours,

JOSEPH A. CONRY, Commissioner.

Placed on file.

MILTON AND BOSTON FIRE ARRANGEMENTS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, January 30, 1933.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I herewith transmit to you report from Edward F. McLaughlin, Fire Commissioner, with reference to your request regarding arrangements between Milton and Boston on fire protection. This is in reply to your order of January 16, 1933.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,

Fire Department, January 23, 1933.

Hon. James M. Curley,

Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir,—I return herewith the following order passed by the City Council on January 16, 1933:

"Ordered: That the Fire Commissioner be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to inform the City Council with reference to fire protection arrangements now existing between the City of Boston and town of Milton."

For some time mutual aid arrangements have been in operation between the town of Milton and the City of Boston, whereby the Milton Fire Department responds to certain so-called border boxes in Boston and Boston responds to certain border boxes in Milton.

In some cases it has been found that a Milton box may be sounded for a Boston fire or a Boston box sounded for a fire in Milton. Milton alarms are received at the houses of Engines 16, 19, 49; Ladder 6 and Fire Alarm Headquarters. Boston alarms are received in Milton at Fire Headquarters.

Yours very truly,
EDWARD F. McLAUGHLIN, Fire Commissioner.

Coun. BURKE—Mr. President, the fact that a seventeen-year old pumping engine is being used by the town of Milton, which loses 185 gallons of water per second, has not been included in that report. The order was introduced to secure information as to whether the Milton apparatus sent over to Boston, in carrying out the fire department cooperation between the communities, was such as to furnish adequate protection to Boston. I have been informed that Milton apparatus is antiquated, that they have a pump seventeen years of age that should long ago have been done away with, it having been shown by test that it loses 185 gallons of water per second. On the other hand, the apparatus that Boston sends into Milton is up-to-date equipment. For that reason, in order to obtain the information, I introduced the order. I find no reference made to such inadequate apparatus by the Fire Commissioner, and I suppose it will be necessary to introduce another order in order to obtain the information.

The communications were placed on file.

BUDGET FOR FISCAL YEAR.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, January 26, 1933.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—Under the provisions of section 3 of the City Charter the Mayor is required to submit the budget within thirty days after the beginning of the fiscal year.

Under existing law the city may raise $6.52 on each one thousand of the average valuation for three years, less abatements, for general municipal purposes, exclusive of schools. Since 1918 the statutory figure has proven inadequate to provide for the needs of the city. As a result it has been necessary to appeal annually to the Legislature for the right to appropriate in excess of the amount available under the $6.52 limit.

Because of the delay which has been necessary in past years in the determination of the tax limit request of the city, it was decided this year to request the Legislature to approve an appropriation limit rather than a tax limit. A bill for this purpose was filed with the Legislature, and the work of preparing the municipal budget was expedited to such a degree that budget allowances for all departments were determined on December 31 of last year. It was hoped that with prompt action by the Legislature on the request of the city to fix an appropriation limit for 1933 it would be possible to submit the budget to the Council on or before February 1. To date no hearing has been held on the city's request. Consequently, it is impossible for me to submit to your honorable body the annual budget in full segregated form.

In order to avoid any question being raised as to the submission of a budget within the time limit stated in the City Charter, I submit herewith a budget in lump sum form.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

APPROPRIATIONS AND TAX ORDERS FOR THE FINANCIAL YEAR 1933.

Ordered, That all sums of money which form no part of the income of the city, but shall be paid for services rendered or work done by any department or division for any other department or division, or for any person or corporation other than the City of Boston be paid into the general treasury, and that all contributions made to any appropriation be expended for the objects and purposes directed by the several contributors thereof.

Ordered, That all taxes raised to meet the appropriations of the city and all taxes assessed for meeting the city's proportion of the state tax for the year 1933, or for any other taxes or assessments payable to the Commonwealth, be due and payable on the fifteenth day of September, 1933; that interest shall be charged on all taxes remaining unpaid after the third day of October, 1933, in accordance with the provisions of chapter 59, section 57, of the General Laws, until paid, except the taxes assessed upon shares of national banks, which shall bear interest at the rate of 12 per cent per annum from the fifteenth day of September, 1933, until paid, and that all interest which shall have become due on taxes shall be added to and be part of such taxes.

Ordered, That except as the appropriation for any purpose or item shall be increased by additional appropriations or transfers lawfully made, no money shall be expended by any department for any of the purposes or items designated in the tables and schedules hereinafter set out in excess of the amount set down as appropriated for such specific purpose or item; and except as aforesaid, no salary or wages shall be paid in excess of the rate in said tables and schedules.

The question came on confirmation. Committee, Coun. Barker and Gallagher. Whole number of ballots 15, yeas 15, and the appointments were confirmed.

ABOLITION OF METER CHARGES.

Coun. ROBERTS offered the following:

Ordered, That the Corporation Counsel, through his Honor the Mayor, be instructed to file a petition with the Public Utilities Commission of the Commonwealth, under the General Laws, to protest charges made by the Boston Consolidated Gas Company and the Edison Electric Illuminating Company for the use of their meters in the Boston district and to petition said commission for the abolition of all such charges.

Resolved, That the Boston City Council favors the enactment of House Bill numbered 541 and all similar bills now pending before the Legislature of the Commonwealth which are calculated to bring about the abolition of the meter charges now imposed by the Boston Consolidated Gas Company and the Edison Electric Illuminating Company on certain of their meters in use in the City of Boston.

Coun. ROBERTS—Mr. President, the Joint Committee of the Legislature on Power and Light this morning held a hearing in reference to service charges made by the various utilities dealing in gas and electricity throughout the Commonwealth, and a number of members of the General Court appeared and spoke in favor of the numerous bills before the committee which propose abolition of such charges. It was interesting to note that a member from Worcester spoke of a particular charge there of 35 cents, while our charges by the Gas Company and the Edison Company respectively are 50 and 75 cents. This is particularly hard to understand that our meters are more centrally located, more easy to get at, and the service charges certainly should be no larger. In reference to the bills that were heard, it was the general consensus of opinion that if anything was done toward abolishing or reducing such charges the responsibility for action would apparently be on the Legislature rather than on the Department of Public Utilities. There have been several orders introduced, one by myself, calling upon his Honor the Mayor to file a protest with the Public Utilities Commission in regard to this matter, but, in my opinion, our relief, if any, is going to come through the Legislature itself and not through the commission. I ask therefore that the order be passed under suspension of the rule.

The orders were severally passed under suspension of the rule.

STREET STANDS IN BRIGHTON.

Coun. HEIN offered the following:

Ordered, That the Board of Street Commissioners be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, not to grant any licenses for street stands on Harvard avenue, Brighton, and its vicinity, except to the owners or tenants of the buildings in front of which such stands are located, and to revoke any licenses heretofore granted which do not conform to this condition.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

REPORT OF FAMILIES TO PUBLIC WELFARE OVERSEERS.

Coun. DOWD offered the following:

Ordered, That the Overseers of Public Welfare be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to dispense with the rule where they now compel more than one member of a family to report to that department in return for aid received.

Coun. DOWD—Mr. President, it would appear that families now receiving aid through the Department of Public Welfare have to suffer from an arbitrary ruling made by the Board, simply apparently to inconvenience those persons who have to apply to the Welfare Department for aid. During the last month several cases have been called to my attention, one in particular in my ward where a man and his wife and boy, a boy of twenty-one, receive $7 a week. The man works two days and is compelled to report the other five days, and the boy, who is twenty-one years of age and is not working, is obliged also to go down there. It certainly seems unfair to compel two people in a family to report in that way, where one is working two days, and when the amount received is only $7. But not only does the father have to report but the son has to go down every day in the week, spending a dollar for carfare out of the $7 received. This seems to be simply the result of an arbitrary ruling on their part. Talking to DeMarco down there, one of the visitors, he told me that he believed a man might very well walk from Roxbury down to Hawkins street every day. I wonder how DeMarco himself or some of the other hard-boiled visitors would enjoy that sort of thing. The Mayor called some of these people before him at a hearing one day and said that they acted more like masters than servants. It might be a good thing to require a few of those visitors to walk from Roxbury or Dorchester in to Hawkins street. I say that it is absolutely unfair, when one man is working—and, God knows, not receiving too much,—not only to compel him but his son to continue to go down there, depriving him of any opportunity he might have to obtain employment.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

RECESS.

The Council voted at 2.32 p. m., on motion of Coun. ENGLERT, to take a recess subject to the call of the Chair. The members reassembled in the Council Chamber and were called to order by President McGRATH at 3 p. m.

Farren, widow of Charles T. FINANCING SEWAGE WORKS BY SPECIAL ASSESSMENT IN IOWA.

The cost of constructing sewage disposal plants in a number of states, and in Iowa in particular, may be levied against the various lots, parts of lots or parcels of ground draining to, or susceptible to drainage to, the site of the disposal plant. Such assessments must be in proportion to the benefits to each property and must not, in any case, exceed one-fourth of the fair value of the property in question. These special assessments are payable in the same manner as other municipal improvement costs; that is, in ten annual equal installments, paid at the same time and place as the March 1 installment of ordinary taxes in Iowa. Any property owner may pay off the unpaid portion of such tax at any time. Interest on the deferred payments must not exceed 6 per cent.

MUNICIPAL CREDIT PLAN.

Rochester's Municipal Credit Plan proposal of Mayor Owen, introduced in the State Senate on February 11, has caused considerable comment in financial and governmental circles. As stated in section 1 of the bill, its purpose is for the alleviation of an emergency created by a strained economic depression. It is well known that the credit of municipalities, generally, is strained as a result of increased expenditures for welfare purposes, paralleled by a marked decrease in the value of taxable property. The buyers of municipal securities look askance upon the balance sheets of cities.

Mayor Owen's proposal is that a state agency be created by the Legislature, to be known as "The Public Credit and Sinking Fund Corporation of the State of New York." This corporation shall have the power "to invest in, purchase and sell obligations of the state and obligations of any municipal corporation or public district or agency of the state" with limitations. After April 1, 1933, no obligations maturing subsequent to April 1, 1938, shall be purchased. All municipal securities shall yield 5 per cent at maturity.

CHICAGO TRAFFIC POLICE IN YEAR-LONG DRIVE.

Chicago traffic experts have promised a 50 per cent decrease in deaths from motor-car accidents, as a result of a week-by-week drive now in operation by Commissioner Russell of the Police Department to enforce the city traffic code. The drive, an outgrowth of the National Safety Congress and Chicago Safety Week recently held in Chicago, is expected to prove a valuable educational feature for drivers, pedestrians and policemen.

NEW INCINERATOR IN OPERATION IN MONTREAL.

In the past summer Montreal, Que., completed a new garbage incinerator in the west end of the city, which marks another step forward in the removal and destruction of this kind of waste material. This is the second incinerator built within a year and carries into effect the original plan of having two incinerators, one at the east end of the city and the other at the west end. The total cost of the Sterling type incinerator, which was installed by Bartlett and Snow of Canada, Limited, was $400,000, including all equipment. The contractors were the St. George Construction Company of Montreal.

The incinerator has a capacity of three hundred tons of garbage a day of twenty-four hours. It will do away with the large garbage dump on the river front, the noxious odors from which have been the cause of many complaints.

NO-PARKING ZONES FOR SCHOOLS REDUCE PEDESTRIAN HAZARD.

Minneapolis has passed an ordinance which establishes all streets on sides adjacent to schools as no-parking zones from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. This is particularly significant since records have shown that a large per cent of child accidents have been due to children stepping out from behind parked cars.

These zones are painted yellow and serve to attract the attention of the motorist as well as to give him a clear vision while passing the school.

HIGHWAY WORK TO RELIEVE UNEMPLOYMENT.

Highway officials throughout the United States are earnestly besought to put as many men to work as possible. The total disbursements for all road purposes in this country during the ten-year period 1922-1931 are computed by the United States Bureau of Public Roads to be about $14,000,000,000, more than half of this by and for the State Highway Departments. The Bureau last May came to the conclusion that the man-month expenditure was then about $300 with a downward trend and that for every man employed directly on the job, two others are employed indirectly in the preparation of materials, manufacture of machinery, transportation, etc. Thus the total of $4,637,000,000 expended for the construction of state and Federal roads during the ten-year period referred to means 13,248,571 man-months—the equivalent of the steady employment of approximately 110,000 men for the ten years, with 220,000 others employed indirectly. Similarly, the money spent on construction of local roads must have given direct employment to 51,000, with 102,000 others indirectly employed. This would make a grand total, continuously employed in road building, of 483,000 men.

ANNUAL REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT

A communication was received from the Superintendent, under date of Jan. 16, 1933 submitting the fiftieth annual report of the Superintendent of Public Schools. The report covers the school year ending Aug. 31, 1932.

The report was accepted.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That this Committee hereby adopts as its Annual Report for the year 1932, the Annual Report of the Superintendent, being School Document No. 1, 1932 and that one thousand (1,000) copies be printed.

Chairman: In connection with the Superintendent's Report: At the last meeting I announced that the Report would be accepted shortly and that it had been epitomized into some seventeen outstanding achievements. These achievements, summarized, have been given to the members of the Committee and I suggest that they be incorporated into the public record and made available to the Press, because I think that it is a record of accomplishment that deserves the commendation of all in this community who are interested in public education.

Mr. Campbell has been in office but a year and this record indicates that he has grasped the problems of his position and brought to fruition the policies of the School Committee with admirable efficiency. I am sure that the other members join with me in complimenting the Superintendent on his accomplishments.

The seventeen outstanding achievements referred to by the Chairman are as follows:

Survey of commercial education by a committee of teachers and the development of a revised course of study in commercial branches.

The Assistant Director of Evening and Summer Schools was promoted to Principal of the Boston Trade School. The position of Assistant Director was not filled, thus saving $4752.00 per year.

The Educational Statistician was appointed Director of Commercial Education. As his former position was not filled, the Committee was able to secure the services of a much needed Director without increasing the annual budget.

A complete survey of school districts throughout the city was made by the Budgetary Committee with the aid of the statistician and the commercial co-ordinator.

As a result of the above-mentioned survey the School Committee, by combinations of elementary districts, was able to open four new intermediate schools with the addition of but one new principal, a saving of $19,584 annually.

Through the Assistant Superintendent in charge of elementary and primary instruction, intensive investigation was made of reading problems, grades I-VIII, in order to devise means to lessen retardation which adds greatly to the cost of education.

As a result of this investigation there was established at The Teachers College a reading clinic for non-readers with special difficulties. This likewise will reduce retardation and result in a considerable saving.

There was inaugurated at The Teachers College a course in commercial education in order to create an adequate supply of teachers thoroughly prepared to instruct the pupils in commercial branches. This new course added to the budget only the cost of typewriters purchased for the new course.

Through the Assistant Superintendent in charge there was a very marked and notable development of supervision of heads of departments undertaken in co-operation with the teachers in the high schools.

Through the Superintendent and Assistant Superintendent in charge, a study was made of re-organization of intermediate schools on the pupil-hour basis. The study is still in process.

A study of the grades received by candidates for admission to The Teachers College in June, 1932, indicates a marked improvement on the part of the graduates of our high schools in meeting the demands of The Teachers College.

A study of the grades received by candidates from Boston schools in the College Entrance Examination Board Tests during the last three years shows a constant improvement in the scholastic output of our high and Latin schools.

Of 3230 answer books presented by all of the Boston candidates, 72.5 per cent were passable.

Of 1340 answer books presented by candidates from Boston Public Schools who had received 'A' or 'B' in the home schools 92 per cent were passable, a record not equaled by the candidates from any other state in the country.

Of 192 candidates admitted to Harvard College in September 1932 with honor grades 33 were prepared in Boston Public Schools.

Of the 9 scholarships assigned by the Institute of Technology to admission candidates from all New England 5 were awarded to boys prepared in Boston Public Schools.

The annual report of the faculty of the Institute of Technology for the year 1931-32 gives us the gratifying information that 2 Boston Public Schools led the whole country in the number of students who were placed in the three highest ranks of scholarship. From one school 33 boys were on this honor list, another 16. The total number of Boston Public School boys on the Honor Roll at Technology was 64.

The report of the Dean of Harvard College for the scholastic year ending June, 1932, announces that a Boston Public School leads all the schools of the country in the number of boys placed on the dean's list for the year. These figures can be duplicated from the records of other colleges to which Boston has sent boys and girls.

The Committee established the South End Intermediate School in the Continuation School Building in order to use fully the resources of that institution. This new school also relieved the pressure on the ninth grade of the English High School and the Girls High School.

Masters were requested to send directly to the Superintendent all requisitions upon the Department of School Buildings. Careful scrutiny of these requests by Mr. Mahar, in co-operation with the Department of School Buildings, has resulted in a very considerable saving in the expenditure for repairs and alterations.

Schools and districts were re-assigned to the Assistant Superintendents in such a way that each Assistant Superintendent now has in his care a group of contiguous schools and districts. Because of this concentration the Assistant Superintendents have been able to give more of their time to immediate supervision. This re-grouping also makes easier a re-assignment of Assistant Superintendents in the future.

There was organized a Committee to investigate the whole field of industrial education in Boston schools. This Committee which is now at work consists of representatives of labor, of employers, and educational experts outside the Boston school system.

The teaching load of heads of departments in all the high schools was increased. This re-adjustment saved the appointment of several teachers in the high schools for the year 1931-32.

REPORTS TO ORGANIZATIONS

The Chairman stated that he has been asked by several organizations for reports or answers on questions which have been presented to the Committee by those organizations on various subjects. Tonight the Committee dealt almost exclusively with the Budget, trying to determine the course to pursue on the salary question, and that occupied so much time that the Committee did not take up the questions in which these organizations are interested. The Committee will, however, meet in conference again this week and perhaps at that time may be able to send reports as requested.

GOVERNMENT IN BUSINESS.

For many years we have heard innumerable bankers, business men and professional men talk about too much government in business. But these same people are constantly before legislatures asking government to do something to protect their selfish interests. The doctor, the lawyer, the dentist, and each profession is always asking the government to make the entrance to their unions more difficult not with the idea of protecting the people but with the hope of stopping or reducing competition. The local merchant is always asking the council, the state and the nation to prohibit competition by peddlers and transient merchants. When the winds of depleted deposits began to whirl about the banks the government was asked to bear the burden, and if official authority is to be believed the government and the politicians saved the banks and not the high-browed presidents and directors of the banks. The real truth is that we do not want government to interfere with us in our desires, but do ask government to enter business in any and every conceivable way that we think will help us make a little more money of the realm.

MORTALITY OF UNITED STATES LOW.

According to Bureau of Census statistics the mortality rate in the United States in 1931 was the lowest since the Federal Government began collecting mortality statistics in 1900.

CHICAGO POLICE.

Although the numerical strength of the Chicago police department has been reduced in the last two years from approximately 6,700 to 6,000, the number of men on foot patrol has been increased 150 per cent, or about 1,900.

TWO OF EVERY 1,000 INHABITANTS ARE POLICE EMPLOYEES IN THE AVERAGE LARGE CITY.

About two of every 1,000 persons in the average city are employed in city police departments. Jersey City has the greatest percentage of police defense of any of the cities of over 250,000 population reporting to the Bureau of Investigation, Department of Justice, according to statements published in a recent issue of the monthly publication, "Uniform Crime Reports." In the total population of 316,715, there are 1,154 Police Department employees, or 3.6 per 1,000 inhabitants.

Birmingham, Ala., is at the other end of the scale among the cities of over 250,000, with one police department employee per 1,000 inhabitants, or a total of 260 in a population of 259,678.

Boston, with a population of 781,188, has 2,579 police department employees, or 3.3 per 1,000. Newark, N. J., with 442,337 inhabitants, has 1,383 police employees, or 3.1 per 1,000. Chicago has only two per 1,000, there being a total of 6,742 police employees for the city's 3,276,438 people.

Among other cities which have reported such statistics to the Bureau are:

Baltimore, with 2.3 police department employees per 1,000 inhabitants; Buffalo, with 2.3; Cincinnati, with 1.5; Cleveland, with 1.7; Columbus, with 1.2; Dallas, with 1.1; Denver, with 1.5; Detroit, with 2.6; Houston, with 1.2; Indianapolis, with 1.6; Kansas City, with 1.7; Louisville, with 1.6.

Milwaukee has two police department employees per 1,000 of the population; Minneapolis has 1.2; New Orleans has 1.9; Oakland, Cal., has 1.4; Philadelphia has 2.8; Portland, Ore., has 1.5; Providence, R. I., has 2.4; Rochester has 1.6.

In St. Louis, the percentage is 2.8 per 1,000; in St. Paul, 1.3; in San Francisco, 2.2; in Seattle, 1.9; in Toledo, 1.5; and in Washington, 2.9.

THE SIGNIFICANCE OF ARSON OFTEN OVERLOOKED.

"Incendiary fires play a considerable part in the amount that each citizen must pay for the insurance protection which is so essential for him to have on his home or other property," A. Bruce Bielaski, assistant to the General Manager of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, told members of the National Fire Waste Council at their recent conference in Washington. "The rates paid for insurance must of necessity be sufficient to cover losses of all characters and, if possible, to leave for the insurance company a reasonable return for the service it renders. It will pay the individual citizen in dollars and cents to take a real interest in the detection and prosecution of those responsible for incendiary fires."

THE METROPOLITAN DISTRICT. With its 43 Municipalities.

Consists in the most inclusive sense of forty-three municipalities, including Boston, or fourteen cities and twenty-nine towns, all within fifteen miles of the State House but not yet consolidated in one complete governmental system. The seven cities in the first zone, i. e., adjacent to Boston, are these, viz., Cambridge, Chelsea, Everett, Newton, Quincy, Revere and Somerville; the six cities in the second zone, not adjacent, are Lynn, Malden, Medford, Melrose, Waltham and Woburn. The six adjacent towns are Brookline, Dedham, Milton, Needham, Watertown and Winthrop; the twenty other towns are Arlington, Belmont, Braintree, Canton, Cohasset, Dover, Hingham, Hull, Lexington, Nahant, Norwood, Reading, Saugus, Stoneham, Stoughton, Swampscott, Wakefield, Walpole, Wellesley, Weston, Westwood, Weymouth and Winchester. North and northwest of Boston are situated eleven of the cities and twelve of the towns; south and southwest, two cities and seventeen towns. Norwood, Stoughton and Walpole were admitted into the South System of the Metropolitan Sewerage District in 1928.

UNITED STATES FOREIGN TRADE IN SILVER.

Although the United States is the second largest producer of silver, its exports of the metal exceed total annual production according to the United States Department of Commerce reports. Much silver is received for refining or transshipment. Most of this imported silver comes from Mexico, as evident from the following import figures, in millions of dollars: Mexico, 40.5 in 1929, 24.9 in 1930, and 11 in the first eight months of 1931; Canada, 6.4, 6.1, and 2.5, respectively; Peru, 10.4, 5.9, and 1.6; Chile, 2.3, 1.8, and 0.6; and all countries, 63.9, 42.8, and 18.3.

United States exports of silver go chiefly to China (including Hong Kong), British India, and the United Kingdom (whence they are sold largely to other countries). Shipments to leading countries and the total are summarized in millions of dollars, for 1929, 1930, and the first eight months of 1931, as follows: China and Hong Kong, 64.6, 37.8, and 8.5, respectively, of which China accounted for 61.8, 31.8, and 7.7; British India, 8.9, 9.6, and 4.6; the United Kingdom, 0.1, 2.1, and 3.4; Canada, 2.4, 1.8, and 1.1; Mexico, 5.2, 1.4, and 0.7; Germany, 1.5, 1, and 0.7; and all countries, 83.4, 54.2, and 19.2.

SAFE DRIVING.

Most cities and towns have a long list of "dout's" but do little to educate the drivers of cars. If one half the time that is used trying to make people do something or not to do something was spent in educating the drivers much better results would be obtained. We need drivers' schools and the city or town that first starts such a school will be doing a real service.

CENSUS OF MANUFACTURES.

The Bureau of the Census issued a statement at the close of 1932 giving some preliminary figures compiled from the 1931 biennial census of manufactures, covering more than 300 industries in the United States. Public utility industries (other than manufactured gas), the mining and quarry industries and various service industries were not included in the compilation. The printing, publishing and allied industries are included.

Number of establishments, 174,136, a decrease of 36,823 or 17.5 per cent in two years; average number of wage earners, 6,511,647, a decrease of 2,327,096 or 26.3 per cent in two years; wages (not including salaried officers and employees), $7,225,587,464, a decrease of $4,395,385,790 or 37.8 per cent from 1929; cost of materials, containers for products, fuel and purchased electric energy, $21,420,124,017, a decrease of $17,129,455,715 or 44.4 per cent in the two years; value of products, $41,333,108,998, a decrease of $29,101,754,445 or 41.3 per cent since 1929; value added by manufacture, $19,912,984,981, a decrease of $11,972,298,730 or 37.5 per cent in two years.

Food and kindred products led in the number of establishments reporting, also in cost of materials and value of products; textiles and their products led in the average number of wage earners, amount of wages and value added by manufacture.

FAILURE TO MAINTAIN CITY STREETS IS FALSE ECONOMY.

Money now saved by failure to maintain city streets, in response to the clamor of citizens for tax reduction, represents a trivial economy in comparison with the enormous outlay that will be required to rebuild such thoroughfares later. Taxpayers in some municipalities, determined to reduce public expenditures, have gone so far as to insist upon elimination of funds sorely needed for the maintenance of existing streets. In other places, even though money for street maintenance is available, powerful minority groups are demanding that it be not spent under present conditions.—The American City.

TORONTO PORT TRADE SHOWS INCREASE.

The new Welland Canal, now in its first season of navigation, is responsible for an increase over 1930 of about 60 per cent in Toronto shipping, according to tonnage statistics released by the Toronto Harbor Commission. During the season just passed this shipping totaled 2,115,830 tons.

Shipping in 1932 should also increase proportionately, since a new deep channel will have been dredged before opening of navigation in the spring. In the five-year period ending in 1925, the average tonnage for Toronto shipping was 334,300 tons; but since then harbor improvements and the completion of the Welland Canal have enlarged this figure about sixfold.

MONTHLY PAYMENT OF TAXES ON REAL ESTATE RECOMMENDED.

The Committee on Public Relations of the United States Building and Loan League, of which Henry S. Rosenthal, of Cincinnati, is chairman, has recently recommended that taxes on real estate be paid on a monthly basis instead of semi-annually or annually as is now the custom. It is argued that the burden of taxes would not be noticed so much if met each month. Taxes would then be in the same class with gas, electric, and telephone charges, and could be easily anticipated. The monthly payment of taxes, it is stated, would keep money constantly flowing into the treasury of the city or other local government and thus obviate temporary borrowing.

GREAT LACK OF RURAL HEALTH SERVICE FACILITIES OFFICIALLY INDICATED.

Only 25 per cent of the rural population of the United States is at present provided with adequate and properly organized local health service, reports Surgeon General H. S. Cumming in his annual resume of the work of the United States Public Health Service during the past fiscal year, which has just been submitted to Congress.

OFFICIAL CHRONICLE OF BOSTON MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

VOL. 25.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1933.

No. 6

MAYOR CURLEY LAUDS PRESIDENT-ELECT ROOSEVELT'S TENNESSEE BASIN IMPROVEMENT PROJECT AS GREATEST BOON IN MANY YEARS TO NEW ENGLAND AS WELL AS UNITED STATES—PREDICTS IT WILL RELIEVE UNEMPLOYMENT DISTRESS, START BUSINESS REVIVAL, AID FARMERS AND GO FAR TOWARD RESTORING PROSPERITY.

Mayor James M. Curley, speaking over WNAC at 2 p. m., Monday, February 6, said in part as follows:

Friends of the Radio Audience.

We discussed on Monday last unemployment conditions and improvements made in the park system and, also, the question of what to do with the time that hangs so heavily upon the hands of those who are without employment. It was the purpose of the city to open up recreational and educational courses in the various municipal buildings throughout Boston, and we were agreeably surprised and pleased with the unprecedented attendance that has been in evidence in every one of the municipal buildings in the city since Tuesday last.

We are all hopeful, and we all have a firm faith that the depression which has weighed so heavily upon the people of America during the past three years will shortly be replaced by industrial prosperity and restoration of equality of opportunity for the individual citizen in the country, but until such time that industrial revival makes possible the absorption of a considerable portion of the nearly fourteen millions of women and men unemployed, it is essential not only that we provide for their personal welfare but that we give some little consideration to their mental attitude.

I recall about a year ago visiting the Seaview Golf Club in New Jersey, and I was painfully surprised by the extremely few members of the club that were there. It was a beautiful day, an excellent clubhouse, and a very fine golf course, and naturally I, being curious, asked a member as to the reason for the nonattendance. He said, "why, Mr. Mayor, we have lost 350 members from this organization in the last two years." I said, "That is too bad." He said, "We have had forty suicides." Now when you consider that the Seaview Golf Club fees for the first year represents an expenditure of $1,500, you have some appreciation of just what this means to ordinary men, not in extremely well-to-do circumstances, who have, through the loss of perhaps the savings of a lifetime, or through the loss of business, reached that point in life when it seems impossible to recreate a fortune once more.

A short while after I talked with a member of the New York Athletic Club and told him of my experience, and he said that it did not differ very much from the New York Athletic Club. A man must not only be in good standing financially but extremely well-to-do to be a member of this club. In the last two years, he stated, "we have lost 500 in membership and we have had over forty suicides in that period of time."

Suicides in United States More Than World War Killed.

I went to the convention in Chicago in June and was sitting in one evening, with a group of newspapermen, and I referred to my experience with the member of the New York Athletic Club, and one of the newspaper men spoke up and said, "I was assigned by my paper to compile a list of suicides in America during the last two years, and when the list compiled by me equalled the number of Americans killed in the World War, I was told to destroy the list." That is a very serious situation in the life of America.

Within the last seventy-two hours we have had an announcement by the President-elect of a program of rehabilitation, of development and expansion in the Mississippi Valley region, in the allocation of sufficient funds for the development of flood control on the Tennessee river, and for the ending of soil erosion. This will mean so much to America if carried to fruition. The Tennessee river is one of the numerous tributaries of the Mississippi river. The Mississippi river with its tributaries, tapping thirty-eight of the forty-eight states in the Union, providing the experiment in reforestation, in flood control, and in the ending of soil erosion, the development of hydro-electric energy, and the increase in navigation of the Tennessee river, may ultimately mean the formation of a similar program, not only to the Mississippi, but to all the principle tributaries of that river.

In that event it would result in the development of what might properly be termed a new coastline for the United States of America, a new coastline in the heart of the nation, in the grain belt where cereals are grown, where coal is mined, not by digging into the depths of the earth, but by the steam shovel method; where iron is mined in a similar manner.

It would mean, even though it might require a five-year period, the absorption of more than a million men in a short period of time to carry on this work. It would mean, with the completion of the development and the ending of soil erosion and with proper flood control and the extension of the Mississippi river to the Great Lakes direct water transportation from the heart of the United States to every portion of the entire world. It would triple the value of the Panama Canal overnight, and would give us an advantage of three thousand miles of sailing distance over any European nation in the matter of water transportation.

BOSTON STANDS TO LOSE $1,000,000 IF CITIES AND TOWNS ARE DEPRIVED OF THEIR SHARE OF GASOLENE TAX, THUS ADDING $1 PER THOUSAND TO BURDEN REAL ESTATE WILL BE FORCED TO BEAR—WARNING STATEMENT IS ISSUED.

According to statistics compiled for Mayor Curley by depriving the cities and towns of the state of their share of the gasoline tax an added burden of $1 per $1,000 of valuation will be placed upon real estate. A conservative estimate of loss to Boston will be about $1,000,000. The statement as presented is as follows:

The popular vote of the state was recorded against the gasoline tax in 1926 or 1928 by a majority of over 300,000 votes. The Legislature of 1929, in spite of this fact, voted a 2 cent tax on gasoline, the proceeds to be expended upon state roads.

In 1931 an additional 1 cent tax was placed upon gasoline, the proceeds from which were distributed among cities and towns.

Depriving the cities and towns of their share of the gasoline tax will add an extra tax burden upon real estate equal to $1 per $1,000 valuation.

1932.	1933.
State tax $9,750,000	State tax $8,750,000
Surplus or free cash expended 2,148,000	Gasolene tax taken away from cities and towns 5,550,000
$11,898,000	$14,300,000

Decrease in estimated revenue for 1932 would have caused a deficit, unless surplus was used.

Decrease in estimated revenue for 1933 would cause a deficit without gas tax.

A $200,000 state tax that city will receive is really being taken out of state employees' pay cut.

Save state tax	$200,000
Lose on gas tax	1,200,000
Losing	$1,000,000

Boston losing $1,000,000 — conservative.

I had an experience in 1922, during the so-called coal famine, which is interesting. It is customary every once in a while when the amount of slag and waste deposited at the mouth of the mine in Pennsylvania grows to such proportion that it becomes too expensive to operate the mine, because of the accumulation, to engineer a strike, or declare one, in order to unload upon the people of New England the scum of the mine at about $20 a ton as against $16, and one of these situations developed in 1922 with a result that coal reached a price of $22 a ton for Pennsylvania anthracite, at about the height of the so-called coal famine, manufactured famine if you will.

A group of gentlemen waited on the Mayor of Boston and requested permission to erect a booth on Boston Common in order that they might make visible a display of the advantages of Kentucky coal as against Pennsylvania coal. Of course, I naturally became skeptical and requested that they send me samples. I sent the samples to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, where it was discovered that the Kentucky coal contained a higher British thermal heat unit than the Pennsylvania coal and a lower ash content and, of course, naturally I granted the permit, and requested information from the gentleman from Kentucky as to why coal of that character was not always shipped to New England in competition with Pennsylvania. They said "We can't, because of the excessive freight rates," "it costs $5.80 a ton for coal shipped from Kentucky as against $3.80 a ton from Pennsylvania."

Of course, naturally I asked, "well, in the event that the Mississippi river was made navigable for the greater portion of the year, how much could that coal be delivered in New England for?" He stated, "$1.40 a ton to New England." If it was so delivered it would be possible to sell it at $3 a ton less than New England pays for Pennsylvania coal.

I figured the proposition out. We, in New England, were paying tribute of over $200,000,000 to the anthracite regions of Pennsylvania, simply because of our failure to develop the facilities that are within the grasp of the people of United States through a proper development of the Mississippi river. Why, it would mean the scouring of the bed of the river by the river itself. It would accelerate the speed of the river from four to eight miles an hour. It is a project—even the Tennessee river, the first branch of the project, is one that unquestionably will be opposed by the railroads and the lighting interests for fear of encroachment on their reserves. Let it be remembered that in the past three years the railroads of the United States have dispensed with the services of more than one million women and men. There is now no possibility for the United States to achieve the position so long held in the world of railroad freight transportation in competition with the nations of Europe and the character of speedy commercial carriers of enormous size that they are building every year. The day has gone by when the United States can haul from the Mississippi Valley over either the Appalachian or Rocky Mountain Ranges bulk products in competition with water carriers. The future of railroads in America, in my opinion, is dependent wholly upon the prosperity of the farmers of America. The farmers represent one in every four of the total population of America, and one in every three of the remaining three quarters of the population is dependent upon the farmer for his prosperity.

Franklin D. Roosevelt in recommending the development of the Tennessee river is recommending a program that means the restoration of prosperity to the farmer, and with prosperity to the farmer we may reasonably feel assured that it will shortly be in the province of every individual in the United States. God speed the day and the hour.

STATEMENT OF MAYOR JAMES M. CURLEY ON THE ESTABLISHMENT OF THE BAY STATE LEGIONNAIRE BY THE AMERICAN LEGION.

It is an exceeding pleasure to extend congratulations to the Massachusetts Department of the American Legion in their new field of service and usefulness in the establishment of an official publication to be known as the Bay State Legionnaire.

With the passing of the Grand Army of the Republic, the opportunity for service to the United States by the membership of the American Legion is not only necessary but vital to the promotion of a higher order of patriotism and a more profound appreciation of the duties and responsibilities of citizenship. With a membership recruited from every state and subdivisions of states in the Union, the American Legion is in a position to direct public sentiment and make possible its crystallization in the enactment of laws beneficial to the entire people. Publications such as the Bay State Legionnaire is destined to become, presents opportunity not only for the expression but for the molding of public opinion in a way that is vital and I trust that every success will attend the efforts of the Massachusetts Department of the American Legion in their new field of activity and service.

TO REMOVE ICE AND SNOW EASILY.

In certain special emergency cases, as in traffic areas, it may be desirable to entirely remove thick, heavy accumulations of ice and hardened snow which, because they usually become badly rutted, are a cause of dangerous traffic conditions. In such cases the application of flake calcium chloride by means of a mechanical spreader at the rate of three quarters to one pound per square yard will soon loosen the entire ice coating, permitting its removal from the pavement by hand or mechanical means.

For this purpose, a solution containing from 25 to 30 per cent of calcium chloride, which figures 2.85 to 3.75 pounds per gallon of solution, may be employed. Such solutions, especially if made up with warm water and applied by a street flusher equipped with nozzles which throw a finely divided high-pressure spray, have proved highly efficient for this purpose. As soon as the ice has become loosened from the pavement surface, it should be removed and an extremely light treatment of coarse sand applied to the surface.

VETO OF ORDER FOR MUNICIPAL LIGHTING PLANT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, February 1, 1933.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen,—I return herewith without my signature and disapprove your order passed January 23, 1933, for the establishing of a municipal electric lighting plant.

Under date of December 31, 1932, I vetoed an identical order in a message from which the following two paragraphs are quoted:

"Chapter 164 of the General Laws describes the conditions under which a municipality may establish a lighting plant, and, in the case of a city such as Boston, where electric light and gas companies are already established and serving a large portion of the metropolitan district, it requires no great study to make it evident that these conditions render it practically impossible from a financial standpoint for the city to engage in the business of manufacturing gas or electricity.

"Even if the city were in a financial condition to engage in this enterprise the handicap would be too great for its success until such time as the Legislature sees fit to amend the laws so that a municipal corporation may establish a lighting plant without being under the obligation of purchasing existing plants."

The situation has not changed in the month that has elapsed since this veto was submitted and the same reasons constrain me to veto the pending order.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

FOOD FOR CITY INSTITUTIONS.

Coun. DOWD offered the following:

That his Honor the Mayor request the Purchasing Agent to continue to buy the best quality of food for our city institutions.

Coun. DOWD—Mr. President, I was rather amused and astonished to see a report of the Finance Commission in which they recommend that our Purchasing Agent of the City of Boston buy an inferior grade of meat and food for those in our city institutions. I believe if there is one thing the taxpayers of Boston would like to see done it is to have the inmates at Long Island, where they will spend the rest of their lives, at the different institutions, our Sanatorium and our City Hospital, given the best food that it is possible to obtain. In a report issued by the Finance Commission December 15, 1931, they criticize the fact that frozen chicken and pork were delivered to the hospital in place of fresh meat. That is, they felt a short time ago that the meats furnished were not good enough, but today they state that those poor souls who are bedridden and perhaps will never walk again are getting better meat than they should. It was perfectly all right, so far as the chairman of the Finance Commission was concerned, for the city to pay 10 to 100 per cent more for frozen meat and chicken, until we compelled an investigation, because it did not cost the chairman of that commission or a few other people connected with the City of Boston a five-cent piece for anything they placed on their tables, because it was given to them by certain firms and they were not compelled to pay. But now that we have got meat and every other business down to practically a competitive basis, the Finance Commission says, "Don't give those poor souls the grade of food that you are giving them." I say to the Mayor and to the Purchasing Agent that it is commendable on their part to see to it that the poor suffering patients in the hospitals and in other institutions are given the best possible food that we can obtain.

Coun. KELLY—Mr. President, I am very much interested in that particular order introduced by my colleague from Ward 8, because of the fact that I happened to be chairman of the Hospital Committee of the Council both last year and this year, and I have on different occasions in my visits to the hospital, both to the wards and to the kitchen, had occasion to inspect food that is being served to the patients. I claim that that is one of the last places where economy should be metered out, at the expense of the sick of Boston. No one knows but tomorrow my mother, your mother, Mr. President, or some one near and dear to each of us, may be an inmate of the Boston City Hospital, and I know that we would want such a person as well treated as possible, that we would certainly want our mothers or any members of our families to get the best. I also think we are fair-minded enough so that we would want our constituents or any members of their families properly treated at the City Hospital or at Long Island, getting the very best of food. They talk of economy. When it comes to economy, let us start with the City Hospital last. Let us begin with the pet contractors, these men who are mulcting the city out of millions a year, at the expense of the taxpayers of Boston. In that respect I am in a position to prove my statements, and I will do so tomorrow afternoon before the legislative committee at the State House at 2.30. I am in a position to show graft and corruption in this City of Boston. But when anybody attempts to take away from those poor afflicted people good food, I think it is unfair and wrong, because anybody going there—and, as I say, it may be your mother, brother or sister, or mine, tomorrow, as an inmate of the hospital—is entitled to the best of food. We give it to them at home under such conditions, and we want them to receive it at the City Hospital. Therefore, I could not help arising and expressing for the record my sentiments, restating the position I have taken from time immemorial on this matter. I feel that it is a matter of great importance, and I believe every member of the City Council agrees with me.

Coun. FISH—Mr. President, I have heard certain rumors of irregularities at Long Island within the last few days, and I would suggest that the Hospital Committee investigate the food and supplies shipped to Long Island. We have a Hospital Committee here, and let us investigate the conditions that exist.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

RADIO SYSTEM FOR POLICE.

Coun. RUBY offered the following:

Ordered, That the Police Commissioner be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, that because of the immediate emergency existing, a sum sufficient be included in the budget for this year for the immediate installation of a short wave radio-equipped system for the Police Department of the City of Boston.

Coun. RUBY—Mr. President, why our Police Commissioner should continue to deem it inadvisable to equip the Police Department of the City of Boston, one of the largest cities in the country, with the best possible short wave radio system, to apprehend criminals, I cannot seem to understand. For over a year now, orders have been passed by this body approving of the equipment of the police system with the short wave radio. Since the first order was introduced there have been perhaps half a dozen or more of the most atrocious murders committed in this city, and in spite of that fact our Police Commissioner—with whom I have no quarrel—still deems it unwise to equip the department with the one sure way of apprehending criminals. A short while ago an eighty-six year old man was murdered in his little neighborhood grocery store in the Ward 10 section of Boston. Since that time others have been viciously murdered. The murderers have not been apprehended, and still no move has been made by the Police Department to adopt the most vital means of safeguarding the citizens of Boston. I wonder, Mr. President, how many thousands and thousands of dollars it has cost us the last year to provide detectives and criminal investigation bureau facilities in this city for traveling throughout the length and breadth of the country trying to apprehend criminals because of the felonious offences committed in this city. If my information is correct, in the last six or seven months there has not been a man accused of murder in Boston who has been apprehended unless, if you please, we take into consideration those young men who, finding themselves accused of a crime, voluntarily stepped into police headquarters and surrendered. How many have the police been able to catch? Only a few days ago—and I hardly deem it necessary to take the time of this body to go into the thing—a murder was committed at four o'clock in the morning at one of the night clubs of this city. An automobile containing six of the men whom it is alleged were connected with that murder was allowed to proceed by two police officers in Boston because the police were not informed of the murder. By reason of lack of a radio-equipped police station these men were permitted to get away, and I dare say it will cost almost as much to apprehend these men, to capture them, as it would cost to equip the City of Boston with a short wave radio system such as we in the Boston City Council have advocated for over a year. Only a short while ago, at the suggestion of the Police Commissioner, we appropriated a thousand dollars for the Massachusetts Institute of Technology to give us a survey and their idea of the wisdom or unwisdom of equipping the Police Department of the city with such a system. But in spite of the fact, Mr. President, that Philadelphia, New York, Cleveland, Chicago, Detroit, Somerville, Cambridge, and practically every city of ordinary size in this country, has seen fit to equip its police department with this so necessary equipment, no steps have been taken to introduce it in Boston. We spent a thousand dollars for an investigation; we have not yet seen the report from the Institute of Technology as to whether they advise or do not advise the introduction of this system. Must we wait until every decent, respectable citizen of Boston is man-handled, murdered or robbed, before waking up to the necessity of introducing such an important system into our Police Department? They tell me, Mr. President, that we could be brought into court if we did not approve the police budget when presented to us. I say now, Mr. President, that unless the Police Commissioner of Boston immediately provides in the present budget—which we will get in a few weeks—for the introduction of this system I shall refuse to vote one single sum for the Police Department, because I believe an expenditure for radio equipment is more vital than anything that the Police Department can do from now on.

Coun. FISH—Mr. President, I understand that the report of the Institute of Technology has been forwarded to the Police Commissioner of Boston, and I understand, still further, that the Police Commissioner is heartily in favor of radio equipment. So we have been told. But apparently the report has been forwarded to the Mayor of Boston, and he now has it downstairs, but for some reason or other has refused to send it upstairs to the Council.

President McGRATH—I am informed that the report is in the office of the City Clerk and can be seen by any member of the City Council who so desires.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, this city is the only great city in America that is still against the introduction of the short wave radio in the Police Department. For some reason there has been an overnight attempt to blame the Mayor of Boston for the police of our city not having the radio system. Our Police Commissioner two years ago came before the Council committee considering the budget, and when I asked him why the radio system had not been introduced into the department he gave two reasons. In the first place, he said that there were a number of dead spots here that were not susceptible to radio intercommunication from police headquarters. I asked the Police Commissioner at that time, if that were so, why in New York, with fifty times the concentration of steel and fifty times the business concentration we have here, there were but two dead spots in the entire city. No answer. To oppose the police radio today is like taking the position doctors took fifty years ago when the famous French scientist, Louis Pasteur, brought out his researches in regard to bacteriology and the presence of bacteria in things connected with our daily lives. To oppose it today would be like taking the position of American hankers who opposed Woodrow Wilson's Federal reserve law, the greatest financial measure that our nation ever knew. Our people are spending enough money one hundred times over to have the police radio introduced. We are informed that it can be installed for from $30,000 to $50,000. We spend that on police puttees almost yearly!

Coun. POWER—Mr. President, personally I want to agree with about everything that has been said this afternoon in regard to the importance of introducing the short wave radio system in our Police Department. But there is another idea I have in mind that I think I brought out possibly a little over a year ago in connection with a murder that happened in my district. I think there has been too much coddling of criminals. That is my personal feeling. Now, why blame this on anybody else but the Police Commissioner? There is no one with common sense in this city who doesn't know that the radio is the one thing that should be introduced into that department. We know that criminals, robbers and gunmen, crooks of all kinds, have automobiles in which to get away. What have we to fight them with? Nothing but automobiles. We should go one step farther, and that step is the radio. I proved conclusively that those robbers and murderers who killed that poor storekeeper in my district over a year ago positively could have been caught if we had had a radio system in the Police Department. Two minutes after the murder had been committed they could have been caught, would have been surrounded so that they could not get away. We proved that to the Police Commissioner then. But what happened? In that case the murderers were never caught, the result being like many since. I read an editorial in a newspaper the other day calling the chain stores the "chain gang stores." While I cannot agree with that designation, there was a lot in what the editorial said. But the proprietors of those stores, what were called the "chain gang stores," still are human beings, citizens of Boston, and they are supposed to get the same respect and consideration as any other citizen. They are working for a living. In my district almost every chain store has been held up in the last year, and there have been some repeats, the gangsters coming back and holding up the same store a second or third time. Nothing has been done about it. A drug store was held up right on my own avenue, Huntington avenue, right after supper time, and nobody was caught. What are we going to do? I saw the other day that down in Lynn the police gave permits in connection with so-called racket ball tickets to people to protect themselves, giving them permits to carry guns. If we cannot catch criminals through radio in the Police Department, there is only one thing left, and that is to give every citizen of the City of Boston the right to carry a gun. That is the only way to catch them. These men are not only robbers, they are murderers. In that murder the other day that filled the headlines that was shown to be the case. Our city is supposed to be free from crime—cultured Boston. But here is what met our eyes in the newspapers. The victim said "You have my money. What more do you want?" Bang! and he was dead. They wanted his life. We will have to rid this city of criminals like that, who want a man's life. That is what they want to do, kill. Cut out the coddling; put them away. Put them in the death chair.

Coun. FISH—Mr. President, I suggest at this time that the City Clerk furnish to us the report of the Police Commissioner. I would like to ask if we cannot get that report this afternoon?

President McGRATH—The Chair will note the suggestion of Coun. Fish.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

CONCERNS DOING PRINTING FOR COUNTY.

Coun. RUBY offered the following:

Ordered, That the Register of Deeds, Register of Probate, Clerk of the Superior Criminal Court and Clerk of the Superior Civil Court be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to furnish the City Council with the names and addresses of the concerns where they have had their printing done during the year 1932, together with the amounts paid for same.

Coun. RUBY—Mr. President, I believe the time has come when we should take drastic action in connection with certain appropriations for certain departments, whether city or county, to see that money expended by such departments shall be used for the employment of men who are already employees of the City of Boston. I am referring now to the employees of the Printing Department. I have gone over the 1932 budget and find, for example, in a department like the Superior Court, Civil Session, under the item service, B-1, a $300 printing item. Under office supplies we find included an item of $700 for printing. Under the Superior Court, Civil Session, clerk's office, for printing and binding, there is an item of $16,000, and another item of $1,000 for the Superior Court, Criminal Session. There is also an item there of $7,500 for supplies, $1,200 for printing. The items total $30,000. If I am correctly informed, not one dollar of that money, although it is spent by the City of Boston, is spent by the county heads for printing in our printing plant. It might be well for us to note that, although I have just been informed that the matter is in process of adjustment, up to twelve o'clock today the prevalent rumor throughout the Hall was to the effect that the Printing Department was going on the basis of one week on and one week off, which would mean that one of the only paying departments of the city is going to lay off its help every other week, so that a man with a family of three or four children, earning a salary of $35 or $40 a week, will have to take a 50 per cent decrease, bringing home to his family less than one half of what he earned last year. I certainly trust that that order will not go into effect. But you cannot blame the Superintendent of the Printing Department, Major Casey, if he is compelled to carry out that kind of order when, with a $300,000 printing plant in Boston and $60,000 and $70,000 appropriated by our city for printing for the county departments, they see fit to have that printing done by private concerns. It is not fair. It may be argued that private concerns must exist. Yes, but they have greater opportunities and at least we must all first protect the employees of our city. For that reason I have requested that the different county officials who use the City of Boston money for the printing of their blanks, papers and materials furnish us the amount of money they spent for printing in 1932; and, if I am at liberty to do so, may I suggest to the chairman of the Committee on Appropriations that, in my opinion, the budgets of the different county officials—such as the clerks of the courts and the registrars of probate and of deeds—be held up unless they agree to buy their printing and materials from the same department that other department heads of the City of Boston are compelled to buy from? That is as it should be. I ask a suspension of the rule and the passage of the order.

Coun. MURRAY—Mr. President, might I suggest that instead of holding up such appropriations entirely we allow them a three months' supply, and if they do not order that work from our printing plant in that three months, we can then take drastic measures? Give them a chance, and if they do not do it in the three months we can then act.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

LICENSING OF MOTOR VEHICLES USED AS COMMON CARRIERS.

Coun. RUBY offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston hereby protests against the adoption of legislation proposed in House Bills 62, 63 and 808 affecting their powers over the licensing of motor vehicles used as common carriers.

Coun. RUBY—Mr. President, I do not desire to take up all the time of the Council this afternoon, but that resolution is a protest against the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad and the Boston Elevated Railway taking away what little home rule is left to the citizens of Boston. Under those bills, if passed by the Legislature, and I trust that my good colleague from Ward 5 will add his word when the bills come before the Legislature, there is a bold attempt to take away from our Council the right of saying over what streets the Boston Elevated, New York, New Haven & Hartford and Boston & Maine buses shall run. In other words, according to the idea of the Boston Elevated, the New York, New Haven & Hartford and the Boston & Maine, the legislator who lives in Berkshire County, or Springfield or Worcester, is better able to tell what streets of Boston these companies shall use than is the Boston City Council or the Mayor. I believe if there was ever a bold attempt to take away local self-government from Boston, it is contained in these vicious bills. It cannot be said that the officials of the Boston Elevated have not had notice of it, because at one of the previous hearings held in this Council Chamber in November, we asked the Elevated to amend their bill so that it would not affect buses in Boston. In spite of that, without any notification to most of us or all of us, a hearing on this bill was held before the committee of the Legislature that had the matter in hand. I believe our Council ought to rise in protest against this taking away of the rights of the City of Boston and his Honor the Mayor, and tell the Elevated or any public service corporation that it is properly for us to say what streets in our city are safe and proper streets for such buses to run through continuously. Therefore, I ask a suspension of the rule and the passage of that order.

Coun. MURRAY—Mr. President, might I say that I agree with everything that the councilor has said? But there is an additional remark that I would like to make. The Elevated, starting in with laying off men who were more recently appointed to the staff, are now laying off men who have had a service up to fifteen years. We have worked hard to defeat the cutting down of service and the encouraging of standees. If so many standees were not allowed, more buses would have to be run and more men would be employed, and the people would get far better service. People are being herded in like cattle, and if that sort of thing is continued, and there is a continuous cut-down of the personnel accordingly, we will soon be having men who have been in the service twenty-five to thirty years laid off. We did not win our fight, and they now want to have our streets controlled by people from the Berkshires and the Cape, and to haul our citizens in trains like cattle.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

ALLOWANCE TO LOUIS V. JENNINGS.

Coun. RUBY offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston hereby approves the enactment of legislation providing that Louis V. Jennings be eligible to receive certain allowances under the Boston Retirement Act at the time of retirement.

Passed under a suspension of the rules.

CHAIN-STORE TAX BILL.

Coun. NORTON offered the following:

Ordered, That the Mayor of Boston be requested to consider the advisability of recommending to the Legislature of Massachusetts the enactment of the so-called "chain-store tax" bill, House No. 483.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, under House Bill No. 483, now before the Massachusetts Legislature, where a retail store concern in Boston owns two or more stores, the second store will be charged at the rate of $1,350 a year. That will bring into the city treasury close to $2,000,000 a year under the present taxing system. The chain-store tax, after long argument before the United States Court, was declared valid in the famous Indiana case in 1931. I don't want to take up the time of the body unnecessarily, but I ask unanimous consent to include in your record a statement I have prepared in regard to the chain-store situation in Boston.

The Council voted to allow Coun. Norton to include the statement referred to in the record, and it is as follows:

Under Bill No. 483, now before the Massachusetts Legislature, every retail store system in Boston with more than one store would be taxed at the rate of $1,350 a year for every store, above one, in the city. Seventy-five per cent of this total tax goes to the city, and 25 per cent to the state.

The U. S. Department of Commerce reports for 1929 show that there are 7,735 independent retail stores in Boston, and 1,608 chain stores. In 1929 the gross business of the chain stores in Boston was $156,651,211. This was 25 per cent of the total retail business done in the City of Boston during the year 1929. The City of Boston would derive from this means of taxation $1,628,100 based on the figures of 1929. There has been a considerable increase in chain-store business in Boston since 1929, and undoubtedly the total tax would now be considerably increased. According to the Census Bureau of the United States Department of Commerce, in 1929, the average annual wage paid by the Independents in Boston was $1,466.41. The average annual wage paid by the Chains in Boston, in 1929, was $1,188.85. The total underpayment of 11,529 chain-store employees in Boston, in 1929, was $3,199,989.24. In other words, these 11,529 chain-store employees in Boston, in 1929, if working for independent stores in Boston, would have received in salaries and wages the equivalent of $3,199,989.24 more than they actually received from the Chains. The Boston Transcript of November 9, 1931, states that one of the large chain grocery store units in Boston distributes more than $100,000,000 of merchandise a year. Hon. James A. Reed of Missouri, in a recent address at New Orleans, said: "I venture to warn the people that when the individual competing grocers have been driven to the wall, their places of business closed, and the entire grocer trade in the hands of the proprietors of chain stores, the people will pay back many times the small sums they are now saving. If we continue this process of combination, we will soon arrive at a time when the great resources of the land will be controlled by a few mighty institutions. Our people will be under a species of enforced economic slavery quite as dominant and quite as dangerous as the industrial and individual slavery of the Middle Ages." The nationally recognized financial writer, B. C. Forbes, stated on March 23, 1932:

"Suppose every small 'independent' store were to act exactly as the chain-store managers act, and refuse to supply a single vegetable or a loaf of bread or a pound of meat, what would John Smith and Bill Jones do? Do you imagine for a moment they would sit idly at home and watch their wives and their children starve?"

Mr. President, the power of the chain-store monopoly is little realized. It controls the retail trade in those things upon which human life depends. Chain grocery stores sold 40 per cent of the retail groceries sold in the United States in 1929. In large cities, such as New York and Philadelphia, the chain grocery stores do 70 per cent of all the retail grocery business. This percentage is steadily increasing. The last official figures we have are those furnished by the Bureau of the Census, of the United States Department of Commerce, for the year 1929. Chain stores make tremendous profits even in this period of depression, the worst that our nation has ever known. To get customers into the stores prices are cut on standard, trade-marked, nationally known products, which are often sold at a lower price than the independent retailer can buy the article for from his wholesaler. Chain stores obtain young men in the prime of life, in good health, who can work long hours, and work hard, for a low rate of pay. The moment an employee slows up, becomes too old, is out sick too much, he is soon off the payroll. Men over 45 are not wanted. Young college men are hired for a Saturday to work twelve to fourteen hours, at top speed, for as little as $1.50. And this condition exists regardless of the tremendous profits. Mr. President, the City of Boston is in need of revenue, of money, to properly feed our unemployed, to properly feed, house and clothe over 100,000 men, women and children, who are in need. Here is an opportunity of obtaining a sizeable sum. The tax is constitutional. On May 18, 1931, the Supreme Court of the United States declared a chain-store tax constitutional when levied by a Legislature in the so-called Indiana Case.

RADIOS ON POLICE CARS.

Coun. NORTON offered the following:

Ordered, That the Mayor of Boston consider the advisability of requesting the Governor of the Commonwealth to request the Police Commissioner of Boston to install radios on police cars.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, supplementing the order which has already been introduced by Councilor Ruby, I have prepared here a statement from various cities in the country with reference to the working of the police radio.

Coun. NORTON was allowed, by vote of the Council, to have the following statement prepared by him placed in the record:

A short time ago one Charles Solomon, popularly known as "King" Solomon, was murdered in Boston. The crime took place at 4.17 a. m. in the morning, at the Cotton Club, Boston. City Hospital officials declared they notified the police at 4.30 a. m., thirteen minutes later. The report of the crime did not appear on the "Police Teletype" system, notifying all station houses of the crime, until 8.42 a. m. of the same day. A short period after the crime was committed, the murderers were stopped in West Roxbury by Officers Henry D. Carmichael and Francis A. Kenney. These officers had no way of telling that a crime had been committed. The criminals were not detained. The Boston Post referred to this occurrence as the "biggest police bungle" in years. It is fair to say, that at that hour of the morning, with few autos on the road, that if the police radio system had been in operation in Boston, that the criminals would have been captured in short order. Radio receiving sets in police cars, continually in touch with police headquarters, is considered by many experts as the greatest single advance in police work in all police history. Our citizens of Boston are entitled to the protection that police cars with radio receiving sets will give. Under this system, if the police-cruising cars now used in Boston were equipped with radio, a policeman could be at any home in Boston within a few minutes after the call was received asking for help. Just imagine the wonderful instrument that police radio is. A woman living in the Fairmount or Readville section of Hyde Park, on the outskirts of the city, or in Dorchester, South Boston, or East Boston, or at any point in the city, believes that she hears an intruder in her home in the dead of the night. Perhaps the father is away and the mother is alone with children. She phones the police and a police car swoops down upon her home within two minutes! All the time, while rushing to the home, the police, in the auto, are in continuous touch with any new detail that may develop. Without police radio, a police car may be "just around the corner," the police totally unaware that a robbery is being committed, until it is too late. Boston is entitled to a police radio system. We should have had it a year ago, but the Police Commissioner was against it, reporting that with so many large buildings and much steel work in Boston, that radio receiving on police cars would not be satisfactory, there would be too many "dead spots," that "crooks" would listen in on police calls; that the red light on police boxes and the placing of the police communication (telephone) system in first-class condition should be the first consideration. This attitude, by our highest police official in Boston, reminds one of the attitude taken by certain leading members of the medical profession when the humble French chemist, Louis Pasteur, first enunciated the germ theory of bacteriology to the world. The experts opposed the ideas of Pasteur. This attitude reminds one of that taken by the leading bankers of America when the late lamented Woodrow Wilson proposed the Federal Reserve law to the Congress of the United States. An overwhelming majority of our great bankers went on record as opposed to this law, claiming that it would destroy the American banking system. As a matter of fact, it has proven to be one of the greatest banking laws ever enacted, and those bankers who condemned the law lived to praise it. I feel that it will be the same with police radio in Boston. The experts who now condemn it will eventually praise it. To oppose police radio today, in Boston, is to oppose science, is to oppose progress.

Police Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney of New York City declared in a signed article which appeared in the Boston Sunday Advertiser of December 18, 1932, page 2, M. E., that the new police radio constitutes "the greatest single advance in all police history. The United States Radio Commission, in its annual report to the Congress of the United States (see New York Times, December 25, 1932, page 14 N.), reported that police radio systems in fifty cities transmitted 155,656 emergency calls during the past year and served a population of 32,585,000. More than 2,200 police autos were equipped with radio receivers. The average time required to transmit one police radio call was one minute and two seconds. Police Commissioner Mulrooney of New York City in the above-mentioned article stated:

"The speed of action which radio gives us confers three major advantages. It is a crime preventative. It increases the chances of immediate detection and capture, thus relieving the department, prosecutors and courts of the job of building a case and securing conviction. When criminals escape we are on the ground before witnesses have dispersed and while memories are fresh, often thus eliminating hours or days of routine investigation.

"The mobility of the system may be indicated by incidents such as the extortion case in Jamaica two cars converged on the spot and the criminal was caught as he left the phone booth."

In a Boston Transcript article by W. A. Macdonald, under date of December 3, 1932 (Magazine Section, page 3), the writer states regarding police radios in auto in New York City:

"Since the system was put into operation on February 23, 1932, there has not been a single failure to reach the cars in 7,000 direct assignments given by radio. Commissioner Mulrooney has his own car equipped with radio. He is always riding about New York at night and it is his custom to answer calls when he is in the vicinity of a crime. It has been the constant fear of the Police Department that he would get there first some day. He has never beaten the patrol cars yet. There have always been from four to seven cars ahead of him. Some day, the department predicts sadly, the commissioner will get there first, and, being the first-class cop he is, will go to work. The department doesn't care for the idea of having him risk his life.

"In New York the radio cars are used for hot calls only. For example, a woman returning to her apartment discovers that it has been robbed, but that the intruder apparently has been gone for some time. She notifies the police; they handle the case without the radio cars. But if, when the woman arrives at home the thief is running down the stairs, her call for police assistance goes out on the air to the cars. Time is everything in such a case.

"The driver of a milk truck was making his collections when he noticed a car following him in the hallway of some building. So, as he was making out a receipt for a customer, without looking to see if he was being watched, he wrote on the receipt asking the customer to call the police and tell them that his truck was being followed and that his route lay through certain streets. Police headquarters, instead of sending out a general call, assigned a specific radio car to the job and told others to keep off. The car assigned took up the case observed that a car was following the milk truck. The radio car kept its distance until it was sure of the indications. Then it swerved in, cut off the car at the curb and the two officers grabbed the driver and his companion. Both prisoners were armed with loaded revolvers. A clever milk-wagon driver and the new system had prevented a crime."

Mr. President, a special article in "The Journal of Electrical Workers and Operators," for January, 1933 (page 9), states that "Radio is now one of the greatest factors in the prevention of crime. In fifty cities in one month of 1932 radio-equipped cars accounted for 12,676 arrests, property valued at $386,953 was recovered and 155,657 emergency calls were answered within an average time of one minute two seconds for each call."

And there are these opinions:

EDNA TRULL, Municipal Administration Service, 309 East 34th street, New York City.

"In the last five years, as a result of reorganization and installation of motor patrol, the city of Cincinnati has closed up three district stations and two substations."

The use of automobile, and more recently radio, has materially reduced the need for district stations.

W. R. LOGAN, Deputy Commissioner, City of Detroit, Michigan.

"However, since the adoption of radio in the department, I really believe that these booths are not so essential from the standpoint of police efficiency, as radio cars are continually patrolling the precincts, and can be dispatched immediately to the scene of trouble."

AUSTIN J. ROCHE, Commissioner of Police, City of Buffalo, New York.

"Radio-equipped cars have proved so valuable that I do not know what we did without them. They have given such satisfactory service that I have given the citizens of Buffalo a guarantee that if they will call Police Headquarters and tell their troubles to the police operator we will have at least two patrolmen at the scene of the complaint in less than two minutes. In fact, we have had officers at the scene of the crime before the complainant had finished telling his story to the telephone operator."

SUPERINTENDENT JOHN SMITH, Detroit, September 28, 1932.

"Two men in a radio-equipped police car can perform police work much more efficiently and effectively than six officers in three automobiles could do without the radio, and at the same time are kept in touch with headquarters for emergency calls."

JAMES P. ALLMAN, Commissioner of Police, Chicago, Illinois.

"While up to the present time radio in police cars has not resulted in cutting down on the number of stations, we are contemplating such a move."

OLIVER T. REMMERS, President of the Board of Police Commissioners, St. Louis, Missouri (Speech, Cleveland High School, St. Louis, October 14, 1932).

"The radio can bring a police car to the scene of an accident or a crime in approximately one minute. Our radio station has been on the air since August, 1930. It has proven one of the longest steps forward ever taken in police progress. Citizens are requested to call Police Headquarters upon observing any unusual or suspicious incidents."

Mr. President, the police cars at the present time don't know what is going on. If we continue with the ideas that seem to prevail at the present time in Commissioner Hultman's mind it will be like going back to the old days when they had a red light hung out on a barn, going back to the system of fifty years ago, at the time of Bob Sampson, the cop. I certainly feel that the City of Boston should keep pace with the other progressive cities of this country, and I trust that the order may be passed under suspension of the rule.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

FIVE-DAY WEEK, PRINTING DEPARTMENT.

Coun. NORTON offered the following:
Ordered, That the Mayor of Boston be requested to consider the advisability of placing the employees of the Printing Department of the City of Boston on a five-day week.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, I would be the last one to ask for a pay cut of city employees, the last man in the world to ask that city employees be placed upon a five-day week basis. But here is the situation that is confronting us and has been confronting us for a long period. The employees of the Printing Plant of the City of Boston have been asked to take one week on and one week off. Some of those men have been in the employ of the plant for thirty years, without loss of pay, have never been asked to give up time or to take a cut. That is the situation that confronts us today in this city, at a time when we are finding it hard or impossible to raise the amount necessary to operate the city. It happens that this department is one of the few departments that has turned over money enough to the city treasury so that the employees would seem to be deserving of at least being placed on a five-day week basis. They have for years saved many, many thousands of dollars a year to the city treasury. Why should the men in that department now be asked to work six months in the year and loaf for six months? We have other departments where the work has been practically nil since the depression. But why should these men, many of whom have been there for twenty, twenty-five or thirty years, in a department that has not only been self-sustaining but has turned money into the city treasury, be asked to work six months and loaf six months, while there are other departments with just as little work to do as the Printing Department, where the employees are going on continually?

Coun. MURRAY—Mr. President, I think this order of the council from Hyde Park could be taken care of by adopting the same suggestion I made in regard to the other order, simply allowing to the clerks and registrars in the courts enough money for three months, and then seeing how the thing works out. It may well be that the Printing Department will be able to operate as it has in the past.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, I hope the councilor who favors voting against a budget allowance for more than three months, at this time, will remember that when the time comes to vote on the budget.

Coun. MURRAY—Mr. President, nobody ever accused me of being afraid to vote any way I chose to.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, I am not accusing the colleague on my right of any such thing, but if my memory serves me right in a similar situation to this, which was developed last year, when it came to voting millions upon millions in the budget, and millions upon millions for favored contractors, the Mohawk Packing Company and others, the friends of the contractors here went through for them unanimously. Now, the budget this year is coming up within a few weeks. To act upon that budget is the only real power we have. If we vote for a three months' budget, we will make it possible for these men whom it is now proposed to place on a six months' basis in the Printing Department, to at least get a square deal under a five-day week, and will insist that the various county officials, instead of farming out their printing work and printing materials to independents, will give the work to our City Printing Plant itself. So I ask the colleague if he is ready to state today that he will vote for a three months' budget?

Coun. MURRAY—Mr. President, in answer to my colleague, who wanders in his arguments all over the United States, I will state that I am simply interested here in the City of Boston, and that I am willing and ready to meet anything that comes up before us that concerns our city at any time. I shall cross the bridge when I come to it, and I will not go over to New York, Philadelphia or other cities, but will confine myself to Boston and will vote for Boston. I will do what is right when the time comes.

The order was referred to the Executive Committee.

REDUCTION OF MORTGAGE INTEREST RATES.

Coun. NORTON offered the following:

Ordered, That the Mayor of Boston consider the advisability of requesting the banking interests of Boston to reduce their mortgage interest rates to a maximum of 4 per cent.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, we have thousands of home owners in Boston who are paying 5, 6, 7, and sometimes 8 per cent on mortgages. The President of the United States is thinking at the present time of requesting the legislative committees of both Houses of Congress to consider in some form a measure that will lend itself to decreasing the amount of interest now being paid on mortgages. We have in Boston thousands of home owners unable to pay even the interest on their mortgages at the present time. It would seem to me that if the Mayor of Boston led this fight, it would be possible to have the banking interests of Boston agree to reduce their rates of interest on mortgages as suggested. I might say that the largest mortgage house in New York has requested the various other banks and mortgage companies of New York City to join with them in reducing the rate of mortgage interest. My colleague refers to the fact that he does not go to other cities. Let me say to him that he can go to other cities and obtain a great deal of help. Some of the greatest progress in the world results from seeing what is done in other places. That great leader in our United States Supreme Court, Louis D. Brandeis, said that each state was a laboratory that was trying to work out serious experiments and that we have to observe what is being done in the various states. Mr. President, to some this is a kind of a joke. They are "all out of step but Jim." But the interest on mortgages in Boston within two years will be reduced to 4 per cent, I believe, as that is the trend throughout the country. I believe if Boston will take this step it will at least be paving the way, and anticipating a time that will arrive in less than two years.

Coun. BURKE—Mr. President, I certainly do not think this is a joke. I think it is pretty serious, when it comes to the question of rate of interest on mortgages. Also, it is important to observe what is done in other states and in European countries, so that we may make an intelligent comparison. It is a joke, however, in so far as the Council is concerned, because, regardless of any action we may take, it is impossible to get any action from the powers that be that will result in what is desired. When you come to the real situation, however, it certainly is not a joke at all. I would like to see a constructive program, so that something might be done to help the people of Boston; something looking to methods which might be put into effect and which would be of benefit to our citizens. Nobody would be more pleased than I if it were possible to have such action taken through the City Council.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, the councilor from Ward 17 refers to the fact that we have no power. One of the greatest men who ever sat in this body, Henry Parkman, said that after we passed the budget we might as well go home. Well, if the Council is going to take that standpoint on every order introduced here, we would not have two orders introduced in a month. There is one thing to remember, however, and that is that this is the greatest body in this part of Massachusetts or of New England for one thing, and that is publicity. The average councilor here gets more publicity than any ten representatives or ten senators at the State House put together. This is a great broadcasting bureau, offering a great opportunity to bring things out into the open. We do have power, although in one sense we do not have power. We have no power to have the police radio introduced, but we can have the question agitated. We have no power enough to hold up the police payroll. The Police Commissioner, no matter what we may do, can get an order from the court under which we would have to grant the police payroll. But it is not true that we have no power, because we still have the power of publicity. The Mayor of Boston, of course, comes pretty near being supreme in city affairs. That was the result of legislation passed under which it was intended that a certain man who expected to be Mayor in 1909 should be elected to that office. No mayor in America has the tremendous power that the Mayor of Boston has under the city charter. So if we are simply going to confine ourselves to the introduction of orders in regard to which we have real power, we could introduce very few orders in the body. I think we all realize that after we have passed the budget, we have no further rights in regard to it, under the law by which we are governed.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

LOANS TO CITY BY FIRST NATIONAL BANK.

Coun. KELLY offered the following:

Ordered, that the Finance Commission be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to investigate the circumstances surrounding the recent two loans obtained by the city from the First National Bank of Boston at exorbitant rates of interest and without competition.

Coun. KELLY—Mr. President, it might be very interesting to the two gentlemen who have just spoken on taxes, the councilors from Wards 17 and 18, to pay particular attention to what I am going to say regarding taxes, banks, and so forth. In 1932 the City of Boston borrowed twenty-two times in anticipation of taxes. I might say that the Mayor, after this disclosure, will say that he is not concerned with what Kelly says, but thank God, the public of Boston are. Twenty-one times the city received bids in competition and thereby brought the interest rate the city had to pay down from 5.85 per cent to 91-100 of one per cent. The twenty-second time the city borrowed was in December, 1932, and it happened that the amount borrowed at that time was the largest amount borrowed at any time during the entire year—namely, $5,000,000. This loan was made from the First National Bank secretly. No one but the Mayor, the City Treasurer and President Stockton of the First National Bank were permitted to know anything about it until the loan was negotiated. It then turned out that the city was paying 3 per cent, at a time when almost every municipality, big and small, in the entire community was paying 1 per cent, or less. That is, the city on this loan of $5,000,000 was paying, from the taxpayers' money, $150,000 every year, when little towns and cities of the Commonwealth could borrow the same amount, with competition, at 1 per cent, or $50,000 per year. That is, it was a grab, a great larceny of $100,000 of the taxpayers' money. I defy the Mayor of Boston to deny this thievery. It was worse than stealing the traditional candy from the baby, or stealing change from a blind man. Let us see what else they did. On February 1, five or six days ago, the City of Boston placed its first tax-anticipation loan for $2,000,000 this year. The Treasury Department inserted notices in the newspapers about three days before the bids were due that it would receive bids, but the placing of the loan was delayed until within twenty-four hours of the time when the city must have the money. No bids were received, because the First National Bank apparently made arrangements to keep all possible bidders out. Within an hour after receiving the bid the loan was placed with the First National Bank, this time at 24 per cent, while other municipalities were getting money at less than 1 per cent. Now, what is that, Mr. President and members of the Council? Is that thievery? Is that graft and corruption? It is apparent that the Mayor and the City Treasurer, Edmund L. Dolan, who was formerly an employee of President Stockton of the First National Bank, cooperated with Mr. Stockton in guaranteeing to the First National Bank this lucrative business at a high rate of interest, and keeping competitors out of the Boston field. It is very much worthy of notice, Mr. President and members of the Council who are interested in the public, that the First National Bank only allows to the city on money of the taxpayers deposited with the bank one-quarter of one per cent, and we have there always on deposit an amount in excess of a million dollars. It might be interesting to know, colleagues, what connection the placing of a $500,000 mortgage on his house by Mayor Curley last November had with his hold on the First National Bank of the City of Boston. No wonder, when I stepped down into the City Treasurer's office as a duly elected member of the City Council and asked to inspect the books last Thursday, I was told that I would not be able to inspect the books. Well, let us see if they can stop my writ of mandamus that I am filing in the court tomorrow morning to compel the City Treasurer to bring the books up before the legislative body of the Commonwealth and produce facts and figures. I will show tomorrow morning where Edmund L. Dolan and James M. Curley wrecked two banks in Boston by heavy and unwarranted withdrawals of my money, your money, gentlemen, and your constituents' money. I will show that. I don't think the judge of the Superior Court will refuse my writ of mandamus that is to be drawn up and filed before five o'clock this afternoon in the Superior Court of the county. We will see about this graft and corruption of Edmund L. Dolan and James M. Curley. Is it no crime to steal $127,000, representing an amount above the average rate of interest of towns and cities? We will see if that committee of fifteen of the Legislature, the Committee on Rules, when I present tomorrow my evidence of graft and corruption through the past three years, will not take action looking to an investigation of this almighty Mayor of Boston who thinks he can steal and do whatever he wants to with the poor taxpayers' money. We will see what the Legislature will do after Kelly goes up there tomorrow and goes on the radio the latter part of the week, giving the public some facts and data. We will see if there will not be an investigation by the legislative committee of the Commonwealth; and I assure them, as I assure everyone of my colleagues here, that if that investigation is granted, just as surely as you, Mr. President, and the colleagues are sitting here, and I make this as a public utterance without fear of contradiction, the discrepancies will be shown up, and the Mayor of Boston and his crooked transactions will make Mayor Walker of New York look like an innocent babe in his mother's arms. Let us see what tomorrow develops in this city. I am making a taxpayers' fight, and I want the cooperation of every man in this Council. I ask you all to be there tomorrow in a body, and I ask you to go and see what will be brought out by this gentleman who receives $20,000 a year, taken out of the pockets of the taxpayers of Boston,—twice as much as the Governor of the Commonwealth, and the man who is Mayor of Boston has greater power than any other mayor in the entire country, than even the President of the United States has, because, when the President of the United States appoints a department head that head has to be confirmed by the Senate. When the President vetoes something passed by either or both branches of Congress, that legislative body has a right by a two-thirds vote to override his veto. With twenty-two members elected here for two years, no matter what action is taken by this honorable body, the Mayor, with the power he has, can just laugh at us, because we are the one City Council in the entire world that has no power to override the Mayor's veto. We are elected by legislative act for two years, while the Mayor sits down there with almighty power for four years and wields a whip on his public officials, his department heads. We have to stand for that sort of thing in the City of Boston, and the department heads have nothing to say about it. He can fire them and hire them, and, while we are the city fathers, we have no power. I ask that this order be passed under suspension of the rule.

Coun. RUBY—Mr. President, I am going to ask that the order be referred to the Executive Committee and that the auditor of the City of Boston be asked to appear before that committee, where he can be asked particularly about rates of interest, because, if I am correct, we in Boston are paying less for money than is being paid by any city of equal size in the country. For that reason I ask that the order be sent to the Executive Committee and that the auditor be sent for.

Coun. KELLY—Mr. President, I have no objection at all to the order being sent to the Executive Committee, where every statement I have made will be corroborated. Therefore, I will not insist on the passage of my order at this time. But I do object, if it is going into executive, into a session behind closed doors, to having it laid on the table there. If I have assurance of the councilor that that order will be reported back later today, "Ought to pass" or "Ought not to pass," I have no objection to its being referred to the Executive Committee.

Coun. RUBY—Mr. President, I don't want to enter into any lengthy discussion. But I do think it is rather strange that the councilor on my right (Coun. Kelly), within two weeks of what has happened here, should ask me to give him any assurance whatsoever. I shall exercise the prerogative of every member of the City Council of forming my own judgment and acting accordingly.

Coun. BURKE—Mr. President, the allegations of the councilor are pretty fierce in their nature. Naturally, this is an important matter that the councilors sitting around this horseshoe. We don't know whether or not those facts are true. The councilor has indicted by name certain individuals of very terrible and heinous crimes. The members of the City Council of Boston, of course, are very much interested and we should know all about it. It is not so necessary that it should be taken up in the Legislature. It is not necessary that the people on Beacon Hill should get this information. But it is necessary that the councilors of the City of Boston should have it, and I think the auditor should be called and anybody else who can give us enlightenment as to what is going on, so that we can be apprised of the facts and can act accordingly. However, I will say that these are allegations that have not been proven. At the same time, we want to be sure that we are looking at the matter with an open mind and that the allegations are susceptible of proof. There should be an opportunity to get the evidence and proof in executive session.

The order was referred to the Executive Committee.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, I would like to amend, to have the City Treasurer or his representative there.

President McGRATH—The order has been referred to the Executive Committee.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON FINANCE.

Coun. DOWD, for the Committee on Finance, submitted the following:

1. Report on order (referred January 9), that sum of $500,000 be appropriated, to be expended by Commissioner of Public Works, for Reconstruction of Streets—that same ought not to pass, without prejudice.

Coun. DOWD—Mr. President, the committee's report on the order for reconstruction of streets is that the present order ought not to pass, without prejudice, and a new order is in the hands of the clerk. We take this action because of the fact that, for the first time, the Finance Committee finds itself in a very peculiar situation. Our first duty is to see that the pay rolls are provided for and that there is sufficient money in the city treasury to take care of public welfare and our institutions. In view of the fact that Commissioner of Public Works Rourke is away and will not return until February 27, and because of the fact that that order would become law on March 8, thereby depriving us of an opportunity to properly pass upon the matter, we feel, in accordance with the report we have made, that leave to withdraw or rejection without prejudice should be the action taken. You will note that there is $317,000 unexpended in this appropriation from last year, with which they can go to work at the present time, but they will not start on contracts until the first of March. There is the sum of $130,000 for patch paving contractors in the City of Boston—and I think it is certainly a question in the minds of some of us whether it would not be a wise thing to undertake to construct these new streets with employees of the city. There are a number of questions that arise in connection with this matter. For that reason, we are proposing leave to withdraw or rejection of the present order without prejudice.

Coun. BURKE—Mr. President, as for the expenditure of $500,000 for work of this kind, if we hold such matters in abeyance, naturally it is going to deprive men who are out of employment of the opportunity to work. We should be very cautious in doing anything of that sort. If possible, we should try to get the information we desire as soon as possible,—possibly sooner than the return of the Public Works Commissioner,—so that we can act upon the matter without delay, because each and every day this sort of thing is hung up is depriving men of going to work.

Coun. DOWD—Mr. President, every member of the Council knows only too well that the resurfacing and rebuilding of streets only furnishes employment to the fathers-in-law and sons-in-law of a few favored contractors. So, before the Finance Committee gets under way this year, let it be understood that it is the chairman's point of view and the view of other members of the committee, that every order of that sort is simply going to furnish employment to a few individuals connected with contractors who have the job. Last year we gave money willingly under the guise of relieving unemployment, and we are now very much surprised to find that there is $317,000 unexpended. What is to prevent the Public Works Commissioner or the Acting Commissioner of Public Works advertising streets to the extent of $317,000? They stopped in December and won't advertise streets for construction until the middle of March. They sent to us a list of streets, and I believe members of the Council should be protected. Each one of our districts pays taxes, and each one has very serious needs in this line. But the list we have received is only a tentative list, and when we asked Mr. Carven, representing Mr. Rourke, if these are the streets that are going to be done, we received the reply that he does not know, that the commissioner will do as he sees fit. Therefore, I say to the Council that before I vote on a single street construction, I am going to find out where they are going to do them. We have been kidded for seven long years, have been given tentative lists, and then they come in town or wherever they desire and resurface streets, irrespective of the list. I believe, in justice to the twenty-two members of this body—to Coun. Gallagher, Kelly, Green, Curtis, Fitzgerald, Norton—we should each have our proper share of the streets, and this tentative list submitted to the committee is not fair to the twenty-two members of the Council. We have nothing to lose by waiting. The commissioner will be away until the 27th of February. They will not start awarding contracts until the first of March. They have $317,000 lying idle. So let us not kid ourselves that these orders are going to relieve the unemployment situation because, I repeat, they will be only for the benefit of the fathers-in-law and brothers-in-law and sons-in-law of the contractors getting the jobs. Personally, I would rather see the work done by city labor. We can build tunnels with city labor, and why cannot we build streets? Why not put some of the city labor on the streets and pay the men a living wage?

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, as has been said, these orders are only in the interest of a few favored contractors. The $500,000 will put some machines at work, but very few men. We are told about furnishing employment to fathers and brothers-in-law. The money will put to work even only a few of the fathers and brothers-in-law. Colonel Frederick Stuart Greene, one of the greatest road builders in the country and Public Works Commissioner of New York, the man who did some splendid work overseas with General Pershing in France, and one of the great road builders of the state of New York, recently sent a letter stating that an appropriation of $100,000 on road work would place only fifteen men at work, and at that rate $500,000 would place only seventy-five men at work; and, judging from what we have already seen in our city, a very large proportion of those would not be able to speak English and could live on 15 cents a day. Now, here is an opportunity to do something besides talking. This is something that touches on people where it hurts, in the pocketbook. The sort of thing that we have seen going on cannot go on unless they have the money, and we have an opportunity to hold on to the taxpayers' money in a year when they need it so much. Let us insist, so far as we can, on men being put at work who are our citizens, who need the work. Let them build the roads, as is being done in Detroit, 'Frisco, and every other large city in this great country, instead of giving the money to the contractors and having them employ men who don't even speak English.

Coun. FISH—Mr. President, I would suggest that we eliminate the contractors altogether, and eliminate the machines also, giving the work to the city employees of Boston and other boys who need it, by day labor.

Coun. BURKE—Mr. President, as you probably know, last year and again this year I put in orders calling upon the Public Works Commissioner to construct streets by day labor, and you will readily recall the answer that came back to the City Council. You know, Mr. President, as well as every member of the City Council, that there will be no provision made by the Mayor of Boston or the Public Works Commissioner to have the work done by day labor. I, for one, wish that it could be so accomplished, that the day labor system could be inaugurated and carried out, so that a great many employees could be put at work at living wages, not having this money turned over to a few favored contractors, as has been done in the past. It is the duty of the Mayor and the Public Works Commissioner to do away with the private contractors until the period of depression has gone by, at least. But the worthy chairman of the committee has stated one reason for holding this up to be that the work had not been allocated to the various wards in what he considered was a proper manner; so I think the information might be received now, even if the Public Works Commissioner is away, treating this as an unemployment measure and giving those people who have not been fortunate enough to get jobs a chance to go to work. I know of a lot whom I have had put to work on construction, and they were not brothers-in-law and not relatives. Unfortunately, the gentleman cannot put men at work for contractors, but that does not mean that I cannot,—and I am not any more in favor of favored contractors than he. I have got up here time and time again and stood for day labor. I have thought at different times that it was well to bring it before the body and have a discussion and vote on it. Of course, if the majority don't want such action taken, they can vote accordingly. But my reason for believing that this should be hurried along is that the money might be available, so that when spring comes we will be in a position to advertise and put men at work.

Coun. DOWD—Mr. President, in answer to the councilor from Dorchester (Coun. Burke) when he speaks of his placing men at work, I will simply say that I am very glad one city councilor can place men at work.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, I rise to a point of information. I would like to ask, through the Chair, if the councilor will name a contractor who puts men at work?

Coun. BURKE—Yes, Mr. President, there are at least ten contractors in this City of Boston who, in my opinion, are perfectly honest and giving fair values for the money they are receiving from the city—and that does not include the so-called favored contractors. But there are men, contractors, in this city, who have put men at work on city jobs. They were able to place men for me, and I thank them from the bottom of my heart.

Coun. DOWD—Mr. President, I rise to a point of order. I believe I still have the floor. Is the gentleman making a political speech or answering a question?

Coun. BURKE—Answering a question.

President McGRATH—The Chair would say that Councilor Dowd has the floor and that all other remarks are out of order.

Coun. DOWD—Mr. President, I would correct the councilor from Dorchester in saying that I am holding this up because of allocation of streets. In fairness I will say, however, that I believe every member of the Council should have one or two streets attended to in his ward, or perhaps the main street in his ward. But the main reason why I have been holding it up is because of these contractors. He says that the Mayor of Boston will not put men at work under the day labor system. My answer to the Mayor of Boston is, "If you won't put men at work on day labor, we will not give you $500,000," and the only ones who will suffer are the contractors. When $5,000,000 can be spent at Governor square on day labor, when an important tunnel can be dug by day labor, why can't men working for the city be placed on the streets under the day labor system? We have a Transit Department at the present time, with the engineers not doing anything, because they haven't the work to do. Why can't those engineers go in and lay out streets and why cannot men be then taken from public welfare, given a living wage, and have paid to them the half-million dollars appropriated, which will then go into homes of our citizens and not into the pockets of a few contractors? The gentleman from Dorchester said that there are ten contractors whom he considers are doing an honest job, aside from the so-called favor contractors. It has been my hope that this year, say two streets apiece might be done in each of our wards, doing work that is needed, and that it might be done by day labor of our own people, our own citizens. But as a matter of fact, most of the Boston work has been done by just a few favored contractors, and you cannot get men placed on any of the jobs. If you go on to a $50,000 job you will not find twenty men working there, and many of those cannot speak English. Of course, you will find the machinery. But I say it is not fair to set up the cry of relieving unemployment and insisting on the passage of an order like this, when there is now left over from last year's appropriation $317,000 unexpended. Why didn't they spend the money last year, placing men at work? The Mayor is not fair when he asks us to pass these orders under the guise of unemployment. The same thing applies to these several orders, for stores, for reconstruction of streets, and for highways, making of. Our first duty is to the men and women who are suffering in Boston, men and women who are on the public welfare. I wonder what is going to happen. We are now $17,000,000 behind on collections. I wonder where this money is coming from. Councilor Kelly says that the City of Boston is paying 3 per cent for the money it borrows. Yes, and before the year is out, we will be paying 5 per cent to the bankers, unless we cut out the alleged graft that is going on in the City of Boston. I think the position of the committee is fair. I do say that every member of this Council should have allocated to his ward two or three streets. There is no reason why one ward should have 30 per cent and another 20 per cent, and so on. Before I vote on the order, I want to know from Mr. Rourke himself where the streets are going to be, and why we cannot build them with our own people and our own engineers.

Coun. BURKE—Mr. President, I would suggest that the councilor put in an order requesting that information from the Mayor of Boston, and then we can proceed with the appropriation.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, I have more streets in Ward 18, I believe, than there are in any other dozen wards put together. Our ward has one sixth of the area of the city, and many of our streets are mud holes in weather like this. I am perfectly willing to agree with the councilor from Roxbury to hold up the half-million, because I know where it is going. It is not going to place men at work. My question was not answered, either, as to the specific contractors in Boston who are placing Boston men at work. There was an allegation that there were ten contractors who were doing that sort of thing, and I have been trying to find out who the ten are who have been placing Boston men at work on the streets of Boston in the last four years.

Coun. BURKE—Mr. President.

President McGRATH—Does the gentleman yield?

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, I yield for an answer to the specific question, which has not been answered.

Coun. BURKE—Mr. President, the gentleman can rest assured that it will be answered this time. In the first instance, I think that it isn't the councilor's business.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, I want the question answered.

Coun. BURKE—That is the answer.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, I thought the answer would be similar. The gentleman does not answer. He cannot answer. There is no contractor in Boston who has had contracts amounting to anything from this city in the last four years who has placed an appreciable number of Boston people at work. When they built Hyde Park avenue there were only fifteen men on the job, and twelve of them could not speak English. There is no need of repeating the story of Singarella and Tomasella. But after the story of waste and extravagance in this city we have listened to the colleague from Ward 7 (Coun. Burke), standing on this floor and saying, "Give these contractors half a million more. They are putting men at work." Why, a ten-year-old child can see the fallacy of that argument.

Coun. BURKE—Mr. President, just a moment, —I never said that I favored giving the $500,000 to these contractors. If the stenographer will read the records, you will see that I made no such statement. And I have not divulged how I will vote on the matter. I simply stated the situation as I saw it, with the facts submitted to the Council from the committee and the information secured from the Mayor, so that the matter might be placed in proper form before the Council. I want to further state that we should have all the information that we can obtain, not only from the committee but from other sources. I want to repeat that I never made any statement that the $500,000 should be given to these contractors.

Coun. DOWD—Mr. President, I believe I have explained my reasons, or the reasons of the committee, for holding up this appropriation. If there is anything further that the councilor desires to ask me in reference to it, I would be glad to answer.

Coun. BURKE—Mr. President, just a suggestion.

President McGRATH—Does the gentleman yield?

Coun. DOWD—For a suggestion.

Coun. BURKE—That he present orders through this Council asking for the information he wishes to secure through the proper channel.

Coun. DOWD—Mr. President, I believe I can answer that very concisely and clearly. The only one who can give us the information we desire is the Commissioner of Public Works, Mr. Rourke, who is now on his vacation in Florida. If he thinks so much of the people of Boston as to be down in Florida, I don't see why we should worry about the matter until Mr. Rourke gets back, and we can then ask him to tell us how and when he is going to spend the money. But I am not going to vote for half a million dollars for any three pet contractors. If I can answer any further questions and help clear up the matter in the councilor's mind, I shall be glad to do so. That is all.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, let me simply say that if we appropriate half a million dollars for work on these roads at the present time, with the information we have at our disposal, most of it will be paid out for machinery to do the work.

Coun. DOWD—Mr. President, I believe the councilor is asking questions as a subterfuge. Of this half-million a considerable part will be put into patch paving, and it will go to the same group of contractors to whom it has always gone.

Coun. BURKE—Mr. President, I intended no subterfuge in asking these questions. I simply desired to have certain things brought out in the record. I believe that the word "subterfuge" is rather a hard one to apply. On the one side we have contractors and those in power, the man in the front office, and on the other citizens of Boston who need this work. We can put men at work, get them something to do in Boston. We can eliminate the machines to a great extent. We can push out the Singarellas and Tomasellos and can put at work in each section men who live there and who can work on those roads. We have an opportunity now of following the chairman of the Finance Commission. On one side we find those who are hollering about the present administration but voting with it, and on the other hand there are those who believe in placing citizens of Boston at work.

The report was accepted and the order rejected.

LOAN FOR RECONSTRUCTION OF STREETS.

Coun. DOWD offered the following:
Ordered, That the sum of $500,000 be, and the same hereby is, appropriated, to be expended by the Commissioner of Public Works for Reconstruction of Streets, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, upon the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

President McGRATH—The order will be referred to the Committee on Finance.

Coun. BURKE—Mr. President, don't you think there should be an amendment to that?

President McGRATH—The order has been referred to the Committee on Finance. No debate is in order.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON JITNEY LICENSES.

Coun. MURRAY, for the Committee on jitney Licenses, submitted the following:

1. Report on petition (referred January 9) of Boston Elevated Railway Company to operate motor vehicles between Brookline line to junction of Beacon street and Audubon road,—recommending that leave be granted.

Coun. RUBY—Mr. President, I do not see how any member of this body can, in the face of the legislative hearing of last week, vote to the Boston Elevated any privilege that we are empowered to grant. I will agree, for the sake of argument, that that may be considered harsh and cruel and might prevent giving a right to a public service corporation to which it would ordinarily be considered entitled. But last October or November we told them it was unfair for them to go before the Legislature and ask representatives of Springfield, Worcester, Cape Cod and the Berkshires to dictate to Boston the streets through which the Boston Elevated might be permitted to operate its buses. We have recently seen what was brought out at the legislative hearing. And now our committee—with whom I am not quarreling—I believe, as a matter of principle, should withhold every petition for any piece of line through any street in Boston, showing that we insist on home rule for Boston. Until they give to the City of Boston a square deal, I believe everything pending before the Jitney Committee should be held in abeyance. Therefore, unless this report is withdrawn, Mr. President, I shall, for the first time in the seven years I have been a member of this body, vote against the granting of the petition of the Boston Elevated Railway, simply on that ground.

Coun. MURRAY—Mr. President, we have many, many proposed permits that we are holding up. But in this case one of the colleagues came before our committee and told us it was of vital importance to the people of his district that this permit be granted, and I told him I would present it on the floor of the Council. If the Council wishes to reject it, well and good.

Coun. HEIN—Mr. President, that petition referred to is for a line that goes through my ward, the lower end. I asked the chairman of the committee if he would hold the meeting, which he did. This is something that means a great deal to the people out that way, and that is why I interested myself in the matter.

Coun. RUBY—Mr. President, might I be permitted under the circumstances to withdraw any objection I might have, as I would not want to take issue with any councilor, under the circumstances? I simply wanted to express my dissatisfaction at the treatment that has been given us by the Boston Elevated. However, I withdraw my objection to this report.

Report accepted; leave granted on the usual conditions.

Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to repave with smooth pavement the following streets in Ward 14: Greenwood street, Ellington street, Harvard street.

Severally passed under suspension of the rule.

AMERICAN-MADE GOODS.

Coun. FISH offered the following:
Ordered, That the Mayor of Boston request all contractors who have contracts with the City of Boston to buy American-made goods.

Coun. FISH—Mr. President, in connection with that order I might say that the Boston American has been conducting a campaign on "Buy American." I believe the City Council also indorsed the resolution offered by the councilor from Ward 4 a few weeks ago. But it seems that the Mayor of Boston does not follow the campaign through. I have been informed that on the new Dorchester High School for Girls the structural steel now being erected is made in France. You can see the stamp on the steel, "Made in France." It would seem, under the circumstances, in times like these, where we have steel mills and factories in America, that the steel should be bought in America, as well as other materials.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

SALES OF OIL OR COAL TO PUBLIC WELFARE DEPARTMENT.

Coun. BURKE offered the following:
Ordered, That the Overseers of Public Welfare be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to furnish the City Council with the names and addresses of all firms or individuals selling oil or coal to that department, together with information from such firms or individuals as to where they purchase their oil and coal.

Coun. BURKE—Mr. President, I get it from pretty reliable sources that certain officials of the City of Boston, either directly or indirectly, are entering into contracts with the City of Boston. As we all know, that is contrary to the charter. I am simply seeking information in order to determine whether or not such allegations are true.

The order was referred, on motion of Coun. DOWD, to the Executive Committee.

VACANCIES IN FIRE AND POLICE DEPARTMENTS.

Coun. BURKE offered the following:
Ordered, That the Fire and Police Commissioners be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to immediately make new appointments to their forces to fill existing vacancies in order that the citizens of Boston may obtain the maximum protection to which they are entitled from the Fire and Police Departments.

Coun. BURKE—Mr. President, we have heard of the necessity of introducing the short wave radio into our Police Department this afternoon, and it has been acknowledged that the present force in the Police Department is unable to cope with the bad conditions here. It seems to me it would be at least well to fill the vacancies in the Police Department, taking the place of the radio to some extent, until the Police Commissioner sees fit to make that improvement. In reference to the Fire Department, I am informed that they are grossly undermanned and greatly in need of new men to bring the force up to the standard commensurate with the needs of the City of Boston.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

REINSTATEMENT OF JOHN H. CORCORAN.

Coun. BURKE offered the following:
Resolved, That the City Council of the City of Boston hereby approves the enactment of legislation authorizing the reinstatement of John H. Corcoran in the Fire Department of said city, provided that such legislation contains a referendum to the Mayor and City Council.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

PAYMENT OF AID TO SOLDIERS AND SAILORS.

Paul Gould, Lithgow Hall, February 24; H. V. Simpson, Lee Hall, February 10; Barbara E. Smith, Lithgow Hall, February 17; Aaron Richmond, Jordan Hall, February 12 and 14,—recommending that leave be granted, under usual conditions.

2. Report on order (referred February 6) that Overseers of Public Welfare furnish Council with names and addresses of all firms or individuals selling oil or coal to that department, together with information from such firms or individuals as to where they purchase their oil and coal—recommending reference to the Committee on Rules.

Coun. MURRAY—Mr. President, I doubt the presence of a quorum.

Coun. RUBY—Mr. President, I move that we adjourn.

President McGRATH—The question is on the doubt that has been raised. The motion to adjourn is not in order at this time. A quorum is present.

The report was accepted and the order referred to the Committee on Rules.

3. Report on petition (referred February 6) of Boston American League Baseball Company for license for Sunday sports at Fenway Park—recommending that permit be granted.

Report accepted; said license granted.

Adjourned at 5.04 p. m., on motion of Coun. HEIN, to meet on Monday, February 13, 1933, at 2 p. m.

LIBRARY PACKED AS DEPRESSION CONTINUES.

As the curve of business goes down, the curve of reading goes up! To those cities tempted to chop off the budgetary appropriation for libraries as the first move in a program of economy, this report from the American Library Association Bulletin may be interesting:

More than a million new readers have found their way into libraries in cities of over 200,000 population in the last two years, and the number of books borrowed from them has reached the unprecedented high of 157,000,000—more than 26,000,000 over figures for 1929.

While these figures are indicative of the increase in reading throughout the country, they do not tell the whole story, for they represent only 44 libraries. Reports received by the American Library Association indicate that the per capita demand for books is equally great in smaller libraries.

Expenditures for library service in the cities noted increased 5 per cent during the two-year period; the number of books available increased 10 per cent; the number of registered readers, 19 per cent; and the number of books borrowed, 20 per cent.

OFFICIAL CHRONICLE OF BOSTON MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

BOSTON'S 1933 TAX RATE WOULD BE $28 OR LESS BUT FOR STATE AND WELFARE REQUIREMENTS—MAYOR CURLEY IN WEEKLY BROADCAST FROM CITY HALL STATION POINTS TO $3,000,000 REDUCTION IN 1933 BUDGET REQUIREMENTS OVER EXPENDITURES OF 1932 WITH BURDEN OF $12,000,000 FOR WELFARE RELIEF—SUCCESS DUE TO EXPERIENCE FROM PREVIOUS DEPRESSIONS AND RIGID ECONOMIES BY EFFICIENT OFFICIALS.

Mayor Curley, speaking over Station WNAC, Monday, February 13, discussed the budget for the City of Boston, in part, as follows:

Friends of the Radio Audience.

I desire at this time to discuss, with the citizenship of Boston, one of the most interesting subjects so far as the conduct of municipalities is concerned and so far as the interests of every taxpayer is concerned, namely, the budget for the year 1933.

It is the first concern and the principal source of worry of public officials in every municipality in the entire country. With us in Boston perhaps it is not quite so much a source of worry as it is in other sections of the country. We have been exceedingly fortunate in that at no time in the history of Boston, from 1822 to 1932, or a period of 110 years, has Boston failed to meet every financial obligation, and I believe you will agree that it is to our credit that in 1932 we ended the year not only with every financial obligation met, but with every humanitarian obligation discharged. And yet when you consider that in the year 1932 it was necessary to provide $12,000,000 to take care of the Public Welfare Department to provide food, shelter and fuel for the needy of Boston, to the number of 120,000, as against a normal expenditure in any previous year prior to 1928 of not in excess of $2,000,000, you have some realization of how serious the task confronting municipalities was. Were we required to expend only what has been expended in normal years for public welfare and soldiers' relief, as well as hospitalization and police, instead of a $35.50 tax rate we would in all probability, notwithstanding the expenses foisted upon the City of Boston by the state, have a tax rate not in excess of $28. It is most gratifying as a consequence of our efforts and our research and study that it will be possible to submit to the Legislature this year an appropriation fully $3,000,000 less than was actually expended in 1932, notwithstanding the fact that we anticipate that our Public Welfare will represent an expenditure of probably $2,000,000 in excess of what was actually expended in 1932, and that our Soldiers' Relief requirements in all likelihood will be $500,000 in excess of what was actually expended in 1932.

Due to Competent Officials.

Naturally the public is just a little bit interested; in fact, we are receiving inquiries from every other city in the country constantly as to how we are meeting the situation which apparently they are unable to cope with in a majority of the American cities. I might say we have been able to cope with it, in that we have competent and capable officials in charge of every department in the municipality and that fortunately or unfortunately this is the third term as Mayor when the Mayor was required to serve while a depression was in progress. You will recall in 1914 and 1915 the withdrawal of foreign commercial carriers resulted in general stagnation in every portion of the entire country, with large numbers of unemployed everywhere who had to be taken care of; in 1922 we had similar conditions with thousands of men and women seeking aid from the city, so that with this depression we anticipated many of the things that have taken place and made necessary preparation.

In the matter of our Park and Public Works Departments we are employing at the present time about 9,000 men whose families are being aided by the Public Welfare Department. This represents a saving of approximately $1,200,000 in the maintenance charges for these two departments.

It was always the custom in the past to pay overtime. In 1930, as a consequence of the depression, we abandoned the policy of payment for overtime work and instituted what is known as the compensatory time off in place of it, so that if men are required to work eight hours in overtime they are given a full day off that week or the succeeding week to compensate them for the time he had worked overtime.

In the matter of filling vacancies in the city departments we have adopted the policy which has been in force for three years of transferring men where there is a surplus of employees in one department to offset the shortage in other departments.

Thanks to the generosity of George Francis Parkman, the city became the beneficiary several years ago of seven and one-half millions of dollars. It was provided that the income should be extended for improving and developing such parks as were in existence at the time the money became available. Under the provisions of that will we have expended the income of the Parkman Fund for the maintenance of parks and the payment for services of men employed on these particular parks. Of course it has been necessary, because of the strained financial situation, to reduce, in some degree, our municipal activities, but only those that could be dispensed with without serious injury have been dispensed with.

CALLS ON AMERICA TO PREPARE FOR ADEQUATE NATIONAL DEFENSE AS AN OBLIGATION AND DUTY FOR PRESERVATION OF PEACE AND LIBERTY—MAYOR CURLEY SOUNDS WARNING AND CALLS ATTENTION TO LESSONS UNLEARNED FROM PREVIOUS WARS DURING ADDRESS AT FANEUIL HALL OBSERVANCE OF SINKING OF BATTLESHIP "MAINE."

In his address at exercises in commemoration of sinking of battleship "Maine," at Faneuil Hall, Mayor Curley spoke, in part, as follows:

Thirty-five years ago the battleship "Maine" was destroyed by an explosion in the harbor at Havana and 266 members of the crew and officers died as a consequence. A naval court of inquiry examination disclosed that the explosion had occurred as a result of a submarine mine. As a consequence of the destruction of the "Maine" in a harbor under the control of a nation with whom America was at peace, after exhaustive investigation, war was declared.

The primary cause of the war was the condition obtaining in the Island of Cuba, the atrocities committed upon the native population and the injury resulting to American citizens and American commerce as a consequence of the unsettled condition which had obtained. The entire American nation was aroused as a consequence of the destruction of the battleship "Maine" and the loss of our gallant sailors, with the result that in every portion of the land the rallying cry was raised "Remember the 'Maine'." Troops were hastily recruited and a volunteer army embarked to the scene of action. The war against Spain did not differ materially from any other war in which the United States had engaged from the beginning of the movement for the establishment of liberty in America and the price paid for our customary unpreparedness is one of the darkest chapters in American history.

Troops were speedily embarked to a semi-tropical country without adequate medical supplies and equipped with old-fashioned Springfield rifles which left a cloud of black smoke whenever discharged, thereby indicating to the enemy the presence of the American soldiery and making them an easy target for the well-equipped Spanish Army. The soldiery of Spain were armed with Mauser rifles and smokeless powder, but the destructive work of the Spanish soldiery was as nothing compared with the work of disease due to lack of proper Red Cross facilities and the character of food served the American soldiery by the greedy profiteers, who, in the Spanish-American War, saw opportunity to dispose of putrid and poisonous canned goods that should have been condemned many years before the war occurred. Yellow fever and dysentery were responsible for more deaths than the armed forces of Spain and yet the lesson of preparedness taught by the Spanish-American War to the present remains unanswered and unlearned by the United States of America.

GREAT BENEFIT TO COUNTRY.

From the standpoint of a united nation, no single effort in the history of our country has been more productive of greater benefit than the Spanish-American War. The blood of our soldiery cemented once more the North and the South. The wounds opened as a consequence of internecine struggle during the period of the Civil War, whose bitterness was everywhere in evidence, were permanently closed as a consequence of the Spanish-American War. Both the men who had served in the Civil War under General Grant and General Robert E. Lee hastened to tender their services with their sons, representing the North and South in the name of a united America and almost overnight we became a united nation.

The success of American armies in Cuba was speedily followed by the entry into Manila Harbor of the American fleet under Admiral Dewey which speedily reduced the Spanish fortifications and destroyed the Spanish fleet, extending the line of America's territory almost overnight some three thousand or more miles. The subjugation of the Philippine Islands and the establishment there of orderly civil government under United States military rule quickly followed. In conformity with American thought and American principle, the Island of Cuba, known as the Pearl of the Antilles, and richer in natural resources than any portion of our own country, was turned over to the inhabitants to conduct for the well-being of its people in accordance with the principles established in America since 1783.

With the establishment of free government the island prospered and unquestionably were it not for the establishment of a system of tariff designated to protect the American beet growers, would today be the most prosperous country to be found in the entire world. The seeds of despotism, responsible during the past three years for the strangulation of genuine freedom of thought and action upon the part of the people of Cuba, have been in no small measure due to conditions created in the island as a consequence of America's failure to recognize the obligations which our relation with the island imposes. The failure of America to discharge unselfishly its obligations to Cuba and its policy of exploitation has brought ruin and misery to the inhabitants of Cuba and unless speedily changed will result in a kind, gentle, friendly and loyal neighbor becoming a bitter and hostile enemy.

NEED CUBA'S FRIENDSHIP.

With the spirit of unrest prevalent throughout the entire world, with America a debtor nation to substantially every country in the world, with depression and unemployment general in our own country, it is imperative that friendly relations with the Island of Cuba be speedily re-established. The lesson of unpreparedness taught not alone by the Spanish-American War but by the Civil War, and by every war in which America has ever been engaged, should not be forgotten at the present hour. With a coastline greater in area, both upon the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans, than any five nations in Europe combined, with a policy of decimation of our coast fortifications, with our army and marine corps reduced to the vanishing point, with our naval equipment today inferior not only to Great Britain but to Japan, it is imperative that regardless of the cry of economy we maintain, not for the purpose of war but for the purpose of preserving our liberties and peace, defensive forces upon waters at least equal if not superior to that of any other nation in the world.

Adequate preparedness against even a decadent nation such as Spain was at the outbreak of the Spanish-American War is an obligation and a duty that we owe to our heritage of American liberty as well as to our citizenship upon whose services we rely in the hour of peril. Adequate preparation by the forces of national defense prior to the Spanish-American War would not only have lessened the period of the war but would have preserved from death through disease rather than the bullets of an enemy nation countless thousands of the youth of our land.

AMERICA UNPREPARED.

Notwithstanding the lesson of the Spanish-American War, the World War found America equally unprepared. The World War was begun in October of 1914 and America's entry did not occur until April of 1917, nearly three full years later. Yet when war was declared and after American shipping had been destroyed on sea by the undersea boats of the enemy and when America's pride and honor had been flaunted by the ships and soldiery of the Central Powers, when the time arrived for the transportation of American troops to the scene of action we were compelled to rely upon the ships of the nations with whom America was allied during the war for the transportation of troops.

The withdrawal of commerce carriers as a consequence of the war resulted in a depression in America during 1914 and the winter of 1915 almost equally as devastating in character as the depression which has been in evidence during the past three and one half years. The presence of seventy thousand crosses upon the battlefields of France and Flanders, marking the last resting place of the citizen soldiery of America, is another tribute to American unpreparedness. In all probability were it not for the courageous stand taken by the leader of the American Expeditionary Forces, Gen. John J. Pershing, who refused to allow the American soldiery to be utilized as cannon fodder or shock troops for the allied armies, the number would be nearer seven hundred thousand than seventy thousand.

Thirty-five years have passed since that fatal day in February when the battleship "Maine" was destroyed in the harbor of Havana and when 266 American boys lost their lives as a consequence. These years have contributed materially to the wealth of the nation and to the growth of American achievement both in peace and in war. The lesson, however, is still with us. The invasion of Manchuria by Japan, despite the protest of the League of Nations, representing substantially every important country in the world; the almost mad race for speed between the nations of the world in the matter of the development of the offensive and defensive preparation for future wars, and the lackadaisical policy of our own nation, may well give pause to thoughtful men.

Europe today may well be considered as an armed camp, the Far East a cauldron and America as a silent, uninterested, unprepared spectator.

There is no means of determining when a like occurrence to that which took place in the harbor at Havana may again inflame the citizenship of our nation and while we pray God that the day may be far distant, there is, nevertheless, an obligation and a duty which we owe to the heritage which is ours as a consequence of sacrifice of those who have gone before in order that peace and liberty may be ours, to show ourselves not as an aggressive nation but as a nation cognizant of its duty, alert to its responsibilities and prepared to defend if need be to the last man and the last of its possessions the heritage of liberty bequeathed to us by the glorious sacrifice of our fathers.

PITTSBURGH'S "THROUGH STREET" SYSTEM.

An extension of the "through street" system of Pittsburgh to further interconnect the various population and residential centers with protected arteries of communication has been planned.

Fourteen additional through streets, supplementing the original six established in the fall of 1928 have been designated by City Council, and flashing neon "Stop-Through-Traffic" signs have been purchased to adequately mark the streets according to report from that city.

FINANCING SEWAGE WORKS BY SPECIAL ASSESSMENT IN IOWA.

The cost of constructing sewage disposal plants in a number of states, and in Iowa in particular, may be levied against the various lots, parts of lots or parcels of ground draining to, or susceptible to drainage to, the site of the disposal plant. Such assessments must be in proportion to the benefits to each property and must not, in any case, exceed one-fourth of the fair value of the property in question. These special assessments are payable in the same manner as other municipal improvement costs; that is, in ten annual equal installments, paid at the same time and place as the March 1 installment of ordinary taxes in Iowa. Any property owner may pay off the unpaid portion of such tax at any time. Interest on the deferred payments must not exceed 6 per cent.

SAVINGS IN PURCHASES.

It has always been the custom, notwithstanding the fact that we have a Purchasing Department, to endeavor to centralize purchasing in one department; it has always been the custom to buy independent of one another. We have made it a practice, since 1930, to buy for all departments through the central purchasing agency, to anticipate market requirements and to buy at seasonal periods. As a consequence we have effected a saving of over $800,000 for a full year in the various departments of the city.

The completion shortly of the tunnel between Boston proper and East Boston will make possible the abandonment of the North Ferry. The ferries we have always regarded as highways and they represent a cost somewhere around $450,000 in excess annually of the amount of money that is taken in for passengers and vehicular traffic upon the ferries. The abandonment of the North Ferry, in all probability, will represent a saving of $75,000 for the full year 1933.

From time to time we have taken up with officials both of the Edison Illuminating Company and the Boston Consolidated Gas Company the matter of a more favorable rate in the City of Boston. This year we have been fortunate within the last sixty days to secure a revision in rates representing a saving of $60,000 for the year 1933 for street lighting.

The public libraries have been patronized to a larger extent during the depression than ever previously in the history of the library. The increase has been most constant; in fact, the number of persons applying at the libraries for reading space or books to take out was 100 per cent in excess of 1928. Yet we have effected economies in the library representing $60,000 in the cost of operating the library for the year 1933.

It has always been customary to send officials and heads of departments to conferences and conventions which discussed particular department activities. The city paid traveling expenses for these representatives. This year, however, those who attend such conventions will travel at their own expense. This is not a very great saving but every item is important just now.

With a view to ending the abuse of municipal automobiles we installed what is known as the Drive Yourself System of motor transportation in 1932 with most interesting results. The mileage was reduced 125,000 and the actual saving through the use of this taxi system to the taxpayer was about $125,000 for the year 1932, and I anticipate it will be about $140,000 for the year 1933.

The average citizen is very much interested to know just what our expenses are in the matter of expenditures for all departments of the city. Carfares for a single year in all departments have approximated $80,000, quite a respectable sum. We are making most everybody walk this year and anticipate saving this amount.

Last year we had a national as well as a state election. The abandonment of those two elections for 1933 will mean a saving of about $140,000.

SAVING OF $3,000,000 MADE.

Abandonment of the sliding scale system in all departments in effect since 1930 represents a saving in any given year of $150,000. Every possible economy that might be applied has been put in operation and it is reflected in the reduction in the sum of over $3,000,000 in the budget allowance for 1933 over the year 1932. The claim may be made that despite this fact the budget should be reduced further. The proponents of this claim, if called upon to substantiate their position, would undoubtedly propose or favor further reductions in the compensation of municipal employees and the elimination of many services which are provided for in the allowances as they now appear.

In my opinion, the experience of the last four years is the best argument which can be used to controvert the doctrine of reduced salaries and wages. Since the beginning of the depression this supposed cure has been extensively applied, and with what result? Not only has the spending power of the American people been vitally reduced, which has reacted sharply against all lines of businesses, but has spread the gospel of fear throughout the nation. It may be said that public employees have enjoyed a favored position in the last few years, since the reduction in their incomes has not kept pace with that suffered by other groups in the community. Admitting this to be true, is it not also true that the morale of public employees which has not been destroyed by excessive pay reductions, has contributed greatly to the maintenance of whatever business and industrial activity has been present in the community? A sharp reduction in the salaries of public officials and employees at this time would only serve to make general throughout the country the spirit of fear which has contributed as much as, if not more than any other factor, to the longevity of the depression.

PROTECTIVE PROGRAM NEEDED TO SAVE AMERICA FROM PERIODS OF DEPRESSION IN FUTURE YEARS, MAYOR CURLEY TELLS FEDERATION OF WOMEN'S CLUBS DURING MID-WINTER MEETING AT HOTEL BRADFORD—POINTS TO SUCCESS OF BOSTON IN SAVING CITY FROM RUIN AND DESOLATION DURING PRESENT YEARS OF DISTRESS CAUSED BY UNEMPLOYMENT AND BUSINESS SLUMP.

Madam President, and Members of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs.

It is an exceeding pleasure and one which I esteem a very great privilege, namely, being permitted to address the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs.

As Chief Executive of an American city I am very desirous of talking direct to those who are required to bear the major portion of the burden during a period of depression,—the women of Massachusetts.

I have accepted an invitation to be present at a conference called by the mayor of Detroit at the Mayflower Hotel, Washington, on Friday morning, to which the mayors of every city of more than 500,000 inhabitants in the United States have had invitations extended, to discuss ways and means of preventing the bankruptcy of certain American cities at the present hour. Since the receipt of that invitation, and the acceptance of the same, the Governor of the State of Michigan has found it necessary to order all banking institutions in that state closed and the dealers in securities have found it necessary to order the closing of the Detroit Stock Exchange for a period of at least ten days. The mayor of Detroit, in issuing his call, set forth that sinking fund and interest requirements for the year 1933 in Detroit called for the expenditure of $37,000,000 and the estimated receipts for the city of Detroit for the year 1933 were but $38,000,000, leaving but $1,000,000 to administer the various departments of the city. This would mean that the schools, police, fire department, hospitals and other departments would operate for about one and one half months, and no longer.

BOSTON THE SINGLE EXCEPTION.

Now the city of Detroit does not differ very materially from any other city in the entire United States with the exception of Boston. Boston, as a matter of fact, is the one bright spot in all the American cities.

The case of Detroit is a most interesting one since it is one of the greatest industrial cities in the United States and yet a city in which during a great portion of the last twelve months one in every three of the entire population has found it necessary to resort to private charity.

In the city of New York, the richest city in the entire world, we find one in every four of the entire population of upwards of 6,000,000 souls walking the streets of the city and trying to keep body and soul together through public and private aid.

In Pennsylvania, Governor Pinchot, for the first time in the history of that great industrial state, the greatest in the Union, and richer in mineral wealth and natural resources than any other, and better located for the distribution of those resources, has found it necessary to submit a request to the Federal Government for the allocation of not less than $20,000,000 to prevent actual starvation of the people in this state during the present winter. I had occasion to visit Philadelphia in behalf of the next President of the United States, in November. The policemen appeared to be very happy and so I made inquiry as to the reason. I was informed by one of the officers that they had just received one month's pay—the first in three months. I asked him when he anticipated being paid again. "Only God knows," was his answer; "there is an election coming and of course it was necessary for us to contribute the customary ten per cent and accordingly we were paid."

Everybody in public life is condemned because of conditions beyond the control of the individual. In 1931 I anticipated that the depression would end in 1931. So we called a series of conferences in Boston, one each week for a period of five months. Invitations were extended to the professors in economics in the various Massachusetts colleges and twenty-two leaders in the field of economics responded. These invitations were not confined to colleges for the male sex only, but included in them were both Radcliffe and Wellesley Colleges. Among those who responded was Professor Carver, of Harvard, one of the leading economists in the country, and he said to me: "Why have we never previously been invited to consider questions so vital to the public welfare?" It was the first time in the history of America that this group, who by training and education were qualified to map out a proper course to pursue, had ever been consulted.

PROGRAM OF PREVENTION.

We have been content to delegate to the American Federation of Labor the adoption and the creation of an economic program that may mean happiness or misery for 122,000,000 souls. This might have been all right in the formative period of America, but when America increased in population in excess of 100,000,000 of people, it was too weighty a problem to delegate to any one element in the community. It then becomes the business of the entire country.

We did not consider the question of the present depression at these conferences; we considered the adoption of a program whereby it might be possible to prevent a recurrence of the frightful one now in existence in America. After five months of deliberation we were a unit in favoring the five-day week; in favor of a major construction program; in favor of a Federal Planning Commission.

You women that are accustomed to conducting your own household, or some private enterprise, have a realization of how important a task it is for you to entertain, without previous preparation, say fifty or one hundred persons in your home. And yet unpreparedness is the policy which our Government has followed from the beginning.

In our own city we were required to do a little housekeeping in 1930 as a consequence of the depression and for the first time we discovered that it was possible to save some money in the operation of motor vehicles. We adopted the drive yourself system and reduced the mileage over 125,000 miles in 1932 on municipal cars. They did not ride quite as much with their families as they had previously, and this represented a saving of $125,000 in a single year to the taxpayers and for the year 1933 I anticipate it will approach a saving of $160,000.

It was customary to install telephone service in the homes of every head of a department, or prominent employees in the city service, but this was discontinued. We have very few cases now where they telephone to China or Japan, or Russia, because they are required to pay now. In my own case the telephone bill runs up to as high as $125 a month and I admit I am a little more careful about telephoning. When the city paid it the cost often ran as high as $200 a month. On the telephone service alone we have saved $40,000 a year by requiring the individual to pay for his own service.

We abandoned the sliding scale of increases for employees of the city in 1930 at an estimated saving of $160,000. All these have been introduced in the name of economy and have contributed materially in the cost of operating the city.

We had an investigation by the Finance Commission and they reported back that they could not understand why there has been a falling off in the use of potatoes in city institutions during 1932. They found that the city institutions were consuming 1,000 pounds a day less than formerly. They overlooked the fact that it was the aim of every person, man and woman, to obtain a sylph-like figure and as a consequence the consumption of potatoes and other starchy foods greatly diminished. Many persons believe that the ills of agriculturists in America may be traced wholly to overproduction but I am inclined to believe that underconsumption may be the largest factor.

HOW BOSTON MEETS PROBLEMS.

Now just a word as to our own situation. I believe you should be made familiar with how we are endeavoring to meet our obligations. The number of men, women and children actually aided, not by private agencies, but through the Public Welfare Department and the Soldier's Relief Department, approximates at the present time 120,000 out of a total population of 780,000, a little better than one in every seven, and the unfortunate feature of it is that there seems to be no break in the cloudy horizon that hangs so heavy over our country.

In 1929 our expenditures for public welfare were two and three quarter millions of dollars. In 1930 it rose to three and one half millions of dollars. In 1931 to seven millions. In 1932 to twelve millions. We have no means of determining what it may be in 1933 but we are figuring on an expenditure of between twelve and fourteen millions of dollars. Normal expenditures for relief would mean a five-dollar decrease tax rate, but I wonder what would happen in this country of ours if we failed to provide food, shelter and fuel for the hungry of the community. No person's life would be safe. So in order that we may preserve some semblance of respect for life and property we must meet these obligations in the only way that they can be met—by providing the money out of the public treasury.

In 1932 we had seventeen hundred patients a day at the Out-Patient Department of the Boston City Hospital, or during the year 1932 six hundred thousand persons applying for medical and surgical treatment. I do not know how many of these cases were self-inflicted injuries, made by men and women who wanted an opportunity to get free meals for the first time in a long period of days and a comfortable bed.

It is our obligation—the obligation of every individual in the Commonwealth, and in the Union, to care for the needy. Our duty is clear—do our part in the molding and crystallization of public sentiment so that there will be in America a "thinking machine," if you will, to serve as the brains in the development of a protective program that will save America from periods of depression, which in my opinion, are preventable.

CATCH-BASIN CLEANING.

The cleaning of catch-basins in Toronto, Ont., is started immediately after the spring clean-up of the streets, and is usually sufficient until the fall, when the basins are given a thorough cleaning for the winter, in order to reduce to a minimum the blocking of drains during this season. Many basins throughout the business sections and those in subways and at the bottom of grades are given constant attention, owing to the exceptional amount of refuse washed to the culvert and drains by street flushing and rainstorms.

The total cost of catch-basin cleaning in 1931 was $17,580.70. A total of 11,561 cubic yards of material was removed from 54,306 catch-basins. The cost of cleaning the basins and removing the accumulated material was $1.52 per cubic yard, or 32 cents per basin per cleaning season, according to George W. Dies, Street Commissioner, Toronto, Ont.

FALSE ECONOMIC PROPOSALS.

Danger to both the immediate and the long-run efficiency of fire departments and to the security of the community itself lies in many if not most of the proposals of taxpayers' representatives attacking the budgetary provisions for municipal fire protection. The gravity of this menace was emphasized by Jay W. Stevens, California State Fire Marshal and Executive Secretary of the International Association of Fire Chiefs, in an address on "Maintaining Fire Department Efficiency," given before the recent convention of that organization.

HIGHWAY WORK TO RELIEVE UNEMPLOYMENT.

Highway officials throughout the United States are earnestly besought to put as many men to work as possible. The total disbursements for all road purposes in this country during the ten-year period 1922-1931 are computed by the United States Bureau of Public Roads to be about $14,000,000,000, more than half of this by and for the State Highway Departments. The Bureau last May came to the conclusion that the man-month expenditure was then about $300 with a downward trend and that for every man employed directly on the job, two others are employed indirectly in the preparation of materials, manufacture of machinery, transportation, etc. Thus the total of $4,637,000,000 expended for the construction of state and Federal roads during the ten-year period referred to means 13,248,571 man-months—the equivalent of the steady employment of approximately 110,000 men for the ten years, with 220,000 others employed indirectly. Similarly, the money spent on construction of local roads must have given direct employment to 51,000, with 102,000 others indirectly employed. This would make a grand total, continuously employed in road building, of 483,000 men.

THE POLICE OFFICER AND THE CITIZEN.

The importance of the police as conspicuous representatives of the municipal government, and the qualities desirable in such a relationship, were pointed out by City Manager Willard F. Day of Staunton, Va., in addressing the recent convention of the Virginia Police Executives' Association. He said in part:

"It is unquestionably true that the man on the street, the public, the visitor and the home citizen alike, form first and in many cases lasting impressions of the local government by contacts with the police."

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.General Order No. 159.

(Paragraph 1.)

Division commanders shall maintain and continue an "evening-on-the-floor" and "morning-in" assignment, each squad to consist of at least three patrolmen.

Long-day men shall be so assigned that platoons will be split and division commanders shall rearrange long-day squads so that not more than three men will be assigned for the "evening-on-the-floor" and "morning-in."

(Paragraph 2.)

Sections 22 and 23 of Rule 24, Police Rules and Regulations, are hereby amended by striking out the whole of said sections, and inserting new sections 22 and 23 in place thereof, as follows:

Section 22. Stables, wagon houses and garages shall be kept clean and neat. Horses shall be kept well groomed, and careful attention must be paid to their diet. Mounted officers shall be responsible for the proper care of horses, harnesses and quarters under their charge or control. Motor vehicles shall be kept clean and properly greased and oiled. The day drivers shall be responsible for the proper care of wagon and appurtenances, the proper oiling, greasing and cleaning of motor vehicles, and also for the proper inflation of tires and the care of batteries. The men detailed shall assist the drivers in the care of the wagon and quarters. No person, except a member of the department, shall be allowed in a stable, wagon house or garage without permission of a superior officer. Except in great emergency, automobiles and ambulances shall at all times be operated carefully in accordance with the provisions of chapter 90, General Laws, and even in great emergency cases they shall proceed at a rate of speed reasonable and proper, having in mind the condition of the way and the safety of the public. Three men shall be detailed at each division for permanent duty as drivers of patrol wagons. Drivers and their assistants shall alternate so that each shall have day duty every third week.

The hours of duty of the day driver and his assistants shall be from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m., and of the night drivers and assistants from 4 p. m. to 12 o'clock midnight, and from 12 o'clock midnight to 8 a. m. A patrolman shall be regularly detailed each tour of duty to accompany the wagon. The men so detailed shall perform any other duty required of them by the officer in charge, when such duty will not interfere with their accompanying the driver on calls, or assisting the driver in any necessary work upon the wagon or in the wagon house. The men detailed shall hold themselves in readiness to answer all calls, and especially those of an emergency nature. They shall not be permitted to sleep during hours of duty. The division commander shall select a patrolman from each platoon to prosecute in court all persons arrested for drunkenness, either by themselves or other officers during their respective hours of duty.

The day patrolman selected may continue indefinitely in this duty. The "first half patrolman" and "last half patrolman" shall be a different man on each tour of night duty, and all night patrolmen shall take their turn in the prosecution in court of persons arrested for drunkenness.

All patrolmen detailed as prosecuting officers will bear in mind that if any person arrested for drunkenness pleads "Not guilty" in court, a continuance will be asked for and the officer who made the original arrest will appear on the postponed date as a witness in the case.

Section 23. Division commanders shall daily make a thorough inspection of the patrol wagons and motor vehicles, if any, in the wagon houses or garages of their divisions. If the operators or drivers are not taking proper care of the wagons and motor vehicles, the division commanders shall substitute men as operators or drivers who will properly perform their work and be careful in the handling of the property of the department. If any defect is noticed in, or repairs are needed to, the wagons or motor vehicles, the division commanders shall immediately report the same to the property clerk.

The patrolmen attached to the wagon shall be under the command of the driver unless an officer of rank is present. Where a commanding officer is in receipt of a request from any patrolman to be assigned to permanent night duty on the wagon, and is of the opinion that the efficiency of the service will not be impaired by such assignment, he will so report to the superintendent, and may, if the superintendent permits, assign such patrolman to such permanent duty.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

EUGENE C. HULTMAN,
Commissioner.

(Paragraph 2.)

A trial board consisting of Captains Lewis, Fallon and Kavanagh, having heard by reference a complaint made by Martin H. King, deputy superintendent, against John J. Kearns, patrolman, Division 2, for alleged violations of the Rules and Regulations of the Police Department, to wit:

Charge: Conduct unbecoming an officer.

Specification 1: In that on the seventeenth day of January, 1933, the said Patrolman John J. Kearns while not on duty and not in uniform did associate with another member of the Police Department while under the influence of intoxicating liquor and, further, did engage in an altercation in a public street with another member of the Boston Police Department.

Specification 2: In that on the seventeenth day of January, 1933, the said Patrolman John J. Kearns while not in uniform and not on duty was under the influence of intoxicating liquor to such an extent that he could not properly perform police duty if called upon so to do.

Specification 3: In that on the seventeenth day of January, 1933, the said Patrolman John J. Kearns did ride in a taxicab while under the influence of intoxicating liquor and did hear a shot from a revolver while in said taxicab and did fail to investigate the cause of the revolver shot and did fail to apprehend the person responsible for the firing of said shot.

Specification 4: In that on the eighteenth day of January, 1933, the said Patrolman John J. Kearns did fail to report to the officer in charge of his division important information and happenings that had come to his knowledge during the previous twenty-four hours.

Specification 5: In that on the seventeenth day of January, 1933, the said Patrolman John J. Kearns did commit various acts that were contrary to good order and discipline of the Boston Police Department,— has submitted to the commissioner the following finding and recommendation:

The Board having heard and carefully considered all the evidence presented finds the said Patrolman John J. Kearns not guilty on Specifications 1 and 2 of the said charge, and guilty on that part of Specification 3 which reads as follows:

"In that on the seventeenth day of January, 1933, the said Patrolman John J. Kearns did ride in a taxicab . . . and did hear a shot from a revolver while in said taxicab and did fail to investigate the cause of the revolver shot and did fail to apprehend the person responsible for the firing of said shot," and guilty on Specifications 4 and 5 of the said charge, and respectfully recommends that the said Patrolman John J. Kearns be suspended from duty for a period of thirty days from January 18, 1933, with loss of pay, and that at the expiration of said period of suspension the said Patrolman John J. Kearns be ordered to perform 105 hours of punishment duty.

The commissioner accepts the finding and recommendation of the trial board and hereby orders that the said Patrolman John J. Kearns be suspended from duty for a period of thirty days from January 18, 1933, with loss of pay, and that at the expiration of said period of suspension the said Patrolman John J. Kearns perform 105 hours of punishment duty.

Civil Service Rule 23, Section 3, requires approval of the Civil Service Commission before reinstatement.

Rule 23.

Section 3. With the consent of the Commissioner upon good cause shown, an appointing officer may reinstate in the same position or in a position in the same class and grade any person who has been separated from the service; provided, however, that the Commissioner shall not allow reinstatement of a person discharged for cause.

(Paragraph 3.)

A trial board consisting of Captains McKinnon, Lewis and Fallon, having heard by reference a complaint made by Harry N. Dickinson, captain, commanding Division 11, against Daniel J. Kerr, patrolman, Division 11, for alleged violations of the Rules and Regulations of the Police Department, to wit:

Charge: Conduct unbecoming an officer.

Specification 1: In that on the twentieth day of January, 1933, the said Patrolman Daniel J. Kerr, while not in uniform and not on duty, was under the influence of intoxicating liquor to such an extent that he would be unable to perform police duty if called upon so to do.

Specification 2: In that on the twentieth day of January, 1933, the said Patrolman Daniel J. Kerr, while not in uniform and not on duty, while in the town of Dedham, Mass., was arrested by officers of that town on the charge of drunkenness and subsequently was accused of violation of the automobile law, viz.: Operating an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. All tending to bring into disrepute and criticism his associates in the Police Department, to which charge and specifications the said Patrolman Daniel J. Kerr pleaded not guilty and was represented by counsel, has submitted the following recommendations:

The Board having heard and carefully considered all the evidence as presented by witnesses, finds the said Patrolman Daniel J. Kerr guilty of Specification 1 of said charge. On Specification 2, the Board is of the opinion that the arrest of Patrolman Daniel J. Kerr for drunkenness was not warranted as shown by the result of investigation, and circumstances which developed subsequent to the arrest. Also that the accusation of operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor was not supported in any particular by testimony relating to the facts in the case. The Board, therefore, finds the said Patrolman Daniel J. Kerr not guilty on Specification 2.

The Board in its recommendation is mindful of the seriousness of the complaint, and that 210 hours' punishment duty has heretofore been the minimum punishment, but in this case it is taking into consideration the frank and honest report made by the accused officer to his commanding officer, the fact that he has been the recipient of a commendation in General Orders for good judgment and efficiency, and the recommendation of his commanding officer that he is an officer of unusual ability and efficiency, and exceedingly industrious in police work.

Therefore the Board respectfully recommends that Patrolman Daniel J. Kerr be ordered to perform 140 hours of punishment duty.

The Police Commissioner accepts the recommendation of the Trial Board and hereby orders that the said Patrolman Daniel J. Kerr perform 140 hours of punishment duty.

(Paragraph 4.)

A trial board consisting of Captains McKinnon, Lewis and Fallon, having heard by reference a complaint made by Harry N. Dickinson, captain, commanding Division 11, against Martin H. Monahan, patrolman, Division 11, for alleged violations of the Rules and Regulations of the Police Department, to wit:

Charge: Leaving city without permission.

Specification: In that on the twentieth day of January, 1933, the said Patrolman Martin H. Monahan, while not in uniform and not upon any police duty, did leave the City of Boston and go to the town of Dedham, Mass., without having received permission from the Police Commissioner the superintendent, or his commanding officer,— to which charge and specification the said Patrolman Martin H. Monahan pleaded guilty and was represented by counsel, has submitted the following recommendation:

The Board having heard and carefully considered all the evidence presented finds the said Patrolman Martin H. Monahan guilty as charged and respectfully recommends that the complaint against the said Patrolman Martin H. Monahan be placed on file.

The Police Commissioner accepts the recommendation of the Trial Board and hereby orders that the complaint against the said Patrolman Martin H. Monahan be placed on file.

(Paragraph 5.)

Sergt. Thomas G. Duggan, Sergt. James L. Culleton, Patrolmen Harold J. Martin, James J. McGovern and George W. Quilty, all of Division 15, and Patrolman Guido Biagi of Division 9, are hereby commended in General Orders for their initiative and good judgment shown on February 4, 1933, in the arrest of a person who was endeavoring to obtain money fraudulently from a storkeeper. The man arrested has been identified by victims who have been fleeced by the flimflam racket.

The commissioner is pleased to recognize the initiative and resourceful manner in which this clever piece of police work was effected.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

EUGENE C. HULTMAN,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 161.

Previous to a prisoner's being placed in the line-up he shall have been photographed and fingerprinted and his record at the Bureau of Records shall have been examined.

The line-up will be held under the direct supervision of the deputy superintendent in charge of the Bureau of Criminal Investigation. He shall interrogate or cause to be interrogated by a capable officer, all prisoners in the line-up who have been identified or who have been accused of serious crimes, and when necessary, will have a competent departmental stenographer present to make notes of everything said by prisoners and witnesses in reference to the particular crime in question.

He shall examine and check, or cause to be examined and checked by a competent officer, all fingerprints, descriptions and photographs which have been taken of prisoners accused of serious crimes and see that the same are properly filed in the Bureau of Records. He shall prepare all fingerprints, descriptions and photographs, or cause same to be prepared by a competent officer attached to the Bureau of Records, when such fingerprints, descriptions and photographs are to be placed on circulars to be sent to the regular mailing list of Police Departments, when such fingerprints, descriptions and photographs are those of men or women who are wanted by the Boston Police Department.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

EUGENE C. HULTMAN,
Commissioner.

TWO OF EVERY 1,000 INHABITANTS ARE POLICE EMPLOYEES IN THE AVERAGE LARGE CITY.

About two of every 1,000 persons in the average city are employed in city police departments. Jersey City has the greatest percentage of police defense of any of the cities of over 250,000 population reporting to the Bureau of Investigation, Department of Justice, according to statements published in a recent issue of the monthly publication, "Uniform Crime Reports." In the total population of 316,715, there are 1,154 Police Department employees, or 3.6 per 1,000 inhabitants.

Birmingham, Ala., is at the other end of the scale among the cities of over 250,000, with one police department employee per 1,000 inhabitants, or a total of 260 in a population of 259,678.

Boston, with a population of 781,188, has 2,579 police department employees, or 3.3 per 1,000. Newark, N. J., with 442,337 inhabitants, has 1,383 police employees, or 3.1 per 1,000. Chicago has only two per 1,000, there being a total of 6,742 police employees for the city's 3,276,438 people.

Among other cities which have reported such statistics to the Bureau are:

Baltimore, with 2.3 police department employees per 1,000 inhabitants; Buffalo, with 2.3; Cincinnati, with 1.5; Cleveland, with 1.7; Columbus, with 1.2; Dallas, with 1.1; Denver, with 1.5; Detroit, with 2.6; Houston, with 1.2; Indianapolis, with 1.6; Kansas City, with 1.7; Louisville, with 1.6.

Milwaukee has two police department employees per 1,000 of the population; Minneapolis has 1.2; New Orleans has 1.9; Oakland, Cal., has 1.4; Philadelphia has 2.8; Portland, Ore., has 1.5; Providence, R. I., has 2.4; Rochester has 1.6.

In St. Louis, the percentage is 2.8 per 1,000; in St. Paul, 1.3; in San Francisco, 2.2; in Seattle, 1.9; in Toledo, 1.5; and in Washington, 2.9.

THE SIGNIFICANCE OF ARSON OFTEN OVERLOOKED.

"Incendiary fires play a considerable part in the amount that each citizen must pay for the insurance protection which is so essential for him to have on his home or other property," A. Bruce Bielaski, assistant to the General Manager of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, told members of the National Fire Waste Council at their recent conference in Washington. "The rates paid for insurance must of necessity be sufficient to cover losses of all characters and, if possible, to leave for the insurance company a reasonable return for the service it renders. It will pay the individual citizen in dollars and cents to take a real interest in the detection and prosecution of those responsible for incendiary fires."

THE METROPOLITAN DISTRICT.

With Its 43 Municipalities.

Consists in the most inclusive sense of forty-three municipalities, including Boston, or fourteen cities and twenty-nine towns, all within fifteen miles of the State House but not yet consolidated in one complete governmental system. The seven cities in the first zone, i. e., adjacent to Boston, are these, viz., Cambridge, Chelsea, Everett, Newton, Quincy, Revere and Somerville; the six cities in the second zone, not adjacent, are Lynn, Malden, Medford, Melrose, Waltham and Woburn. The six adjacent towns are Brookline, Dedham, Milton, Needham, Watertown and Winthrop; the twenty other towns are Arlington, Belmont, Braintree, Canton, Cohasset, Dover, Hingham, Hull, Lexington, Nahant, Norwood, Reading, Saugus, Stoneham, Stoughton, Swampscott, Wakefield, Walpole, Wellesley, Weston, Westwood, Weymouth and Winchester. North and northwest of Boston are situated eleven of the cities and twelve of the towns; south and southwest, two cities and seventeen towns. Norwood, Stoughton and Walpole were admitted into the South System of the Metropolitan Sewerage District in 1928.

UNITED STATES FOREIGN TRADE IN SILVER.

Although the United States is the second largest producer of silver, its exports of the metal exceed total annual production according to the United States Department of Commerce reports. Much silver is received for refining or transshipment. Most of this imported silver comes from Mexico, as evident from the following import figures, in millions of dollars: Mexico, 40.5 in 1929, 24.9 in 1930, and 11 in the first eight months of 1931; Canada, 6.4, 6.1, and 2.5, respectively; Peru, 10.4, 5.9, and 1.6; Chile, 2.3, 1.8, and 0.6; and all countries, 63.9, 42.8, and 18.3.

United States exports of silver go chiefly to China (including Hong Kong), British India, and the United Kingdom (whence they are sold largely to other countries). Shipments to leading countries and the total are summarized in millions of dollars, for 1929, 1930, and the first eight months of 1931, as follows: China and Hong Kong, 64.6, 37.8, and 8.5, respectively, of which China accounted for 61.8, 31.8, and 7.7; British India, 8.9, 9.6, and 4.6; the United Kingdom, 0.1, 2.1, and 3.4; Canada, 2.4, 1.8, and 1.1; Mexico, 5.2, 1.4, and 0.7; Germany, 1.5, 1, and 0.7; and all countries, 83.4, 54.2, and 19.2.

SAFE DRIVING.

Most cities and towns have a long list of "dons" but do little to educate the drivers of cars. If one half the time that is used trying to make people do something or not to do something was spent in educating the drivers much better results would be obtained. We need drivers' schools and the city or town that first starts such a school will be doing a real service.

CENSUS OF MANUFACTURES.

The Bureau of the Census issued a statement at the close of 1932 giving some preliminary figures compiled from the 1931 biennial census of manufactures, covering more than 300 industries in the United States. Public utility industries (other than manufactured gas), the mining and quarry industries and various service industries were not included in the compilation. The printing, publishing and allied industries are included.

Number of establishments, 174,136, a decrease of 36,823 or 17.5 per cent in two years; average number of wage earners, 6,511,647, a decrease of 2,327,096 or 26.3 per cent in two years; wages (not including salaried officers and employees), $7,225,587,464, a decrease of $4,395,385,790 or 37.8 per cent from 1929; cost of materials, containers for products, fuel and purchased electric energy, $21,420,124,017, a decrease of $17,129,455,715 or 44.4 per cent in the two years; value of products, $41,333,108,998, a decrease of $29,101,754,445 or 41.3 per cent since 1929; value added by manufacture, $19,912,984,981, a decrease of $11,972,298,730 or 37.5 per cent in two years.

Food and kindred products led in the number of establishments reporting, also in cost of materials and value of products; textiles and their products led in the average number of wage earners, amount of wages and value added by manufacture.

FAILURE TO MAINTAIN CITY STREETS IS FALSE ECONOMY.

Money now saved by failure to maintain city streets, in response to the clamor of citizens for tax reduction, represents a trivial economy in comparison with the enormous outlay that will be required to rebuild such thoroughfares later. Taxpayers in some municipalities, determined to reduce public expenditures, have gone so far as to insist upon elimination of funds sorely needed for the maintenance of existing streets. In other places, even though money for street maintenance is available, powerful minority groups are demanding that it be not spent under present conditions.—The American City.

TORONTO PORT TRADE SHOWS INCREASE.

The new Welland Canal, now in its first season of navigation, is responsible for an increase over 1930 of about 60 per cent in Toronto shipping, according to tonnage statistics released by the Toronto Harbor Commission. During the season just passed this shipping totaled 2,115,830 tons.

Shipping in 1932 should also increase proportionately, since a new deep channel will have been dredged before opening of navigation in the spring. In the five-year period ending in 1925, the average tonnage for Toronto shipping was 334,300 tons; but since then harbor improvements and the completion of the Welland Canal have enlarged this figure about sixfold.

MONTHLY PAYMENT OF TAXES ON REAL ESTATE RECOMMENDED.

The Committee on Public Relations of the United States Building and Loan League, of which Henry S. Rosenthal, of Cincinnati, is chairman, has recently recommended that taxes on real estate be paid on a monthly basis instead of semi-annually or annually as is now the custom. It is argued that the burden of taxes would not be noticed so much if met each month. Taxes would then be in the same class with gas, electric, and telephone charges, and could be easily anticipated. The monthly payment of taxes, it is stated, would keep money constantly flowing into the treasury of the city or other local government and thus obviate temporary borrowing.

GREAT LACK OF RURAL HEALTH SERVICE FACILITIES OFFICIALLY INDICATED.

Only 25 per cent of the rural population of the United States is at present provided with adequate and properly organized local health service, reports Surgeon General H. S. Cumming in his annual resume of the work of the United States Public Health Service during the past fiscal year, which has just been submitted to Congress.

RURAL TEACHERS' SUPERVISION.

Improving instruction in rural schools through promoting the efficiency and professional growth of teachers is the most important function of supervision in connection with the rural school movement. In the accomplishment of this purpose supervisors use different means and procedures usually designated as supervisory measures, according to the United States Office of Education. Among those found particularly successful in rural communities are: County-wide teachers' meetings, circular letters, group conferences, visitations, individual conferences, and help rendered by teachers to colleagues.

LIFE-GIVING PATRIOTISM IS LOCAL.

By civic patriotism is meant the feeling and the taking of a deep, unselfish, earnest, ever-awakeful, active interest in the affairs of one's own city or local community, regarding it as having an autonomy, a distinct personality, a name and interests of its own, and, if one pleases, endowed with a sense of personal honor and with all laudable ambitions for the promotion of the welfare of its people.

Where such civic virtues exist the local community will neither suffer from the dry-rot of public indifference and neglect nor become tainted with graft or corruption. Its life will be healthful, and, like the ocean, will be kept pure by its own ceaseless flow and movement. All life-giving patriotism is local.

Show a good municipal citizen and one will see a citizen who loves his state, and who loves his nation, and who will discharge all the duties of this triple relation. Good government in local affairs is the best assurance of good government in state and national affairs.

RECREATION, ADEQUATE AS TO KIND AND AVAILABILITY.

Although the ratio of park acreage to population has been used as the simplest measure of the extent to which cities provide areas for the recreation of their people, it is by no means an accurate basis for determining this. If most of the total acreage is in one large park, if the parks are poorly distributed, or if they do not provide various types of recreation facilities, the park system may be inefficient even though the acreage is large. The efficiently planned park and recreation system will involve balanced relationship and well-distributed location of several types of properties, namely, children's playgrounds, neighborhood playfield parks, neighborhood parks, reservations, boulevards, and parkways.

CHANGING STREET NAMES.

Alteration in the names of streets seems to be on the increase in the United States. In most cases the reasons for it are inadequate, while changes that would actually make for clearness remain unmade. The reason for change would usually seem to be general patriotism, national or local, as where the name of some prominent person is given to a street. During the war German names were largely discarded, as where Berlin avenue in St. Louis became Pershing avenue. In the height of President Wilson's popularity abroad, Wilson avenues sprang up all over the allied countries. Later, disappointment or dissatisfaction caused many of these to be changed.

A SQUARE DEAL IN ASSESSMENTS FOR TAXATION.

Many cities are finding it greatly to their advantage to have their tax valuations periodically overhauled. The first criterion of any assessment is equity. For every citizen who wants through "pull" or however else to get off easy, there are twenty, nay a hundred, who want a fair and square deal for all.

The appraisal of city real estate is a highly technical affair.

Few things are more important than the equalization of assessments. Particularly in cities that are cramped by an inflexible debt or tax limit, an honest, full value assessment may be a great boon. Without the slightest raise in the tax rate a substantially greater tax yield may be had.

PHILADELPHIA'S GROWTH.

The principal American cities are sharing Philadelphia's experience of growing faster outside than inside the official city limits. That portion of the 1930 tentative Philadelphia metropolitan area which lies outside the city limits increased 42.1 per cent in population in the last ten years. Meanwhile, Philadelphia itself grew in population 7 per cent. The increase for the entire metropolitan area, which is considerably smaller than the Philadelphia Tri-State District, was 16 per cent. The Philadelphia metropolitan area submitted for approval of the Census Bureau is regarded as of 1,141 square miles, of which the city itself comprises 128 square miles.

Typical of the growth that has been taking place just outside the city limits, Upper Darby Township, at the western gateway to Philadelphia, grew at the phenomenal rate of 421 per cent in the last decade.

In 1910, Delaware County, west of Philadelphia, and Camden County, southeast of Philadelphia, had average population densities per square mile of between 450 and 650. In 1930 the comparable average densities in these counties were between 1,100 and 1,700.

LEGAL HOLIDAYS.

As provided by the Revised Laws of Massachusetts, also by chapter 473, Acts of 1910, and chapter 104, General Acts of 1916 (ratified by the electorate on November 7, 1916), legal holidays on which the public offices shall be closed, include January 1, February 22, April 19, May 30, July 4, September (first Monday), October 12, Armistice Day (November 11), Thanksgiving Day (the last Thursday in November) and Christmas Day (December 25).

HEIGHT OF BUILDINGS NEAR AIRPORT.

After fifteen months of effort by the Aviation Department of the San Diego Chamber of Commerce, an ordinance has been adopted by the City Council of San Diego limiting the height of buildings in the area adjacent to the municipal airport, Lindbergh Field, which is 1½ miles from the center of the business district. According to Thomas F. Bomar, manager of the Chamber's Aviation Department, it was necessary to survey the vicinity of the field, make contour maps of that area, convince the property owners and the City Planning Commission of the necessity and desirability of the ordinance, and then overcome the efforts of the few objectors before the City Council.

WATER SUPPLY FROM WELLS.

The entire water supply of Memphis is taken from wells. The wells penetrate two strata of sand, the upper stratum being 300 to 500 feet below the surface, and the lower stratum roughly 1,000 feet deeper. The upper stratum, known as the LaGrange formation, is the more important and furnishes most of the supply. It is the one commonly used in this vicinity.

The lower stratum has been developed by the city to a limited extent, because wells in it do not interfere with those in the upper stratum, and therefore wells in the respective strata can be placed in close proximity to each other, and a greater capacity obtained from a given area. The LaGrange formation underlies western Tennessee, eastern Arkansas and northern Mississippi. It outcrops in a belt roughly parallel with the Mississippi river and some 40 miles eastward therefrom. Throughout this entire region it furnishes an ample supply to many municipalities and industries. The outcrop area is such that an abundant supply is in sight, for everyone caring to use it, for many years to come. The sands and clays, which are interspersed, are supposed to be deposits formed in prehistoric times, when the entire Mississippi Valley as far north as Cairo was practically an arm of the Gulf of Mexico.

CHICAGO CLEARING FISCAL SNARLS.

Chicago is slowly unraveling the fiscal snarl which has brought its local governments to the verge of complete standstill. The assessing machinery of Cook County has been reorganized and an honest, capable and impartial assessor placed in full charge. Legislative authorization has been obtained, through a special session of the Illinois General Assembly, to bridge the gap until the tax gathering machinery can be made to function normally again. Vigorous efforts are also being made to force the various taxing bodies to reduce current budgets so that the aggregate expenditures of all governments in Cook County in 1932 will fall within sharply decreasing tax collections.

COAL RESERVES OF THE WORLD.

Five-sevenths of the estimated coal reserves of the world are in North America, followed by those of Asia, which comprises the largest anthracite areas, chiefly in China. About 53 per cent of these reserves consist of bituminous coal, 41 per cent of sub-bituminous, and 6 per cent of anthracite. More than half of the world's reserves of bituminous coal are in the United States. Through the scientific research of fuel engineers and chemists the uses of coal have increased rapidly and grades which were formerly considered of little value are now having wide usage.—The Coal Industry of the World (Trade Promotion Series No. 105).

ASKS FEDERAL GOVERNMENT TO ADVANCE MONEY ON TAX ANTICIPATION WARRANTS TO PREVENT CITIES OF AMERICA GOING BANKRUPT AND BRINGING ON DISASTER — MAYOR CURLEY TELLS GREATER BOSTON RADIO AUDIENCE OF WORK AND ACCOMPLISHMENTS OF CONFERENCE OF AMERICAN MUNICIPALITIES IN WASHINGTON LAST WEEK — GROUP ORGANIZED WITH BOSTON EXECUTIVE CHOSEN CHAIRMAN.

Mayor Curley spoke in part, as follows, via Station WNAC, on Monday, February 20, 1933, on current affairs:

Friends of the Radio Audience.

On Friday last, one of the most unusual gatherings that has ever assembled in the history of the American nation in a long period of time met at Washington for the purpose of considering ways and means of preventing bankruptcy in certain of the municipalities of the United States.

One year ago a similar meeting called by Mayor Frank Murphy of Detroit was held in the city of Detroit. As a result of that meeting a program was agreed upon whereby a request would be made of the President of the United States and Congress for a direct appropriation of $300,000,000 to aid the municipalities of America in providing food and fuel for the people of America; in other words, to prevent actual starvation and famine during that winter.

A second agreement determined upon by the committee which met in June, 1932, was a request for an allocation of $500,000,000 to assist cities in the United States in refunding maturing obligations. A third was a request that Congress immediately take steps to adopt a construction program contemplating an expenditure of $5,000,000,000 to provide work for the people of America. In other words, the meeting of a year ago was called for the purpose of preventing actual starvation and famine in the United States of America, and the seriousness of the situation as presented by the Committee of Mayors resulted in the adoption by Congress of a most unheard of precedent, namely, direct Federal aid to the amount of $300,000,000, distributed to the cities of America for the preservation of the very lives of the American people.

Facing Municipal Bankruptcy.

This year it was held for a dual purpose, not only to prevent starvation and famine but to prevent actual municipal bankruptcy, in the belief that unless the condition is corrected, it would mean not only municipal bankruptcy but it would mean bankruptcy for most of the smaller industries in America and many, many of the banking institutions in America. And if the municipality crumbles, and business crumbles, and the small bankers crumble, it would be an exceedingly difficult task to prevent a similar collapse in some of the states in the Union, so that the effect on national credit would be most disastrous.

The depression which started in 1929 came out of a clear sky. It differed from any experience we had previously known. We had actually begun to believe that Utopia was at our doors. That poorhouses could no longer be found in America and every individual seeking employment would not only be able to secure employment but at the highest wage scale ever known in the history of the world. Pretty nearly everybody was living just a little bit beyond his means. Monday morning found a payment due on the automobile, the piano, the radio, on the furniture and perhaps on the home itself. There was very little in the bank. The high pressure installment salesman, coupled with newspaper publicity, had performed its work exceedingly well. All America in 1929 was engaged in trying to keep up with the Joneses. When the crash came the individual lost his job, the piano went, the automobile went; practically everything else, including the furniture that had been purchased on the installment plan. We had changed our system of aiding in a crisis without realizing it. Twenty years ago an industrial depression did not work a very great hardship on the people of America.

There was a good Samaritan in every neighborhood. The corner butcher, the corner grocer; portly, kindly, generous souls; they were the individuals who carried the family during the period of depression, until industry was revived or the strike over. But in the last fifteen years there came into the life of America the chain store and then the chain bank. They fastened the chains so completely upon the workers of America that when the depression came he found his credit gone. He went to the chain store as his father and grandfather had gone to the corner grocery store with a little book. He said, "Put it on the book until later." They said, "We are sorry, but it is cash-and-carry." He said, "I will go to the bank and make a loan." He went to the bank where he had made deposits during good times, where his father and his father's father had gone. They said, "We will present your application to the members of the Board, as this is no longer an independent bank but part of a chain system of banks," and after due course he was told no loan could be made.

MAYOR CURLEY, AS THE CHAIRMAN OF CONFERENCE OF AMERICAN MUNICIPALITIES, CALLS ON CONGRESS TO AID CITIES FACING BANKRUPTCY BECAUSE OF OBLIGATIONS AND BURDENS CREATED BY DEPRESSION — CONFERENCE AT WASHINGTON ON FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 17, DRAFTED RESOLUTIONS OFFERED BY MAYOR AND FILED WITH COMMITTEE ON BANKING — MAYOR MAKES ELOQUENT AND IMPRESSIVE PLEA.

A conference of American municipalities was held at Washington, upon Friday, February 17. His Honor Mayor James M. Curley was elected chairman of the Committee on Resolutions, and presented the case of the cities to the Committee on Banking, which read as follows:

Resolutions Adopted by U. S. Conference of Mayors Washington, D. C., February 17, 1933.

PREAMBLE.

WHEREAS, Municipal Governments enjoy a more intimate contact with the people than other agencies, we, as chief executives of American Municipalities, through our personal knowledge of conditions, fearful of the disastrous effects which would result from municipal repudiation of obligations with resultant bankruptcy, believing that the collapse of municipal credit would mean the destruction of private enterprise and banking credit and seriously impair national stability, urge the immediate adoption of remedial legislation.

In 1932 a committee representing the chief executives of the major municipalities of the United States submitted to Congress recommendations for the protection of the American people from starvation. Certain measures of legislation as recommended by this committee in 1932 were approved by the Congress of the United States and the President. A measure providing an appropriation of three hundred million dollars for aid to municipalities for the conservation of the lives of the people was adopted.

MEASURES BEFORE CONGRESS.

Two additional measures presented by the committee failed to receive favorable action by Congress. One measure provided for an appropriation in the sum of five hundred millions of dollars to be made available for the municipalities of the United States to meet maturing bond obligations that the municipalities were not in a position to finance or found impossible to finance. The additional measure that did not receive the approval of Congress provided for an expenditure in the sum of five billion dollars for a construction program to relieve unemployment in America. The failure of Congress to adopt the five billion dollar program is unquestionably responsible for the tragic condition that today obtains in the United States.

In June of 1932 when this recommendation was made it was estimated that there were ten million men without employment in the United States. Today it is conservatively estimated that the number is approximately fourteen million men. Welfare and relief aid and charitable drives have been found necessary to prevent actual starvation in many sections of our country and the prospects for relief of the people through employment is apparently more remote today than it was in June, 1932.

We accordingly recommend for the earnest consideration of Congress the adoption of a major construction program through which opportunity will be afforded the citizenship of America to preserve their self-reliance, self-respect and earn the money necessary for the maintenance in decency of their families.

We consider the depression now in the fourth year as the greatest economic catastrophe ever known in the history of our nation, since it is now national in scope and beyond the power of any other agency to correct, and we consider it the duty of Congress to so regard it and we urge the early adoption of such measures as in their judgment may be necessary to restore order and opportunity to work for the people of the United States.

RESOLUTIONS.

Financial Aid.

RESOLVED, That in view of the foregoing recitals and in order that immediate relief may be afforded municipalities by the adoption of an act as hereinafter set forth or in substantial conformity therewith.

TO WIT: AN ACT to amend an Act entitled "An Act to relieve destitution, to broaden the lending powers of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and to create employment by providing for and expediting of a public work program."

BE IT ENACTED by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, that an Act entitled "An Act to relieve destitution, to broaden the lending powers of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and to create employment by providing for and expediting of a public work program," be amended by adding a new subdivision (k) to Section 201 of said Act to read as follows:

Section 201. (k) (1) The Reconstruction Finance Corporation is authorized and empowered to make loans to any municipality or political subdivision of any State or Territory whenever in the judgment of the Board of Directors of said Corporation, such loan would relieve the financial condition of such municipality or any of its municipally owned public utilities and would in the opinion of said Corporation be a sound investment. Such loans may be represented by notes, bonds or such other evidences of indebtedness or contracts to repay as may be appropriate. Loans may be made at par notwithstanding other obligations of such municipality are below par. The corporation is also authorized and empowered to purchase tax anticipation warrants of any such municipality with or without maturity date.

In making such loans the Reconstruction Finance Corporation may take into consideration whether such municipality has been efficiently conducted; what economies have been made effective since January 1, 1931, and may suggest as a condition precedent to any loans such other economies or efficiencies as the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall deem necessary.

Any loans may be secured by a pledge of any unpaid, and/or delinquent taxes.

(2) This section shall be liberally construed by said Reconstruction Finance Corporation so as to extend actual help and stability to all municipalities whenever sound judgment permits such loans and/or tax anticipation warrants purchases be made and there is reasonable probability of the repayment of same. Interest on such loans and/or tax anticipation warrants shall in no event be more than six (6) per cent per annum and all obligations evidencing said loans and/or tax anticipation warrants shall be purchased at not less than par.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation may offer bids for any bonds or obligations and/or tax anticipation warrants offered by any municipality and may purchase refunding bonds of any such municipalities.

(3) "Municipality" as herein used shall include any political subdivision of any State or Territory.

THEREFORE BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That a copy of this resolution be submitted forthwith to the Congress of the United States, by the Executive Committee of this organization and that said executive committee be, and hereby is, authorized and directed to urge its immediate adoption by the Congress of the United States.

Unemployment Relief.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That we recommend that the Federal Government assume a larger measure of financial responsibility in meeting the problems of unemployment relief of the nation, and we do recommend that such additional Federal relief funds as may be necessary and as are appropriated by Congress be made on a direct grant basis to the municipalities of the nation.

BROADCAST BY MAYOR CURLEY.

AVENUES CLOSED.

This condition found the worker with pretty nearly every avenue closed. His job was gone, the goods he had purchased on installment were gone, the corner grocer and butcher, and the bank where he might enjoy credit for a limited period of time were gone, and with what result? The highest amount expended in the history of the City of Boston in a single year in Boston in 108 years was $2,000,000. The city was chartered in 1822 and at no time did it exceed $2,000,000 until 1929. In 1929 the expenditures for public welfare aid reached the huge total of $2,500,000. In 1930, $3,500,000. In 1931, $7,500,000. In 1932, $12,000,000.

I tremble to think of what will be in store for America during the year 1933, were it not for the faith and confidence Americans have in the leadership and ability of President-Elect Franklin D. Roosevelt, to whom the people of the United States are looking, looking with hope, however, rather than with absolute confidence, for some way out of the present dilemma. What a blessing was visited upon the people of America that he was not the victim of the bullet of the assassin recently in Miami. No greater calamity could have befallen the people of United States of America than the loss of this great and gifted, cheerful and optimistic leader of America, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The conference of Mayors held in Washington last week was called for the purpose of making the most unusual request of Congress that has ever been made by the subdivisions of our country. I did not attend because of the conditions in Boston. We have been exceedingly fortunate in Boston. In common with the rest of America, we had a tremendous unemployment problem to overcome. We assembled in Detroit in 1932. We assembled in Detroit in 1932, as I have said before, to consider ways and means of preventing actual starvation and famine.

At the present time it is estimated that one in every three of the total population in Detroit is being supported by public and private charities. We are informed that in the city of New York one in every four is thus supported. The Governor of Pennsylvania, within the last ninety days, has made a request to the President for financial assistance in the amount of $20,000,000, to prevent starvation in this great industrial state. For a like purpose a request was made by the Governor of Illinois for the sum of $30,000,000. The Federal Government has already advanced to Cook County, in which county the city of Chicago is located, nearly $23,000,000 to prevent actual starvation. Thus, we went to Washington for the purpose of asking that the Federal Government advance money on tax anticipation warrants and on delinquent tax bills.

BASED ON TAX LEVIES.

Now, then, what is a tax anticipation warrant? We levy our taxes for the year 1933 and send out the tax bills about the middle of September, or the latter part of August. Money begins to flow in at that time, but during the period from January to September we are required to live largely on borrowed money. Prior to the period of the depression we experienced no difficulty in borrowing such money as would be necessary, at a rate of interest not in excess of 3 per cent, and quite frequently when money was plentiful we did not pay in excess of 1 or 1½ per cent. In 1932 the majority of American cities paid in the vicinity of 5 and 6 per cent and many cities were unable to borrow money at any price. How much money do you supposed there is outstanding in the city of Detroit? The city of Detroit will be required to raise about $41,000,000 to take care of maturing obligations in 1933, including bonds that are due, sinking funds and interest requirements. The total receipts anticipated is but $43,000,000, so that unless they receive aid from the Federal Government, there remains but $2,000,000 to conduct the activities of the city of Detroit. In Cleveland $60,000,000 are due and unpaid. Our own city is in a fortunate position. We have a little less than $16,000,000 of 1932 taxes outstanding and it is clearly our duty to aid the cities of America that are in desperate straits in order that we may preserve the Federal Union.

We are going to emerge from this depression and I believe we will emerge from it under the splendid statesmanlike leadership of Franklin D. Roosevelt. For his welfare, for his health and for his safety we should occasionally say a prayer. He may prove the salvation of the American people.

BUSINESS OF GOVERNMENT IS DUTY OF EVERYBODY, MAYOR CURLEY TELLS CONFERENCE OF GREATER BOSTON FEDERATION OF CHURCHES. DELIVERS ADDRESS ON "THE RELIEF PROBLEM OF THE CITIES." SOUNDS WARNING AS TO THREATENED DISASTER UNLESS RELIEF IS PROVIDED AND WORK AND WAGES FURNISHED AMERICAN FAMILIES.

Mayor James M. Curley, on February 20, at the Conference of Greater Boston Federation of Churches on "The Relief Problem of the Cities," spoke in part as follows:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—In this the fourth year of the greatest industrial depression that has ever been visited upon any nation there comes a realization and an appreciation of how little really constructive thought has been given to the question of a coordinated program or a policy that would represent security for conduct of the affairs of the American nation.

In common with every other individual I had a profound appreciation of the value of municipal planning organizations, and the benefits that would result from even a state planning board. In 1931, after we had all arrived at the conclusion that there was little truth in the oft-asserted statement that the depression would be over in thirty or sixty days or longer, a conference was arranged by the Mayor of Boston, and invitations to participate were extended to the Professors in Economics in twenty-two universities and colleges in Massachusetts.

We had a 100 per cent attendance each week for a period of five months. We did not devote our thought and time to consideration of ways and means of ending the present depression, being satisfied that we would work out of it in the usual way, in other words, we would blunder out of it. We considered, instead, ways and means of preventing a recurrence, or in the event we did have a recurrence, to mitigate the evil effects on the American people. We agreed on three different propositions, and agreed to submit these propositions to the President of the United States and to Congress. The three were these: Immediate adoption of a five-day week; immediate adoption of a major construction program, contemplating a construction expenditure of not less than $5,000,000,000; and lastly, creation of a Federal Industrial Planning Commission. The purpose of the commission was the study and collaboration of data with regard to industrial, commercial and social conduct in every country in the world, submitting recommendations reached to Congress. What the highest legislative body in the land requires is something in the nature of a brain machine, that would supply it with necessary information, so that it might coordinate for the good of the entire nation. We submitted our propositions to Congress. Congress has given consideration for nearly a year upon the question of a Federal Industrial Planning Commission. I am confident that it will shortly become a reality.

It was our idea that this commission should comprise, in its members, professors of economics representing the leading universities in the nation, representatives of organized labor, and leaders in industrial life, men of brains and capacity and ability, who would serve without salary, if you wish, and upon whose recommendations we might really, because of the very soundness and logic of their presentation, compel acceptance by Congress.

There are many persons who labor under the impression that Congress might resent recommendations of this character. I can recall, however, serving as a member of Congress when the late lamented President Woodrow Wilson came before a joint session of Congress and submitted to it a four-page article, with reference to a revision of the tariff, which meant not evolution, but revolution and destruction of business. A protest was made by members of Congress and ultimatums were given that they would not vote to support the President in his views. After the President made his presentation to Congress, because of the very logic and soundness of his presentation, Congress voted unanimously, in most cases, in favor of adoption of the program as presented by the President.

With reference to a major construction program. There has been but one theory since the world began as to how to end unemployment. A new theory was evolved in 1931, and that theory was that you could not bond a nation out of depression and into prosperity, no more than an individual could lift himself up by his own boot straps, and that the only way to restore prosperity in America was to practice efficiency and economy, to postpone or abandon all programs that called for a large expenditure of money. The adoption of that program has been most disastrous in its effect upon every section of the entire country. In our own city we felt that the only answer to unemployment was jobs. There isn't any other answer. And there hasn't been since the world began.

In Great Britain, from 1920 to 1928, the total expenditure for assistance, unemployment assistance, or public welfare, or dole, which is the proper term, was never in excess of $200,000,000 in any one. There is a population of 42,000,000 in Great Britain and 128,000,000 in the United States. We would only have to expend in the United States the sum of $600,000,000 to equal that expended by Great Britain, per capita. In our own City of Boston, with a population of but 780,000, we expended $12,000,000 in 1932. If you multiply that by 150, the number of cities of a size equal to Boston in the United States, provided they expended the same as Boston, you have the huge total of $1,800,000,000 in the United States, or three times as great in a given year, per capita, as was ever expended in Great Britain from 1920 to 1928. We call it public welfare, or relief aid, or community chest. Call it whatever you will, there is only one name that properly applies, and that is "dole."

The individual is not responsible for the economic conditions that make him and his family the recipients of public or private charity. We had a meeting on Friday last of Mayors of leading cities in the United States. We met for the purpose of considering ways and means of preventing municipalities in the United States from actual bankruptcy. We met a year ago to save the people of America from starvation. It is now bankruptcy. And if it runs for six months longer they will be saving the country from revolution.

The depression which started in 1929 came out of a clear sky. It differed from any experience we had ever had previously. Pretty nearly everybody was living just a little bit beyond his means. On Monday mornings a payment was due on the automobile, on the piano, the radio, on the furniture, perhaps on the home itself. There wasn't anything in the bank. And when the crash came and the individual lost his job, the piano went, the automobile went, and practically everything else. We had changed our system of aiding in a crisis without realizing it. Twenty years ago an industrial depression did not work a very great hardship on the people of America. There was the good Samaritan in every neighborhood, the corner butcher, the corner grocer, the individual who carried the family during the period of depression until industry was revived or the strike over. But in the last fifteen years there came into the life of America the chain store and then the chain bank. They fastened the chains so completely upon the workers of America that when this depression came his credit was gone. He went to the chain store, as his father and grandfather had done before him, with a little book. He said, "Put it on the book until later." They said, "We are sorry; it is cash-and-carry." He said, "I will go to the bank and make a loan." He went to the bank where he had made deposits during good times, where his father and his father's father had gone. They said, "We will present your application to the members of the Board, as this is only a part of the chain system." After due course, he was told that no loan could be made. This condition found the worker with every avenue closed. The highest amount we have ever expended in the history of Boston from 1900 to 1928 was never in excess of $2,000,000. In 1929 it went to $2,500,000. In 1930 to three and one half million; in 1931 to seven and one half million, and in 1932 to $12,000,000. I tremble to think what would be in store for the United States of America during the year 1933, were it not for the faith and confidence Americans have in the leadership and ability of President-Elect Franklin D. Roosevelt, to whom the people of the United States are looking, looking with hope rather than with absolute confidence for some way out of the dilemma.

The conference of Mayors held in Washington was called for the purpose of making the most unusual request of Congress that had ever been made by the subdivisions of our country. I did not attend because of the conditions in Boston. We have been exceedingly fortunate in Boston. In common with the rest of America we had a tremendous unemployment problem to overcome. We assembled in Detroit in 1932. We assembled to consider ways and means of preventing actual starvation in cities of America. It was estimated that one in every three of the total population of Detroit was being supported by public and private charities. We were informed that in the city of New York it was about one in every four, and that the Governor of Pennsylvania had made a direct request to the President for financial assistance to prevent starvation in the amount of $20,000,000. A similar request was made by the Governor of Illinois. We determined to ask the President of the United States and Congress to make available $300,000,000 for direct aid to the cities of the United States to prevent actual starvation, and the sum of $500,000,000 to provide for the refinancing of maturing obligations. We asked for a further expenditure by Congress of $5,000,000,000 for a construction program, through which employment might be made possible for the people of America. The President of the United States and Congress assented to the proposition of $300,000,000 for direct aid. To that expenditure of $300,000,000 we may trace the fact that there was no general famine in any portion of the United States and actual starvation was prevented. On the $500,000,000 program nothing was done. The conference of last week was called by the Mayor of Detroit to prevent municipal bankruptcy. On the theory that if municipalities were unable to meet their obligations and municipalities became bankrupt that would be followed by bankruptcy in the field of banking and ultimately result in impairment of the Federal credit.

The city of Detroit will require about $41,000,000 to take care of maturing obligations in 1933, including bonds that are due, sinking funds and interest requirements. And this is to be met out of a total revenue of but $43,000,000, leaving but $2,000,000 with which to conduct the activities of a city. A similar situation holds forth in Cleveland, a great industrial city, progressive and well conducted. Cleveland has $60,000,000 worth of uncollected taxes. In our own city we have about $15,000,000 and about $3,000,000 from 1931, and about a half million from other years, with interest and sinking fund requirements coming due in 1933 of about eight and a half million dollars. We are not too badly off.

We abandoned, in Boston, the sale of property for taxes, in 1932, for the reason that we did not desire to go into the real estate business. We suspended the law, so to speak.

It is the duty of government to provide for the needs of the people. That is what government is organized for and when it ceases to do that then government itself ceases to function. I have an abiding faith in the ability and splendid background of executive experience, but more than all else in the humanizing qualities and heart of Franklin D. Roosevelt, and am confident that he will find a way out of the difficulties that confront the American people in this the most serious and critical hour in the life of the nation.

It is a serious situation. And the hardest part of it in our own city is represented in the reapplication for aid. One hundred twenty thousand men, women and children are being aided every day out of the city treasury of Boston. Twenty-seven thousand were receiving aid either for themselves or their families. If you include soldiers' relief, which has jumped from $350,000 in 1931 to $900,000 in 1932, and which will probably reach $1,200,000 in 1933, if you will consider the increased expenditures in the conduct of the hospitals, correctional institutions, the Infirmary at Long Island, you have some realization of how serious is the problem. If public welfare expenditures could be restored to the ratio of 1928 it would mean $5 off the tax rate, and if we could apply the same to the institutions expenditures it would mean an additional $2 off the tax rate. I believe it is our duty to meet this obligation. We cannot depend any more upon the generosity of the public. They have been drained dry themselves. They were extremely generous in 1930, 1931, and last year, and while they still may have the God-sent spirit of charity they lack the financial resources to aid in the present emergency. I am fearful that unless we all take just a little more interest in the drive that is being conducted at the present time, that we will all be condemning ourselves when prosperity is restored because of our failure to do our full duty.

We will meet our obligations in Boston, but we can only meet them by following the policy that we are compelled to follow by the new theory of economics in America. In 1930 we borrowed $35,000,000 outside the debt limit to provide work for the people of Boston. We started work on the extension of the subway at Kenmore square and put 1,500 men at work on day and night shifts, men who had served our country during the war, in the hour of crisis. Sixty days after the work was completed 70 per cent of the men were back asking for charity from the Soldiers' Relief Department. In 1930 we asked for $35,000,000, and the Legislature allowed $30,000,000. In 1932 we asked for $30,000,000, and were allowed $7,500,000. The welfare expenditures amounted to $3,000,000 in 1930; $7,000,000 in 1931, and then when the work was taken away from the people it was $12,000,000 in 1932. It may be $13,000,000 and it may be $14,000,000 in 1933. I don't believe we are justified in cutting down the allowance. An allowance of $15 average is paid to Mothers' Aid cases, with a maximum of $20. An average for men with families for aid is $10, with a maximum of $14. A new element has crept in in the last two years, that of single men and women. They must live. They are human beings. They are not responsible for a condition which exists depriving them of a means of livelihood. Their necessities must be provided for, or no one's life is safe in any portion of the community. We provided sufficient sums to just barely cover the cost of bare lodgings. Someone says we are expending too much, that $12,000,000 is too much. If you expend less than is necessary, then instead of having a community where a person's life is reasonably secure, you will have a community in which no one's life is secure. Because the hungry individual that comes home to a complaining wife, who has just reason for complaint, after a weary day spent in search of some means of livelihood, in a country that is overflowing with everything that a family needs. He listens to the cries of children. That man goes out with a gun, and I would not want to be the judge to pass on whether or not he should be prosecuted and imprisoned.

This business of government is something more than the business of politicians, it is everybody's business. The sooner we realize this and each one makes his own contribution toward a right solution, the better for America and its people, and the world.

BOSTON FITTINGLY OBSERVES BIRTHDAYS OF WASHINGTON AND LINCOLN WITH COMMEMORATIVE EXERCISES IN FANEUIL HALL.

On Sunday afternoon, February 19, Boston fittingly observed exercises commemorative of the births of Washington and Lincoln, in Faneuil Hall. This was the annual meeting in honor of these two American patriots.

Featuring the exercises was the appearance of George Curley, second youngest son of Mayor Curley, who, in the absence of his illustrious father, read a tribute to Lincoln. This tribute was first delivered by Mayor Curley at Washington at the Massachusetts tree planting exercises in the Lincoln Memorial Reservation at Washington on May 4, 1923, and by all authorities considered a gem of its kind.

Present at the exercises were leaders of the Grand Army of the Republic, United Spanish War veterans, members of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and auxiliaries of these organizations. The chief address of the day was delivered by Rev. Fr. Michael J. Ahern, S. J., of the Jesuit House of Studies, Weston, and director of the Catholic Truth exercises.

Father Ahern said that George Washington was the son of an aristocratic family, a man of high culture and high scientific attainments, and in addition to that was every inch a man. He said he was outspoken, brave, generous, pure, and was loved by his country because he in turn loved his fellow man.

Father Ahern said: "I do not think of Washington as a hero at the head of an army, but think of him as a quiet gentleman sitting at the door of his tent on the battlefield talking over details of the campaign with his men; not as an officer in command, but as a fellow soldier. He was a man of the people and a servant to the people."

"In order to be a faithful servant to the people one must suffer, and never has a public servant not suffered while performing his service because people are of different temperament."

"George Washington suffered for his own fellows and his country. He suffered most when he was giving most. He was the greatest soldier of all times."

Father Ahern reviewed briefly the life of Lincoln and read extracts from the quotation on "Washington and Tolerance," written by Archbishop John Carroll, the first Catholic bishop in the United States. Archbishop Carroll held highest regard for Washington and every Thanksgiving morning celebrated a solemn high mass of requiem in his church in Philadelphia for him.

Owing to the absence from the city of Mayor Curley and Acting Mayor Joseph F. McGrath, Thomas A. Mullen represented the city and introduced the speakers.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.General Order No. 162.

General Order No. 149 (paragraph 6) is hereby amended as follows:

On and after February 18, 1933, all reports made by second-hand articles dealers and pawnbrokers of goods pledged or bought will be forwarded to the station house upon which they are located every week day morning before 10 a. m. Commanding officers will designate an officer of their division who will examine and certify each report received at his station, and also check up to see that a report is received from every second-hand articles dealer and pawnbroker on his division. These reports will be forwarded each week day on the noon mail to the Bureau of Criminal Investigation.

The personnel of the "Lost and Found" division of the Bureau of Criminal Investigation will scrutinize very carefully each and every report received from the second-hand articles dealers and pawnbrokers for the purpose of picking out any article that is like or similar to one which has been reported lost or stolen. When commanding officers are notified by the "Lost and Found" division, that they have placed a "stop" on a certain article in some pawnshop or second-hand store, such commanding officer will immediately check up on the item, to make sure whether or not it is one that was reported lost or stolen. When he finds that it is, or is not the article in question, he shall immediately notify the "Lost and Found" division, so that the "stop" may be removed.

A list will be furnished to the pawnshop squad of the Bureau of Criminal Investigation each day of all the lost and stolen articles for the twenty-four hours past; and it will be its duty to check up at the various pawnshops and second-hand stores for the purpose of locating the articles in question.

All rules and orders and parts of rules and orders inconsistent with this General Order are hereby repealed.

(Paragraph 2.)

It has been reported by the Director of Signal Service that Frank J. Page, a signalman of this department, rendered prompt service on February 6 in taking into custody a hit-and-run driver who was operating an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. Signalman Page directed a citizen to telephone Division 9 for an ambulance for the injured pedestrian, and then conveyed the operator to Division 9 where he was turned over to the police.

The commissioner is pleased to recognize and commend Signalman Page for the interest shown by him in rendering this valuable service to the department.

(Paragraph 3.)

A trial board consisting of Captains Lutz, Lewis and Fallon, having heard by reference a complaint made by Thomas S. J. Kavanagh, captain, Division 9, against John A. O'Brien, patrolman, Division 9, for alleged violations of the Rules and Regulations of the Police Department, to wit:

Charge: Conduct unbecoming an officer.

Specification: In that on the second day of February, 1933, the said Patrolman John A. O'Brien, while not on duty and while not in uniform, but in his own home was under the influence of intoxicating liquor to such an extent that he was unable to perform police duties if called upon so to do, thereby bringing into disrepute and criticism his associates on the police force,— has submitted the following finding and recommendation:

The Board having heard and carefully considered all the evidence presented finds the said Patrolman John A. O'Brien guilty as charged and respectfully recommends that the said Patrolman John A. O'Brien be ordered to perform 210 hours of punishment duty.

The commissioner accepts the finding and recommendation of the Trial Board and hereby orders that the said Patrolman John A. O'Brien perform 210 hours of punishment duty.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

EUGENE C. HULTMAN,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 163.

(Paragraph 1.)

The resignation of Patrolman James M. Fitzgerald of Division 16, having been presented while charges against him are pending, it is hereby accepted, to take effect Friday, February 17, 1933, at 5.45 o'clock p. m., seven days' notice waived.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

EUGENE C. HULTMAN,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 164.

Patrolmen Terence A. Koen and James W. Elwell, both of Division 11, are hereby commended in General Orders for effective police duty performed on the early morning of February 10, 1933.

While patrolling the district in a cruising car, the officers heard the crash of glass somewhere in front of them. As they proceeded to the scene, a large sedan automobile emerged from a side street and passed them, at a fast rate of speed, going in the opposite direction. The officers immediately observed that the glass in the door of a chain store had been broken and they saw the form of a man within the store. The officers covered the store with drawn revolvers and arrested the man who was about to remove a quantity of merchandise. The person arrested admitted that he had committed two previous breaks in the Dorchester district.

The commissioner is pleased to recognize the initiative and attention to duty shown by these officers in effecting this arrest.

(Paragraph 2.)

*A trial board consisting of Captains Lutz, Lewis and Kavanagh, having heard by reference a complaint made by Edward W. Fallon, captain, Division 13, against Leonard R. Travis, patrolman, Division 13, for alleged violation of the Rules and Regulations of the Police Department, to wit:

VETO OF MUNICIPAL BUILDING, EAST BOSTON.

The following was received:
City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, February 7, 1933.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I beg to return without my approval order adopted by your honorable body on February 6, providing for the borrowing of $125,000, outside the limit of indebtedness, for the erection of a municipal building in the East Boston district. The demand for funds to be expended for more meritorious projects is such that there is no way in which to justify the approval of this order as adopted by your body.

Respectfully submitted,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Placed on file.

LEASE OF LAND FOR AIRPORT PURPOSES.

The following was received:
City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, February 7, 1933.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I beg to submit herewith order recommended by the Park Commission, and approved by the Corporation Counsel, authorizing the City of Boston to enter into an agreement to lease two parcels of land situated in East Boston for airport purposes, and recommend the adoption of the same by your honorable body.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Park Department, February 6, 1933.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir,—The order to be introduced into the City Council authorizing the City of Boston to enter into an agreement to lease two parcels of land situated in East Boston for airport purposes is for the purpose of ratifying the extension of this airport to the east and northeast of the original grant.

The lease as drawn up is on the same basis as the original lease and the time of expiration is to be the same date, and the cost of the lease is to be on the same terms of one dollar ($1) per year.

Very respectfully yours,
WILLIAM P. LONG, Chairman.

Whereas, The Commonwealth of Massachusetts, acting by its Department of Public Works, and the City of Boston, under the authority of the provisions of chapter 64 of the Resolves of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts for the year 1928, entered into an indenture wherein the said Commonwealth of Massachusetts leased to the City of Boston for use as an airport certain parcels of land situate in that part of Boston called East Boston, as is fully set forth in said indenture, which is dated August 10, 1928; and

Whereas, By chapter 53 of the Resolves of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, for the year 1930, the said Commonwealth of Massachusetts was authorized to lease to the said City of Boston for airport purposes additional parcels of land situate in said East Boston: now, therefore, it is hereby Ordered, That the said indenture of lease, dated August 10, 1928, be, and the same is hereby, ratified; and it is hereby further Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be, and he hereby is, authorized, in consideration of the covenants and reservations contained in the lease hereinafter mentioned and in consideration of the payment of one dollar a year for the period of the term of said lease ending on August 9, 1938, and in consideration of the payment of the amount to be agreed upon as set forth in said indenture for the remainder of said term of said lease, is hereby authorized to affix the corporate seal of said City of Boston and to sign in its name and behalf an indenture wherein the said Commonwealth of Massachusetts leases to the City of Boston for a term of fifteen years, ten months and eight days, two certain parcels of land situate in said East Boston and marked Parcel No. 1 and Parcel No.

2 and inclosed within red lines, as shown on a plan marked "Airport at East Boston, Additional Land of the Commonwealth to be leased to the City of Boston, authorized by chapter 53, resolves of 1930, Department of Public Works of Massachusetts, Scale 1:5000, July 1, 1931, John N. Ferguson, District Waterways Engineer," and wherein the said Commonwealth of Massachusetts reserves to itself such use of said parcels of land for military purposes as it may from time to time require, and the right to use suitable portions of the land leased as aforesaid, for the purpose of erecting such hangars and other buildings as it may deem necessary for purposes of aviation, and wherein the said City of Boston reserves to itself the right to remove any buildings erected by it upon the said leased premises at the termination of the said lease or instead thereof to charge the Commonwealth of Massachusetts for whatever benefit the said Commonwealth may acquire from the use of said buildings if left upon the said premises.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

LEASE OF UPPER FLOOR OF QUINCY MARKET.

The following was received:
City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, February 13, 1933.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—The upper floor of the Quincy Market Building was leased to the Boston Fruit and Produce Exchange for ten years beginning December 1, 1925, at an annual rental of $13,350. The accompanying letter from the Superintendent of Public Buildings indicates that the changed conditions in this particular business has affected the Exchange seriously, and it appears to be a good business proposition to retain a valuable tenant even at some considerable reduction in rent, especially as all the other market lease rents were reduced 35 per cent in 1930.

I accordingly recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Buildings Department,
February 9, 1933.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir,—At the present time there is in operation a ten-year lease granting the occupancy of the upper floor of the Quincy Market Building to the Boston Fruit and Produce Exchange at an annual rental of $13,350. This lease will expire at the end of three years.

Owing to the present economic conditions, the Exchange has lost many tenants and many of the fruit and produce brokers have located at the terminals in Charlestown and South Boston. Because of the loss of this source of revenue to the Exchange the directors have informed me that they will be compelled to close their doors unless there is a reduction in their rent. At a conference held yesterday at the Law Department a tentative figure of $10,000 annual rental was agreed upon as fair and equitable.

In consideration of these facts and with the desire to maintain the greater part of this income to the City Treasury, I recommend the granting of this reduction in rental and respectfully request that an order granting a new lease in the sum of $10,000 annually for a period of three years, beginning January 1, 1933, and ending December 31, 1935, be drawn up and presented to the City Council.

Respectfully yours,
JOHN P. ENGLERT,
Superintendent of Public Buildings

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be authorized, in the name and behalf of the City of Boston, to execute a modification of the lease to the Boston Fruit and Produce Exchange of the upper floor of the Quincy Market Building, whereby the consideration payable to the city for the remainder of the term of said lease beginning January 1, 1933, and ending November 30, 1935, shall be at the rate of $10,000 a year instead of $13,350 a year.

Referred to Executive Committee.

RADIO FOR POLICE DEPARTMENT.

The following was received:
City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, February 13, 1933.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—In the opinion of the Police Commissioner, necessary funds should be provided at once for the installation of a properly coordinated system of communication, including radio transmission for the Police Department.

The cables in use in the Police Signal Division of the Police Department were installed in 1888 and are totally inadequate and a new system is necessary.

An investigation conducted by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology which reported on the entire matter of signal and communicating system for the Police Department under date of May 26, 1932, estimated that the sum of $330,000 would be necessary to cover the cost of complete installation.

After consultation with the commissioner we are in agreement that the sum of $300,000 will be ample and I accordingly recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Sincerely,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of $300,000 be, and the same hereby is, appropriated, to be expended under the direction of the Police Commissioner, for Police Department coordinated system of communication, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, upon request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

President McGRATH—The matter will be referred to the Committee on Finance.

Coun. RUBY—Mr. President, I was going to suggest that before the order was referred to the Committee on Finance I want it understood that I am not in the least disturbed at the amount of money asked for, because you will bear in mind that there is a reference made to coordinating systems which, of course, may be something very wide apart from what we asked for this past year. The City Council interested itself in asking that the police system of the City of Boston be radio-equipped, and I am very much pleased that even at this late day, when half a dozen or more citizens of Boston have been murdered, the Police Commissioner should in his judgment favor the introduction of a proper system of communication. I was pleased to receive on February 6 a letter from his Honor the Mayor which I would like to read into the record.

"I have read your letter addressed to Police Commissioner Hultman and, having had an opportunity to familiarize myself with the operation of the police broadcasting system in other cities, I am in agreement with you that the installation of this system in Boston would be of real value. I shall await the recommendations of the Police Commissioner, and shall inform you as to his position when I am in receipt of the same."

Sincerely,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

The Mayor of Boston has now shown that he is in favor of the introduction of such a system, and I think has been for some months convinced of its necessity because of conversations that I have had with him. I know he feels that radio is necessary in Boston for our police system. I am sorry that the chairman of the Finance Committee is not here at the present time. I trust that he may come before the meeting adjourns today, so that we may as speedily as possible summon in the Police Commissioner of Boston. The gentlemen connected with the Massachusetts Institute of Technology have carried through their investigations, at a cost to the city of over $8,000, and I am sure that after we arrive at what the City of Boston really needs, so far as a radio-equipped system is concerned in its Police Department, the cost to the citizens of Boston will be thousands of dollars less than the estimated $300,000. I trust that the chairman of the Committee on Finance will call a meeting of the committee to consider this matter as soon as possible.

The message and order stood referred to the Committee on Finance.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

SNOW REMOVAL CONTRACT OF WARD GENERAL CONTRACTING COMPANY.

Coun. KELLY offered the following:

Ordered, That the Mayor of Boston rescind the snow removal contract of the W. G. C. Company (Ward General Contracting Company) for the Charlestown district, due to the fact that they are not living up to the terms of the contract with regard to payment of wages.

Ordered, That the Finance Commission immediately investigate what the W. G. C. Company paid laborers for the removal of snow on February 12, 1933.

Coun. KELLY—Mr. President, we have heard it said and repeated so much by the Mayor of Boston that there are no pet contractors in this city that I want to bring out here a few facts, as I have been bringing them out during the past week at the State House. The facts were somewhat beclouded by our emotional Corporation Counsel and by one of the pet contractors, who indulged in a lot of cheap, not gutter talk but sewer talk, before the honorable members of that committee. As I say, that beclouded the issue. I will now try to give you some of the facts and figures such as were given to the committee, and then you can say whether or not the man here referred to is not a pet contractor and a personal friend of the Mayor, with whom the Mayor is in partnership. Yesterday morning fifty men were instructed from the Dorchester district to report at work shovelling snow. They were to report for work at a contracting concern on Massachusetts avenue, and fifty of them went down there and reported at 7 o'clock in the morning. They were then transported to the Charlestown district to work for the Ward General Contracting Company. It might be well to notice that Michael J. Ward is the man who is practically the owner of this corporation, and he happens to be the ex-senator. He was defeated for the senatorship and then managed to get into one of the House fights in one of the three wards he had represented in the Senate, and with his straw votes was able to get one of the two places from that ward in the House. Well, Mr. President, these men went over to the Charlestown district and proceeded to work, and at 10.32 a. m. the boys went over to get a cup of coffee. They were gone approximately six minutes, as far as I can determine—and they are truthful gentlemen—and when they came back they were told that they were fired. When they asked what their pay would be they were told that men had been paid or were going to be paid at the rate of 40 cents an hour, and when they were so informed they decided to quit, because they had understood that they were going to get $5 a day, or 62½ cents an hour for an eight-hour day. So they quit at 12 o'clock noon, having worked since 7 o'clock, the time when they boarded the truck to go over there, a truck of the Ward General Contracting Company. But for their five hours of work, Mr. President, these boys received the magnificent sum of $1.60, or 32 cents an hour. I was very much interested. I could not find out what the terms of the contract were, but on looking it up this morning in the Public Works office I found that the bids had been opened in November, 1931, and that there had been absolutely no bids at all for this year. I found that John J. McCarthy was then the low bidder, having offered to do the work in the Charlestown district at 43 cents a cubic yard, that Michael J. Ward was a higher bidder, having bid 45 cents a cubic yard. And yet, who do you think got the contract? Michael J. Ward's company. The contract specifically stated in written terms that the employees should be paid 62½ cents an hour, giving them for an eight-hour day, $5. There were no bids in 1932. Still, this concern is given this work now. Does anybody have the temerity to say under the circumstances, that there is no graft and corruption in Boston? Now, let us see if the Mayor will rescind this contract. Let us see what will be the result of this great lobby that is lobbying the entire committee at the State House, attempting to whitewash this investigation that the good people of Boston demand—and an investigation that they are going to get, Mr. President, whether the Legislature gives it to them or not. They are going to get the investigation, because evidence enough was produced to send Mayor Curley, Matthew Cummings and Corporation Counsel Silverman to jail for robbing the taxpayers of the city of their money.

Coun. RUBY—Mr. President, I rise to a point of order, that the councilor on my right is not talking to his order.

President McGRATH—The Chair will request the councilor to keep within the scope of his order.

Coun. KELLY—Mr. President, I think I am within the scope of my order when I make this statement, that a member of this concern, the real man behind this concern, has made the crack within the last seven days that I would not live for thirty days after this investigation was over, or at least after I testified before the committee. Now, Mr. President, I am going to inform Mr. Michael Ward, the man behind this contract, that if anything happens to me within thirty days, if this threat is carried out, and it is the third attempt to get me, three men will be put six feet under within six months after that happens, and they will be Mayor Curley, Mr. Dolan and Mike Ward. I have the utmost confidence in the people who have given me their oath that they will do it. So somebody else will have the last say, if Michael Ward gets gunmen to put out of commission an honest public servant. I think, Mr. President, I have shown graft and corruption. I don't want to go further. That is all that the second lowest bidder gave these poor men who worked over there, and I can prove it. I have fifty men who can come before any tribunal and prove that that was all they received, 32 cents an hour, for five hours' work. So I sincerely hope that the order will be passed under suspension of the rule.

Coun. RUBY—Mr. President, may I at this time read this order which I had intended to introduce when I got the floor,—“Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested, through the Mayor, to instruct all contractors employing men on snow removal during the recent storm to pay the men on the basis of 62½ cents an hour, or to pay all contractors on present snow removal work only in proportion to the amount paid the hired men.”

Here is an opportunity for us to be on the level. I am not going to take a shot at his Honor the Mayor, and I am not going to take a shot at Corporation Counsel Silverman, nor am I going to abuse a seventy-three-year-old man in Boston who has a perfect right to go before a legislative committee of this Commonwealth and defend his good name and reputation. I refer to seventy-three-year-old Matthew Cummings. If I were accused of graft and corruption, I would do exactly what was done by that gentleman. If he is fortunate enough to get contracts from the City of Boston and his work is approved by the authorities of the City of Boston, of course he has a perfect right to appear before the Rules Committee of the Legislature to defend the good name of himself and his family. But I am not concerned with that. I am not concerned with any individual contractor, which seems to be the position of the councilor on my right. I am concerned with those unemployed young men who yesterday went to work for different contractors doing work for the City of Boston and who did not receive an honest day's pay for an honest day's work given. I am not going to enter into personalities, because this is not with me a personal grudge. This is everybody's fight. Certain contractors—not one—hired men yesterday to remove snow in Boston. It is rather unfortunate that that work has not been given out as has been done in former years, allowing the Employment Bureau or the different city yards in Boston to put the men on and having them paid through the City Treasurer's office. If that had been done, we would have been assured that the thousands of young men who today have families dependent upon them who are out of work would have received $5 for an eight-hour day. If some of the men, as the councilor on my right has intimated, received 40 cents an hour, they were more fortunate than many who received 32 or 30 cents an hour. When the prevailing rate of wages is referred to, I am told that some of the contractors paid the men at the rate of 30 cents an hour or $2.40 for the eight-hour day. Men whom I sent out to work for different contractors—not in Charlestown but in Boston proper—reported to me that they were to get $2.40 for the eight-hour day. Mr. President, we certainly owe a duty to the citizens of Boston to protect them. These men generally seem to have been underpaid, and for that reason I don't want to have one contractor singled out. If they are all to blame, there might have been a sort of collusion to pay to the men a certain amount of money. I say it is a disgrace to the fair name of our city when certain contractors can get a certain amount of money from the city for the removal of snow, which they are supposed to carry out under certain wage conditions, and when they hire our neighbors, our citizens, and pay them less than a human wage. I certainly trust that the Public Works Commissioner will deal with these contractors as they should be dealt with. I am not blaming the Mayor of Boston, because no man can convince me beyond a reasonable doubt that the Mayor of Boston is to blame if a private contractor goes out and hires sixty or seventy men and tells them that they will only get a small sum for the work they do, under the conditions that seem to prevail in this case. Let us be fair to the Chief Executive of our city. When he is wrong he is wrong; but when he is not wrong we ought not to manufacture evidence against him any more than we would like to have evidence manufactured against us. If I remember correctly, from reading the paper this morning, the Mayor gave a statement to the press of Boston that he would correct any wrong pay that any individual got on yesterday's work, and that if complaints reached him he would insist that the contractor pay those men $5 a day. If that is done, my part of this transaction is over, because I am interested to see that the men who went to work receive a fair day's pay for the day's job they did yesterday. That is all we ought to be concerned about. Let quarrels between individuals take their proper place, but let us not prejudice the thousands of unemployed citizens of Boston in getting a square deal, simply because we have personal malice or a personal grievance. Let us lay such considerations aside. If we are sincerely trying to protect the rights of our people let us not prejudice those rights by allowing our personal feelings to interfere. Let us have an eye single to seeing that those who shoveled snow yesterday get a proper day's pay. I have in mind the case of a young man, a white collar man, who through a strange coincidence moved from the councilor's ward to my ward on December 15. I shall be glad to give his name privately. He has a family of eleven to support. The mother of one of the boys called at my home and asked me to put her son at work, so that he might get $5 to go and come on for a few days. The young man came to my home and I gave him a card. He reported at Copley square. I will not mention the contractor's name, but he worked from 7.45 yesterday until quarter past five last night, and his pay was to be $2.40, on a basis of a little less than 30 cents an hour. We are in duty bound to protect such citizens. Let us forget our grievances. If we are sincere in desiring to help these people, we will ask the Mayor of Boston in good faith to instruct the Public Works Commissioner to refuse to pay the contractors at fault because I am told that one man working diligently, even at $5 a day, would have earned for the contractor $12 or $13 for that eight hours of work. So I don't think it is a hardship on any of the ten or more contractors who did this work for the City of Boston yesterday to require them to pay every individual who worked for the city on snow removal at least $5 for the day's work.

Coun. MURRAY—Mr. President, I was intending to offer an order, or an amendment to this order, asking the Mayor to hold up the money of the contractors until they paid to the men who worked yesterday the 62½ cents an hour that the contract calls for.

Coun. MURRAY offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to instruct the City Auditor not to pay any contractors for snow removal until they have paid all employees at the rate of 62½ cents an hour, and to rescind the contracts of any contractors who have failed to pay said rates to employees.

Coun. KELLY—Mr. President, I gladly consent to that amendment.

Coun. HEIN—Mr. President, I would simply say that, as I understand it, the Mayor has already held up all payment to contractors until they have paid the men the 62½ cents an hour.

Coun. FISH—Mr. President, I would like to substantiate Councilor Kelly's remarks. I had several of these snow shovelers come to me yesterday morning and tell me that they were being paid 30 cents an hour, as Councilor Ruhy has said. I think it is a crime that the Mayor of Boston should allow this sort of thing to go on, allowing these poor unfortunates, many of them without shoes or socks and without coats, to go out, as I understand some of them did, and do ten hours' shoveling and receive the sum of only 30 cents an hour. It is certainly something that the Mayor of Boston ought to stop.

Coun. BURKE—Mr. President, I have listened attentively to everything that has been said. I, too, contemplated putting in an order. I felt yesterday morning that an order was necessary, so that the Mayor could be apprized of conditions. I was at the Municipal Employment Bureau yesterday morning at half-past seven with 200 men from my ward seeking employment. I was fortunate enough to have 168 placed at work for the various snow contractors, but at the time they were placed at work I was under the impression that they would receive the prevailing rate of wages, 62½ cents an hour, or $5 a day. As a matter of fact, one of the contractors told me that they were going to pay the prevailing rate of wages. But I was thunderstruck two or three hours afterwards to find that over forty of the men who had gone to work had come back to the Municipal Employment Bureau with the story that they would receive only 30 to 35 cents an hour. More than that, two of the men supposed to be working for contractors were left waiting on the streets of Boston with shovels, and after two hours were told that there was not enough to shovel and that they could not get work, that they would have to go home. Those men were taken from the Municipal Employment Bureau and brought away by the contractor and left there stranded for two hours, and did not receive a penny for the time they had put in, although they had the proper facilities for removing the snow. It is evident that the contractors are going to continue to pay a low rate of wages. It would seem that everybody in business is looking to reduce the pay of employees, including the Telephone Company, the Boston Consolidated Gas Company, the Chamber of Commerce, practically every big corporation in the State of Massachusetts, and they are bringing pressure to bear on cities, towns and counties, to reduce the wages of employees. The hanking interests are calling on municipal governments to reduce wages and salaries. There is a concerted effort on the part of a big group of wealthy persons to break down the standards of living in Boston by compelling men to work for wages that will not enable them to provide their families with the bare necessities of life. The Mayor of Boston owes a duty to the men working for these contractors to secure for them the 62½ cents an hour called for under the recent contract. The Mayor of Boston started in last year having this work handled by the City of Boston, and the snow was removed in a more substantial and better manner than this year. They worked for $5 a day and the snow was removed, and today they are working for less and the snow is not removed. So I feel that the Mayor of Boston owes a duty to these men to see that they get the amount that they are supposed to get under the law and under the contract, and I think personally if there is any more of this work it should be done under the Public Works Department, as was done last year. I call upon the Mayor, with my colleagues, to be fair to the men in this emergency cold weather, men who are working to put this city in a condition where traffic can be moved and where people can get about. I think the Council should go on record unanimously in passing both the orders which have been put into the Council.

Coun. BRACKMAN—Mr. President, I don't wish to prolong the discussion unnecessarily, but I would like to merely add one word. I think it is most unfortunate this year that the snow removal contracts should have been given to contractors at all. There would seem to be no necessity for it. Men can be furnished by the Employment Bureau, which we spend good money to maintain, and within an hour after the doors are opened the necessary number of men could be put at work. If it were not handed over to the contractors we would not have this trouble today talking about wages. I think we ought to go on record as rebuking those officials who sought to have this turned over this year to contractors, that it should be handled by the Public Works Commissioner; and I think it would be well to refer these orders to the Executive Committee, send for the Public Works Commissioner or whoever is in authority, and see where we are going to get off.

President McGRATH—The question is on Councilor Brackman's motion to refer the orders to the Executive Committee.

Coun. BURKE—Mr. Chairman, one would suppose from what came out in the press this morning, particularly the statement in the Boston Herald, that a sufficient number of men could not be secured to carry out the snow removal. As a matter of fact, there were 2,000 or 3,000 men at Church street, when I arrived yesterday morning, clamoring to go to work, and practically 80 per cent of them were turned away, having to go without work. So any such impression that was given out by the press is erroneous. There were plenty of men who would have been glad to go to work if able to do so.

The orders were referred to the Executive Committee.

WARD 1 IMPROVEMENTS.

Coun. BARKER offered the following:

Ordered, That the Board of Street Commissioners he requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to accept and lay out Anavoy street, Ward 1, as a public highway.

Ordered, That the Board of Street Commissioners he requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to accept and lay out Butler avenue, from Bayswater street to Thurston street, Ward 1.

Ordered, That the Board of Street Commissioners he requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to accept and lay out Nancia street, from St. Andrew road to Bayswater street, Ward 1.

Ordered, That the Board of Street Commissioners he requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to accept and lay out Orient avenue, Ward 1, as a public highway.

Ordered, That the Public Works Commissioner he requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to install arc lights on Waldemar avenue, Ward 1.

Ordered, That the Board of Street Commissioners he requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to accept and lay out Sea View avenue, Ward 1, as a public highway.

Severally passed under suspension of the rule.

INSTALLATION OF POLICE RADIO.

Coun. NORTON offered the following:

Ordered, That the Mayor of Boston consider the advisability of requesting the Governor of the Commonwealth to request the Police Commissioner of Boston to install police radio at once.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, I have introduced that order at this time to call the present situation to the attention of the body. The Police Commissioner of Boston asks for the expenditure of $300,000, ostensibly to carry out the recommendations of the Institute of Technology report. I would like to have it made clear that the installation of a radio system for the Boston Police Department, according to the Institute of Technology report, would cost between $30,000 and $60,000. The Police Commissioner is thoroughly conversant with the fact that radio is the greatest invention, as far as police work is concerned, that we have, but he wants to fix up the old cable and hox telephone system at a cost of between $300,000 and $400,000. That is the gist of the whole matter. We are all willing to vote $30,000 to $60,000 for police radio. We have the police cars and if we had the radio we would have everything that is necessary. But he wants to fix up the police telephone box system, so that a policeman in East Boston may become connected with one in Readville. That would be a splendid thing in ordinary times, but we haven't the money for that. So why shouldn't we have the police radio installed for $30,000 to $60,000, without spending $300,000 to $400,000 fixing up the telephone lines, poles, hoxes, and so forth?

Coun. RUBY—Mr. President, while I believe we are 100 per cent in accord for police radio in Boston, I cannot bring myself to vote for the order offered by the councilor from Ward 18 unless I am ready to admit that we in Boston cannot govern ourselves but must turn over the government of Boston to his Excellency the Governor. We have been continually asking for home rule for Boston. We have a Chief Executive of whom I, at least, am proud and a pretty good Council. We appropriate money for the conduct of the Police Department. I cannot see the necessity of asking the Governor—although the Police Commissioner is a Governor's appointee—to instruct the commissioner in this matter, in other words, to say to the commissioner, "If the Mayor of Boston cannot get the Police Department equipped with radio, and if the City Council is helpless in the matter, I am going to try to do it." I don't think Boston is yet ready to admit that it cannot instruct its officials to do what they should be required to do today. I believe if a proper order is introduced and sent to the Committee on Finance, we can bring in the Police Commissioner of Boston and can bring in such other men as are necessary. Then, if we cannot convince the Police Commissioner of the necessity of radio, it being my opinion that outside of paying the salaries of the police officers there can be nothing in the police budget so important as a provision for radio, I stand ready, having that feeling, to act accordingly when the budget comes before us, and I believe the Police Commissioner in his wisdom, if he sees that we in the Boston City Council as well as the Chief Executive of our city, are taking a firm stand on this matter, will take such action as we believe should be taken.

I believe, in other words, that this is not a matter for the Governor, but for our own Mayor and City Council. I would ask, therefore, that the councilor from Ward 18 withdraw that order, requesting the Governor to instruct the Police Commissioner. Certainly most of the members of this body who favor home rule must vote against it.

President McGRATH—The order will be referred to the Committee on Finance.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, in answer to the councilor, who desires that we shall run our own Police Department, I desire to say that for the last thirty years, since the days of William E. Russell as Governor, Boston has had no control over its Police Department. We had that fact brought to our attention many years ago, and are having it impressed upon us today when we want police radio. The Mayor of Boston distinctly has nothing to do with the Police Department. The Police Commissioner is removable only by the Governor and Council. It is not a question whether radio is a good thing, but a question of whether the City of Boston should spend $300,000 or $400,000 on telephone lines before we get police radio. Police radio will cost only $30,000 to $60,000, and we haven't the money to spend on police telephone wires at this time. Therefore, I am simply trying to bring the matter to the attention of the proper authority, that the Police Commissioner, when police radio can be installed for $30,000 to $60,000, is attempting to put in the police telephone hox system at an expense to $300,000 or $400,000. I believe, before expending that money—recommended by Commissioner Wilson for the last ten years—we should carefully consider what is really required at the present time. We haven't the money this year. We will be lucky if we have money enough to take care of the welfare applicants. That is my position in the matter. I believe we should spend $30,000 to $60,000 for introduction of police radio, with conditions as they exist in our city, but I do not believe the city today is in a position to expend the $300,000 or $400,000 for this other work.

REINSTATEMENT OF DR. CHARLES L. MORAN.

Coun. ENGLERT offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston hereby favors the enactment of legislation authorizing the reinstatement of Dr. Charles L. Moran as Medical Inspector in the Health Department of said city for retirement purposes only.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

EDWIN P. SEAVER SCHOOL.

Coun. MURRAY offered the following:

Ordered, That the Department of School Buildings be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to rearrange the schoolyard and repair wall of same at the Edwin P. Seaver School, Forest Hills.

Coun. MURRAY—That order is introduced because of the serious condition that exists in that school, in connection with the yard and the wall. The children are now in darkness, and unless the wall is repaired it is also a menace. The sun never shines there, and the water lies in that school yard to a depth of fourteen inches at times. If something is not done in the immediate future, there will be danger of an accident because of the condition of the wall, and several children might lose their lives. I believe that the Schoolhouse Commission should try to do something at once. Now is the time to rearrange that yard and fix up the wall, so that the children may not be subjected to the present menace at that dangerous spot.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

SIDEWALK ON BOURNE STREET.

Coun. MURRAY offered the following:

Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along Bourne street, both sides, Walk Hill street to Neponset avenue, Ward 19, in front of the estates bordering thereon; said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone, with granite edgestones, under the provisions of chapter 196 of the Special Acts of 1917.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

REINSTATEMENT OF JACOB J. BERNER.

Coun. DONOVAN offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston hereby favors the enactment of legislation authorizing the reinstatement of Jacob J. Berner as a member of the Police Department of said city.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

SIDEWALK ON EAST SIXTH STREET.

Coun. DONOVAN offered the following:

Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along East Sixth street, both sides, from K street to Farragut road, Ward 6, in front of the estates bordering thereon; said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone, with granite edgestones, under the provisions of chapter 196 of the Special Acts of 1917.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

ACCEPTANCE OF IOLA STREET.

Coun. RUBY offered the following:

Ordered, That the Street Commissioners be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to accept, lay out and construct Iola street, Ward 14.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

CONFIRMATION OF APPOINTMENTS.

The Council took up No. 1 on the calendar, under unfinished business, viz.:

1. Action on appointments submitted by the Mayor February 6, 1933, of Carroll Gorman and Lawrence R. Alther, to be Weighers of Coal.

The question came on confirmation. Committee, Coun. Barker and Hein. Whole number of ballots cast, 13, yeas 13, and the confirmations were confirmed.

EMPLOYMENT OF RESIDENTS.

Coun. FISH offered the following:

Ordered, That the Mayor of Boston be requested to instruct all heads of departments in making contracts that no awards be made except to Boston concerns and that a clause be inserted in each contract that only residents of Boston be employed by the contractor.

Coun. FISH—Mr. President, in connection with that order I might say it is about time that the Mayor of Boston stepped into the picture and did something about these nonresident employees on city construction. We have at least half a dozen city jobs under construction which have working on them people from other cities and towns; in fact, you will find upon examination that about 70 per cent of the employees are non-residents of Boston. If I am a carpenter or bricklayer and go to Somerville or Cambridge for a job, I am asked where I live, and if I tell them I live in Boston they say, "Go back and see the Mayor of Boston about putting you to work there." I certainly hope the Mayor will do something in this matter in connection with contracts that are to be shortly awarded, recognizing the citizens of this city who made it possible for him to become Mayor.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

INDORSEMENT OF BOSTON EMERGENCY RELIEF CAMPAIGN.

Coun. BRACKMAN offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council go on record as indorsing the Boston Emergency Relief Campaign.

Adopted.

RECESS.

The Council voted, at 3.05 p. m., on motion of Coun. HEIN, to take a recess subject to the call of the Chair. The members reassembled in the Council Chamber and were called to order by President McGRATH at 5.13 p. m.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. LYNCH, for the Executive Committee, submitted the following:

1. Report on order (referred today) that Mayor be requested not to pay any contractors for snow removal until they have paid all employees at rate of 62½ cents an hour—recommending that same ought to pass.

The report was accepted and the question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. KELLY—Mr. President, I introduced an order here at the beginning of our session today regarding the one contractor whom I knew anything about—namely, a contractor having charge of the removal of snow in the Charlestown district. It seems, as I said here—and it would be only repeating to say it again—that fifty boys from my district went to work over there and were paid at the rate of 32 cents an hour. In presenting that, I felt that I was presenting evidence with regard to a specific contractor, and nobody denies that I have that evidence. There is somebody in the balcony at the present time who went to work for that contractor and received only 32 cents an hour. It seems in the executive session—due to the fact that Michael Ward happens to be close to the Mayor of Boston—some members of the Council did not want to go on record as favoring the rescission of this particular contract, and they amended my order in such a way that I could not recognize it myself—the order I introduced at the beginning of the session, changing it so much that I had to favor "ought not to pass." Now, Mr. President, I don't care if I am voted down here, 20 to 1 or 21 to 1. I have submitted evidence, and it has not been contradicted that fifty men from the Dorchester district went to work Sunday, yesterday, for the Ward Contracting Company, at 27 School street, a firm that was incorporated shortly after the Mayor went into office, and John Ward, Michael's brother, is connected with the company. I submitted proof that this firm did not live up to the contract, did not pay the prevailing rate of wages, 62½ cents an hour, according to the contract. Some of the members of the Council have not the courage to go on record as asking the Mayor to rescind this particular contract. I will not say who they are, but that was the case this afternoon. Now, I want to speak in favor of this order, because it includes, I understand, a few other contractors who have not complied with the provisions of the contract, but I want my position distinctly understood. I am in favor of all these contracts being properly carried out. But when I introduce a specific order asking for the rescission of a contract, showing where fifty men have been abused by this Ward company, which refused to pay the men, according to the testimony, $5 a day, while they were still making at the rate of $13 or $14 a day on each man, I desire to be accorded proper treatment on such an order. When I see a man giving these poor men for this work $3.20 a day for ten hours' work instead of $5 for eight hours' work, I think the proper thing for me, as it would be for any member, is to come in and name the contractor and ask the Mayor to make an immediate example of him. Therefore, I want to be so recorded; I wish to have something to say on my own order, upon which it has become so changed in committee I had to move to report back, "Ought not to pass." I do, however, wish to have my position properly stated on the record.

Coun. GREEN—Mr. President, in reply to the gentleman who has just taken his seat, I want to say that I hold no brief for the Ward Contracting Company or any other contracting company that had to do with the removal of snow from the streets of Boston. We took a vote in executive session. I do not believe in making fish of one and flesh of another. I don't know what this animosity towards the Ward Brothers means, but, as I have already said, I hold no brief for the Wards or any other contractors carrying out these contracts for the City of Boston. If, however, we are going to investigate Ward, I say, let us go out and investigate all. Some reference has been made to men standing up and being counted. Of course, as members of this body we have our battles, but I don't believe in leaving scars. We stood up here and were counted two weeks ago, when it took men to stand up and vote "yes" or "no." And I was one of eight men who, although we were defeated, stood up and were counted. I was counted along with seven other men who voted against that order in executive session. When we take a vote in executive session, Mr. Chairman, I think that vote should stand, and I am going to vote the way I voted in executive session against the order. If we investigate Ward, let us investigate them all.

Coun. FISH—Mr. President, I am heartily in accord with Councilor Kelly in his statements, which I have reason to believe are correct. I am in favor of—

Coun. HEIN—Mr. President, I rise to a point of order, that the gentleman is not discussing the matter that is properly before us. The order introduced by Councilor Kelly is not now before the body.

President McGRATH—The clerk will reread the order that is now being passed upon by the Council.

(The clerk did so.)

Coun. BURKE—Mr. President, that is the order we voted for almost unanimously, and that order includes in itself the order offered by Councilor Kelly because it provides that if any contractor has failed to pay the prevailing rate of wages, 62½ cents an hour, he will not receive any money from the city treasury; which means that every man working on snow removal and receiving less than $5 a day has a right to receive that full amount of $5 before any contractor receives his money from the city. So if any of these contractors—and we are not singling out Ward, Tomasello, or any other contractor—has not complied with that provision, his contract will be rescinded, if the terms of the order are carried out. That being so, this includes the councilor's order, and I don't see why he should now come in on the floor of the Council because this order blankets his order, and raise any objection. His order is included in this order, Mr. President. We are simply endeavoring to secure this action in order to protect the men who have been forced to work at less than the prevailing wage scale, and, further, to prevent any contractor receiving any money until he has paid to the men doing the work the amount they should receive.

Coun. POWER—Mr. President, I did not say anything about the order of the councilor from Dorchester (Coun. Kelly) when he first introduced it because I had in mind that it was going to be referred to executive session and that more information would be brought out there if we had representatives of the Public Works Department and of the Employment Bureau brought in. We did proceed along that line. When we went into executive session, we obtained information not only in regard to the contractor whom the councilor from Dorchester designates, but four or five other contractors who were in the same boat. Councilor Murray, I believe, introduced an order amending the councilor's order, so as to hold up the money to be paid to these contractors; and what is now proposed is a step to rescind the contracts of all contractors who failed to pay the prevailing rate of wage. Now, I am not holding any brief for any contractor in the City of Boston, nor have I any personal axe to grind for anybody in the City of Boston. That should not be our attitude here, Mr. President. Our job is a job for all the people and does not concern any particular person. If one is wrong, let us get after the one; if all are wrong, let us get after all. That is our job. We received information in executive session about contractors paying but 30, 32 or 40 cents an hour. These contractors are all supposed to pay 62½ cents an hour, the prevailing rate of wages. They have all broken their contracts and it is proposed, therefore, by this order that their money be held up. We also got the information that they hired men to do the snow shoveling by number, which is something new. What is happening, Mr. President? Are we going back to the old prison days, hiring men for the City of Boston by number? Almost every day in the week persons come to my house to see what can be done with this contractor or that contractor who is employing aliens. If these contractors employ men by numbers, how do we know that they are not aliens? We want the information in regard to the men who went to work for these contractors. That is another reason why we want the money held up. Mr. President and members of the Council, this is the most outrageous situation that has ever come about in this city. During the war everyone hated a slacker; during the war we got what we called profiteers, the most hated men in this country, in fact in the world. We now have the racketeer, and we have brought before us the racketeering contractor. Any of these contractors can make plenty of money and still pay the men who work for them $5 a day, but they take advantage of the worst situation that has happened in this country, this depression. The worst people who live are the greedy men who take advantage of the depression, going around to these men who are in need and employing them for 30 cents an hour, while they are still getting a good profit and would be getting a good profit if they should pay them 62½ cents an hour. We have nothing against these contractors individually, but we are against them all when they do this sort of thing. I say throw them out, if we have the real substantial proof that they have done this, not singling out any one but acting against all of them. They should be thrown out of the city, not alone deprived of their pay by the city. That is why I am in favor of this order. It covers all the contractors, brings them all in. They are all in the same boat.

The order was passed.

2. Report on order (referred today) that Mayor rescind snow removal contract of Ward General Contracting Company for Charlestown district—recommending that same ought not to pass.

Coun. KELLY—Mr. President, I came before this body today with specific statements in regard to a specific number of men, men in Dorchester whose interests I have been elected to protect. The only contractor who offended them, who did an injustice to them, was the Ward Contracting Company. There may have been men in Dorchester who worked for other contractors, but today I have not received any complaints about their not being paid their full wages. Other councilors have presented a few instances in which they claim that the men working for other contractors did not receive the legal amount of money called for in the country, 62½ cents an hour. Now, I don't mind, when the purpose of anybody in this Council is sincere, having my order connected up, or substituted for orders presented by other members of the body; but I do object, and object strenuously, against such action as is proposed on this order, when the particular man behind this contract is the last man who should steal from poor unfortunate people working on Sunday. When he is supposed to pay 62½ cents an hour, he pays 32 or 32½ cents an hour. Many times councilors in this body have submitted the names of other contractors doing general contracting who have not lived up to their particular contracts, but never once have we had an example made by the City of Boston by compelling contractors to live up to their particular specifications. Here is a chance now for the Mayor of Boston to show what a big man he is, if he is sincere—if the kind of talk he has been indulging in recently is not a sample of the same sort of talk he has been getting off in the past. We are here showing what has happened within the last twenty-four hours. Twenty men here are ready to testify to facts I brought out before the Council and the committee. Here is a chance for the Mayor of Boston to cancel the contract with the Ward Contracting Company. I wonder if the Mayor has the courage that he claims, if he is going to tell the contractors doing city work to live up to their contracts. The reason why I am forcing this particular issue, in regard to this particular contract is this: no order of mine is going to be railroaded without a contest. The members can vote me down 21 to 1, or 20 to 1, if they wish, on any order I introduce, but any order that Kelly introduces, when it involves fifty constituents of his in Dorchester, is not going to be railroaded, substituted or camouflaged under a general order without a protest on my part. I have a specific case here, and I stand on the floor of the Council and desire to see whether or not the members have the courage to vote to rescind this particular contract. I want to see how many members will vote on this matter. I do not like to put any members in the middle, but it seems that some like to put me in the middle. I desire to have a direct vote on this order, because Michael Ward is a member of the concern and he is particularly friendly with the Mayor of Boston. Not that I care whether a contractor is friendly with the Mayor of Boston or not. I have no criticism to make of the fact that a man is friendly to the Mayor, if no improper advantage is taken of that friendship. But because those are the men who get the extras and who are allowed to run along as they please, I have to discuss friends of the Mayor of Boston. I want to have it clearly stated, however, once and for all,—and I hope the newspapers in Boston will carry this statement,—that any position I take here is not because of an unfriendly personal attitude towards the Mayor. I wish it understood that I was a strong supporter of the Mayor of Boston in his last mayoralty fight, and for six months I voted for anything he wanted. But when I got my bearings and saw the things that he wanted to push through the Council, things that in my humble opinion I felt were not for the best interest of the public, remembering that I had raised up my right hand and taken a solemn oath of office, promising during my membership in the Council to have careful regard for the interests of the city, I rose in this Council and voiced my opinion, one against twenty-one. Now, as I say, I have no personal animosity against the Mayor of Boston, but I do object, and I object strenuously, to the Mayor of Boston allowing these transactions to go through which have caused an enormous increase in the tax rate of this city through the past three years of this administration. My position here as a member of the Council, in spite of what anybody may say, is because I desire the action taken here to be in the interest of our citizens. There is nothing personal about it. Kelly is representing the interests of the people of this city when he takes issue with contractors who are pets of this administration, when he takes issue with the Mayor because he does not award a contract to the lowest bidder, when he takes issue with the Mayor awarding $5,000,000 to one particular contractor, and when contracts are not awarded to the low bidder. At such times, of course, Kelly must rise and must go the limit and do everything he can for the public he represents. I am satisfied, however, regardless of how I may be outvoted, regardless of what is said about me, that the public of Boston are with me, and I think I know the sentiments of the public of Boston. Perhaps in a short time again the public of Boston will have an opportunity to express its opinion about me, as it did a year ago, when I carried every precinct in my ward against the opposition of the Mayor of Boston, something never heard of in Ward 15 before. The public will perhaps have an opportunity again in the near future to turn out behind the man who has been making their contest, a battle against tremendous odds. I have no illusions about the difficulty of the contest I am making, but it is the people's fight and the people will knock down the two or three racketeers who are running this city. The people will not be fooled by any camouflage or cheap oratory. They know who is representing their best interests. They know that I would have been vigorously assailed in legal proceedings if I had been making merely libellous statements, statements that I could not back up; that I would have been brought into 200 or 300 slander suits if those whom I have assailed did not know that I had the facts. Nobody in Boston—Dolan, Ward or anybody else—dares take civil action against Kelly, because they know that before a justice of the court Kelly would be allowed freedom to tell the truth and back up the truth by his statements. Mr. President, I am going to insist, without taking further time, that a direct vote be taken on this order, which I introduced on the floor of the Council early in the session. It has been reported back, "Ought not to pass." And therefore, I am obliged to take the position I take now, in seeking to get a direct vote upon it. The gentlemen of the Council can do just as they please, but I am taking the position I do at this time representing the people, representing those fifty young men who went to work at 7 o'clock in the morning, got through at 12, and received the stupendous stipend of $1.60.

Coun. COX—Mr. President, I have listened with great interest to the councilor from Dorchester. If there is any member of the Council who should not hold a brief for the Mayor of Boston, I imagine I am that man. But I cannot help, in replying to the councilor who has just spoken, calling to his attention the statement of the Acting Commissioner of Public Works who said the Mayor of Boston called him in this morning and told him that it had come to his attention that certain contractors were not paying the prevailing rate of 62½ cents an hour, and that the Public Works Commissioner should not pay to any contractor in connection with the removal of snow the amount he claimed was due him, until he was satisfied that that rate of wages had been paid. Therefore, it would seem that the Mayor of Boston has anticipated all that the councilor from Dorchester has said, that the Mayor of Boston did not specify any one particular contractor, but specified all. Councilor Murray's order embodied all the contractors handling snow, they are all subject to investigation, and I don't think it is fair for the councilor from Dorchester to get up here under the subterfuge of defending fifty people from Dorchester when the entire City of Boston is involved. I don't think it is fair for him to attempt to becloud or throw a shadow of suspicion, either, around his fellow councilors. Each and every individual here stands on his own feet. What he is known to the others, and I think it ill behooves the councilor from Dorchester to cast reflections not alone on this Council but on the Mayor of Boston under the circumstances.

Coun. FISH—Mr. President, I am in hearty accord with Councilor Kelly's order. The statements he has made here today are correct, or I have reason to believe that they are correct, and I feel that the Mayor of Boston should rescind the Ward Company contract. It is about time that the Mayor of Boston stepped in and cancelled some of these contracts, if the contractors are not paying the prevailing rate of wages.

Coun. BURKE—Mr. President, I am in the ward next to that of the councilor who spoke previously to the last speaker, and my position is probable somewhat different from his. I have over one hundred names and addresses in my possession of those who worked and who did not receive the 62½ cents an hour. Although his order is similar to ours, his order takes care of but one case, and the other takes care of all. I don't know, under the circumstances, why his order should be placed before the body. However, if the President and the Council see fit to allow it to be acted upon, I suppose action can be taken. Therefore, if the President allows the order, I will vote for it.

Coun. KELLY—Mr. President, I would move that for the words "Ought not to pass" the words "Ought to pass" be substituted, if in order.

President McGRATH—The motion is not in order. The question will be put on the acceptance of the report of the committee and the rejection of the order. A vote to reject the order will be "yes" and a vote in favor of the order will be "no."

Coun. POWER—Mr. President, I would like to ask the councilor from Ward 15 (Coun. Kelly) one question. Is there anything in your order, councilor, that is not in the other order, the one previously passed?

Coun. KELLY—Yes, there are a lot of words in my order that are not in the other order.

Coun. POWER—I would like to know what.

Coun. KELLY—Well, I would inform the councilor that in the first order to which he is referring no mention is made of this particular concern, the W. G. C. Company, the Ward Company, whereas in my order I am specific and right to the point, and do mention this chief offender, the W. G. C. Company.

Coun. GREEN—Mr. President, I would like to ask the gentleman who has just taken his seat a question,—whether he has any objection to investigating these other contractors?

Coun. KELLY—Mr. President, when I spoke on the other order, I specifically stated that I had no objection, in view of the information furnished by some of the councilors regarding other contractors not complying with their contracts regarding payment of wages, to their being investigated, and I accordingly voted so.

Coun. BURKE—Mr. President, will you as President of the body tell the Council whether or not the order already passed embodies the contemplated order now being advocated by the councilor from Ward 15 (Coun. Kelly)?

President McGRATH—If the councilor makes that as a point of order, the President's ruling would be that this order is embodied in the other order. If the gentleman does not make it a point of order, this being one specific concern, we would be voting with regard to a specific concern.

Coun. BURKE—It is true, then, Mr. President, that the order already passed embodies this order?

President McGRATH—That is true.

Coun. BURKE—Then, Mr. President, I suggest that you rule that the order now before the Council be ruled out of order, because it is an order that has already been passed, and is not necessary.

President McGRATH—The Chair has informed the councilor under what circumstances he will rule.

Coun. KELLY—Mr. President, in regard to this particular order, I feel that, due to the fact that a report has been made by the Executive Committee "Ought not to pass," this order cannot under any consideration be ruled out of order, because it represents the vote of the Executive Committee of this Council. Therefore, the matter comes to the floor to determine whether or not the vote of the Executive Committee shall be substantiated.

Coun. COX—Mr. President, I rise to a point of order. In view of the fact that this order of Councilor Kelly's is already embodied in an order of Councilor Murray's, that we have already passed, I move that this order be ruled out of order.

President McGRATH—The Chair will say that the point of order is well taken, and that the Chair rules that the order is out of order.

Coun. KELLY—Mr. President, I am forced, much as I dislike to do so, to appeal from the decision of the Chair and to ask for a roll call.

President McGRATH—Councilor KELLY moves that the ruling of the Chair be not sustained. Is it seconded?

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, I second the motion.

President McGRATH—The question is, Shall the ruling of the Chair stand as the decision of the body?

Coun. GREEN—Mr. President, if we vote "yes" we are voting to sustain the Chair?

President McGRATH—Yes.

The Council voted by roll call that the decision of the Chair should stand as the decision of the body, yeas 13, nays 3.

Yeas—Coun. Barker, Burke, Cox, Donovan, Dowd, Englert, Green, Hein, Lynch, McGrath, Murray, Power, Ruby—13.

Nays—Coun. Fish, Kelly, Norton—3.

REPORTED DEATH OF WALTER LIBBY.

Coun. DOWD offered the following:

Ordered, That the Trustees of the Boston City Hospital be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to investigate and report to the City Council with reference to the telegram sent to relatives of Walter Libby, falsely informing them of his death.

Coun. DOWD—Mr. President, I have here a telegram signed by John J. Dowling, Superintendent of the Boston City Hospital, addressed to Mary Libby, 52 Elmwood street, Roxbury, Mass., as follows: "Walter Libby is dead at Boston City Hospital." As a result of receiving this telegram, Mrs. Libby, the wife of Walter Libby, engaged an undertaker, and, lo and behold, when investigation was made, when they went there to get the body of Mr. Libby, he was found to be better than he ever was. I cannot understand how a colossal error of that type could be made at the Boston City Hospital. It certainly shows that somebody was lax and inefficient, and I would like to get a detailed report showing who is responsible for sending such a telegram to a man's wife stating that he is dead.

Coun. RUBY—Mr. President, might I suggest, if there is no objection on the councilor's part, that that matter be referred to the Executive Committee, so that we can get the desired information next week?

President McGRATH—Does Councilor Dowd have any objection?

Coun. DOWD—No objection whatsoever, Mr. President.

The order was referred to the Executive Committee.

NAMES OF MEN ON SNOW WORK.

Coun. BARKER offered the following:

Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested, through his honor the Mayor, to instruct all contractors on snow removal work for the City of Boston during the present storm, to submit the names and addresses of all men hired by them, same to be forwarded to the City Council for their information.

Coun. BARKER—Mr. President, I am filing this order so that we may know just how many men were put at work on removal of snow.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

CLOSING OF BOSTON NAVY YARD.

Coun. BARKER and GREEN offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston hereby goes on record as opposed to the closing of the Boston Navy Yard under the proposed 5 per cent economy plan, and that both members of the House and Senate from Massachusetts be so notified.

Coun. BARKER—Mr. President, that order is a joint order of Councilor Green and myself. I drew it up hurriedly upon seeing a little article that appeared in the Boston papers. I will just read a bit of it. (Quoting from today's Transcript):

"Massachusetts and New England members of Congress today began to prepare for a new fight to save the Boston and Portsmouth Navy Yards. The threat to these two important shore stations of the Navy comes from the Bratton amendment to reduce all expenditures of the Federal Government 5 per cent below the appropriations granted. With respect to the Navy, this means in all probability the closing down of shore stations or the curtailing of activities therein. The Boston and Portsmouth yards, it is believed, are two that will be earmarked to feel the axe of economy if another $15,000,000 is lopped off the Navy appropriations."

The resolution was passed under suspension of the rule.

REINSTATEMENT OF CARMINE SACCARDO.

Coun. BARKER offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston hereby favors the enactment of legislation authorizing the reinstatement of Carmine Saccardo as an employee of the Public Works Department of said city.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

Adjourned, at 5.51 p. m., on motion of Coun. NORTON, to meet on Monday, February 20, 1933, at 2 p. m.

Item 11, 1931—Christopher Gibson District, Dorchester: Construction of thirty-six classroom high school for girls....$40,212.77
Passed by the following vote:
YEAS—Messrs. Hurley, Mackey, Mrs. Pigeon, and Mr. Tobin—4.
NAYS—0.
ABSENT—Mr. Reilly—1.

Mr. Hurley: The Chair, with the consent of the members present, wishes to state that the Committee is making this additional appropriation this evening with extreme reluctance and after a very thorough and minute study of the situation with the Department of School Buildings.

The school building has advanced to such a stage that it would be folly to think of doing anything except complete construction. As I have said, the Committee is reluctantly appropriating this money at the request of the Commissioners of School Buildings and upon their assertion that unless this appropriation is made the building cannot be completed, and with the assurance of the commissioners that, in their opinion, there will be no further request for additional appropriation for the construction of this high school.

NAMING OF SCHOOL FOR CALVIN COOLIDGE

Mrs. Pigeon: I would like to recommend to the Committee on Naming of School Buildings for consideration that the next new school building that the committee deems appropriate, be given the name of Calvin Coolidge, late Governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and President of the United States.

In private and public life, Mr. Coolidge stood for honesty and sincerity and integrity. His public addresses called for obedience to the law, religious tolerance and better local government, and a more spiritual element in politics. The policy of economy in national government was outstanding in his administration.

It seems to me very fitting that his name be on one of our school buildings and I so recommend to our Committee on Naming of School Buildings.

The Committee adjourned.

Attest:

Secretary.

CATCH-BASIN CLEANING.

The cleaning of catch-basins in Toronto, Ont., is started immediately after the spring clean-up of the streets, and is usually sufficient until the fall, when the basins are given a thorough cleaning for the winter, in order to reduce to a minimum the blocking of drains during this season. Many basins throughout the business sections and those in subways and at the bottom of grades are given constant attention, owing to the exceptional amount of refuse washed to the culvert and drains by street flushing and rainstorms.

The total cost of catch-basin cleaning in 1931 was $17,580.70. A total of 11,561 cubic yards of material was removed from 54,306 catch-basins. The cost of cleaning the basins and removing the accumulated material was $1.52 per cubic yard, or 32 cents per basin per cleaning season, according to George W. Dies, Street Commissioner, Toronto, Ont.

BOSTON JOINS IN PAYING DEEP TRIBUTE TO VALOR OF NOTED CAPTAIN GILES CHESTER STEDMAN, WHOSE HEROIC DEED OF RESCUE AT SEA THRILLED THE WORLD. MAYOR CURLEY DELIVERS ADDRESS DURING RECEPTION AND LUNCHEON AT CHAMBER OF COMMERCE. LAUDS DEEDS OF HEROISM THAT HAVE MADE HISTORY FOR AMERICAN SAILORMEN.

Mayor Curley, speaking over WNAC at the reception and luncheon given Capt. Giles Chester Stedman, at the Chamber of Commerce Dining Room, Boston, on February 27, said in part, as follows:

Mr. Toastmaster, Honored Guests, Ladies and Gentlemen.

It is an exceeding pleasure to take a few minutes from an otherwise fairly busy day to come here and join with the members of the Boston Chamber of Commerce in paying tribute to one, who, prior to the beginning of the present year, was a simple, hardworking man in the service of the American Merchant Marine.

I had the very great pleasure of journeying from Europe on the "Leviathan" while the honored guest of the day was an officer on that ship in May, 1931. I found him modest and retiring, and affable and courteous, all that one would look for, and yet what one seldom receives from public servants. I never anticipated that this quiet, modest, retiring individual would, when the opportunity presented itself, measure up to the highest ideals of courage, and character, and manhood in an hour of trial on the sea. I rejoice as an American interested in the history, the romantic history, if you will, that has been written by the men who follow the sea from our own New England section of America, and no individual in the long history of notable contributions has made one that excels the one made by Captain Stedman.

He was not sailing on the "Leviathan" when called upon to render this distinguished service. He was sailing on just an ordinary merchant ship, and by a singular freak of circumstance, if you will, it was known as the "American Merchant." Fortunately, the "American Merchant" that rode the seas was in a better way to stand a storm than the American merchant today is on land. When the opportunity came he had a realization of the danger confronting him, the possibility of the loss of his own men, the possibility of sacrificing not only of his own life but the life of every man on board in attempting a rescue during a storm, but he measured up as American sailors invariably have measured up when the crisis came and added just one more thrilling incident to the long rule of service contributed to the history of our country by the men of New England.

I rejoice at his courage; I rejoice as a New Englander that he is a product of Massachusetts in common with every individual; I rejoice in his contribution to the American Merchant Shipping industry, for, after all, the movement that had its origin in the Jones-White bill for the revival and restoration of American commerce required something more than the mere building of ships in order to influence passengers and shippers to move their cargo; there must in addition be, on the part of the prospective tourist, a knowledge that they might anticipate and enjoy courtesy, fair treatment, and that the men in charge of American ships could be relied upon in an emergency to measure up to the best traditions of our country.

I think one of the most interesting passages written of the seas in the last twenty-five years was the contribution made by Mrs. Albert Hubbard on the sinking of the "Titanic," wherein reference is made to the debonair and rather dilettante — so far as his personal appearance and mannerisms were concerned — Archie Butts, who, when the time came for the "Titanic" to go down, it was Archie Butts who stood in line and held back those who were stampeded until the women and children on board were taken care of, and when the time came for the ship to take its final plunge it was Butts who asked for a match and stood at the rail as the ship sank. And the action of John Jacob Astor, who placed his wife in the boat and when she insisted that he get in the boat with her, took off his coat and placed it over the shoulders of some poor mother from the steerage, then stepped back and went down with the "Titanic."

Examples of heroism such as was furnished by Butts and by Astor and such as was exemplified in the case of Captain Stedman will do more to establish confidence on the part of the traveling public and the character, caliber and capability of Americans in charge of merchant ships than it is possible to establish in any other way, and with America possibly on the eve of a great movement in the revival of American shipping, as a citizen of Boston, as Mayor of the city, it is an exceeding pleasure to express my appreciation for this most notable contribution to a truly great and modest American, Captain Stedman.

"O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen,
From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean,
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"
From Boston Centennial Poem by
NATHAN HASKELL DOLE.

CRUISER "PORTLAND" DEDICATED TO NATIONAL SERVICE WITH NOTABLE CEREMONY AT NAVY YARD—MAYOR CURLEY MAKES ACCEPTANCE ADDRESS CALLING ATTENTION OF AUDIENCE TO DUTY OF PRESERVING INSTITUTIONS THAT HAVE MADE NATION GREAT AND PRESERVED HUMAN LIBERTY AND EQUALITY TO POSTERITY.

Mayor James M. Curley, speaking at the dedication of the United States cruiser "Portland," at the Charlestown Navy Yard, on February 23, said, in part, as follows:

I trust that the sunlight which appeared through the clouds when the flag was raised may serve as a promise of peaceful voyages to the cruiser "Portland," which this day becomes an important adjunct to national defence. Let us trust that the message of promise which was heaven sent may equally apply in the life of the nation and its people.

This splendid addition to American national defence is not only a necessary contribution to the defence of America on sea, but a tribute, in its construction, to the character and quality of the workmen that may be found in this section of our country. We have an appreciation of the importance of this contribution for national defence on sea when we realize that in conformity with what we deem economy we have failed to keep pace with the other nations with whom America is in agreement upon the question of parity in the matter of national naval defence.

We have an appreciation that the 5—5—3 treaty, in so far as naval defence is concerned, and in so far as America and its welfare is concerned, has been greatly disregarded, and that we have not suffered because of this fact is due wholly to peace in the world. Because of the unrest throughout the entire world, including economic warfare in our own country, we today find a single nation flaunting the League of Nations, saying defiantly, if you will, to all the nations in the world, "we will do what we see fit regardless of the wishes of all the nations of the world combined."

The action of a single nation acting as an outlaw not only constitutes a menace to the peace of the world but impresses us as to the vital needs of preparedness and adequate national defence.

I rejoice that the ship which we are dedicating is named after a New England city, the city of Portland, Maine, and I am pleased it is being inducted into the service of the United States Navy in the oldest naval yard in the entire country.

I sincerely trust that its guns may never be trained upon an enemy, but in the event they are the men manning those guns will render service in keeping with the best traditions of the American Navy.

This cruiser, accepted today in the service of the United States Navy, is dedicated to the preservation of institutions embracing the progress of humanity toward the goal of liberty and equality in a period of nineteen centuries. The flag which is flown over this ship has ever been a harbinger of peace and hope to the people of the world. God grant that it shall continue to serve this most ennobling of ideals.

TO REMOVE ICE AND SNOW EASILY.

In certain special emergency cases, as in traffic areas, it may be desirable to entirely remove thick, heavy accumulations of ice and hardened snow which, because they usually become badly rutted, are a cause of dangerous traffic conditions. In such cases the application of flake calcium chloride by means of a mechanical spreader at the rate of three quarters to one pound per square yard will soon loosen the entire ice coating, permitting its removal from the pavement by hand or mechanical means.

For this purpose, a solution containing from 25 to 30 per cent of calcium chloride, which figures 2.85 to 3.75 pounds per gallon of solution, may be employed. Such solutions, especially if made up with warm water and applied by a street flusher equipped with nozzles which throw a finely divided high-pressure spray, have proved highly efficient for this purpose. As soon as the ice has become loosened from the pavement surface, it should be removed and an extremely light treatment of coarse sand applied to the surface.

ELOQUENT TRIBUTE IS PAID TO NATION'S GREATEST HEROES AT WASHINGTON-LINCOLN CELEBRATION IN FANEUIL HALL. REV. M. J. AHERN, S. J., DELIVERS PRINCIPAL ADDRESS.

The following is a synopsis of the address of the Rev. M. J. Ahern, S. J., at the Washington-Lincoln celebration in Faneuil Hall, February 22, 1933.

Although Washington came of an aristocratic stock, no one was more of a man of the people than was he. When the time came for him to risk all by throwing in his lot with the colonists, he did not hesitate for a moment; but laid his fine talents and his experience as a soldier and an engineer at the feet of Liberty. It was not by chance that he was chosen the Commander-in-Chief of the forces of the Revolutionary Army. He was chosen because he was the outstanding military authority of the colonies; the event showed that he was one of the greatest soldiers of all time.

I have two vivid pictures of the life of Washington. If you visit the historic shrine of Valley Forge, not far from the city of Philadelphia, you will find an impressive church dedicated to the honor and glory of God. This superb edifice brings to mind that on this same ground the ragged Washington spent hours on his knees beseeching the God of armies to extend the benign influence of His Providence to the ragged army of the Revolution. Years later Washington was to insist in imperishable words that religion and morality were indispensable bulwarks of the nation. Herein he spoke not from an empty philosophical hypothesis, uttered to conciliate any religious faction among his countrymen, but from the depths of his own experience; an experience not of a few weeks of crisis, but of his whole life.

The other picture is of the Washington who had been honored, against his will, with the first presidency of the infant Republic. I do not picture him in the triumphs of that office, glorious though these triumphs were. Triumphs are never the measure of the greatness of a man. Triumphs need not be borne with courage, for they bear one along with them as on a chariot of flame. I picture the Washington suffering misunderstandings and calumnies and class enmity; I picture him in his courage of soul bearing the sneers of little minds; I see him wrent with grief, but with undaunted fortitude, fighting for the essential character of the republic whose liberty he had done more than any other to win. Like every man of greatness he had to suffer in order to achieve; the gold of his great character had to be tried in the fire of tribulation that it might be purified to endure, un tarnished, forever.

And just as Washington had to suffer for the foundation of the Union, so Lincoln had to suffer for its preservation. Born in poverty, even in squalor, his father reproaching himself for having brought such a weakling into such a wretched environment, Lincoln by sheer force of genius raised himself to the sublime height of the Saviour of the American Union. The steps by which he accomplished this are part of the epic of American history. We are breathless in awe, this day, at the achievements of these two great Americans, not merely because of the magnitude of these achievements; but at the inspiring thought that they who achieved so greatly are of the same weak human nature as ourselves. Hence our celebration is not merely an empty commemoration of an historic event long since passed and gone; it is rather the tasting once more of the inspiration of these two great lives; it is a provocation to us to bear nobly and unceasingly the trials and troubles of, perhaps, outrageous fortune.

Archbishop John Carroll, the first Roman Catholic Bishop to rule the Church in the United States, was an intimate friend of Washington. On the 22d of February after the death of Washington he preached a sermon in eulogy of the Father of his Country. His words are not only descriptive of Washington, but they are, prophetically so, of Lincoln, too. Towards the end of his discourse he said—(the words almost automatically apply themselves to both the Father and to the Saviour of his Country):

"After endeavoring thus far to satisfy our common duty to our illustrious Deliverer, before I conclude, I am earnest, my fellow citizens, to leave impressed on you, in strong characters, some principal features of his mind, and furnish you with short memorials of his most remarkable actions, hoping thereby to perpetuate your gratitude, and incite you to emulate his virtues. Happily, to supply my inability, I find this talk executed, as it would seem by the spirit of prophecy, and in the language of inspiration, in the 8th chapter of the book of Wisdom; where the author's expressions need no comment to appropriate them to Washington. So striking the resemblance! so true is the picture! Here are the words of the inspired writer: 'I have purposed, says he, to take wisdom with me to live with me, knowing that she will communicate with me of her good things, and will be a comfort in my care—for her sake I shall have glory among the multitude, and honour with the ancient, although I am young; and—I shall be admired in the sight of the mighty, and the faces of princes shall wonder at me.—By the means of her, I shall have immortality, and shall leave behind me an everlasting memory to them, that come after me. I shall set the people in order, and nations shall be subject to me. Terrible kings hearing shall be afraid of me; among the multitude I shall be found good and valiant in war. When I go into my house, I shall repose myself with her; for her conversation hath no bitterness, nor her company any tediousness, but joy and gladness. Thinking these things with myself, and pondering them in my heart, that to be allied to wisdom, is immortality. I went about seeking, that I might take her to myself.'

"In this picture, every stroke of the pencil exhibits traits of Washington. The early maturity of his judgment was the fruit of his youthful conferences with wisdom. She initiated him into her counsels, and procured for him love, respect, honour, confidence, authority and command. She enabled him to set the people in order by good government, and an impartial, disinterested administration of it; and when, all public duties fulfilled, he went to his house to repose himself, no tediousness or bitterness mingled themselves in their conversation, but joy and gladness, serenity of mind, and the pleasing prospect of conscious integrity.

"Providence having preserved and lengthened his days, that he might rear up his country in the infancy of her independence, suffered him now to withdraw himself from the disquietudes of government. He had infused the spirit of his administration into all its departments. His excellent Successor inherited, not only the mantle of his office, but his wisdom, firmness, and love of peace, subordinate only to a determination of never purchasing it, at the price of national dishonour.

"Washington beheld from his retirement, as the Jewish legislator from the summit of Mount Phasga, the flourishing prosperity of his country. Health sweetened his repose and rural occupations; his body and mind retained their usual vigour. We flattered ourselves with the expectation of his continuing long to retain them: Joy beamed in our hearts, when on every annual revolution, we gratefully hailed this, his auspicious birthday. But, alas! how dark is the cloud, that now overshadows it? The songs of festivity converted into the throbs of mourning! The prayers of thanksgiving for his health and life changed into lamentations for his death!

Who feels not for him, as for his dearest friend, his protector, and his Father? Whilst he lived, we seemed to stand on loftier ground, for breathing the same air, inhabiting the same country, and enjoying the same constitution and laws, as the sublime and magnanimous Washington. He was invested with a glory, that shed a lustre on all around him. For his country's safety, he often had braved death, when clad in her most terrific form: he had familiarized himself with her aspect; at her approaching to cut the thread of his life, he beheld her with constancy and serenity; and with his last breath, as we may believe from knowing the ruling passion of his soul, he called to heaven to save his country, and recommended it to the continual protection of that Providence, which he so reverently adored. May his prayer have been heard! May these United States flourish in pure and undefiled religion, in morality, peace, union, liberty and the enjoyment of their excellent Constitution, as long as respect, honour, and veneration shall gather round the name of Washington; that is, whilst there shall be any surviving record of human events."

FALSE ECONOMIC PROPOSALS.

Danger to both the immediate and the long-run efficiency of fire departments and to the security of the community itself lies in many if not most of the proposals of taxpayers' representatives attacking the budgetary provisions for municipal fire protection. The gravity of this menace was emphasized by Jay W. Stevens, California State Fire Marshal and Executive Secretary of the International Association of Fire Chiefs, in an address on "Maintaining Fire Department Efficiency," given before the recent convention of that organization.

CHICAGO POLICE.

Although the numerical strength of the Chicago police department has been reduced in the last two years from approximately 6,700 to 6,000, the number of men on foot patrol has been increased 150 per cent, or about 1,900.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

Upon February 27 the Mayor approved contracts with lowest bidders for furnishing meats to the various city departments during March, 1933, with the exception of the items of the J. V. Fletcher Company and Goodenough & Russell. As the United States inspector had occasion to reject meats delivered by the J. V. Fletcher Company and Goodenough & Russell during February, permission has been given to award the items that these companies are low on to the next lowest bidders, as indicated. As the totals of the items to be awarded to Fred W. Baldu Company, Adolf Gobel, Incorporated, John P. Squire Company and the New England Dressed Meat and Wool Company do not amount to $1,000 permission has been given to award orders to these concerns for the items indicated, without entering into formal written contracts. In the cases of Craig, Hapgood Company, Incorporated, Armour & Co., Wald, Baram Company, Swift & Co., the Cudahy Packing Company and Wattendorf & Co., Incorporated, where the total amounts are over $1,000, these items will be covered by written contracts. WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

Upon varying dates, as indicated, the Mayor approved contracts with firms for supplies, etc. Communications from the officials of the departments were as follows:

OVERSEERS OF PUBLIC WELFARE.

Boston, February 16, 1933.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—Your approval is respectfully requested for the award of a contract, without advertising, to the Addressograph Sales Agency, 26 High street, Boston, for the purchase of one (1) Model 3700 Addressograph complete at a cost of forty-six hundred and fifty-five dollars ($4,655). This cost includes the installing and setting up of the machine in our building at 43 Hawkins street. The machine is a product that is manufactured solely by the Addressograph Company and is sold in Boston solely through the Addressograph Sales Agency. The machine is manufactured under full and complete patent rights exclusively held by the Addressograph Company. There is no other machine of any sort or description which can be used in conjunction with our present Addressograph plates to do the work that we desire to accomplish, and since we now have a substantial investment in Addressograph plates produced by a smaller machine nothing would be gained by the city in advertising for bids

Respectfully yours,

WALTER V. MCCARTHY,
Secretary.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

Boston, February 17, 1933.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—Bids were publicly opened on February 3, 1933, for furnishing gauze, Bellevue Rolls, etc., to the various city departments.

On February 16, 1933, permission was received to award these items. Since that time, I find that the Cellu-Cotton to be furnished by J. G. Bowden & Son, Incorporated, is not exactly the grade desired by the City Hospital. Therefore, I respectfully recommend that the Cellu-Cotton be transferred to the Lewis Manufacturing Company, the second lowest bidder, at a price of 9.46 cents per pound.

As the items awarded to J. G. Bowden & Son, Incorporated, exclusive of the Cellu-Cotton, do not amount to $1,000, I respectfully ask permission to send orders to this concern for these items, without entering into a formal written contract.

Respectfully yours,

PHILIP A. CHAPMAN,
Superintendent of Supplies.

TRAFFIC COMMISSION.

Boston, February 11, 1933.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—This commission voted on January 11, 1933, subject to your approval, to award a contract, without advertising, to the U-Dryvit Auto Rental Company, for the rental of automobiles for use in this department during 1933, at a cost of 9 cents per mile for small cars (Fords and Chevrolets, etc.) and 12 cents per mile for large cars (Buick, etc.).

Since the U-Dryvit Auto Rental Company is the only company having facilities available for this purpose, no benefit would accrue from publicly advertising.

Very truly yours,

JOSEPH A. CONRY,
Commissioner.

duction, $7,756.55. Original contract, $91,400; total contract, $99,156.55.

The above includes all labor and materials of every kind and description for the work required by the changes noted on drawings 17A and revised 18, dated December 7, 1932, as approved by the Building Department, and the specification, Section 22, "Waterproofing," dated December 12, 1932, as prepared by Krokyn, Browne and Rosenstein, with the wall waterproofing total thickness changed to a minimum of $\frac{3}{8}$ inch. No request was made by the contractor for additional time. This addition is necessary because of soil conditions which were found on this site as soon as work was begun and the foregoing work is necessary for the proper erection of the building and is recommended by the architects. Although the above is in addition to the work contemplated in the original contract it is incidental thereto.

HOSPITAL DEPARTMENT (Sanatorium Division).

Thibeau & Comeau, contractors for erection and completion of physicians' residence (duplex), Mattapan, have been instructed to deduct from the contract the sum of $240: For difference between allowance of $375 for finish hardware and $270, amount of contract, deduct $105; difference between allowance of $400 for lighting fixtures and $265, amount of contract, deduct $135—$240. PHILADELPHIA'S GROWTH.

The principal American cities are sharing Philadelphia's experience of growing faster outside than inside the official city limits. That portion of the 1930 tentative Philadelphia metropolitan area which lies outside the city limits increased 42.1 per cent in population in the last ten years. Meanwhile, Philadelphia itself grew in population 7 per cent. The increase for the entire metropolitan area, which is considerably smaller than the Philadelphia Tri-State District, was 16 per cent. The Philadelphia metropolitan area submitted for approval of the Census Bureau is regarded as of 1,141 square miles, of which the city itself comprises 128 square miles.

Typical of the growth that has been taking place just outside the city limits, Upper Darby Township, at the western gateway to Philadelphia, grew at the phenomenal rate of 421 per cent in the last decade.

In 1910, Delaware County, west of Philadelphia, and Camden County, southeast of Philadelphia, had average population densities per square mile of between 450 and 650. In 1930 the comparable average densities in these counties were between 1,100 and 1,700.

LEGAL HOLIDAYS.

As provided by the Revised Laws of Massachusetts, also by chapter 473, Acts of 1910, and chapter 104, General Acts of 1916 (ratified by the electorate on November 7, 1916), legal holidays on which the public offices shall be closed, include January 1, February 22, April 19, May 30, July 4, September (first Monday), October 12, Armistice Day (November 11), Thanksgiving Day (the last Thursday in November) and Christmas Day (December 25).

THE CINCINNATI RETIREMENT SYSTEM.

Cincinnati, after several years of careful study, has adopted a retirement system providing retirement allowances and death benefits for all municipal employees, excepting elected officials, members of independent boards and commissions, the employees of the University of Cincinnati, the employees of the municipal court and department heads. The city council, especially the finance committee, carefully studied systems in other cities before finally establishing the Cincinnati system.

Membership was optional to all general employees employed on August 1, 1931. Those of this group who joined the system at any time up to December 3 were given credit for prior service. The city will contribute an amount equal to the accrued liability resulting from such service. The personnel of the police and fire forces employed at the time the new system was established will continue under their separate pension plans. However, after January 1, 1932, all new entrants to the city service, including the uniformed services, will be required to subscribe to the new system.

UNITED STATES TO HAVE TENTH MUNICIPAL UNIVERSITY.

The tenth municipal university in the United States is being planned by Omaha, Neb., whose citizens have approved plans for the establishment of a four-year university, to be supported by a mill tax. The following are the nine municipal universities or colleges known to exist at the present time in the United States, in order of their establishment on the municipal basis: College of Charleston (South Carolina), 1837; University of Louisville (Kentucky), 1837; College of the City of New York, 1847; Hunter College of the City of New York, 1870; University of the City of Cincinnati (Ohio), 1871; University of Toledo (Ohio), 1884; University of Akron (Ohio), 1913; University of the City of Detroit (Michigan), 1923; Municipal University of Wichita (Kansas), 1926.

CHICAGO POLICE REORGANIZED.

Many improvements have recently taken place in the organization and administration of the Police Department of Chicago, Ill.

Although the numerical strength of the force has been reduced in the last two years approximately from 6,700 to 6,000, the number of men on foot patrol has been increased 150 per cent, being now about 1,900. The efficiency of the department has been further increased by adding to the number of patrol cars and by placing in operation an extensive police radio system. There are now some 100 small patrol cars and fifty large high-powered ones equipped with radio. Furthermore, 20 per cent of the present force constitutes new blood in the department. The average age has been lowered, and a greater proportion of young men will be encouraged by the reduction of the admission age to a range of twenty-one to twenty-nine years, from the former limits of twenty-three to thirty-five, approximately. Civil service methods in disciplining new policemen are better, and a more thorough check-up on the character of those examined is made.

STATE-WIDE CAMPAIGN AGAINST DIPHTHERIA BRINGS NOTABLE RESULTS.

A decrease in cases and deaths has been very marked during the five-year campaign in New York State for the extirpation of diphtheria. The campaign was the joint effort of the State Departments of Health and Education, the State Medical Society, the Welfare Division of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, and the State Committee on Tuberculosis and Public Health of the State Charities Aid Association, all banded together. They were aided by the parent-teacher associations, women's clubs, civic clubs and other social and welfare organizations.

Although the goal was not completely reached, the results are very encouraging and prove beyond a doubt that diphtheria can be controlled.

It has been estimated that at least 35 per cent of the children under five years old must be protected against diphtheria before a community is safe from an epidemic of the disease. No city over 100,000 has yet reached that percentage, although Utica with 30 per cent approaches that figure. While it is more difficult for a big city to attain a large percentage of immunizations, with a proper organization and sufficient determination this can be done.

Cities that have attained the 35 per cent standard are:

50,000 to 100,000 population: Bing-hampton and Niagara Falls, 38; New Rochelle, 35.

25,000 to 50,000: White Plains, 49; Kingston, 36; Poughkeepsie and Auburn, 35.

10,000 to 25,000: Middletown, 73; Ogdensburg, 65; Hornell and Port Jervis, 56; Endicott, 54; Johnson City, 53; Geneva, 49; Rockville Center, 45; Massena, 44; Ossining, 41; Mamaroneck, 40; Gloversville, 39; Glen Cove, 38; Peekskill, 37.

COAL RESERVES OF THE WORLD.

Five-sevenths of the estimated coal reserves of the world are in North America, followed by those of Asia, which comprises the largest anthracite areas, chiefly in China. About 53 per cent of these reserves consist of bituminous coal, 41 per cent of sub-bituminous, and 6 per cent of anthracite. More than half of the world's reserves of bituminous coal are in the United States. Through the scientific research of fuel engineers and chemists the uses of coal have increased rapidly and grades which were formerly considered of little value are now having wide usage.—The Coal Industry of the World (Trade Promotion Series No. 106).

BOSTON INCORPORATED AS A CITY, 1822.

The act of incorporation was passed by the Legislature on February 23, 1822. On March 4 following, the voters of Boston accepted said act, chapter 110, 1821-22, as its first city charter by a majority of 916 in a total vote of 4,678. The vote was 2,797 yeas, 1,881 nays. Previous attempts to incorporate as a city had been made in 1650, 1659, 1667, 1708, 1744, 1762, 1784, 1791, 1804 and 1815. The charter was revised in 1854, 1885 and 1909. Amendments to the 1909 charter were enacted in 1910, 1912, 1914, 1918, 1919, 1921, 1922 and lastly in 1924 (see "Municipal Register" for 1928, pages 19-43).

HIGHWAY WORK TO RELIEVE UNEMPLOYMENT.

Highway officials throughout the United States are earnestly besought to put as many men to work as possible. The total disbursements for all road purposes in this country during the ten-year period 1922-1931 are computed by the United States Bureau of Public Roads to be about $14,000,000,000, more than half of this by and for the State Highway Departments. The Bureau last May came to the conclusion that the man-month expenditure was then about $300 with a downward trend and that for every man employed directly on the job, two others are employed indirectly in the preparation of materials, manufacture of machinery, transportation, etc. Thus the total of $4,637,000,000 expended for the construction of state and Federal roads during the ten-year period referred to means 13,248,571 man-months—the equivalent of the steady employment of approximately 110,000 men for the ten years, with 220,000 others employed indirectly. Similarly, the money spent on construction of local roads must have given direct employment to 51,000, with 102,000 others indirectly employed. This would make a grand total, continuously employed in road building, of 483,000 men.

General Order No. 9.

I. ANNUAL BALL.

The fifty-fourth annual ball of the Boston Fire and Protective Departments will be held on Monday evening, February 27, at the Boston Garden. It is hoped that this ball will be the most successful, both financially and socially, in the history of the department. This can be best accomplished by every member of the department doing his part in aiding the ball committee which has been untiring in its efforts. The ball last year was a wonderful success financially and in attendance because of the cooperation shown by every member.

The commissioner has taken a very personal interest in the ball again this year and looks forward to the same cooperation which was received last year. He has arranged a special concert to be given by the Boston Fire Department Band from 8 to 9 o'clock. Special numbers have been prepared and the instructors of the band have been untiring in their efforts in preparation of this occasion. It is the commissioner's earnest desire and wish that the members of the Boston Fire Department and their families appear at the ball that evening and enjoy the program which has been prepared.

One of the important features and attractions of the ball is the grand march. The commissioner is most anxious that this march be a representative one and that all members of the department who are off duty will participate. He expects that every officer who is off duty, deputy chiefs, district chiefs, captains, lieutenants, as well as the privates, will appear in uniform and take part in the march. It should be remembered by every member of the department that the annual ball is conducted for the benefit of the Boston Firemen's Relief Fund of which each man and his family is a beneficiary. It is a duty and obligation of each member of the department to do his part to make the ball a success. The Fire Commissioner looks forward to seeing the largest representation of officers and men in uniform in the grand march than ever before.

The floor marshal is Lieut. Michael J. Gleason of the Protective Department. The chief of aides is Capt. John H. Leary of Ladder Company 12. Members of the department detailed to the ball will report to the chief of aides, Boston Garden, at 7 p. m., Monday, February 27, 1933, unless otherwise ordered.

Members detailed will attend strictly to the duties assigned to them.

Trustees, aides and members detailed to the ball will be granted detailed leave from 4 p. m., February 27, to 8 a. m., February 28, 1933.

Members of the band who are on day tour of duty will be relieved at 4 p. m. Members of the band who are on the night tour of duty will be excused from roll call and will report back to company quarters at 2 a. m., February 28. Members of the band who are on the twenty-four-hour tour of duty will be excused from 4 p. m., February 27, to 2 a. m., February 28. Members of the band will enter the Garden from Nashua street, directly opposite the Post Office. A special enclosure is reserved in the Garden for the checking of clothes and instruments. No one but members of the band will be allowed in this enclosed reservation. Ladies and others will not be allowed in this section.

For officers regulation uniform, sack coat and white gloves will be worn. For privates regulation uniform, sack coats, black shirt and tie and white gloves will be worn on this occasion. This applies to all privates in uniform whether acting as aides or not.

By order of Fire Commissioner EDWARD F. McLAUGHLIN.

The Trial Board having heard and carefully considered all the evidence presented finds the said Patrolman John C. General Order No. 167.

(Paragraph 1.)

Patrolman Walter J. Donovan, formerly of Division 5 (now of Division 4), is commended in General Orders and given three days' additional vacation for meritorious police duty performed on December 14, 1932, in effecting the arrest of a colored man whom he caught in the act of breaking and entering a chain store and who admitted several other breaks on the division.

The commissioner is pleased to recognize the vigilance and attention to duty shown by Patrolman Donovan in apprehending this criminal.

(Paragraph 2.)

Patrolmen Peter F. Coleman and William H. Owen, both of Division 2, are hereby commended in General Orders and each given two days' additional vacation for their alertness in noting the significant details and suspicious circumstances relating to an automobile which they observed in Scollay square on February 20.

Upon questioning the two occupants and obtaining conflicting statements, the men were arrested. Fingerprints disclosed that one of the men was wanted for escaping from the Norwood police while under arrest for breaking and entering and both men were wanted for violation of parole from Concord. As a result of these arrests two more men were taken into custody and a quantity of stolen cigarettes were later recovered. Their confessions, implicating all four men, included several breaks in the suburbs of Boston. One of the men was turned over to the Brockton Police Department, and the other three to the State Police who held warrants for them.

The commissioner is pleased to recognize and commend the alert and intelligent manner in which these officers performed this efficient police duty.

(Paragraph 3.)

Patrolman Cornelius J. McNeil and James W. Riley, both of Division 19, are hereby commended in General Orders for the interest shown in the work of the department.

Patrolmen McNeil and Riley, while returning from the Police School on February 23, observed a young man acting in a suspicious manner at the corner of Farragut road and East Broadway. The young man immediately jumped into a car with R. I. registration plates which was being operated by another man. The officers believing that it was a stolen car gave chase, and while in pursuit the first car collided with a police signal box and a trolley pole. Both occupants jumped out and ran and were pursued by the officers. Patrolman McNeil discharged his revolver twice in the air to effect the arrest of one of the youths who was taken to Division 12, and the other young man escaped.

The commissioner is pleased to recognize and commend the keen observation and interest shown by these officers in the work of the department while off duty.

(Paragraph 4.)

Patrolman Herbert J. Patterson of Division 7 is hereby commended in General Orders for his courageous and prompt action in disarming and subduing a prisoner who had suddenly become violent while awaiting arraignment in the East Boston Court on February 18, and who was later committed to the Psychopathic Hospital.

The commissioner is pleased to recognize the prompt response and discretion shown by Patrolman Patterson on this occasion which probably prevented serious injury to persons in the court.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

EUGENE C. HUTLMAN,
Commissioner.

Gentlemen,—In response to a request received from numerous patients at the Sanatorium, located upon River street, Mattapan, I communicated with the officials of the Boston Elevated Railway requesting the installation of this service so necessary to not only the patients at the institution but their friends who are desirous of visiting them from time to time.

I beg to append herewith communication received in reply and sincerely trust your honorable body in its wisdom will see fit to speedily grant the petition for the establishment of this most necessary bus service.

Hon. James M. Curley,

Dear Mr. Mayor,—At a meeting of the Board of Trustees held today, an order of the City Council that the City Hospital Trustees be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to give preference to graduates of Boston high schools who seek training in the City Hospital for nursing over applicants living outside of Boston, was presented.

Yours sincerely,
JOSEPH P. MANNING,

VETO OF PENSION TO WIDOW OF CHARLES T. FARREN.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, February 15, 1933.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I beg to return herewith without my approval the order adopted by your honorable body under date of January 30, 1933, providing for the payment of a pension to the widow of Charles T. Farren, late of the Boston Fire Department.

The report of the Corporation Counsel submitted in this case, based upon the findings of the Medical Examiner of the Fire Department, Dr. Martin H. Spellman, sets forth that the death of Charles T. Farren was not due to injuries received in the discharge of his duty as a member of the Boston Fire Department.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,

Law Department, February 14, 1933.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir,—You have asked to be advised as to whether or not you should give your approval to the order of the City Council providing for an annuity to be paid to the widow and children of the late Charles T. Farren, a former member of the Fire Department.

In my opinion Mr. Farren did not die from injuries received from an accident in the course of his duties as a member of the Fire Department. Dr. Martin H. Spellman, Medical Examiner of the Fire Department, reports to me as follows:

"In reply to your letter in regard to the Farren case I wish to state that I have made a thorough investigation and find that Mr. Farren had evidence of heart disease before his last illness, that is, the time that they attempted his first operation in the Boston City Hospital, when he collapsed from dilation of the heart and nearly died."

"This has led me to believe that he died of dilation of the heart instead of pulmonary embolism." I am therefore satisfied that Farren did not die as a result of the injury to his leg but that death resulted from heart trouble and I cannot recommend that your Honor give your approval to the order of the Council.

Very truly yours,
SAMUEL SILVERMAN,
Corporation Counsel.

Placed on file.

VETO OF PENSION TO WIDOW OF FRANCIS J. MCCARTHY.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, February 15, 1933.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I return herewith without my approval the order adopted by your honorable body under date of January 30 providing for the payment of a pension to the widow of Francis J. McCarthy, late of the Boston Fire Department.

The report of the Corporation Counsel submitted in this case, based upon the findings of the Medical Examiner of the Fire Department, Dr. Martin H. Spellman, sets forth that the death of Francis J. McCarthy was not due to injuries received in the discharge of his duty as a member of the Boston Fire Department.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,

Law Department, February 14, 1933.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir,—You have asked to be advised as to whether or not you should give your approval to the order of the City Council providing for an annuity to be paid to the widow and children of the late Francis J. McCarthy, a former member of the Fire Department.

In my opinion Mr. McCarthy did not die from injuries received from an accident in the course of his duties as a member of the Fire Department. Dr. Martin H. Spellman, Medical Examiner of the Fire Department, reports to me as follows:

"I find now in reviewing his case that his carcinoma originated in the oesophagus. I cannot see any connection between the trauma in the side of his neck now and the cancer of the oesophagus—as to the injury in the side of the neck causing the cancer of the oesophagus, I would say that, in my opinion, it is impossible, as the oesophagus is protected by so many organs and muscles."

It is apparent, therefore, that McCarthy died from a cancer which had no relationship to injuries alleged to have been received, and I cannot recommend that your Honor give his approval to this order.

Very truly yours,
SAMUEL SILVERMAN,
Corporation Counsel.

The following was received:

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—During the last two years the City Council appropriated $20,000 for the purpose of providing portraits, to be placed in the schools and public buildings, of residents of Boston who lost their lives in the service during the late war.

This appropriation, together with the money furnished by the School Committee, was sufficient to provide for 1,147 portraits, which was the number required according to the available records. The work has been completed and the appropriation entirely expended.

At the dedication exercises a number of cases were called to our attention by the relatives of veterans, which for one reason or another had been overlooked, and I am informed by the Superintendent of Public Buildings that there are some twenty more veterans for which portraits are required. The new cases which were brought to light by the dedication exercises have been verified as to enlistment and service, and I accordingly recommend the passage of the accompanying order appropriating $1,000 more, which I am assured will be sufficient to complete the work.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That the Superintendent of Public Buildings be authorized to expend, under the direction of the Mayor, a sum not exceeding $1,000 for radiotone photos of citizens of Boston who died in the service during the World War, to be placed in school buildings or other public buildings, the amount so expended to be charged to the Reserve Fund.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

REINSTATEMENT OF MICHAEL MCCORMACK.

Coun FISH offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council hereby favors the enactment of legislation authorizing the reinstatement of Michael McCormack as a police officer of the City of Boston, provided, that such legislation includes a referendum to the Mayor and the City Council.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

INFORMATION IN RE PUBLIC AID RECIPIENTS.

Coun. BRACKMAN offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to notify the Board of Overseers of Public Welfare that information pertaining to persons receiving aid from the City of Boston be held absolutely confidential and that information regarding such receipt of welfare aid shall not be given to insurance companies or other public service corporations who seek such information.

Coun. BRACKMAN—Mr. President, it is my understanding that at the present time the Welfare Department or any of its members or employees are prohibited by law from divulging any information relative to people who receive aid. Recently I have come across one or two instances where insurance companies have received information from the Welfare Department in regard to those getting aid and the amount they are receiving. It occurs to me that there are many sources where information is being given out to various public service corporations with regard to beneficiaries of the Welfare Department, entirely contrary to law. This order is, therefore, designed to put a stop to the divulging of this confidential information, because, in my opinion, it is very unfair to make public or to allow any outside agencies to obtain information as to who is receiving aid, thereby embarrassing many people. I move that the order be passed under suspension of the rule.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

SIREN SIGNALS ON SQUAD CARS.

Coun. BRACKMAN offered the following:

Ordered, That the Police Commissioner be requested by his Honor the Mayor to install siren signals on all squad cars.

Coun. BRACKMAN—Mr. President, just a word on this order. I understand that at the present time the squad cars of the Police Department have no means of letting autoists know that a police car is in the vicinity and wishes to go by, that when a squad car is in a hurry, chasing a criminal, there is no means by which that information can be communicated to other cars except by the usual automobile horn. It does seem to me that police squad cars chasing criminals should have some means of clearing the road so that they may get through.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

CONFIRMATION OF EXECUTIVE APPOINTMENT.

President McGRATH called up, under unfinished business, No. 1 on the calendar, viz.:

1. Action on appointment submitted by the Mayor February 13, 1933, of William E. Brigham, to be a Constable, without authority to serve civil process.

The question came on confirmation. Committee, Coun. Gallagher and Barker. Whole number of ballots 12, yeas 12, and the appointment was confirmed.

RECESS.

On motion of Coun. BURKE, the Council voted at 2.24 p. m. to take a recess subject to the call of the Chair. The members reassembled in the Council Chamber and were called to order by President McGRATH at 4.29 p. m.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. GALLAGHER, for the Executive Committee, submitted the following:

1. Report on petition (referred today) for children under fifteen years of age to appear at places of public amusement, viz.:

George L. Fleming, Tilestone Hall, February 28, recommending that leave be granted on usual conditions.

Report accepted; leave granted on usual conditions.

2. Report on message of Mayor and order (referred today) that Superintendent of Public Buildings be authorized to expend a sum not exceeding $1,000 for radiotone photos of citizens of Boston who died in service during World War—that same ought to pass.

The report was accepted and the question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. COX—Mr. President, I would like to have this matter lie over for a week. While I realize that it is rather late to make any statement in connection with this thing, I was rather surprised, listening to the gentleman interested in the sale of these pictures, to learn that they were made of gold, and I was astounded to find that they cost in the neighborhood of $1.10 per square inch. I have a feeling that years ago, when a similar matter came up, the price was considerably less, and I would like to have the matter put over till I have time to look into it and see what the actual cost of the pictures has been.

The order was laid on the table.

REDUCTION OF REAL ESTATE ASSESSMENTS.

Coun. FISH offered the following:

Ordered, That the Board of Assessors be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to reduce the valuation on real estate twenty-five per cent for the year nineteen thirty-three.

Coun. FISH—Mr. President, in a few weeks the assessors will be out on the streets reassessing property for 1933. We all know that property today is over assessed, and I sincerely hope that his Honor the Mayor will instruct the Assessing Department to make a substantial reduction from the assessments this coming year.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

HEALTH UNIT FOR JAMAICA PLAIN.

Coun. POWER offered the following:

Ordered, That the Trustees of the George Robert White Fund be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to consider the advisability of erecting a health unit in the Jamaica Plain section of Ward 10.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

SIDEWALK, WARD 19.

Coun. MURRAY offered the following:

Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along May street, full length, both sides, Ward 19, in front of the estates bordering thereon; said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone, with granite edgestones, under the provisions of chapter 196 of the Special Acts of 1917.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

GRANOLITHIC PAVING, WARD 12.

Coun. BRACKMAN offered the following:

Ordered, That the Public Works Commissioner be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to replace all sidewalks at present paved in red brick paving with granolithic paving in Ward 12.

Coun. BRACKMAN—Mr. President, at the present time there is a bill pending before the Legislature to do away with the present practice of permitting individuals to sue the city for defects in the highway, which includes the sidewalks. If the bill were passed it would be a very unfortunate thing for persons injured and not able to take care of themselves, people perhaps thrown out of work because of the injury. I think most of the trouble has been due to the old red brick sidewalks so common in many sections of the city and particularly in my district. They are always out of repair, with a brick missing here and there, and with one brick raised above another. A check-up on applications on file as to result of accidents will show that most of the accidents have occurred on the old-fashioned sidewalks, mostly of the red brick type. So my order is introduced with the hope that a start might be made on this matter, and I trust that the Public Works Department will proceed immediately to take up the old brick sidewalks and give us granolithic.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

SALE OF ELECTRICITY BY ELEVATED.

Coun. DONOVAN offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston hereby favors the enactment of legislation authorizing the Boston Elevated Railway Company to sell electricity to railroads, street railways, electric companies and other public utilities.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

LEGISLATION IN RE GAS AND ELECTRIC COMPANIES.

Coun. DONOVAN offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston hereby favors the enactment of legislation prohibiting establishment or maintenance of charges for use of meters by corporations furnishing gas and electricity.

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston hereby favors the enactment of legislation relative to control and supervision of gas and electric companies.

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston hereby favors the enactment of legislation prohibiting additional charges by corporations furnishing electricity or gas.

Severally passed under suspension of the rule.

INFORMATION FROM SINKING FUNDS COMMISSIONERS.

Coun. NORTON offered the following:

Ordered, That the Board of Commissioners of Sinking Funds be, and hereby is, requested to furnish the City Council with the following information: A schedule of investments purchased by said Board in the year 1932, specifying for each purchase (1) date of purchase, (2) person or firm from which purchase was made, (3) name of security purchased, maturity, interest rate and par value, (4) price at which purchase was made, (5) total amount paid.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

TIME OFF FOR POLICE FORCE.

Coun. NORTON offered the following:

Ordered, That the Mayor of Boston be requested to consider the advisability of requesting the Police Commissioner of Boston to make a study of the matter of allowing members of the Boston Police Force one day off in seven, provided no additional expense is incurred to the city.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, the police officers of Boston now receive one day off in eight. With the use of the police automobiles and a modern system of communication, which science has placed at the disposal of our Police Department, it would seem that arrangements could be made to allow members of the Boston Police Force one day off in seven without adding any additional cost to the operation of our Police Department. It would appear to be a question of reorganization in the department. I opposed a legislative bill which meant more expense. All workers are entitled to one day off in seven. This has been the custom throughout the civilized world since the dawn of the Christian era. I believe that the Police Commissioner of Boston should be requested to look into the possibilities. It will mean a more contented force of men. The increased morale and better feeling that will result would reflect itself in a more efficient Boston Police Force if members of the force were allowed one day a week to spend with their families. "One day's rest in seven" is a rule that is as old as civilization. I believe that modern science has made it possible for Boston to allow its policemen one day off in seven without additional cost to the taxpayer. I am desirous of having our police officers treated with as much consideration as any other police force in America. Police officers on day duty in Boston work ten hours a day and seventy hours a week. The police officers of San Francisco, Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago work but forty-eight hours a week, of Pittsburgh, Baltimore and St. Louis, fifty-six hours a week. The police officer on night duty in Boston, working seven days in the week, averages forty-nine hours, but the hours are broken up considerably, during the night shifts. If cities such as Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, Pittsburgh, Baltimore and St. Louis can arrange their police department schedules so as to allow the policemen forty-eight and fifty-six hour weeks, it would seem that Boston that now requires the daytime police force to work ten hours a day, seventy hours per week, might make some provision for lowering the work hours and allowing one day off in seven instead of one day off in eight, as at present. Police Commissioner Hultman is quoted in the Boston Herald of February 19, 1933, as stating that with the new police radio and communication system it would be the equivalent of adding 2,200 men to the Police Force. I respectfully suggest, then, that this is the time to consider the advisability of allowing the members of the Boston Police Force one day off in seven. Boston appears to have enough patrolmen to do this. We have 2,150 patrolmen. Detroit, with over twice the population of Boston and nearly three times the area to cover, has 2,610 policemen, yet, in ordinary times, Detroit policemen worked but forty-eight hours a week. Boston's day officers work seventy hours per week. Cleveland, with 120,000 more people than Boston and nearly double the area, has only 1,200 police officers and allows them a forty-eight hour week. Boston has 2,150 patrolmen, police officers. Los Angeles, almost double the population of Boston, and over ten times the area to cover, has but 1,945 patrolmen. Boston has 49 policemen to the square mile; Philadelphia, 33; St. Louis, 25; Detroit, 19; Baltimore, 12; Chicago, 23; Cleveland, 17; and Los Angeles, 5. Mr. President, might I quote from one of the leading living authorities in America on matters of municipal government, Prof. William Bennett Munro, formerly Jonathan Trumbull Professor of American History and Government in Harvard University and now at Leland Stanford, Junior, University. Professor Munro, in Volume II, page 200, of his epochal work entitled "Municipal Government and Administration," 1928, states: " . . . no patrolman can do good work if required to spend more than eight consecutive hours on active duty." On page 205, Volume 2, of this monumental work, Professor Munro states: "When corruption creeps into a municipal government the police department is usually the first to feel its effects. . . . The duty of the public towards the police force is to provide it with honest and capable leadership, to give the officers adequate pay and proper conditions of employment, to be quick and generous in the appreciation of duty well-performed, and to improve the environment in which the policeman does his work." Mr. President, the French police expert, E. G. Perrier, in his book, "La Police Municipale," Col. Arthur Woods, formerly head of the New York City police, in his book, entitled "Policeman and Public," and Raymond B. Fosdick's discussion of "Police Administration," which forms Part III of the Cleveland Foundation's report on "Criminal Justice in Cleveland," speak of the necessity of continually improving the environment in which the policeman does his work. With the aid of modern science, the use of the automobile and the coming of police radio, it would appear that there may be a possibility of allowing the Boston policemen one day off in seven instead of one day off in eight without increasing the taxpayers' burden. I want our Boston policemen to be treated as well as the police of any other large American city, and with this end in view have devoted some hours to preparing the above data.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

PAYMENT OF AID TO SOLDIERS AND SAILORS.

Coun. NORTON, for the Committee on Soldiers' Relief, submitted report recommending passage of order for payment of aid to soldiers and sailors and their families in the City of Boston for the month of February.

The report was accepted and the question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. BURKE—Mr. President, before that order is passed, I would like to know whether the chairman of the committee is cognizant of the fact that the Soldiers' Relief Department is now giving out coal orders, the same as is done in the Welfare Department? It is something that has never happened before in the Soldiers' Relief Department, and I would like to find out first, before we pass this order, whether they have a legal right to expend the money in that manner. It is my opinion that the money should be paid in cash and that the recipients of the aid should pay for their own fuel, food and shelter. I don't think the practice which I have just referred to has been adopted in any other city in the Commonwealth in the handling of soldiers' relief.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, there is not a soldiers' relief or public welfare department in the world that gives as much to the families of the recipients as is given by the City of Boston. We spent more last year on welfare in Boston than the city of Detroit, with double the population. When it comes to soldiers' relief, it may be that the city can purchase fuel or other things better in the market at the present time than can be done by individuals. I wish we could give more, but from the standpoint of cash payments, if the superintendent thinks that he can make a better bargain on coal on behalf of the veterans than they could make themselves, I don't know why it shouldn't be done.

The order was passed.

SIDEWALKS, WARD 17.

Coun. BURKE offered the following:

Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along Sturbridge street, full length, both sides, Ward 17, in front of the estates bordering thereon; said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone, with granite edgestones, under the provisions of chapter 196 of the Special Acts of 1917.

Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along Temple street, full length, both sides, Ward 17, in front of the estates bordering thereon; said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone, with granite edgestones, under the provisions of chapter 196 of the Special Acts of 1917.

Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along Monson street, full length, both sides, Ward 17, in front of the estates bordering thereon; said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone, with granite edgestones, under the provisions of chapter 196 of the Special Acts of 1917.

Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along Old Morton street, full length, both sides, Ward 17, in front of the estates bordering thereon; said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone, with granite edgestones, under the provisions of chapter 196 of the Special Acts of 1917.

Severally passed under suspension of the rule.

VENTILATING SYSTEM.

Coun. BURKE offered the following:

Ordered, That the Overseers of Public Welfare be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to install a ventilating system in the basement of their main building.

Coun. BURKE—Mr. President, I have occasion to go down to the Welfare Department quite often and I find the basement, where the men go to receive their aid, where they have to stand in line for a long time, the air becomes very foul. This order will assist, I trust, in straightening out the health conditions. I believe the city should install some sort of ventilating system there, so that the air may be changed from time to time.

Coun. FISH—And I think, Mr. President, that another room where there should be a ventilating system is the application room at Chardon street.

President McGRATH—Well, I suppose the order can be amended, or another order can be put in.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

BUSES ON ASHMONT STREET.

Coun. BURKE offered the following:

Ordered, That the Trustees of the Boston Elevated Railway Company be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to discontinue running their buses through Ashmont street, Ward 17.

Coun. BURKE—Mr. President, I am introducing this order at this time because at the time when the license was granted conditions were different from what they are now in that section. So the people there now wish the service removed and desire to have the buses taken from that street and placed on some main artery rather than going through this residential district.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

ARC LIGHT, DORCHESTER AVENUE.

Coun. BURKE offered the following:

Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to install an arc light on Dorchester avenue, Ward 17, in front of the car barn of the Boston Elevated Railway Company at Lower Mills.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC LANDS.

Coun. KELLY, for the Committee on Public Lands, submitted the following:

1. Report on message of Mayor and order (referred November 14, 1932), authorizing release of sewer easements on land in West Roxbury, Board of Survey streets—that same ought to pass.

Coun. RUBY—Mr. President, I would like to have the councilor explain this matter, please.

Coun. KELLY—Mr. Chairman, for the benefit of the ignorance of my colleague—

Coun. RUBY—Mr. President, I rise to a point of order. I made this request in all sincerity. Unfortunately I am not a member of the Committee on Public Lands and cannot be accused of being ignorant of something of which I have had no opportunity to have knowledge, and I think it ill becomes the carrier of dangerous weapons—

President McGRATH—The Chair will state that the point of order is well taken.

Coun. KELLY—Mr. President, I am glad to explain it to the members of the Council and try to show the undergrown councilor on my right—

Coun. RUBY—Mr. President, I understand that my point of order was well taken?

President McGRATH—The point of order was well taken.

Coun. KELLY—Mr. President, he was set down, as he should be. Now, this is an easement on a piece of land in West Roxbury taken some time in 1927 for the Sewer Department, and the Public Works Commissioner now says there is no further use that the Public Works Department will have for that particular easement. Accordingly, after due and careful consideration by your Committee on Public Lands, we have unanimously voted to return the report that it ought to pass.

Coun. RUBY—Mr. President, I want to thank the councilor from Ward 15 (Coun. Kelly) for having given me that information, and I want to say that it was not through ignorance that I made the request. I believe every member of the City Council who votes on matters concerning the transfer of public lands ought to be cognizant at least of the facts upon which he votes, so that it may not at some later time be said of him that he voted for a transfer of land belonging to the city when he didn't know what he was voting upon. I believe it ill becomes the chairman of so important a committee as the Committee on Public Lands to criticize a member of the body who is not a member of the committee simply because he seeks information. If the chairman of the Committee on Public Lands is, according to his own belief, the bright spot in the City Council, I am glad that in his opinion I am ignorant.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, I would move that the personal references be stricken from the record.

Coun. RUBY—I object, Mr. President.

Coun. KELLY—And so do I.

Coun. BURKE—Mr. President, some time ago there was a motion made in the City Council, when another matter was before the body, to strike out certain remarks, and as a result a portion of our minutes was stricken from the record. I am of the opinion that that sort of thing should not take place, that if something is said here it should remain in the record, where it belongs.

President McGRATH—The Chair rules that what has been said on this matter remains in the record.

The report was accepted and the order was passed, yeas 19, nays 0.

Adjourned, on motion of Coun. CURTIS, at 4.49 p. m., to meet on Monday, February 27, 1933, at 2 p. m.

MASSACHUSETTS BAY COLONY.

The first chartered colony in New England, charter granted by Charles I on March 4, 1629. About a year before, a patent had been granted to six prominent men of Dorchester, west of England, among whom was Capt. John Endicott. He sailed in June, 1628, with a party of fifty or sixty persons, arriving in September and settling at Naumkeag, afterward named Salem. In the spring of 1629, the Bay Company fitted out three ships conveying about four hundred persons and arriving at Salem in June. Endicott sent a small party to effect a settlement on the Bay in Mishawum, afterward named by the settlers Charlestown, the first town in New England to assume the town polity, Plymouth and Salem being governed by a governor and council. Endicott was appointed in London as the first resident governor on April 30, 1629. The Massachusetts Bay Company was reorganized in London on October 20, 1629, when John Winthrop was chosen as governor. He arrived at Salem on June 12, 1630, soon proceeded to Charlestown with a large following and finding that place unsuitable, finally settled in Boston. Winthrop served thirteen years as governor in four different periods ending in 1649 and Endicott fifteen years at various times ending in 1665. Other governors were Thomas Dudley, Richard Bellingham, John Haynes, Henry Vane, John Leverett and Simon Bradstreet, the latter serving twelve years until 1692 when the Bay Colony and the Plymouth Colony were merged, becoming the Royal Province of Massachusetts Bay, which existed eighty-two years to 1774, the governors being appointed by the King.

The name, Massachusetts, is Indian and signifies "near the big hills."

METHODS OF ELIMINATING GRADE-CROSSING ACCIDENTS.

Five suggestions aimed at the elimination of grade-crossing accidents are offered in the monthly report of the Street Traffic Committee of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

It is estimated that curing the grade-crossing evil would reduce traffic accidents by 10 per cent in a very short time, and the Committee presents the following five points for discussion:

1. Do away with those grade crossings which have the heaviest traffic.
2. Place warning signs not less than 500 feet back from the railroad tracks.
3. Take down all signs from obsolete trackage.
4. Use traffic-light signals (operated by trains) instead of signs, if there are fewer than five trains per day.
5. Consider scrapping all railroad signs in favor of signals for use only when train is approaching.

"The last two points merit consideration first, because, though they are new doctrines, they seem the least expensive and most practical of application."

CATCH-BASIN CLEANING.

The cleaning of catch-basins in Toronto, Ont., is started immediately after the spring clean-up of the streets, and is usually sufficient until the fall, when the basins are given a thorough cleaning for the winter, in order to reduce to a minimum the blocking of drains during this season. Many basins throughout the business sections and those in subways and at the bottom of grades are given constant attention, owing to the exceptional amount of refuse washed to the culvert and drains by street flushing and rainstorms.

The total cost of catch-basin cleaning in 1931 was $17,580.70. A total of 11,561 cubic yards of material was removed from 54,306 catch-basins. The cost of cleaning the basins and removing the accumulated material was $1.52 per cubic yard, or 32 cents per basin per cleaning season, according to George W. Dies, Street Commissioner, Toronto, Ont.

FINANCING SEWAGE WORKS BY SPECIAL ASSESSMENT IN IOWA.

The cost of constructing sewage disposal plants in a number of states, and in Iowa in particular, may be levied against the various lots, parts of lots or parcels of ground draining to, or susceptible to drainage to, the site of the disposal plant. Such assessments must be in proportion to the benefits to each property and must not, in any case, exceed one-fourth of the fair value of the property in question. These special assessments are payable in the same manner as other municipal improvement costs; that is, in ten annual equal installments, paid at the same time and place as the March 1 installment of ordinary taxes in Iowa. Any property owner may pay off the unpaid portion of such tax at any time. Interest on the deferred payments must not exceed 6 per cent.

PITTSBURGH'S "THROUGH STREET" SYSTEM.

An extension of the "through street" system of Pittsburgh to further interconnect the various population and residential centers with protected arteries of communication has been planned.

Fourteen additional through streets, supplementing the original six established in the fall of 1928 have been designated by City Council, and flashing neon "Stop-Through-Traffic" signs have been purchased to adequately mark the streets according to report from that city.
